SENATE

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1959.

The Senate met at 12:00 o'clock, m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair wishes to state that he is presiding at the request of the President pro tempore of the Senate.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. HARRY T. RICHWINE, Pastor of the Salem Evangelical Lutheran Church, Lebanon, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, under Whose gracious providence all our days are spent, we thank Thee for the mercies and the inspirations of this day. Let not the beauty of this day, nor the glow of good health, or pride in our personal accomplishments deceive us into a false reliance upon our own strength and blind us to our constant need of Thee.

Bless each Member of this Body; those who here bow reverently before Thee, those who are prevented by duty elsewhere from joining in our prayer and those who trust in themselves that they are adequate without prayer, but who need Thy help like the rest of us.

Help us all to stand up under the strain and tensions of problems and decisions, of meetings and conferences and the many demands made upon us. Bless us, each one, according to our needs. Thou knowest our every need, for Thou knowest what we are wherever we are.

When this minute of prayer is over, let us not forget Thee in the day and the work which is to continue. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. PECHAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

STUDENTS FROM FRIENDS SELECT SCHOOL, PHILADELPHIA, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, we have with us today a group of learned visitors from Philadelphia. They are students from the seventh grade of the Friends Select School, under the supervision of their teachers, Mrs. Mary Roney and Mrs. Margaret Connover.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is very happy to welcome to the Senate of Pennsylvania the students from Philadelphia, who are the guests of Senator Stiefel. We certainly hope that your visit with us will be both pleasant and informative to you.

STUDENTS FROM SHIPPENSBURG AREA JOINT SCHOOLS PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think we Members of the Senate who are located in close proximity to Harrisburg are most fortunate, indeed, because so many of our young friends from the public schools in Pennsylvania visit us.

We are today honored by having about 150 young visitors from the Shippensburg Area Joint Schools. They are here under the direction of the Assistant Principal, Mr. Harry Jacobs, and their teachers in the Problems of Democracy Class, Mr. Harold Bishop and Mr. Robert Francis.

On behalf of Senator Elliott, who represents the District where some of these young folks come from, and myself, I want to welcome them and ask if you, Mr. President, will extend the official welcome of the Senate to these students.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is, indeed, happy to welcome the 150 visitors from the Shippensburg Area Joint School, with their teachers.

We hope, likewise, that your visit will be pleasant and informative to you.

FORMER LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DANIEL B. STRICKLER PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to call to the attention of the Chair, the Members of the Senate and the visitors, the presence in the Senate Chamber of a former distinguished Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth, the Honorable Daniel B. Strickler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is indeed happy toa welcome General Strickler, a former Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and invites him to the rostrum to say a few words to the Body.

FORMER LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR STRICKLER. Thank you very much.

It is grand to he here today. I feel very much at home here in these halls. I think it has been about ten years since I have been able to visit the Senate. I assure you that I am getting a baptism of respectability by my presence. I really appreciate the opportunity of saying a few words to you and wish Godspeed in all of your work.

SENATOR JOHN P. SMEEKENS, FROM THE STATE OF MICHIGAN, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, a year ago last October, Senator Whalley and I had the pleasure of visiting twenty-two foreign countries. One of our colleagues on the trip was Senator John P.—"Joe"—Smeekens, from the State of Michigan.

I am very happy that Senator Smeekens is in our presence today and wish to present him to the Chair, the Members of the Senate, the boys and girls and our other visitors. We learned to like Senator Smeekens very much and hope, Mr. President, that you will invite him to the rostrum to say a few words. Senator Smeekens is Chairman of the Labor Committee in the State of Michigan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, the Chair is indeed happy to welcome to the Senate the distinguished gentleman from Michigan, Senator John P. Smeekens, and invites him to the rostrum to say a few words to our Body.

SENATOR SMEEKENS. Senator Fleming, Members of the Pennsylvania Senate and young citizens of Pennsylvania who view today's proceedings and who, in not too many years, I am sure will be assuming your place in this Pennsylvania Senate with the same distinction that you hold it today: I am always particularly pleased to see the young people in the Michigan Senate because it is as a result of their exposure to our legislative proceedings that they begin to stimulate a very keen interest in this whole matter of government. God knows, it is only a matter of time before they must carry on.

Mr. President, I shall make my comments very brief by extending to you the gretings of the automotive capital of the world; not only to you, but to your Governor, to your administrative board, to the distinguished Members of the House of Representatives and to all of the citizens of this great Commonwealth.

Senator Pechan has mentioned that both he and Senator Whalley and I, among several others, enjoyed a world tour some eighteen months ago. I might tell you that I feel very much at home with you this afternoon because, during that seven week period, I listened to all of the anecdotes, all of the parliamentary maneuverings, all of the difficulties that you in the Pennsylvania Caucuses have experienced, that you in your committees have experienced and those experiences which you have had here on these floors. I feel as though I know of your problems and I have enjoyed them.

The distinguished gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, asked that I do but one thing while I was here, and that was to stress to each of you, respectfully, the fact that he, Senator Whalley, all of those distinguished legislators who were on the tour, including myself, paid for this trip out of our own pockets. I do not know what it is that bothers Senator Pechan. My constituents have explicit faith in me, but, apparently, Senator Pechan felt it incumbent upon himself to get this thought across.

Gentlemen, you who are concerned with Pennsylvania, as we who are concerned with Michigan, have many, many similar concerns. We have been conspicuously identified with an area in this entire industrial mobilization of America which has shown us as a common partner. Pennsylvania, for a good, long while, was almost solely dependent upon its vast coal fields and upon its production in the steel industries. We, in Michigan, were dependent upon you for our sole source of industrial livelihood, with the outgrowth of the automobile. Our two States were linked together by a very vast empire, the railroad industry. What has happened in Michigan has been happening in Pennsylvania for some time. It is the reason that I have come here today, to visit with some of your people in this whole matter of business and industrial development. You, like we, have found that our failure in enjoying diversification finds us confronted today with a very serious delemma. We, in Michigan, have approximately 200,000 chronically unemployed. By "chronically unemployed," I refer to those who have exhausted unemployment compensation benefits, whose initial source of employment has either left the State or hesitated or stopped their productivity within the State and who have no sources of employment to look to. Added to that, Michigan has seen a tremendously phenomenal populational growth.

Michigan State University and the University of Michigan have been working with us hand in hand to make a study in order to determine the job opportunities that we must provide our expanding labor forces by 1970 to adequately meet their needs. We, gentlemen, have not only 200,000 chronically unemployed, but we must cultivate and stimulate in Michigan between 1,000,000 and 1,400,000 new job opportunities by 1970; one job every four minutes and a new plant every ten hours, if we are going to provide those young citizens who are coming along—just as is the case here in Pennsylvania—with job opportunities which will keep them within the State of Michigan, which will make them happy and wholesome and productive and successful citizens of our great Commonwealth.

There are two principal objectives which we have in our studies, two principal objectives which we seek to provide these people; one, to the laboring forces, the guaranteed opportunity to work; and, to the business and industrial operations of Michigan, the guaranteed opportunity to operate competitively with industries, both within and outside of our State.

If we are to achieve the one job every four minutes and if we are to achieve the one plant every ten hours for the next twelve years, it requires in our state—as certainly is the case here—a bipartisan, cross section, dedicated, deep-rooted movement of citizens like you and I, living, eating, breathing and sleeping, every resource at our disposal, to create the type of atmosphere which will permit industry and business interests to operate competitively and to provide to the laboring forces the opportunity to work.

Your State has been doing a tremendously outstanding job in this whole area of business and industrial development. We have in our great United States today fifty State laboratories, forty-nine State and one Federal laboratory, all dedicated to the same proposition. We have innumerable local governments concerned daily with that same objectivity. My prescence here this afternoon is to consult with the officials and the leaders of Pennsylvania so that Michigan, in inaugerating its program to accomplish its objectivity of placing back on the payrolls her 200,000 chronically unemployed citizens and providing the 1,000,000 to 1,400,000 new job opportunities by 1970, will benefit from the counsel and from the difficult times which your State and your leaders have confronted themselves with during these past years. Once we start the ball rolling in Michigan, we may enjoy not only the counsel of all who are willing—as Pennsylvania has proven itself to be—to help us in our interest, but so that we will have available for our citizens an effective, dynamic program which, with bipartisan, cross-section cooperation, cannot help but achieve that success we must enjoy if we are to continue to enjoy the leadership throughout the Nation which our States have enjoyed in the years gone by.

I want to compliment each of you for your individual part in assisting the business and industrial development within this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I want to further extend to you, on behalf of all the citizens of Michigan, our sincere thanks for your open-armed willingness to assist us in trying to inaugerate the type of program which I have referred to,

I want to thank you, individually, from the bottom of my heart, and personally, for your open-armed and warm reception to me. This has been as a home coming. I hope that I may enjoy many, many more such visits and thank you very much.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Thank you, Senator Smeekens, for those very fine greetings and the talk which you gave to us from our neighboring State of Michigan.

MORRIS L. SHAFER, DEAN OF DICKINSON SCHOOL OF LAW, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate the fact that we have a very distinguished guest with us today, Dean Morris L. Shafer. He is the Dean of the Dickinson School of Law, which is the oldest law school in Pennsylvania, located at Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is very happy to welcome to the halls of the Senate, Dean Shafer, of the Dickinson Law School. Will the Dean please stand in order for him to be recognized?

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I feel it only fair to claim pride of authorship. Dean Shafer, prior to going to Dickinson, was one of our leading attorneys in the city of Allentown, in Lehigh County. Therefore, we doubly welcome him here today.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 5, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WHALLEY, from the committee on Highways, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. Taylor and Wade, on February 2, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS TO CONSTRUCT ADDITIONAL ROADSIDE RESTS NEAR STERRETTS GAP

In the Senate, February 2, 1959.

The historic and scenic region in the vicinity of Sterretts Gap, situated near the county line of Perry and Cumberland Counties, has within recent years become quite a popular resort area attracting an increasing number of citizens of our Commonwealth seeking a refuge from the fast pace of urban life and a place for many kinds of outdoor activities and recreation.

Sterretts Gap is an ideal spot to observe many wonders of nature, including abundant wild-life and heavily travelled migratory bird lanes. These natural attractions lend themselves perfectly to an atmosphere of peace and quiet A realization of this fact has increased the flow of naturalists, tourists and other persons to this region to an extent that existing roadside rests and picnic facilities are inadequate; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urge the Secretary of Highways to construct additional roadside rests in the resort area near Sterretts Gap, along State Highway Route No. 34, for the convenience, enjoyment and safety of the public; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of Highways.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution will be laid on the table.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 6, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WHALLEY, from the Committee on Highways, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Wade, on February 4, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS TO STUDY REPLACING THE DESTROYED BRIDGE ON LEGISLATIVE ROUTE 21015

In the Senate, February 4, 1959.

On March 17, 1958, a bridge over the Conodoguinet Creek on Legislative Route No. 21015, which connects the Boroughs of Camp Hill and Enola, in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, was destroyed by fire. To date, this bridge has not been replaced.

It is important that a crossing over the Conodoguinet Creek be provided somewhere in this general area. Because of the distribution of population, however, and the establishment of a new hospital in Camp Hill, it is generally believed that the construction of a new bridge on an extension of what is now known as Twenty-first Street, Camp Hill, will be more beneficial to the general public than reconstruction of the old bridge; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Department of Highways is hereby requested to study and investigate the feasibility of replacing the destroyed bridge on Legislative Route No. 21015 in Cumberland County with a new bridge on an extension of Twenty-First Street in Camp Hill and relocating Legislative Route No. 21015 in such a manner as to more directly connect the Borough of Camp Hill over such new bridge with the Borough of Enola; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Highways.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution will be laid on the table.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 10, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WHALLEY, from the Committee on Highways, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Mullin, on February 10, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

REQUESTING THE SECRETARY OF REVENUE TO REFRAIN FROM SUSPENDING OPERATING PRIVILEGES OF MOTOR VEHICLE OPERATORS DURING CERTAIN HOURS

In the Senate, February 10, 1959.

A great many heads of families follow the occupation of operating motor vehicles for a livelihood. Any disruption of this right to operate motor vehicles imposes great hardship on the operator and his dependents, as well as seriously impending the flow of goods and products essential to our National economy and the financial well being of this Commonwealth and its many communities; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate requests that the Secretary of Revenue refrain from suspending the operating privileges of motor vehicle operations during such hours as the operators operate motor vehicles for the purpose of earning a livelihood, and restrict such suspensions to such hours as will not interfere with professional motor vehicle operation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution will be laid on the table.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. VAN SANT, from the Committee on Finance, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 250, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 343), entitled "The Fiscal Code," providing for additional reimbursement and procedures relative thereto in the auditing of disbursements, affairs and accounts and clarifying the provisions relating to audits.

He also, from the Committee on Finance, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 251, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," changing certain procedures and providing for audits and verification of rights to reimbursements.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, it was disheartening, after the adjournment of the 1957 Session of the Legislature, to learn that a controlled epileptic girl of my District, had been denied admission to one of our State Teachers' Colleges.

Over a period of years, we have recognized the great work which has been done by the medical geniuses of our Commonwealth and our Nation. In the field of controlled epileptics, it is unfortunate that they are not a State-wide organized group, such as the mentally handicapped and similar organizations.

Mr. President, the purpose of the bills which I am presenting on behalf of the recognized control of epilepsy, I hope will bring about State-wide relief to these people who have been under a dark cloud because of the fact that so few people know much about controlled epileptics and their capabilities.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in my District in Philadelphia, we have the unique distinction—if distinction it be—of having more taprooms per square inch in an area covering about eight blocks, which is not in the central part of the city, than there are anywhere else in the State. This is supported by an independent survey, which is neither prohibitionist in its outlook nor is it part of the alcohol lobby.

It is with that view in mind that I am about to present three bills, of which I am the sole sponsor.

Also, Mr. President, I want to state publicly that this is merely an attempt to try to curb a problem which is becoming serious. These taprooms have become places where juvenile delinquents and persons who are not of the best moral character frequent.

I publicly also want to state that if the vote for prohibition ever came before us, I would definitely be against that and would so state.

This is merely an attempt to do a job which has been needed for some time. I have introduced these bills at every Session of the Legislature and, for some reason or other, persons get the opinion that we are trying to bring back prohibition. This is merely a feeble attempt to try to help a problem which has become serious before it becomes more serious and costly to the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I would also like to present another bill, on behalf of my colleague, Senator DiSilvestro, and myself.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, as most of you know, Mrs. Lane and I lost our only son, a year ago this April. My son was a student at the University of Pittsburgh Law School. He was an honor student of the undergraduate class.

I have been in the House and Senate for many, many years. During my experiences here, I have voted for appropriations to eliminate Bang's disease, hog cholera and all those sorts of things. I thought about those things during my son's illness. As a matter of fact, on January 3, 1958, my son was admitted to the Allegheny General Hospital. He was supposed to have a duodenal ulcer, according to the medical profession. However, after a number of examinations and X-rays, they decided to perform an exploratory operation. On the night of January 3rd, the doctors operated on him and Mrs. Lane and I were given the news, in about two hours, that my son was full of cancer. The doctors had checked him since Thanksgiving Day and they were sure that he had a duodenal ulcer, brought about by tension and studying at law school. My son was quite studious; he was top man in his law class. However, he died on April 5, 1958.

In my conversation, Mr. President, with members of the medical profession, I have found that the medical profession knows very little about internal cancer. As a matter of fact, Doctor McAdams, I think, the Chief Surgeon at the Allegheny General Hospital, told me that about forty per cent of the people who were admitted to that hospital had carcinoma in some form or other. You know that John Foster Dulles is now in Washington, D. C., suffering from cancer. To my knowledge, there does not seem to be any cure.

About five weeks ago, I attended the funeral of a boy who was fifteen years of age, who died of leukemia.

Mr. President, I have arrived at the conclusion that it is just about time that government steps into this field. It will not help my son, Junior; he is dead. However, I do believe, gentlemen of the Senate, that we must take an affirmative position.

Last week in Pittsburgh, a number of specialists, from all over the United States, gathered together. As a matter of fact, there were 500 biophysicists attending a forum at the Penn-Sheraton Hotel. Doctor Robley C. Williams, a distinguished University of California scientist, said that they do not know what causes cancer. They believe it might be caused by a certain acid.

I realize that the cancer clinics are doing the best they can. However, when one has gone through what I have gone through, he has more than a passing interest in this terrible scourge to humanity.

I talked this matter over with my good friends who are sponsoring this legislation with me—Senator McMenamin, Senator Shafer, Senator Whalley and Senator Stevenson—and I decided to sponsor an appropriation bill. This bill would appropriate the amount of $2,000,000. It is for the purpose of doing something about the prevention and cure of this disease. I hope something is accomplished. I do not know where we should place this money; I do not have the least idea. Therefore, the bill is written whereby the Governor of this great Commonwealth can, as he sees fit and in his wisdom, allocate any portion or all to any university or medical school in Pennsylvania in order to permit them to try to do the job.

Senator Neuberger, of the United States Senate, came out of the hospital not long ago, suffering from cancer. I believe he sponsored a bill for $5,000,000 for the Federal Government to try to do something about this problem. I know we will get the answer some day. However, I believe all of you will agree that we must provide the funds. The people of Pennsylvania, the United States and the world would be thankful if some scientist could ever find a way to prevent or cure cancer.

Mr. President, I am, therefore, introducing this bill, on behalf of Senator McMenamin, Senator Shafer, Senator Whalley, Senator Stevenson and myself.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE, McMENAMIN, SHAFER, WHALLEY and STEVENSON read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 378, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation for cancer research to be allocated to medical schools by the Governor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

DELEGATION OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN FROM LEBANON COUNTY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, today we have a great many distinguished visitors to the Hall of the Senate.

We are very fortunate I think in having with us a delegation, from Lebanon County, of the fairer sex and the most important sex. This also applies to the guests of Senator Taylor. They are attending a Regional Meeting of the Republican Women's Council of Pennsylvania. The delegation from Lebanon is composed of six members, under Mrs. Mary Wheeler, the Republican Vice-Chairman.

There is only one thing I would like to call to their attention, and that is they are sitting on the wrong side of the aisle.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of Senator Ehrgood and the entire Senate, certainly welcomes the delegates, from Lebanon County, to the meeting of the Republican Women's Council. We sincerely hope that you will be able to make converts on that side of the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe, after sitting so long on the other side of the aisle, it is about time that they came over here. Perhaps, they might get a better point of view than they had before.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. You will find that they are very broad-minded.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN FROM YORK COUNTY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, previously, we had a delegation from Lebanon County introduced. I just recognized the fact that we have in our presence a very lovely delegation of Republican Women from York County. They are seated in the balcony. I wanted the Members of the Senate to know that this group is here also.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is very happy to welcome the guests of Senator Seyler. We now understand why Senator Seyler is continually re-elected.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President the expression, coined by Christ, about expelling money-changers from the temple was a measure that was required after the damage was done.

The purpose of this resolution is to keep money-changers out of the temple. I am referring to the coming centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg, when, anticipating the pilgrimage of millions of Americans to the battlefield, a lot of commercial enterprises will be invading these environs.

There is a movement in Congress to acquire new land adjacent to the Gettysburg Battlefield and I feel that it is our duty to offer a resolution of exaltation, asking our delegates in Congress to spare no effort to see that the lands are acquired so as to keep commercial interests at a distance from the battlefield and thus keep the money-changers out of the temple.

MEMORIALIZING THE PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATION IN CONGRESS TO SUPPORT LEGISLATION AND APPROPRIATIONS WHICH WILL PROTECT THE ENVIRONS OF THE BATTLEFIELD OF GETTYSBURG FROM ENCROACHMENT BY COMMERCIAL ENTERPRISES

Messrs. STIEFEL and ELLIOTT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 14), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 3, 1959.

The Battlefield of Gettysburg is one of the most sacred historic shrines in Pennsylvania and the United States as the scene of the great battle on July 1 to 3, 1863 which marked the turning point in the Civil War.

As the result of the initiative of Governor Andrew G. Curtin of Pennsylvania and of other Northern Governors, the site of the battle became a National Cemetery and Park which evenutally passed into the care of the Federal Government.

The plans for the continuing development of the Gettysburg National Military Park, which call for the eventual inclusion in the Park of the entire area where the battle was fought, are seriously threatened by commercial enterprises which are stimulated by the volume of visitors to the Park; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby recommends to the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress that they support any legislation and appropriations which will protect the environs of the Battlefield of Gettysburg from encroachment by commercial enterprises and housing which may prevent the full and complete development of Gettysburg National Military Park by the National Park Service; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to each United States Senator and Congressman from Pennsylvania.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 14, ADOPTED

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do adopt Senate Resolution, Serial No. 14.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question?

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I should like to thank my colleague, Senator Stiefel, for the privilege of cosponsoring this resolution. I would like to call to his attention, as well as to the attention of my other colleagues in the Senate, that among the women who are here—the delegation from Lebanon and Senator Seyler's delegation from York—is a group from my Senatorial District which, as you know, embraces not only Franklin County, but Adams County.

It seems most appropriate that this resolution was introduced at this time and that Senator Stiefel should know that these people are present.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DONOLOW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, just two weeks ago today, I stood on the Senate floor and introduced a bill which would provide the people of Philadelphia with Home Rule on the Blue Laws. At that time, I related the financial problems we are having in center-Philadelphia, because of the suburbanitis that we are suffering from and because of our other problems which are facing every big metropolitan city in the United States today.

I am compelled, Mr. President, today to introduce a resolution concerning a problem which further threatens the city of Philadelphia in its very existence and that is the moving of the Philadelphia baseball team, the National League Team, from Philadelphia across the river to Camden. Mr. President, we in Philadelphia today, which is one of the third largest cities in the United States and the largest city in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, were the proud possessors of two National League Baseball Teams. We lost one and now one remains, and we are threatened with the removal of that team.

A National League Basebal Team, Mr. President, gives any city national prestige. It affects the city's economical and financial position. I say to the Members of the Senate here today that if Philadelphia loses its last major league team across the river to New Jersey, Philadelphia will become a bush league city and, certainly, we are fighting to avoid that situation in the great history of our city.

Mr. President, the great Governor of New Jersey and the State Administration of New Jersey are going all out to entice this baseball team across the river. The Mayor of the city of Philadelphia, the Mayor's Committee which has been appointed, the President of City Council and the City Council, itself, of Philadelphia, are doing a yeoman's job to meet this threat. However, they cannot meet it by fighting the Administration of the State of New Jersey which has put its full force and power behind it.

As I stand in the Senate here today, I will make a prediction, Mr. President, that from every indication I have received, the Philadelphia National League Ball Club is going to Camden. Therefore, on behalf of several of my colleagues, I am introducing this resolution, calling upon the great Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to forthwith appoint a committee of ten citizens and to use the full force and effect of the machinery of the State of Pennsylvania, in conjunction with the city, to help keep the National League Baseball Team in the city of Philadelphia.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of my colleagues, Senator Van Sant, whom I consider an expert on sports in the Senate, Senator Berger, Senator Barr and myself, I am introducing this resolution.

REQUESTING THE GOVERNOR TO APPOINT A COMMITTEE FOR THE PURPOSE OF DETERMINING HOW TO KEEP MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL IN PHILADELPHIA

Messrs. DONOLOW, VAN SANT, BERGER and BARR offered the following resolution (Serial No. 15), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 3, 1959.

The sport of baseball is one of the national pastimes in the lives of American citizens.

Major league baseball contributes a great deal of prestige for the city in which it is located.

The financial and economical return of major league baseball is a tremendous contribution to the community.

In the City of Philadelphia, we have just one major league baseball team remaining and recently there is a great deal of speculation that the Club may move from the City of Philadelphia.

Such action would affect the City of Philadelphia financially, economically and prestige-wise, such city being the largest in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the third largest in the United States.

The State of New Jersey is putting full force and effect of its State Administration behind a move to entice the Philadelphia major league ball club into going to Camden.

The Mayor and Council of the City of Philadelphia are working with all their power and putting forth outstanding efforts to help keep the Phillies in Philadelphia and we are faced with tremendous efforts on the part of our neighboring State of New Jersey; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania respectfully requests the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to appoint a committee of ten citizens of Pennsylvania, of his own selection, for the purpose of using the full force and effect of the State Administration behind the efforts of a movement to keep the major league baseball club in Philadelphia, and to cooperate with Mayor Richardson Dilworth, with the Mayor's Committee and the City Council of Philadelphia, make recommendations and secure financial aid in order to keep the major league baseball organization in the city.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 15, ADOPTED

Mr. DONOLOW asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do adopt Senate Resolution, Serial No. 15.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 10 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call from the table House Concurrent Resolution No. 10.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 10

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in this resolution.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 11, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 11.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE RE-DECORATION OF THE OFFICES OF CHARLES H. BOEHM, SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

In the Senate, February 16, 1959.

It is rumored from reliable sources that the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Charles H. Boehm, is in the process of expending approximately $100,000 to redecorate his suite of offices and that within the past twelve months he has remodeled rooms adjacent to his private office at a similar cost. If these rumors are true, it is difficult to understand why such extensive alterations and beautifications are being undertaken at a time when our public schools need every available dollar to carry on the education of our youth. The amount being expended, if properly applied, could undoubtedly prevent certain schools from being closed as fire hazards.

Such an expensive undertaking is certainly not in conformity with the purported economies to be effected by our new administration.

It is recognized that responsible officials of our Commonwealth should be provided with adequate offices, but a line should be drawn between that which is necessary for comfort and efficiency and that which constitutes luxury and reputed sheer waste of tax moneys; therefore be it

RESOLVED, the the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of five Senators to investigate the truthfulness of rumors relating to the re-decoration of the offices of Charles H. Boehm, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and further fiscal policies of his administration OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION and expenditure of appropriations without budgetary limitation TOGETHER WITH THEIR EFFECT ON LOCAL SCHOOL DISTRICT FINANCING, AND THEIR EFFECT ON THE FISCAL AND EDUCATIONAL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES OF THE ENTIRE EDU-

CATIONAL SYSTEM WITHIN THE COMMONWEALTH and to determine whether or not such costly alterations and policies are necessary and defendable at this time; and be it further

RESOLVED, THAT THE COMMITTEE MAY HOLD HEARINGS, TAKE TESTIMONY AND MAKE ITS INVESTIGATIONS AT SUCH PLACES AS IT SHALL DEEM NECESSARY WITHIN THIS COMMONWEALTH. IT MAY ISSUE SUBPOENAS UNDER THE HAND AND SEAL OF ITS CHAIRMAN, COMMANDING ANY PERSON TO APPEAR BEFORE IT AND TO ANSWER QUESTIONS TOUCHING MATTERS PROPERLY BEING INQUIRED INTO BY THE COMMITTEE, AND TO PRODUCE SUCH BOOKS, PAPERS, RECORDS AND DOCUMENTS AS THE COMMITTEE DEEMS NECESSARY. SUCH SUBPOENAS MAY BE SERVED UPON ANY PERSON AND SHALL HAVE THE FORCE AND EFFECT OF SUBPOENAS ISSUED OUT OF THE COURTS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH. ANY PERSON WHO WILFULLY NEGLECTS OR REFUSES TO TESTIFY BEFORE THE COMMITTEE OR TO PRDUCE ANY BOOKS, PAPERS, RECORDS OR DOCUMENTS SHALL BE SUBJECT TO THE PENALTIES PROVIDED BY THE LAWS OF THE COMMONWEALTH IN SUCH CASES. EACH MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE SHALL HAVE POWER TO ADMINISTER OATHS AND AFFIRMATIONS TO WITNESSES APPEARING BEFORE THE COMMITTEE: AND BE IT FURTHER

RESOLVED, That the committee so appointed shall report back to the Senate its findings and recommendations as soon as possible.

(Caps in the above resolution indicate amendments.)

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

AMENDMENT OFFERED

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I desire to offer an amendment to this resolution, and to also make a brief statement.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, may I assure you that this amendment will in no way change the express purpose of the resolution. One problem of every committee or investigation is the proper place and surroundings for its meetings and its work.

I confess that I have never been in the locale suggested in this amendment, but from reports which I have received, it would appear that it might be a most fitting place for an investigation, of which the first announced purpose is the redecoration of the office of a schoolman.

Mr. President, I now offer an amendment to this resolution, and I believe that the adoption of it would add to the effectiveness of the Wade-Stoner resolution.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Senate Resolution, Serial No. 11 (not printed), by adding after the paragraph reading, "Resolved, That the committee so appointed shall report back to the Senate its findings and recommendations as soon as possible," the following paragraph:

"RESOLVED, That the committee so appointed request the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to make available to it for committee meetings certain rooms and other facilities in the Pennsylvania Turnpike Building, and if such rooms and facilities are so made available to the committee, the committee shall hold at least fifty per cent of its meetings and other deliberations as a group in the said Pennsylvania Turnpike Building."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe that the resolution authorizes the President pro tempore to name a committee from the Members of this Senate. I am sure, having the utmost confidence in his ability and perspicacity, that he will appoint men from this Body who will be able to select for themselves the place of meeting in order to carry out their duties under this resolution. If it should so happen that they would desire to use the facilities of the Turnpike Commission, I have no doubt that the courtesy would be extended to them. However, to suggest it in a formal manner does not seem to me to be extending the protocol that might be due between one body and another.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would request my colleagues to vote "no" on the amendment.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on the amendment presented by the distinguished colleagues, Senator Hays, who, incidentally, is a schoolman and who, I know, is vitally interested in this problem, he was rather facetious in using the name of a man who is not a Member of this Senate. I submit to him and to all the other Members of the Senate that this matter is very serious.

During the address yesterday by the distinguished Governor of this Commonwealth, the Governor told us that he had, in his proposed budget for our consideration, the sum of $844,000,000 to meet the school needs of this Commonwealth for the ensuing biennium. May I submit to you further that during the past Administration, known as the Leader Administration, moneys to the extent of $1,428,000,000 were appropriated for school purposes in this Commonwealth. This was taxpayers' money and not our money. May I say further to you that the amount of money we set aside for the Leader Administration to help the school problem in Pennsylvania was equivalent to the appropriations made for that purpose during the entire Duff Administration and the entire Fine Administration.

Now as this problem increases, men like my distinguished colleague from Centre County, Senator Hays, who has devoted his life and received his compensation largely through school activities, should be more serious about this matter and should not offer an amendment to a resolution of this kind which is facetious. That is out of order entirely.

I say to you that any problem that has grown from $92,000,000 in twenty years to $844,000,000 of State moneys is one deserving of most serious consideration.

I, therefore, join with Senator Berger in asking all my colleagues on this side of the Senate to vote down the amendment offered facetiously by a schoolman from the State of Pennsylvania, Senator Hays.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not know whether the amendment is facetious. However, I have been in the Turnpike Commission Building and it is gorgeous.

I was not a member of the General State Authority and no Member on this side was a member of the General State Authority, but the money was appropriated to build this gorgeous building. I think the committee should go out to the Turnpike Commission Building and make a comparison, because I have seen this room in the Department of Public Instruction. By so doing, they could see where we are saving money; whereas, at the time they built the Turnpike Commission Building, I think they wasted money.

Mr. President, for Senator Wade to say that we have spent more on education during the four years of Governor George M. Leader, and that we will spend more now during the two years of Governor David L. Lawrence, is true, but who sponsored the bill for these increases? It was sponsored by the Republicans in 1949 and, as you know, every two years an additional $70,000,000 debt is added onto the people of this Commonwealth for public education costs. I am not objecting to that, but I think the record should be kept straight. A bill was passed in 1949 providing that each two years, up to and including this year, 1959, the school debt for reimbursement to the teaching units would be increased by some seventy-odd million dollars. No Governor, whether you have five Governors or McGonigle and Lawrence, can change that debt.

I want you to know that I am happy to vote for this resolution because I just want the people to know that when you got up and said these were allegations and rumors, they were just that.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this resolution, the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. Wade. Mr. President, for the information of the Members of the Senate, there are three sponsors to this resolution. Does the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Mullin, desire to interrogate us all?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Mullin, which sponsor do you prefer?

Mr. MULLIN. Senator Wade, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will be delighted to be interrogated, Mr. President.

Mr. MULLIN. Since the time when this resolution was introduced, have the reliable sources from whom these rumors came been disclosed?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President. If I may, I will give you a little further information.

I am delighted that my colleague has asked that question because the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Doctor Boehm, has partly answered this question by stating in an article published in a Harrisburg paper, the Patriot, under date of February 19, 1959, the following:

"Budgetary reductions by the 1957 Legislature, however, cut the program short, with the result that some unused partitions" and so forth and so forth.

I gave you some figures on the amounts of those appropriations, which were far in excess of anything given to a previous Administration.

According to the newspaper report, the Governor went over to see the Superintendent's office and they could find a total amount of $28,900,000 in the Superintendent's individual office. The Superintendent further admitted the expenditure of $129,048 which this Legislature did not appropriate for that purpose. Does that answer the gentleman's question?

Mr. MULLIN. Not exactly, Mr. President, but I will have to accept it.

Now this committee is investigating not only an alleged $100,000 to redecorate an office, which I did not hear stated in your reply. You did not say that this money was spent to redecorate an office of the Superintendent. That was my question. I wanted to determine whether or not you have any reliable source which stated that the Superintendent would spend $100,000 to redecorate his offices.

Mr. WADE. May I say to the gentleman, in answer to his interrogation, that it comes from reliable sources now. I did not want to accuse anyone of giving figures which I did not know to be a fact. However, I want you to know that I consider Doctor Boehm reliable and the figures I gave were his figures. He said that he spent $129,000, and I shall take Doctor Boehm's word until I find out differently. However, he spent at least that amount of money.

Mr. MULLIN. I understood that Doctor Boehm was building an audio-visual laboratory to test the programs that are supposed to be made available to the Department of Public Instruction and that, I would say, is not redecorating an office. I am speaking specifically of redecorating an office; refurnishing it, making it more beautiful and things of that sort.

Have you found any sources which state that there is $100,000 being spent for that purpose?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I might answer the gentleman by saying "yes."

Mr. MULLIN. Will you disclose those sources?

Mr. WADE. Not until we are authorized by this resolution to look into the matter and find that those rumors, as he states, or statements which I now believe to be absolutely correct, are proven.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, this resolution is a Senate Resolution and it goes far beyond that type of an investigation.

It goes so far as to give the committee the power to hold hearings, take testimony, make investigations it should deem necessary, issue subpoenas, commanding people to appear before it, to produce books, papers and records and so on.

Does this particular resolution carry any appropriation?

Mr. WADE. It does not, Mr. President. I think the gentleman is perfectly able to decide that for himself.

May I say in answer to his over-all interrogation, which has not been too clear-cut in that he wanted to divulge, if there is nothing wrong in this Department then an investigation can do no harm. As my distinguished colleague brought out, there is no appropriation. In other words, we are spending no more of the State's money, so why should they be fearful of an investigation?

I think that Doctor Boehm—as Senator Barr said awhile ago— and every member of the Senate on the Democratic side, particularly, would be anxious to prove to the citizens of Pennsylvania that every penny we appropriate to the Department of Public Instruction is being properly spent.

Mr. MULLIN. May I ask the Senator whether he expects this resolution to cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania any money?

Mr. WADE. May I ask him, Mr. President, to repeat his question.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman please repeat his question?

Mr. MULLIN. Will the Senator advise us whether he expects this investigation to cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania any money?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, it is altogether possible that this will save—not cost, but save—the citizens of Pennsylvania many, many tax dollars.

Mr. MULLIN. Well, do you expect this particular investigation to cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania any money?

Mr. WADE. I do not expect that it will. I cannot answer that definitely.

Mr. MULLIN. Do you expect that there will be no appropriation attached to this investigation at all?

Mr. WADE. I have already answered that question, Mr. President.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, in a short while we will be holding hearings on the budget, which will include the budget for the Department of Public Instruction. I think that all the questions which could be asked by such an investigation as this could be asked at those budget hearings. The budget hearings are public hearings. I assume that that would be the appropriate place to ask these questions and conduct this investigation.

For that reason, I deem this particular resolution, at this time, to be, first of all, unnecessary; second of all, it is going to be costly and could wind up in costing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a very large sum of money. Therefore, since it is based on rumor and since there is not one direct charge which is based on any known fact, I want to say that I expect to vote against this resolution.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I want to express my appreciation to the Senator from Cumberland for expressing his confidence in me as an educator. I also want to say that I do regard this resolution as a very serious one. I think education is the most important business in Pennsylvania, and I think it is important that this resolution be carried out so that education is put in the proper perspective with other agencies of State Government.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I think my remarks are in order on the amendment inasmuch as they are comments on the remarks made by Senator Wade.

I first of all, would like to say that if Senator Mullin's interrogation did not seem to the gentleman clear-cut, the gentleman's answers to Senator Mullin's latter questions about possible costs of the investigation did not seem to me any more clear-cut.

I was a bit surprised, Mr. President, at the vehemence with which Senator Wade greeted the suggestion in the amendment offered by Senator Hays. His usual savoir-faire and aplomb seemed to desert him there for just a moment. That seemed curious to me because there are rather humorous aspects, as well, in the whole allegations brought by the Senator from Cumberland. We all know the devotion of the Senator to his constituents. I believe there is a constituent of the Senator's involved in this case, and we all honor him for the way he is trying to carry out his duty, or his obligation perhaps, as he sees it, to a constituent in promulgating these allegations and rumors.

However, it does have its humorous aspect in the fact that the Senator comes to this Senate with only undisclosed sources and unverified allegations and rumors, some of which have been answered—certainly to the satisfaction of most of the people I have spoken with—already without an investigation. Therefore, I would simply like to remark that the vehemence and the lack of humor with which he greeted the suggestion made in the amendment offered by Senator Hays were rather surprising to one who knows the Senator as well as I do.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 11, ADOPTED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt this resolution.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Memebrs of the Senate, Senator Wade's resolution reminds me of the speech which Senator McGinnis has made on the floor of this Senate many, many times regarding suspicion and rumors. That is all that is contained in the resolution.

I understand that Senator Wade now has some facts. As a matter of fact, he mentioned something written in the Harrisburg Evening News. I would like very much to have the honor and privilege of interrogating the distinguished gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Do you claim now that you really have some facts in regard to the operation of the Department of Public Instruction?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, let me say to the gentleman—

Mr. LANE. Just a moment, Senator Wade. I would just like you to answer the question, "yes" or "no," and not make a speech. If you do make a speech, you always becloud the issue.

Mr. WADE. I would like to inquire of the Chair, Mr. President, as I undestand it and according to our rules, all interrogations go through the Chair. I do not answer the gentlemen direct, nor do they interrogate me direct. According to our rules of parliamentary procedure, all interrogations go through the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct.

Mr. WADE. Then let me answer the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, by saying that he did misunderstand me. It was not the Harrisburg Evening News; it was the Harrisburg Patriot. Secondly, Doctor Boehm, in that newspaper, admitted the expenditure of about $130,000 for his offices. If I had the privilege now of interrogating Senator Lane, wihch I do not have, I would certainly ask him whether he voted for an appropriation of that size for the remodeling of offices in the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. In view of your statement, Senator Wade, do you not think it would be proper now to amend your resolution and set forth this fact in the resolution, as you just stated on the floor? Do you not think that would be proper?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think the gentleman's point is well taken and the amendment—we are just a day ahead of him—is already in the resolution. This led into such a wide declaration of facts from members of the Department of Public Instruction that we have broadened the resolution. I sincerely hope that the gentleman from Washington has read the remodeled or amended resolution, which I think he holds in his hand.

Mr. LANE. May I say first that I have read the resolution in detail and there are a number of things which I do not understand; primarily, some of the statements which were made in the newspaper, and I believe you made the statements.

Is it true, Senator Wade, that Representative Stoner's brother was dismissed from the Department of Public Instruction?

Mr. WADE. That is true, Mr. President, as I understand it.

Mr. LANE. Is it also true that Representative Stoner's brother had an increase in his appropriation in the amount of $970,000 which was not justified?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not at all familiar with the breakdown of the Department's appropriation. I gave over-all figures a few moments ago.

Mr. LANE. According to a newspaper account, —— and I will read this —— it says:

"The Cumberland County Republican claimed that many career employees in the Department were fired from the Administration of former Governor Leader and that these people should be called in before a Legislative Committee and given an opportunity to tell their stories."

Did you make that statement? Is that correct?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would say that that is substantially correct, although I do not recall it at this time. However, I am giving the gentleman the benefit of the doubt.

Mr. LANE. Frankly, I had planned on voting in favor of this resolution. However, it appears to me that this is a question of political sour grapes. Do you agree with that?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I certainly do not agree with that. Since the gentleman has made the interrogation, may I extend my answer to the extent of reading a letter from a current employee in the Department of Public Instruction? Obviously, however, I will refrain from giving the name because I presume that if I did give this name because I presume that if I give this name and make it public, certainly the party's future employment in that Department would be short.

With your permission, Mr. President, and with the permision of the gentleman from Washington, I shall read the letter:

> "Dear Senator:
> "I am so glad you have the courage to investigate Doctor Boehm. Few of we people in the Department of Public Instruction can speak out because our jobs are at stake. Here is a situation which I report to you.
> In June 1958 there was the usual bureau meeting of Curriculum Administration with Doctor Mellman presiding. He spoke of the campaign for Democrat financial contributions and said, 'You are requested to make a payment in appreciation for your employment and for your future job security.'
> "Mr. Stoner asked Doctor Mellman to repeat that statement which he did. Then Mr. Stoner said, 'Doctor Mellman, you have just demanded a political contribution from State employees paid from Federal funds. These people are covered by the Federal Hatch Act and may make a voluntary contribution, but may not be solicited under threat of dismissal.'
> "There was a half-hour discussion, with the staff supporting it. Then Doctor Mellman called in Doctor Bryan to explain the situation. Doctor Bryan declared that this was an order from the front office and apologized for invading the rights of people paid by Federal funds."

Mr. President, I have many other letters which I will read if the gentleman insists, all of which indicate to me that there is a ri ht to ask for an investigation. If there is nothing to fear, the gentleman on the other side should be the first to vote for this resolution.

Mr. LANE. You talked about political contributions. You have been around here a long, long time and I am quite sure you can answer this question. Prior to the Democratic Administrations, did any of the employees of the Department of Public Instruction make any political contributions?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I cannot answer that. I do not receive a record, although I wish Senator Barr would give me a record because he and I represent the same District across the river. I wish Senator Barr would give me a record of the State employees who make these contributions. I think he is unfair in withholding that information from me.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President——

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, yield the floor to Senator Barr?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I just remembered one thing, and that is that last year Senator Wade told me that he wanted to have his $50 dinner before Senator Taylor's.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not wish to intrude upon the delicacies of debate in this matter, but it would seem to me that the subject matter now being delved into is that which is called for by the resolution, after the resolution is adopted and the committee appointed.

I would like to point out to the Chair that these matters go more to the subject matter after —— and if —— the resolution is adopted. I would suggest that they might be slightly to the left of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I was just rebutting on Senator Wade's statement in regard to political contributions by the Democrats. I thought it was proper to interrogate him in regard to political contributions made by the Republicans in the Department of Public Instruction.

Of course, I am discontinuing that particular line, but I would like to ask Senator Wade one more question, if I may.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Do you plan on asking the President pro tempore for a seat on this special committee?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I shall not ask —

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I submit that that is entirely out of order. Senator Wade has no discretion as to the appointment of this committee. The resolution calls for the appointment by the President pro tempore. I am sorry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The point of order is well taken. The discretion lies entirely with the President pro tempore.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Chair?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, do you have knowledge as to whether or not the President pro tempore has already appointed a committee from the Senate?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair has no knowledge of that, sir. The Chair does not know who the President pro tempore will appoint.

Mr. LANE. Thank you very much.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I can see that we are going to be confronted with some parliamentary moves here today, in order to keep down the interrogation. This is only natural. I can understand their position. However, I would like to make the comment that, in the first place, the Department of Public Instruction is audited by its own auditors. It seems to me we now have legislation on the statute books, or will have very shortly, which will cover another audit of the Department of Public Instruction by the Auditor General's Office.

Any resolution which is submitted to this Senate, based on rumor, to my way of thinking, appears to be a fishing expedition. The crux of this whole thing is the fact that a number of employees in the Department of Public Instruction, in all probability, might have been dismissed. They might have been of the Republican faith. For that reason, it appears that they are now after Doctor Boehm. During my interrogation of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, he said that he might have made this statement whereby these few employees were fired under the Administration of Governor Leader and that they should be called in before a legislative committee to tell their stories. That sort of smells a little bit of politics. I dislike very much to make that statement, but it appears that way.

Frankly, Mr. President, I feel that Doctor Boehm, in my opinion, is a great educator. I am even going to vote for Senator Wade's resolution. However, I still say it certainly is political.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, following the policy which we have always followed on this side of the aisle, we have nothing to hide and if there is anything wrong or should be weeded out, I think we should know it. I am just sorry that this resolution is based on rumor and not based on facts that are available to the committee. I think that if Senator Wade has the facts, he should amend this resolution to so state these facts in order for us to have them before us when we begin this investigation, rather than going into rumors and gossip.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of the Memebers on this side of the aisle, I ask that they vote in favor of this resolution because we would be interested in getting the facts and the information if it is available.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of this resolution for three reasons, the first of which is that when I look at the sponsors of it and I see, in addition to my good friend, Senator Wade, that the two co-sponsors are Senator Kessler and Senator Propert, I am not a bit worried about anybody spending or wasting any taxpayers' money in this investigation. I thing all of us know that no two Senators have had a greater regard for careful spending of public money since they have been here, or have been more frugal in trying to search for economy in government than Senator Kessler and Senator Propert. I think the resolution is in good hands if they are part of the guiding spirit behind this resolution.

Secondly, Mr. President, although the original language is perhaps unfortunate in that the word "rumor" is used, I think the amendment to the resolution has corrected that in spirit certainly if not in form. It has been broadened to extend its scope to an investigtion of the fiscal policies of the administration of the Department of Public Instruction. All of us dislike investigating merely on rumor, but, as I say, I believe that was perhaps originally just an unfortunate choice of words and the amendment has cleared that up.

I believe, in general terms, that an investigation such as this now contemplates is salutary. It has a beneficial effect not only in the department which is being discused, but throughout government here on the Hill. Too often, as all of us know, many public employees become, after years of service, somwhat dictatorial and arbitrary in their decisions on a day-to-day basis. That gives rise to what we know in America as bureaucracy. I do not know of another department in this Capitol that has a greater percentage of career employees than the Department of Public Instruction. I know from my own experience, and I am sure all of us have had similar experience, that there have been many instances of arbitrary and dictatorial action on the part of some of the employees of the Department of Public Instruction. I believe it is difficult, since we are in Session only every other year, to exercise the full control that we, as Members of the Legislature, should exercise over the departments to which we appropriate the people's money.

Mr. President, an additional reason why I am supporting this resolution is that since I have been in Harisburg it seems to me that the Department of Public Instruction has been the sacred cow down here, about which nobody could raise any questions. Too many times, I think they tried to indicate to all of us that just because they all have doctors' degrees, they were beyond question and beyond reproach. I think it is a good time to launch a discussion with the officials of the department on their spending policies. All of us heard, yesterday, Governor Lawrence's Budget Address in which forty per cent of this budget is going to the Department of Public Instruction. Perhaps we should have a full scale discussion on the spending by the Department of Public Instruction of so much of the taxpayers' money.

Thirdly, Mr. President, if there has been waste, as is charged here, — and certainly all of us have heard other instances of such spending — then I am sure no one would welcome this investigation and bringing to light such expenditures any more than Governor Lawrence. We all know that Governor Lawrence has launched an austerity program for the State. He has asked the heads of all departments to cut down unnecessary and not vital spending until the biennium ends. I think the Governor is searching sincerely and constantly for ways to cut this budget. I think we can be of real service to the Administration and to the people if we can turn up any frills, fads or unnecessary spending of money in this Department which can be cut out of this budget.

Therefore, Mr. President, I will vote in favor of this resolution.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I, too, am going to vote for this resolution, although I believe this is going to be an alchemical job, like medieval chemistry; making out of smoke, fire.

However, I know that in this body there are some capable attorneys who are able, by incisive questioning, to bring out the facts. For this reason, I am hopeful that the truth will come to the surface, but I pray that the membership of that committee will consist of the cream of the legal brains of the Senate so that they can conduct a speedy and incisive investigation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on this resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like the record to show that I voted in opposition to this resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It will be so noted on the record.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on this resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was adopted.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now turns the gavel over to the President pro tempore of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Gentlemen, since the skirmish is over, I think we are all grateful that Senator Dent went to Washington because it could have developed into a real war.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Bless these, Thy humble servants, we pray, O God. May they ever be aware of Thy continued guidance and protection; guard them against the allurement of stooping below the dignity of the high office to which they have been called. Fill them with the fullness of Thy glory that they may catch a glimpse of the vision of Thy truth emblazened against the horizon of tomorrow; instill within them the knowledge of Thy will and way. Use them for the propagation of Thy gospel; inspire them in the furtherance of Thy kingdom in the hearts and minds of mankind. And through the sacrifice of Jesus Christ upon Calvary's Cross, save them to inherit eternal life in the world which is to come; bring them to the glory of Easter Morn with a deeper realization and appreciation of its significance in the life of the children of God. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord, we pray. Amen.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 117, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "State Employes' Retirement Law" of June 27, 1923 (P. L. 858) , defining employes of redevelopment authorities as State employes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I rise to speak on this bill, first of all, because I am in favor of the bill, and secondly, to give some of the Members on this side of the aisle a chance to get back into their seats.

The SPEAKER. That is a laudable ambition.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I think this is good legislation and first of all, to dispel any doubts that some of the Members here may have, this bill does not apply exclusively to the city of Philadelphia. It applies statewide.

This is a "may" or permissive piece of legislation which will apply to each and every redevelopment authority in the entire Commonwealth. In other words, if there is a redevelopment authority in your municipality or in your county, the employes and the authority of that redevelopment authority will decide for themselves whether, if we pass this legislation, they desire to become a part of the state pension system.

I want to point out also that under this bill as written and drawn, the entire cost of joining the pension system is to be picked up by the authority and the employes thereof. I say to you that this will cost the pension fund nothing whatsoever, except administration costs which they already have. But the actual cost of financing the employes of redevelopment authorities joining the system must be borne by the authorities and by the employes thereof.

It is interesting to examine the Act of 1945 under which redevelopment authorities have been organized and formed so that we can decide for ourselves why should employes of redevelopment authorities become part of the state pension system. Section 1702, states that redevelopment authorities shall exist and operate for public purposes. Such purposes are hereby declared to be public purposes for which public money may be spent. Some people might ask why don't, for instance, the redevelopment body of the city of Philadelphia join the Philadelphia pension system? Why do they have to join the state system? The next section I am going to bring to your atention answers that.

This is Section 1704. It says as follows:

"Each such body shall be known as the Redevelopment Authority of the city or county but shall in no way be deemed to be an instrumentality of such city or county or engaged in the performance of a municipal function."

In other words, I say to you the way the present Act of 1945 is drawn, under which these redevelopment authorities are organized, specifically would eliminate in Philadelphia, for instance—or in your county or in your muncipility—the members or employes of the redevelopment authority of that locality from joining either the county or municipal pension system.

Let us go a step further and look at Section 1709. This says an Authority shall constitute a public body corporate and politic, exercising public powers of the Commonwealth as an agency thereof. So that the closest place that you can put a redevelopment authority is by saying that it is an agency of the Commonwealth and exercises the functions and powers of the Commonwealth.

Therefore in all fairness, employes of a redevelopment authority should be given the same privileges as you and I have here, or the privileges of any employe that works for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

There have been departures before, so far as agencies of the Commonwealth are concerned. Let me explain to you what I mean by that. At the present time, by amendment to the existing law, Penn State University employes are subject and eligible to the pension system; also the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, Pennsylvania Tunnel Commission, Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, Delaware River Joint Commission and Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, State Public School Building Authority, General State Authority, State Highway and Bridge Authority so that I urge the Members on this side of the House and the Members on the other side of the House to support this type of legislation.

You want to remember another thing. Employes of redevelopment authorities do not come under unemployment compensation. In other words, if they lose their job for any reason they have no place to turn. They are presently under Social Security, and there again only because the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania saw fit to do this for them.

Under an amendment of 1950 to the Social Security Act and an agreement of 1951 between the Social Security Administration and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, employes of redevelopment authorities throughout the Commonwealth are now under Social Security.

Again I would like to call to your attention the fact that a number of the functions of redevelopment authorities are subject to the control and administration of the Secretary of Commerce of the state of Pennsylvania. I urge you in all sincerity to give this full consideration and vote "Aye."

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, on this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have noticed that the gentleman from Washington, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee has been re-referring all bills for appropriations that might likely have any cost to the Commonwealth attached to them.

I would now like to ask the gentleman from Washington, has this bill been examined by the Appropriations Committee to determine whether or not it will entail any cost to the Commonwealth?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I just came into the House. Would the gentleman inform me on which bill he is speaking.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Page 6 of today's Calendar, House Bill No. 117, Printer's No. 28, relating to the State Employes' Retirement to bring redevelopment employes into it.

Mr. POLEN. We did not have this bill in the Appropriations Committee, and we did not re-refer it to the Appropriations Committee because we understood it would not cost the Commonwealth any additional monies.

Mr. TOMPKINS. There has been some question raised along that line. I wonder if it should not be examined by the Appropriations Committee first before we act upon this bill.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as this has not been examined by the Appropriations Committee, I move that House Bill 117, Printer's No. 28, be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations for re-examination.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection whatsoever to this bill being re-referred to the Appropriations Committee for study, because I feel certain the study must disclose, as I stated here on the floor, that absolutely no appropriation whatsoever is required. I am sure that a lapse of a week or two weeks will not make too much difference. I think it is good legislation and I think it will see the light of day.

Therefore, I ask the Members on this side of the aisle, if Mr. Tompkins insists that that is good procedure, to go along with Mr. Tompkins and re-refer it to the Committee on Appropriations.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 135, entitled as follows:

An Act providing that in actions of trespass founded upon negligence the contributory negligence of a plaintiff shall not bar recovery unless such contributory negligence is a proximate cause of his injury.

On the question,
Will the Houes agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I realize that House Bill 135 is one of the most important bills, if not the most important, for the benefit of the people, that has been brought up in this Session, and undoubtedly one of the most important that will be brought up in this entire Session.

This bill, I understand today, represents a controversial piece of legislation and the first controversial legislation of a non-partisan nature. Therefore when I finish, and those who talk in favor of this bill have finished, I will ask for votes favoring this bill on both sides of the House.

This bill provides that the contributory negligence of the plaintiff, that is, the party who brings suit in any action, shall not bar a recovery unless such contributory negligence is a proximate cause of his injury.

I say this is a most important piece of legislation. Both I and several other Members of the Legislature have gone to a great deal of trouble and expense from our own pockets as such to fight for legislation of this kind. We have spoken on similar legislation at Spring Lake, New Jersey, bordering on the Atlantic, and have gone as far as Pittsburgh to talk on this piece of legislation.

Most attorneys are under the impression that the law that we seek to pass in bill No. 135 is the law today. But unfortunately as a result of a few late decisions on the subject—Crane versus Neal, 389 Pa. 329, and Middletown versus Glenn, 393 Pa. 360—the court held in those cases that there is not the slightest doubt, and I am quoting, that a plaintiff is guilty of contributory negligence and can't recover if his negligence contributed in any degree, however slight, to the injury.

This bill has had a great deal of study, not only by ourselves, but by the Pennsylvania Bar Association, which acted favorably on this bill and is wholeheartedly supporting it.

At the present time the slightest fault on the part of a plaintiff who brings suit would bar a recovery. For example, if farmer Grey parked his vehicle on the side of the road, loaded with hay, because of some mechanical difficulties, and there was plenty of room on the side for another vehicle that is proceeding 60 or 70 miles an hour to pass, regardless of the fact that there is plenty of room on that side, if that man who is proceeding at a rapid rate of speed would crash into that hay load of farmer Grey, injure him, cripple him for life and maim him, not one cent of recovery under our present law can be had by farmer Grey because of the law which states that he may have been—there is a slight possibility that he may have been—slightly in the wrong for parking that vehicle, regardless of the fact that he could have had very great difficulty parking it any other place because there may have been mud, and slime and dirt on the side of the road on which he could park it.

In searching the law for cases on this subject and looking in 65 Corpus Juris—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield for just a moment? The Chair would like the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson, to preside temporarily.

Mr. GIBSON IN THE CHAIR

Mr. SHERMAN. It has been ascertained in research on the subject that the great majority of the states of this country now have the rule and the law embodied in bill No. 135. Corpus Juris 65, C. J. S., which stated at the time the Corpus Juris came out that at least 40 states approved this bill and had this as a law of the state.

At the present time there is not one other bill in the entire country that provides that the mere fact that a plaintiff may have contributed to negligence in the slightest degree would bar a recovery by him. Pennsylvania is the only state.

This bill came about, as you may have realized, when several years ago we had a bill for comparative negligence on the floor of this House, which bill almost passed. The present proposal presents a middle course. Though the Bar Association did not approve comparative negligence, they have wholeheartedly supported this bill which eliminates the rights of the parties without imposing the objectionable features of a comparative negligence law.

Under no circumstances in this bill can there be a recovery on the part of both plaintiff and defendant. There is no such thing. The only recovery sought is on the part of the plaintiff, and the only thing this bill does—it goes a step further than the law is in Pennsylvania at the present time by providing that cause of negligence on the part of the plaintiff who brings suit must at least be a proximate cause before he be denied a recovery. That is a direct cause as distinguished from a remote cause, a proximate cause as distinguished from a possible cause.

I have made a great deal of research and also consulted various judges and public officials throughout the Commonwealth with reference to this bill. This bill was originally suggested several years ago in a Pennsylvania Bar Association meeting by Judge Leo H. McKay of Mercer County, who informs me at the present time that the bill is appropriately drawn and it harmonizes with the law of Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania Bar Association supports it. The judges of Bucks County believe that it is an excellent piece of legislation. Professor Laurence H. Elridge, former professor of the University of Pennsylvania, states that it is a step in the right direction.

To show the inconsistency in the law as it exists today, unless this legislation is passed, where there is a violation of the statute at the present time, for example, where there is a violation of any part of the Motor Vehicle Code, you do require at the present time proximate cause on the part of the plaintiff in order to prevent or permit a recovery; whereas if there is no violation of the statute, the slightest degree of negligence, it does not matter how small, would prevent a recovery.

If I were walking across the street and I do not continue to look and keep my eyes open continuously from the time I start to the time I finish, and a vehicle speeds along knowing that I am there and strikes me, I cannot recover regardless of whether I am maimed or crippled for life.

In closing, all we are doing is asking for an act which will make the law correspond with existing practice as it is employed in the negligence field today.

I also submit that this bill has come out of the Judiciary Committee without one dissenting vote.

I wish to close in quoting from a prominent attorney in the negligence field as follows:

> There is no doubt that the adoption of this bill is essential to bring the laws of Pennsylvania back into accord with that of every jurisdiction which follows a rule of reason in this type of case.
> I know of no other court which has ever held that an act of negligence may bar a recovery, even though there is not the proximate cause or a proximate contributing cause of an accident.
> This is a concept which is foreign to the law and foreign to every principle of logic.

I have also ascertained that there is no way to show that there is any real increase in insurance rates as a result of this bill for when insurance rates have gone up, Pennsylvania has just followed in the usual step with other states.

I ask in the absence of a peoples' lobby that you as Members of the Legislature go along and support this bill for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. GELFAND. I do not wish to debate the bill at this time. I would like to see if there are any other speakers who oppose the legislation.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to belabor the House to any extent that is absolutely unnecessary, but their are a few observations I would like to add to the remarks made by my colleague, Mr. Sherman.

Under the present law, before a defendant can be held responsible in an automobile accident case, his negligence must be a direct cause of the accident. Under our present law, the plaintiff can be only slightly negligent or at fault and he is out of court according to law. This seems to be grossly unfair.

All that we are asking is that the plaintiff be thrown out if his conduct is a direct cause of the accident. If not, he should be permitted under the law to go to the jury.

Under the present law the judge invariably charges the jury that the slightest degree of fault on the part of the plaintiff will eliminate him from any consideration. As a matter of fact, and the opponents of the bill will readily admit that the juries invariably ignore the charge of the court and say since the practice is to ignore the charge of the court why worry about it. This means real contempt for law to have our jurors listen to the charges of our courts and openly ignore them.

A few sessions ago we had on this floor a comparative negligence bill. The bill went down for a couple of reasons. One was the difficulty expressed on this floor in measuring degrees of negligence. How are you going to tell the degree of fault of the plaintiff and the defendant—how are you going to measure it? We have eliminated that possibility in this bill.

On the other hand, another reason why the comparative negligence bill went down was because the Pennsylvania Bar Association had not then taken a position on the bill. Many of our Members did not vote on the comparative negligence bill for that particular reason.

I say to you now, Mr. Speaker, that the Pennsylvania Bar Association, the highest legal authority in the State of Pennsylvania, has come out for this bill. This is their bill. All that we are asking is that the plaintiff in an negligence case, an accident case, be placed on the same footing as the defendant.

Some years ago a lot of our college professors, law professors, got together and wrote a restatement of the law which applies to the entire country. Those professors decided that the law, the prevailing law in this country, was as is presented in House Bill 135. Here we are in the state of Pennsylvania with an archaic law, a law that does not conform to the announced opinion of the legal authorities of the entire country.

House Bill 135 is a bill for the middle man. We will admit that this will enable some people to recover who have contributed in a slight degree to the accident in which they were involved. I ask that real consideration be given to this bill. I realize that many Members of this House are perhaps insurance brokers or have an interest in insurance companies, or are lawyers representing primarily plaintiffs. I say that we should not allow, and I say this with the deepest sincerity, that kind of selfish interest to influence our vote at this time. This bill is a bill in the public interest and I earnestly implore every Member to vote "aye".

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I think all of the arguments that can be made in favor of this bill have been made. I have no desire at this time to add any further remarks other than to say that insurance rates could increase. However, the widows and children of people who have been injured or killed in automobile accidents, to these people you will be giving some relief. When you weigh the public good against the possibility of increased insurance rates, I am sure that all of you will vote "aye" for this bill.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I just have a one minute talk in discussing this bill. Before we went into Session I had heard a lot of the Members say this is a lawyer's bill. I wish to dispel that thought—this is not a lawyer's bill. This is a bill, as Mr. Eilberg said, for the benefit of every citizen in the Commonwealth. It is a bill in the public interest.

Mr. SAKULSY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask for recognition for the purpose of speaking against this bill.

The substitution of comparative negligence for the rule of contributory negligence would be a major change in our law of negligence. Proponents of this change like to cite extreme hardship cases where very slight negligence on the part of plaintiff prevents recovery of damages. Such cases exist in theory only as it is common knowledge that the courts and casualty insurance claim practices have softened the rule of contributory negligence.

Comparative negligence would constitute a long and irrevocable step toward a compensation system modeled after workmen's compensation laws. Such a system would be most difficult to administer in the absence of an employer-employee relationship and would be tremendously costly if claimants were to receive awards even remotely close to the amounts they are presently accustomed to receive.

By permitting a person who is largely responsible for an accident to recover damages, comparative negligence removes an important and effective incentive for safe driving. Thus, it works at cross-purposes with intensive national, state and local programs aimed at making motorists drive slower and more carefully.

The law of negligence has two major precepts. One is that a person who through carelessness has injured another person shall make financial restitution to such person. The other is that the injured person cannot recover if his own carelessness contributed to the accident. The latter is commonly called the rule of contributory negligence.

From time to time this rule of contributory negligence has been challenged by legal scholars and sociologists. It is unsound, they argue, to deprive an injured person of a recovery when his negligence, as contrasted with the defendant's negligence, was minor in degree. They contend that the rule of contributory negligence should be replaced by a doctrine known as comparative negligence which has a variety of forms but which generally permits a person to recover damages despite his own contributory negligence.

Some states have tried comparative negligence and long since abandoned it. Louisiana tried it as long ago as 1825 but for over a century the courts have refused to enforce it. Kansas once had a law which it abandoned in 1883 and the Illinois courts adopted such a rule following the Civil War, and then renounced it in 1894. Obviously, there is nothing new about comparative negligence, and despite its presence on the scene for many, many years, there has been no surging groundswell demand from the public. The reason is quite simple. All can find fault with a strict and rigid application of the rule of contributory negligence. It does seem inequitable to deny recovery to an injured person merely because some slight negligence on his part may have contributed to the accident. A good example is the case where a pedestrian is hit by a speeding automobile clearly out of control, but it turns out that the pedestrian was not crossing at exactly the lane marked for the crosswalk. But such forms of slight contributory negligence are ignored today not only by courts and juries but by claim men. No claim man would dare go to trial today, relying on court or jury to find for the defendant under such a set of facts. Experienced negligence attorneys know that adherence to the strict rule of contributory negligence has been tempered by claim practices and by the present judicial process and this is true even in many types of cases where contributory negligence is considerably greater than in the example cited above.

A modified form of comparative negligence is actually in effect and the hardship cases which scholars are so fond of citing just do not happen. In a recent case (Karcesky vs. Laria, 114 A. (2nd) 150, (1955)), the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, recognizing this fact, stated:

> "The doctrine of comparative negligence, or degrees of negligence, is not recognized by the courts of Pennsylvania but as a practical matter they are frequently taken into consideration by a jury. The net result, as every trial judge knows, is that in the large majority of negligence cases where the evidence of negligence is not clear, or where the question of contriburoy contributory negligence is not free from doubt, the jury brings in a compromise verdict."

The question inevitably arises as to why comparative negligence legislation is incompatible with the public interest when admittedly a modified form of comparative negligence is now utilized by courts and juries and even by casualty insurance companies in the settlement of claims. First, most of the comparative negligence bills sponsored in state legislatures are by no means modified forms. They are generally the so-called complete type such as the Mississippi law and the Federal Employer's Liability Act under which a plaintiff who is 99% responsible for the accident is permitted to recover.

Agitation for comparative negligence is not an isolated development. It is part of the general trend toward broader liability and compensation for all injuries regardless of causation or fault, a trend evidenced by allowance of recovery in no-contact cases where the only injury is mental, by attractive nuisance cases, recoveries for prenatal injuries, and plaintiffs' verdicts in cases where negligence is extremely doubtful.

Some have the misguided notion that no one will be affected by this trend. The cost, they believe, will be borne by insurance companies and self-insurers with their endless supply of funds. Clearly this is specious reasoning. The cost will inevitably come back to the policyholders. If eventually there evolves an automobile compensation system, modeled after our workmen's compensation laws, the cost will be staggering.

Sometimes it is argued that defendants as well as plaintiffs benefit from comparative because a plaintiff's recovery is diminished by an amount determined by the percentage of causal negligence attributable to the plaintiff, Actually, jurors, frequently out of sympathy for the injured claimant, ignore plaintiff's negligence and base their verdict on the total amount of plaintiff's damages.

Today one of our gravest domestic problems is the rising tide of automobile accidents. According to the National Safety Council, 83% of all fatal accidents involve punishable traffic violations. Quite naturally, therefore, traffic experts are unanimous in the opinion that the most important phase of highway accident prevention is to impress upon the driver, the man behind the wheel, the need for careful driving. Intensive enforcement of traffic laws with stiffer fines is being advocated. Every possible means of reaching him with this important message is utilized. While the best brains in the traffic accident prevention field are working feverishly in a common crusade to improve driving habits, the proponents of comparative negligence, quite unwittingly, are telling this same man behind the wheel:

> "Drive as recklessly as you please; no matter how negligent you are, if you are injured and your car is wrecked, you can be certain of recovering damages, just so long as the other fellow is a tiny bit negligent."

It is submitted that an impartial and objective study of our present system will not justify the need for any such drastic change which must necessarily be a long and irrevocable step toward a compensation system regardless of fault and which is so inconsistent with present efforts to curtail motor vehicle accidents.

Under this bill both parties involved in an accident will undoubtedly be paid off and this certainly is breeding more carelessness on the highways. As you know we have enough irresponsible people in the streets now, without being responsible for them in the event of an accident.

The present system of judges and juries have administered the law of contributory negligence very satisfactorily for many years, and certainly do not feel that it should be possible for irresponsible and careless people to collect.

The verdicts will undoubtedly rise so as to pay off these careless people and increase the burden of the other people in the state to pay increased premiums for such payments. Because of the large verdicts handed down today by the courts, the costs of insurance has risen as high as 300 percent in cases of bodily injury, liability and property damage.

There is no question that sizable additional rates will be necessary and instead of one law-suit there undoubtedly will be two law-suits and again I see a large increase in rates.

If this bill is allowed to become a law it will be difficult for the automobile owners in Pennsylvanie to obtain insurance because the companies will insist upon signed and possibly notarized applications and the policies will probably be written on a 30 day basis with a 30 day notice of termination. Companies writing automobile insurance will conduct rigid investigations before writing the insurance. Today casualty companies employ fine underwriting and it is very difficult to obtain automobile insurance today.

Are you going to pass on the increased insurance cost to the people of this Commonwealth because of negligent operators of motor vehicles?

The passage of this bill will undoubtedly mean increase in the insurance rates whereby automobile insurance will become too costly for the average individual.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that only those answering to their names be recorded.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly rebute the gentleman from Westmoreland if there are no other speakers who are going to speak against this bill. I think it would be more practical to do that.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order if he wishes to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky.

Mr. McCORMACK. I am getting all kinds of directions here, Mr. Speaker. I do not know whether I am to sit down or stand up.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has the floor. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I briefly want to rebut the argument of the gentleman from Westmoreland County. One argument was that there would be a tremendous increase in the cost of writing casualty insurance, and two, that it would somehow affect highway safety.

It is very easy to make a statement here about casualty insurance rates and their being projected in an upward spiral as a result of legislation like this, but it is another thing to cite statistics. Now being an attorney and one who practices negligence cases, I do not have a close affinity for insurance companies, but rather a large part of my practice involves those cases arising out of torts, —and being a novice at the microphone, Mr. Speaker, I am a little nervous.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is not the only one.

Mr. McCORMACK. Nevertheless, there have been no figures cited here, and therefore I think we can very well disregard what the gentleman says.

With respect to highway safety, that factor, of course, does not enter into it when we consider the pedestrians because certainly the present law makes it very difficult for a plantiff to recover in a negligence action arising out of an automobile accident.

With respect to pedestrians they certainly are entitled to recover and there is no question of highway safety involved there. The case that was cited by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Karcesky vs. Laria, was a 1955 Supreme Court of Pennsylvania case arising in Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, where the husband and wife were walking across the street in the middle of an intersection, and they sustained serious personal injuries as a result of this car barrelling down the highway at a tremendous rate of speed. The negligence of the defendant was clear and they raised contributory negligence on the part of the husband and wife plantiffs who were crossing in the middle of an intersection as a bar to their recovery. It is true that they were awarded a verdict, but it was clearly a compromise verdict, a verdict that in no way adequately compensated for the serious personal injury.

The comparative negligence doctrine was discussed at length in that case. That is not the law in Pennsylvania on comparative negligence, and the jurors in reaching this compromise verdict clearly violated their oaths as jurors. That case is certainly an illustration of the fact that claim managers, or rather insurance attorneys do bring those cases to court. I state this in connection with what the gentleman said about no claims manager or attorney bringing that kind of case to court.

In the other cases, Neal vs. Crane in 1957, that was a Supreme Court Case where the two plaintiffs were riding on a motorcycle, the motorcycle broke down and they parked on the side of the road. They did not go all the way over but nevertheless under the facts there was sufficient room for a vehicle to go by, but this defendant's vehicle came barrelling up the highway and it collided with them, they sustained serious personal injury and, after a long projected trial in the lower court, the judge charged the jury that in order for you to find plaintiff's contributory negligence you must find that their negligence was the proximate cause of the injury.

That is precisely what we are trying to do here today, make the plaintiff's injury be the proximate cause before he is barred from recovery. The court so charged, there was a verdict for the plaintiff, and the Supreme Court reversed it because it said the law in Pennsylvania is that regardless of how slight the negligence on the part of the plaintiff is, and regardless of whether or not it was the proximate cause, that could be a bar from recovering any verdict. They reversed the lower court and ordered a new trial.

This is precisely the type of legislation that would avoid such obvious injustice that is perpertrated by virtue of this harsh doctrine which was eliminated back in England, from whence it originated, and which has been eliminated in most of the jurisdictions in the United States.

The Bar Association in Pennsylvania, an extremely conservative group, and the Philadelphia Bar Association have gone on record in support of this type of legislation. It is not a lawyer's bill, as the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb said, it is a bill that vitally affects those people who are struck by automobiles as a result of careless driving. I think this is an enlightened doctrine that we ought to espouse in this Commonwealth. I am going to vote for the bill.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to debate this bill at length, but I would like to direct some attention to the speech that the gentleman from Westmoreland made.

He gave a very good exposition of another problem which could be refuted. He was talking about comparative negligence. This bill in no way deals with comparative negligence, and I wish it would be clearly understood by the Members of both sides.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I just want you here for a moment to serve as a jury and I am ging to give you a case. I am going to give it to you very quickly. I want you to ask yourselves, where would your sympathies lie in this particular case. This is an actual case that happened at 8th and Race Streets in the city of Philadelphia.

A public transportation bus, riding on Race Street went through a red light. There was no question about the facts. An ordinary citizen in an automobile riding on Eighth Street came to the intersection, had a green light and went across the intersection. When he went across the intersection his car was struck by this bus. As a result and due to the injuries the man received driving the automobile, both of his legs were amputated. He was not a lawyer. When the case came to court for trial he was on the witness stand, and the attorney for the bus company asked him a simple question: "When you went through this intersection, did you look to the left and right?" He said, "No, I did not because I had a green light in my favor." Now, that is the case.

If your sympathies in that case would dictate to you that you have to find in favor of the operator of that automobile, then I say to you that you should be for this particular bill that is here before us because it was needed in that particular case. That man was denied recovery in that case because of the fact that his negligence contributed to that accident.

If this bill was in effect at that particular time, this man would have recovered, as I say he rightly should have, because there is no question in anybody's mind that that accident was caused by the bus driver going through a red light.

I say to you if your sympathies are with the operator of that automobile, you should be in favor of this particular bill.

Mr. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a brief statement in opposition to House Bill No. 135. Being in the insurance industry, I would like to oppose this bill, as this bill at this time changes the public policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The insurance industry is going to have to meet this change. Of course, the first big thing that is going to change will be the railroad industry. At their intersections you must stop, look and listen. Now how much of "stop, look and listen" is to be deleted from our negligence law when it comes to the big fleet operators on our highways?

The cost of operation of trucks and accidents is one of our biggest problems. The insurance industry is certainly trying to do all it can to lick this problem. Yet the accidents of big trucks have caused considerable dismay among the insurance industry to try to cover this industry so that the public is well protected; so that the policy holders can afford to pay for this insurance.

To change public policy at this particular time without showing any economic, geographic or social reason for doing so, just because a Committee of the Pennsylvania Bar Association deems the public policy should be changed without necessity, I feel the insurance industry should rise up and oppose this bill with all its force.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I have been advised by my colleagues on this side the sponsors of this bill may be guilty of contributory negligence because we are talking too long. However, it is a good cause and I want to speak very briefly and analyze the learned address and treatise of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Sakulsky.

The gentleman made two points in his talk. First of all, he was delivering a harangue against comparative negligence. We are not debating comparative negligence today.

Secondly, he proved a necessity for the bill when he stated that the courts and the juries must temper justice with mercy in their analysis of the case for the law today is a harsh doctrine.

If you examine the law—and I have a law book here and I have 45 others that I was going to bring up, but Mr. Stimmel advised me not to do so—you will realize that the restatement of the law in the late decisions is a return to a harsh doctrine.

As late as 1880 the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania says that the contributory negligence of a plaintiff must be the direct and proximate cause. For a plaintiff to be guilty of negligence, his negligence must be the proximate cause. Therefore the defendant's negligence should be the proximate cause. We want the plaintiff to have a square deal; we want the defendant to have a square deal. We think this is a good bill but we talk too much.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industries for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 231, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The County Code" approved August 9, 1955 (P. L. 323) authorizing the appointment of solicitors by certain county officials and limiting the duties of the county solicitor.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I would ask permission of the Chair in interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Which sponsor does the gentleman care to interrogate?

Mr. GAILEY. Either sponsor.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will either of the sponsors of the bill permit himself to be interrogated?

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Yetter.

Mr. YETTER. Mr. Speaker, I will agree to be interrogated.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me what is the purpose of providing for solicitors for these row offices in the county as provided in this particular bill?

Mr. YETTER. Mr. Speaker, I think that is very plain.

The way the law is today, in the larger counties the row offices are allowed to have solicitors, and the smaller counties which I represent, seventh class counties, the row offices, for instance the sheriff, the register and the recorder or the county treasurer have to use the same solicitor that the county commissioners have. If they have a conflict with the county commissioners they would have the same attorney representing two different cases. It is a conflict of interest and that is the reason we are asking for permission for these offices to have their own attorneys. This is a "may bill"—may or may not—and the county commissioners and the county salary board set the salary so it would be up to the individual counties what they want to do.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I refer the gentleman to page 2 of the bill, line 17, more specifically, pages 2 and 3, lines 17 to 19 on page 2, and the first three lines on page 3. This is matter which is to be stricken from the law as it now stands, is that not correct?

Mr. YETTER. That is right.

Mr. GAILEY. This says that in case of any litigation impending between the commissioners and any other elected county officers, the proper court may authorize such county officers to retain special counsel for said purposes, whose fees shall be fixed by the court and paid from the county treasury, is that not correct?

Mr. YETTER. That is correct, but our officers would like to have an attorney for them to counsel with before they get in trouble or get into a conflict.

Mr. GAILEY. Well, does it not say in case of litigation impending or in progress?

Mr. YETTER. They want to be advised so that they do not get into trouble.

Mr. GAILEY. I would ask the gentleman what the word "impending" means; isn't that before something happens?

Mr. YETTER. Which paragraph are you referring to?

Mr. GAILEY. I am referring to lines 19 and 20 on page 2.

Mr. YETTER. That would mean that every time there is any question, the court would have to appoint a solicitor. Is that the idea? Is that what you want?

Mr. GAILEY. Isn't that what it says?

Mr. YETTER. Yes, but we do not think that is a good idea.

Mr. GAILEY. Thank you.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak just briefly on this bill. Perhaps the last bill that we considered here, or the original bill, the one which fell by a vote of 79 to 120 was referred to as a lawyer's bill. This is certainly a lawyer's bill if I ever saw one. Perhaps I am being unfaithful to my profession when I rise to speak against this bill, but it seems to me this is a situation where the Legislature is being asked to provide handouts for lawyers in seventh and eighth class counties.

There is no reason I can see why the present law is not sufficient for them to obtain legal advice from the county solicitor. There are occasions where legal controversy arises between row offices and county commissioners, but generally speaking they are few and far between, and to put lawyers on the payroll of each of the row offices as proposed by this bill seems to me to be a great mistake. I think unfortunately probably too many lawyers are hired already under the terms of the existing legislation, and I think it would be a serious mistake for this House to consider extending it. I would ask the Members to vote against this legislation.

Mr. YETTER. Mr. Speaker, I want to make another statement on this bill. If it is right to have solicitors for the larger counties and pay them large fees for these services, I think it is just as right to have solicitors for these officers in the small counties and at small fees.

Up until the 1955 Session when the new County Code went through, the smaller counties, the office holders had these solicitors. In our county they paid them $300 a year. Some of the counties now are doing it by the county solicitor appointing solicitors for these offices as deputies. This bill would make it very much simpler.

I ask support from both sides of this House for this bill.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 310, entitled as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article two section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, perhaps this may be out of order but I would like to ask Mr. Helm one question. When we met on today's calendar there were no marks nor recordings regarding this bill.

Was it the understanding of the Republican Caucus that this bill would be held up today in this Session and passed over?

Mr. HELM. The gentleman is correct. We had an understanding in our caucus that an effort would be made to hold up the bill and not vote on it today. However, I must admit the calendar was not so marked.

Mr. McCANN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I had no knowledge of this, nor is there any marking indicated on this particular bill. We have always agreed in each other's caucuses that any bill that is requested not to be called up, or be passed over, that would be done. Therefore, I ask that we rescind our action, if this bill was agreed to, strike that action from the record and pass over the bill today.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, we thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the Chair to withdraw its decision on requiring a roll call on this bill? The Chair hears no objection.

The Chair will now ask the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, to make a motion to put the bill on the final passage postponed calendar.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 313, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The Dental Law," approved May 1, 1933 (P. L. 216), changing the definition of the "practice of dentistry" and changing penalties relating to dental technicians.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak against the passage of House Bill No. 313.

Apparently about the only thing the bill seeks to accomplish is to provide a stiffer penalty. I think the bill can best be explained, and my opposition to it can best be explained, by a letter I received from a highly ethical dental laboratory, the Herman Axelrod Laboratories, Inc. in the Medical Arts Building in Philadelphia.

Among the passages it states:

> "I object to the changes being made because I believe the penalty is too severe and not at all in line with the offense. The general purpose of the act was to prevent the practice of illegal dentistry," (and where this practice is exposed by the lack of a prescription from a licensed dentist, I agree the penalty should be severe), "but from the manner in which the law is written, we could easily become the innocent victims, and most likely would be."

This bill instead of a summary conviction or a fine of $50 makes it an indictable offense and it must go, at least in Philadelphia, to the Municipal Court, or the Common Pleas Court. There is a fine of $500 or six months' imprisonment.

The law as it is written now does not stamp out the illegal practice. For that reason I am going to ask everybody here to vote against this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calender.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 321, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of September 3, 1955 (Appropriation Act No. 17-A), entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Council of Civil Defense for disaster relief in connection with the hurricane and flood damage of August one thousand nine hundred fifty-five" making a portion of the moneys appropriated available for payment to the Department of Forests and Waters for a study and investigation of matters and problems relating to certain flood waters.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

Almighty God, to Whom all hearts are open, all desires known and from Whom no secrets are hid, we come to Thee today. We are thankful for the new season which we are entering, the season of spring, the renewal of life, and we thank Thee for life and all it has meant to us and all that we have been able to contribute through our lives.

We pray that Thy spirit will keep us ever close to Thy sight, that we may know that only from Thee do we get the wisdom and the strength and the power to do the work which has been given to us.

Bless us this day as we wait upon Thee, and as we return to our homes, keep us in Thy care. Guide us that whatever opportunity may come to do Thy will, to be kind, to be true, that we may give our best for that purpose.

We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

May each Officer and Member of this august Body be in accord with Thy will, so that their decisions shall be right in Thy sight, to bring to pass that which shall make and keep our great Commonwealth a bulwark of economic, moral and spiritual power in our beloved Nation and in the world.

Help, we pray, all the citizens of our State and Nation, both in public office and private enterprise, to be aware of the moral and spiritual pitfalls which are set to entrap us. Help us to avoid them by following closely in the footsteps of Him Who chose to die that we might live.

In the Senate, March 9, 1959.

The ill health of the Secretary of State of the United States, John Foster Dulles, is a matter of deep concern to all of us. The unselfish determination of this outstanding American to fulfill his duties at any cost has placed his very life in jeopardy. He has most capably and conscientiously traveled continuously throughout the world in the furtherance of peace and a better understanding among nations, and we, his fellow Americans, have benefited greatly by his labors.

We are happy to hear that Secretary Dulles is now improving and we most sincerely hope that he will continue to improve so that, with God's help, he may again very soon take up the duties which have been vested in him with the utmost of confidence; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expresses to John Foster Dulles its gratitude for his outstanding statesmanship and lasting contributions to the betterment of our Nation, and sends to him its sincere wishes for a rapid and complete recovery; and be it further

Mr. McGINNIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, last Friday, on March 6th, ex-Senattor Joseph F. Guffey passed to the great beyond. He was a United States Senator, from Pennsylvania, for twelve years. He was also a very active businessman.

Therefore, on behalf of Senator Weiner, Senator Berger, Senator DiSilvestro, Senator Taylor, Senator Barr, Senator Sarraf and myself I am offering this resolution.

TRIBUTE TO FORMER UNITED STATES SENATOR JOSEPH F. GUFFEY

Messrs. McGINNIS, WEINER, BERGER, DiSILVESTOR, TAYLOR, BARR and SARRAF offered the following resolution (Serial No. 17), which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 9, 1959.

On Friday, March 6, 1959, death brought to a close the brilliant political career of the Honorable Joseph F. Guffey.

Born December 29, 1870, near Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Senator Guffey became a powerful figure in Democratic policitics, both in Pennsylvania and Nationally. His political career began in 1912 when he took a political gamble and backed Woodrow Wilson for the Presidential nomination. From that time on until the date of his death, at the age of 88, Senator Guffey conscientiously and steadfastly served his Party and the general public. He capably represented the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the Senate of the United States from 1934 to 1947, but was defeated for re-election in 1946, a Republican landslide year, by Senator Edward Martin.

In the death of Joseph F. Guffey, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has lost one of its foremost public figures; a man whose efforts and accomplishments were to the advantage of us all; therefore, be it Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby pays tribute to that outstanding Pennsylvanian, Joseph F. Guffy, and expresses its sincere condolences to his loved ones upon his death.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 3, entitled:

An Act providing for the payment of money into court for persons entitled thereto in eminent domain proceedings the crediting of such payments and prescribing method of computing interest on awards.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it is my intention to vote in opposition to this bill. One of my principal reasons for so doing is the fact that this bill applied not only to the Commonwealth and the Department of Highways, specifically, over which the main discussion seems to have taken place so far, but it also applies to all subdivisions, municipalities and authorities of the Commonwealth.

By setting this figure and making it an inflexible figure, it is my opinion that this bill would deter the operation of these municipalities and authorities in their programs for housing and redevelopment, because I believe it would tie up large sums of money and, therefore, slow down the progress which can be made by these agencies.

For that reason, Mr. President, I intend to vote against the bill.

Mr. HAHADY. Mr. President, I not only concur with my colleague, Senator Seyler, but I would like to add thereto that this should have been eight or nine bills. It applies to utilities, it applies to the Department of Forests and Waters, it applies to municipalities, it applies to cities, it applies to townships, it applies to the Department of Highways and it applies to every type of public utility. It has not been given enough thought. It really should be eight or nine bills because it is amending laws in each of those categories. It does not provide for an orderly or a clear-cut procedure. The bill is vague and smacks of the lamp.

For that reason, Mr. President, I shall vote "no" on the bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the bill, in its present form, was passed I believe without any dissenting votes in the 1957 Session by both the House and Senate. It had been reviewed by the various utility companies which would be affected by it, and the only reason for the Governor's veto, as stated at the time—and I am speaking from recollection—was that the Department of Highways would set up prompt means whereby the damages would be paid to the people whose property was being taken for highway purposes.

Certainly, Mr. President, there are instances with which we are all familiar where that has not been done. Consequently, we believe that this bill will have a salutary effect upon the payment of damages for property taken under the right of eminent domain, whether by the Department of Highways, a utility or another municipality.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on the bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the purpose of the bill is a good one and is a step in the right direction. The only problem which most of us seem to have with it is that the percentage is too high. It will tie up a great deal of State money while litigation is taking place and may do so for a long period of time.

Therefore, if this percentage were reduced to a level where the State would not be injured thereby, because of the fact that we are going into a vast highway program and other programs wherein this type of problem will occur again and again, I believe my colleagues, on this side of the aisle, would find this bill more palatable. It is for that reason, Mr. President, that I am asking my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this discussion, but I believe the instances where the money would be tied up for long periods of time would not be very frequent. The bill provides that the owner of the land may go into court and, by submitting proof of his ownership, shall receive eighty-five per cent of the money which has already been offered in payment for the land. Consequently, there would be no loss because that is money which the Commonwealth or any utility would eventually be paying out.

I can see some instances where it might be prolonged because the owner may have a faulty title. However, excepting in those instances, I do not think it would tie up money because the money would be paid out to the owner and he would be able to use it either to find a new place or to assist him in moving off the premises which were to be taken.

Mr. President, I believe that the bill would not be a very harmful bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to bring to the attention of the Members of the Senate—most of whom have had personal experiences with this problem—that the present situation, as it exists today, is that by executive order the owner of the land receives seventy-five per cent. There is nothing magic about the number seventy-five, but we do feel that that is a fair percentage of the money to be paid, whereby a person who is injured by this type of movement by the State, or progress, as we might call it, can receive a fair amount in order to move away from his present location. Therefore, it would be no hardship to him.

The problem which we now have with this eighty-five per cent, although it is only ten per cent higher, is that it would tie this money up. This bill makes it mandatory and it leaves no room for any kind of executive discretion. I feel that it is not in the province of this Legislature to sit in judgment on everyone of these cases because the strength of our Government is in the division of powers in the Executive and Judicial Branches. I think this problem is in their purview and in their area. If we do not do that, we will have to come in here and legislate for every case. By setting an ironclad rule, we are binding people who have no reason to be bound. I think the people trust their discretion by voting and electing them.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would like to speak on behalf of this bill. Before it appeared on the Calendar, I had no knowledge of this legislaiton being drafted.

I feel that this bill is a good bill and I think if my colleagues on the other side will just think this matter out a little bit and realize the hardships that are being projected upon the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, they will think before they vote "no" on this bill.

In my area in Delaware County, on a route, namely 202, last April, the Department of Highways moved in and started to build a road. They have completed about three-fourths of the road. Up to the present time, there are about twenty-five people who had condemnations and had moneys due them from the State of Pennsylvania, not only for their homes but for the road which is being built through their properties. In this case, it just happens that I am one of those persons. They took some 1,641 square feet of frontage of my property, and about 59,000 or 60,000 feet of ground in depth. Up to this very day, from last April, there has not been a State Highway official around to talk about the settlement on this ground.

Personally, I do not need the money. If they do not come around for another couple of years, it is all right with me because I am fortunate; I have been blessed. However, there are people who have consistently called me, week after week, to find out why someone has not been there to talk about the settlement of their properties.

I know that my colleagues on the other side of the aisle are fair. I am sure if they think this problem over, they will not vote "no" on the bill. It just is not right. There is no reason for it whatsoever. It is just lazy settlements and lack of interest.

I know people who have had their fences torn down, and the fences are still lying down because the people do not have the money to put them back up.

Mr. President, I think this bill is of real importance, and before voting "no" on it, I would certainly check my conscience and just think what is really happening. The case about which I am speaking is Route 202, running from West Chester, Pennsylvania, to the Delaware State Line. If you do not think it is a bad situation, come down personally and investigate it.

I think this bill will shake up the Department of Highways. I think Governor Lawrence wants it. In fact, I talked with Governor Lawrence about this case and he thought it was disgraceful. He felt that something should be done.

Therefore, why should my colleagures vote "no" on a good piece of legislation.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the Majority leader has alleged—and also Senator Watkins has alleged—difficulty with collecting these payments from the Highways Department. Actually, as Senator Weiner has pointed out, these payments are covered to the extent of seventy-five percent by Department regulation.

However, my question to the Senator is this. He has also included in the bill subdivisions, authorities, school districts and so on. I am sure that Senator Berger realizes that the resources of some of these lesser agencies of the Commonwealth are not comparable to the resources of the State Highways Department, nor are their operations upon the same scale. To my knowledge, he has not alleged any difficulties created by these subdivisions, municipalities or authorities.

I wonder if you would explain why the bill is so inclusive. If he was aiming at the problem of settling the problems with the Department of Highways, it would seem to me that the bill should have been directed to that purpose.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would like to ask for an explanation of that.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there is no reason why any agency should be permitted to take property without being prepared to pay for it. The right of eminent domain is a very, very important and a very, very severe right which should be exercised only in cases of public or quasi-public interest. The authorities and municipalities enjoy that right. They prepare their financing in order to acquire the property which they will need, and I see no reason why they should not be prepared to pay to the owner eighty-five per cent of what they admit the value of the land to them may be.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

Of course, this is not a question of whether or not it should be paid for. The only question is whether we should set an inflexible figure of eighty-five per cent and apply it to all these operations. Senator Berger has still not brought forth or even alleged any difficulties in connection with any of these entities.

It is still my opinion, Mr. President, that this would severely hamper the operations of housing authorities, redevelopment authorities and other agencies and municipalities, as a matter of fact, which are interested in doing a job of providing housing and of making redevelopment in their cities.

For that reason, Mr. President, I think the bill is entirely too inclusive for the purpose which Senator Berger has in mind. Therefore, I am opposed to it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, actually, there is a valid argument on both sides, as far as this bill is concerned. However, my concern is that if this legislation is enacted into law, it may tie up a huge amount of highway funds. We are now embarked on a real program of building highways in Pennsylvania. As a matter of fact, it appears that we may have to even increase the gasoline tax.

I appreciate the fact that where eminent domain is used, the public must be protected. However, I am afraid that the percentage of eighty-five per cent is really too high. I believe we should pass legislation whreeby a certain amount of the assessed damages should be paid into court. I think there should be a period of time set forth, in order to answer the problem which Senator Watkins has. There should be a period of time set forth in the bill as to when final settlement should be made. That could be within a year or two or any reasonable time that the Senate feels is proper. To tie up an estimate of eighty-five per cent of property damages throughout Pennsylvania today, with this huge highway program, I am afraid might curtail our Federal program. After all, when we are receiving ninety cents on a dollar from the Federal Government, I feel that Pennsylvania would be foolish, indeed, if it did not take advantage of this gratuity from the Federal Government.

Therefore, Mr. President, I cannot vote for the bill in its present form. However, if it is amended by cutting down the percentage and setting forth a definite time when settlement in full must be made—and make it reasonable—I think the Members of the Senate would vote in favor of it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I fail to follow the argument that the percentage of the amount of money is too high. I see no reason why the full amount of money which the Commonwealth, or the agency or the utility is prepared to pay for a man's property should not be paid over to him. The delay in getting the payments to the people who own the property is the only reason for this bill.

As far as tying up the funds of the Department of Highways is concerned, the bill says that prior to taking possession, they must pay this money. There is no reason that when they move a man out of his property, they should not pay what they admit is due to him.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I want to draw to the attention of this Senate the fact that my conclusion, as I stated before—that there should have been eight or nine bills—is a true one. After all, the law of eminent domain is a very exact law with each and every type of person who uses it. It varies in its scope and in its texture. After all, the law of eminent domain is so different that it should be a subject for study in this Commonwealth. It should be made simple and exact. It should be made consistent.

The Department of Forests and Waters, for instance, can walk in and just take posession. There is not a single thing they have to do in advance. They can walk in and take the land by putting a bulldozer on the land. That is the first notice to people. Now we come along with an omnibus bill, which is aimed at the Department of Highways, and we say that eighty-five per cent shall be paid. This is eighty-five per cent of whose estimate? How are we going to arrive at the eighty-five per cent that we pay? This requires thought, if you assume that you are going to pay eighty-five per cent. We, on this side of the aisle, feel that it is too big.

There is no question about the fact that if it is my property you are taking, it is worth four or five times what you say you think it is worth. Who is going to put the price on the homes? That is one of the problems.

The second thing is that amendments were offered to Senator Berger some time ago, having highways primarily in mind, which provided that before actual possession was taken, you should pay the amount which this Senate would agree upon. As everyone here knows, or should know, when the highway plans are put on record here in Harrisburg, that is when the taking occurs. It does not occur when they move in or at the actual possession time. Sometimes plans are put on record and they do not begin construction, under those plans, for two or three years; and sometimes, never. They are merely withdrawn and the taking merely reverts back again when the plans are canceled.

Mr. President, this is a very intricate subject for each and every separate field, for which there is a different procedure. As I said, there should be some definite, constructive thought given to this matter and legislation introduced. However, in addition to that, we are trying to muddy those waters which are already muddied by proposing this omnibus bill, which attacks all phases of takings within the Commonwealth. We are proceeding with a bill which is not well thought out; that is not well constructed.

Let me leave you with one thought, Mr. President. No one disagrees with the principle behind this bill. Everyone in this group, I think, agrees that there should be more prompt payment. However, what we are talking about is the method to achieve that purpose. On that method, and the method alone, do we disagree.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 309, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, before we vote on this motion, I might say to the Members of the Senate that this bill pertains to the compensation of both the House and Senate employees. It has been understood that when the bill goes over to the House, any amendments which anyone is considering might be submitted for consideration to the Rules Committee in the House, where this bill will undoubtedly be referred.

As far as the motion to recommit this bill is concerned, I would oppose the motion and ask my collegaues to vote "no."

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I want it distinctly understood that I am not opposed to any of the features of this particular piece of legislation. However, I do feel that we now have the cart before the horse.

As a matter of fact, we do not have a tax program; we do not know what we are going to have as far as budgetary requirements are concerned. It seems to me that the fair and proper thing to do would be to let the Appropraitions Committee of the Senate review this legislation. When we find that we have the money and we are not going to cut down any services here in Pennsylvania, then let us pass this legislation and give these people a raise. Until that time, I think we are doing the wrong thing.

Here in Pennsylvania, we have a huge budget. We have a number of departments which are going to demand, and have demanded, additional appropriations. They are demanding appropriations which are vitally important to the welfare and the well-being of the people of Pennsylvania. When we do what this bill proposes to do, I feel we are sort of taking a selfish attitude. I do not believe that any Member of the Senate intends to do that, but we might receive this type of publicity. I feel it is only proper that we should send this bill to the Appropriations Committee. After the Appropriations Committee reviews all its bills, then this legislation should be brought out and passed.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I understood that it has always been customary that any bills which carried an appropriation was referred to the Appropriations Committee before final passage. I would like instruction from the Chair as to whether this procedure is according to rules or merely a matter of Senatorial custom.

The PRESIDENT. As far as the Chair knows, it has been done in some instances, but not in all. Therefore, it might be termed customary rather than mandatory under the rules and regulations.

Mr. SEYLER. I thank the Chair, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to submit the Report of the Commission on Constitutional Revision at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, at the last Session of the Legislature, the General Assembly authorized the formation of a Constitutional Revision Commission, composed of fifteen members, five of whom were to be appointed by the Governor, five by the President pro tempore of the Senate and five by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

This Commission was formed to make a study of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and to decide whether or not they would recommend a Constitutional Convention or whether they would recommend making changes in our present Constitution by amendment. The Governor of Pennsylvania, George Leader, at that time; the President pro tempore of the Senate, M. Harvey Taylor; and Stuart Helm, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, appointed a Constitutional Revision Commission and, in my opinion, they did a very excellent job in their choice of members on that Commission, with one exception. However, fourteen members of the Commission are outstanding men and women of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The Commission met and elected Judge Robert E. Woodside, of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the Commission. I believe we would all agree that Judge Woodside is one of the most outstanding outhorities on Constitutional Law, on the legislative and the administration of government in Pennsylvania that we have had in many years. The Vice-Chairman of the Commission was the Honorable Horace Stern, former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania; likewise, a nationally known and outstanding authority on the constitutional law of Pennsylvania.

The members of the Commission were as follows: Lieutenant-General Milton G. Baker, well known for his work in military circles and at present, he is Superintendent of the Valley Forge Military Academy; the Honorable Genevieve Blatt, Secretary of Internal Affairs, whose knowledge of local government, I believe, would be unsurpassed; Matthew A. Crawford, an attorney of Kittanning, Vice-President and General Counsel of the Pittsburg and Shawmut Railroad; the Mayor of Philadelphia, the Honorable Richardson Dilworth, who added much to the Commission; Doctor Jefferson B. Fordham, Dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School; Mr. George R. Lamade, Publisher of the Pennsylvania Grit; Mrs. Mitchell MacCartney, of Altoona, President of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women; Doctor M. Nelson McGeary, Head of the Department of Political Science, Pennsylvania State University; Mrs. Robert L. McGeehan, Second Vice-President of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, from Hazleton; Philip Price, one of the outstanding and eminent members of the Bar of Philadelphia County; former Senator O. Jacob Tallman, a former Majority Leader of this Senate of Pennsylvania; and two Members of the General Assembly. Speaker Stuart Helm appointed an outstanding Member of the House of Representatives, the former Chairman of the Judiciary Committee in the House, the Honorable Edwin W. Tompkins. Now I come to the man whom I eliminated when I said there were fourteen outstanding men appointed to this Commission. For some reason, Senator Taylor saw fit to appoint me as the Member from the Senate. I certainly did not add to the Commission that which these other gentlemen did. I say that sincerely. I have never seen a committee come in and make a study of anything and give to it the time that these men and women did, with the divergence of opinions which they had, and come up with a report which, in my opinion, is one of the finest that has ever been presented.

By the directive of the Act which created this Commission, this report contains in it the forms in which various amendments can be offered to the General Assembly. We have divided the classification of the recommendations into three groups. Class one is composed of those types of amendments which we feel are necessary and should be acted upon by the General Assembly at once.

Class two consists of fifteen of those which we felt were not so important, but to which the General Assembly might want to give consideration.

Class three consists of sixty-eight recommendations which are made mainly for the purpose of giving to any future Constitutional Revision Commission that might be appointed, the thoughts that this Commission had in the many months which it took for them to go over the various items. These recommendations should only be considered, in our opinion, if and when we should ever decide to have a Constitutional Convention called.

As I said before, and at the expense of repeating, Mr. President, the Commission did decide that we would recommend to the General Assembly that any change in the Constitution of Pennsylvania should be made by amendment form only.

The report of the Commission, which I now present to you, Mr. President, on behalf of the Commission, is available for all the Members of the Senate. The report will be placed on your desks. It is the sincere hope of the Commission that the Members will go over this report very carefully, that they will look into it and if, in their wisdom, they feel that any of these or all of these recommendations, if you please, should be offered, that they will feel free, regardless of political affiliation, to offer them for the consideration of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

As far as I am concerned, I would be willing to answer any questions that you might be able to ask me in regard to any of the work which we have done.

The PRESIDENT. The Report of the Commission on Constitutional Revision will be noted in the Legislative Journal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I attended one of the meetings held by the Commission in the Caucus Room. After reviewing all of the material which was presented to me, I want to say that the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the people of Pennsylvania, are obligated and indebted to this Commision. I have seen many, many committees created in this Senate and House, any very rarely have they done a job such as this Commission has done.

Therefore, Mr. President, speaking for myself, personally, I wish to congratulate the Commission for a job very well done.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 42

An Act Authorizing a loan and transferring money from the Motor Lncense Fund to the General Fund and providing for the subsequent return from the General Fund of the borrowed money.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Amendment.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out after the word "of" the words "twenty-seven million five hundred thousand dollars ($27,500,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "thirty-five million dollars ($35,000,000)".

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendment made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on House bill No. 42, Printer's No. 118, which is before the House now for concurrence, I would like to make a brief statement regarding the words and language as expressed on lines 1, 2 and 3 of page 2 of the bill.

For clarification and intent purposes, the words are ambiguous inserting "or any part thereof". The legislative intent of House bill No. 42, Printer's No. 118, permits the borrowing of the full amount of $35 million from the fund as amended by the Senate.

With that statement of clarification, Mr. Speaker, I request that the House do concur in the amendments placed in House bill No. 42.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. Speaker, the bill when it passed the House, of course, was to permit borrowing $27.5 million from the Motor License Fund and this increases the borrowing to $35 million. Could the gentleman tell the House why it was necessary to increase it to $35 million?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that was the original figure that was intended in the bill when we first discussed the borrowing power. If you recall distinctly, the sum of $35 million was requested, the differences then were discused and a compromise figure was found at that point of $27.5 million. The Senate has seen fit to amend the bill to meet the request that was first outlined, of permitting the borrowing of $35 million in cash from the Motor License Fund.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, a further question. On the day the bill pased the House, I believe there was was $27.7 million in the Motor License Fund. Does the gentleman have any idea what the balance is in that Fund today?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know the balance in the fund today, but you are correct as to the figures. There was approximately $28 million in the fund at the time this bill passed the House. There is far more money than that in the fund today, naturally, since during that period of time, from the passage of the bill in the House to the present date, additional revenue has continued to arrive in this fund from the various licenses being received each day by the Department.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. A further question, Mr. Speaker. I understand that last week the reason the Senate put the bill out was an urgent plea to them that unless the bill was passed and unless borrowing could be had from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund the state would be entirely out of cash and it would not be able to pay its current bills. Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at least as far as the school subsidies were concerned, that is correct. They would be out of cash and that would be at the date indicated at that time, which was discussed as roughly March 15. Correct?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Another question, Mr. Speaker. The balance in the General Fund was $68 million and the payments to school districts are $65, and that would only have left $3 million in the bank, so this borrowing is absolutely necessary, is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. That is absolutely correct. I believe those are the correct figures, $68-$65 million leaving $3 million, that is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe I would like to ask a further question, Mr. Speaker.

Are we to understand then that $35 million is a realistic figure, and money that will absolutely be required to run the General Fund in addition to money that will come in between now and the end of the biennium?

Mr. McCANN. That is a safe figure, Mr. Speaker, and it is the actual figure that is needed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a short statement.

If, as the gentleman stated and as the State Treasurer has reported to us, the General Fund will be absolutely out of money unless they can borrow from the Motor License Fund, and if the amount needed is $35 million, while we do not like to do it, I cannot see any other alternative but asking the Members on this side of the House to go along and vote for this increase to $35 million.

I believe fiscal responsibility requires that we do it. I realize it is not good housekeeping, it is poor husbandry, but it is a thing we face with a pistol at our heads. I am asking the Members on this side to go along.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if the item reported in yesterday's papers of an increase of $5.5 million in revenues over what had been coming in currently is true or not true. In other words, the Budget Office or somebody put out that they had an increase in revenues of $5.5 million over what they had anticipated.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer about the newspaper story he may be talking about, but certainly there is more cash in the Motor License Fund at this point . . .

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I am not talking about the Motor License Fund. I am talking about the receipts from the Corporation Income Tax and the Sales Tax, that there have been increases over those anticipated of $5.5 million for the month, I believe, of February; I am not sure, January or February.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there could be an increase of $4 or 5 million in revenue in that field for that month, but for the overall period of the revenue under that Act, there is no question that the revenue fell below the estimate as outlined in the 1957 budget. There could be $4 or 5 million. I would not know that.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman this question, then: If that $5.5 million is true, and that would hold up for another month or two months, then certainly this $35 million would not be needed, because is it not a fact that they are getting that extra money they did not expect to get when they put this bill through?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if there were not a need to borrow $35 million, I am sure the State Treasurer, the Auditor General and the Governor would borrow that portion of the $35 million that may be needed, or $30 million if such would be the case, to carry through from the Motor License Fund for the cash that is needed, which will expire in a period approximately March 15. If the $5 million you speak of is additional revenue that had not been anticipated, it certainly was anticipated in the 1957 budget, and the anticipated revenue has fallen below the amount for the biennium both in Corporate Net Income Tax and the Sales and Use Tax fund. If this increase that you speak of had occurred it could only have occurred in the difference over the previous month, which certainly was below the estimate which it normally should have been had the economy of Pennsylvania been on an even level throughout the two year biennium. The statement you give may be precisely true, and if you want us to, we certainly will furnish you with such figures. We do not at this point have the statement that you deal with that was in the newspapers a day or two ago.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendment made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. A. M. Lee, T. H. W. JONES and GAILEY.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 38.

In the House of Representatives, March 3, 1959.

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Advisory Committee on Decedents' Estate Laws of the Joint State Government Commission be continued until the end of the legislative session of 1961, for the purpose of considering necessary and desirable changes in the decedents' estate laws and related statutes developed by the Joint State Government Commission, and to make recommendations to the commission with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. MARKLEY, STIMMEL, STECKEL and FRANK. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, March 3, 1959.

On Wednesday, February 25, 1959, one of the former members of the House of Representatives passed away and thereby ended a long life of service to his friends, his neighbors and his community. The death of the Honorable John J. Marcks, deprived a very considerable segment of our population—that of the farm and cross-roads village—of a man who was one of their most articulate representatives in recent years.

Mr. Marcks was born in Upper Macungie Township, Lehigh County, seventy-seven years ago. He attended the local schools in the area and was graduated from Muhlenberg College in 1905. On the advent of his fiftieth reunion at Muhlenberg, the college honored him with a golden key in recognition of his dedication to humanity. He was a teacher for fifteen years in Lehigh County and in 1914 he was elected master of the Trexlertown Grange, a position he held for twenty-seven years. Marcks wanted to become a minister but because of poor health, his dream never became a reality; however, he decided to follow the minister's path—that of service to his fellow man. He gave unselfishly of his time and energy to his church. The latter years of his life he was a tipstaff and attendant for the Lehigh County Court.

Marcks and his wife, a devoted couple, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on December 24, 1958 with a family dinner attended by their church and Grange friends.

Working through the church and the Grange, John Marcks never permitted it to be forgotten that our rural population was faced with its own distinctive social and economic problems and deserved consideration for them. Thus he became an honored and respected spokesman for the people of the soil. The people of his district sent him to the General Assembly to represent them in 1931 and 1933 and like all other activities in which he engaged, he filled his position faithfully and well.

Mr. Marcks' death will be mourned by his family and his friends as well as the members of the House; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its deepest sympathy to Lizzie Q. Marcks, his widow, upon the passing of her devoted and loving husband, John J. Marcks, who really knew and appreciated the satisfaction he derived from service rendered; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to his widow in Wescosville, Allentown R. D. and the Lehigh County Court where he so faithfully served for the last ten years of his life.

INTERROGATION

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. Polen.

Mr. Speaker, we have before us on our calendar several tax bills and I have been informed by the Majority Leader that the Sales Tax bill will be up for second reading tomorrow and for possible amendment. Before we proceed tomorrow and determine what is to be done with respect to this tax bill, I would like to ask Mr. Polen some questions having to do with the budget.

The first think I would like to ask the gentleman is, what does he expect to do with respect to this budget? What are his plans?

Mr. POLEN. Our plan at the present time, Mr. Speaker, is to, early in April, review the budget thoroughly.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Does the gentleman say he is going to do it early in April, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. When does the gentleman expect the first hearing to start?

Mr. POLEN. I would say the first week in April, if the House is in session, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. May I ask, Mr. Speaker, what type of hearing the gentleman plans to conduct on the budget at this time?

Mr. POLEN. We have not definitely decided, Mr. Speaker, but my intention was originally to have joint hearings, if possible. However, I conferred with the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee in the other chamber and he advised me that he would like to hold separate hearings. So for that reason we will of necessity have to hold our own hearings. I think I should have said in the other place, rather than the other chamber.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if the gentleman plans to conduct a different type of hearing?

The reason I am asking that is, I, of course, have attended hearings down through the last ten or twelve years and they become rather perfunctory and really do not get too much information.

Does the gentleman have any plans to find out, for instance, whether there are too many employes in the State? He probably has heard it said there are 20,000 too many State employes. Is there any way the gentleman can ferret that out in his hearings?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is my intention at this time to conduct an entirely different type of hearing. I think what we want to know, and what this House wants to know when we are spending money, is whether or not it is well spent; whether or not it accomplishes the purposes for which we appropriated it. And, of course, if there are any unnecessary employes and we can develop any information on them, we certainly want to find out about it.

I think the gentleman is probably referring to the statement of my good friend and constituent from Washington County, the Republican State Chairman, Mr. Bloom. He did make a statement that there were 20,000 drones on the payroll and we could save $200 million. However, I do not think that statement is correct because all of the people on all the payrolls in the Commonwealth for this last year, their salaries only run approximately $140 million. So if we take for two years, using the same figures, that would be $280 million. If you take the $200 million off that he says we can save, I am afraid that will be an awfully short payroll.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. By way of reply and then a question, I think that 20,000 figure was based on the figure that Dr. Charlesworth used back four years ago, by reference, when he said that the Republicans had 10,000 too many employes and since that time 12,504 have been added. I think that is where he got the figure. Of course, that would be 22,500, and that was the reason for the figure.

Now in connection with the gentleman's auditing of the budget, I believe he has noted on page 4 of the budget that the total deficiencies for the '57-'59 biennium will be $77.6 million. The gentleman has noted that on pages 4 and 5 of the budget, has he not?

Mr. POLEN. Would the gentleman repeat the amount there and for what year?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. It is on pages 4 and 5 of Governor Lawrence's Budget. It says "recommended deficiency and additional appropriations, $77.6 million for '57-'59." Has the gentleman noted that figure?

Mr. POLEN. I have examined the budget but unfortunately I do not have it before me. I think the total deficit will be approximately $178 million.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, this figure, Mr. Speaker, while it has a relation to the deficit—maybe someone will give the gentleman a budget.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I know what the gentleman is talking about now. Included in the amount recommended are deficiencies and additional appropriations occurring in this present biennium, which are in the budget and as recommended for the '59-'61 biennium. That includes such items as—you have seen a breakdown of the estimated deficiencies of Public Instruction and other large amounts which bring it up to that total.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the gentleman is correct. The $77 million are deficiencies which are going to be asked for before this session is over to reflect on the current biennium. Then on the first page of the budget, compare the financial statements, they contemplate lapsing $25.9 million, or it will make a $51 million excess of deficiency over lapses for this current biennium.

Mr. POLEN. That is approximately correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now the gentleman was not here last session, but he knows, that the Republican controlled Appropriations Committee audited Governor Leader's budget and held hearings? Does the gentleman realize that?

Mr. POLEN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. And the gentleman realizes that we tried to take the appropriations requested, and also figure what money was still unexpended, and arrived at a budget of $1.439 billion? The gentleman realizes that does he not, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. POLEN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. But even so Governor Leader's figures show that they spent $50 million more than we allotted them in appropriation bills last biennium, this current biennium, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker, that would not be correct. The gentleman is referring now to the $77,609,550?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POLEN. If the gentleman will look on page 5, it will give him a breakdown of what those amounts are and he will see that the Contingency Reserve Account, represents a deficiency of $8 million plus. The Annuity Reserve Account No. 2 is $11 million, plus. There is practically $20 million and that has nothing to do with spending by the Leader Administration or any other administration.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, but Mr. Speaker, I believe he will find that in order to carry out this budget he will have to offer deficiency appropriation bills before this Session ends, reflecting on this current biennium. Is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I might say that we have already offered some of these.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is right. The gentleman has offered about $20 million of them and he has $57 million yet to go.

Mr. POLEN. That would be approximately correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now, Mr. Speaker, I want to verify this figure with the gentleman. The March budget, not counting the deficiency, is $1.729 billion, is that not right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. And the budget according to this brochure that was put out by the Appropriations Committee of which you have numerous copies in your office, shows that the budget to Governor Leader in the last biennium, this biennium, when we were in control, was $1.439 billion. Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. I do not have those figures here, but that would be approximately correct, because the figures I have, reading from page 1, is the total requirements plus the deficiency, that made $1.560 million.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is correct. Well, if the gentleman would subtract $1.729 billion from $1.439 billion, you will find that Governor Lawrence's budget exceeds the Leader original budget by $290 million. Is that not correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is approximately correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. All right. Now I want to ask the gentleman some questions about this deficit of $176 million

Does the gentleman know, Mr. Speaker, what this deficit consists of? May I make this statement? I want to ask him, does the deficit, $176 million, consist of accounts payable? On May 31st will we owe $178 million in unpaid bills in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, not necessarily unpaid bills, but in obligations that we have to meet and commitments that we have to meet, such as the annuity accounts, reserves, and deficiencies. That would be correct, but I would not say that they were unpaid bills. They are obligations that the Commonwealth owes.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Could you get from the Secretary of the administration for us tomorrow, and it is very important that we have this, a statement of what bills will be owning May 31st, which will total $178 million? I think the people of the state have a right to know whom this money is owed to, and we can determine why.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Clearfield to preside temporarily. The Chair wants to refer the bills that have been introduced today, so they can get to the printer.

Mr. BRETH IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Minority Leader will proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. If at the end of the biennium we will owe this $178 million through unpaid annuities, through committments made, is there some way we can find that out? I am thinking now of Governor Leader when he said, "I am installing an accounting system and we will know every day just what the financial situation is. "Could you go over there and get yesterday's trial balance and bring it in here so we could see what the cash is and what the liabilities are on it?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I cound attempt to do that. I am not certain whether I could bring it back or not, but, if the gentleman would like to have it, I will request it.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Could it be possible, Mr. Speaker, that at the end of the biennium we will not owe anybody this $178 million, but because of the way we budget here it represents $178 million through depleted bank accounts and spending of our reserve and will not be represented by accounts payable? I believe you realize for balance sheet purposes, if you lose money it is either represented by less assets or unpaid bills. Now, which is it and will it be, do you think?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, of course the deficit is made up of two factors. It is caused by additional expenses in excess of the appropriations, and it is also caused by less revenues being received than were estimated when the budget was balanced.

If the gentleman will refer to page 5 it will give him some of these items.

As I said before, they are not exactly bills that we owe, but they are obligations that the ommonwealth must meet. Of the items not shown here, of course, is the item for the Department of Public Instruction which is in connection with the reimbursement to the public schools. I think I can have that information for him tomorrow.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask him this question: Supposing that the $178 million is not owed but that it merely represents depleted bank accounts, that is, bank accounts that have been accumulating since, say, the time of Governor James, Governor Earle and on up through, would it be reasonable now to ask to tax the people $178 million in two years to restore, say, depleted bank accounts?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether or not that is correct, that it represents depleted bank accounts, but I would say this, in the event that it does, it would certainly be good business to bring about financial stability in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and if there is anything that we can do here today it would be to realistically balance the budget so at the end of this coming, or the new, biennium, instead of ending up with a deficit we could at least have the books balanced or a small surplus.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. But, Mr. Speaker, if that deficit of $178 million was just represented by depleted money spent, we could by statute wipe out that deficit and say we will not restore the bank accounts, could we not?

Mr. POLEN. If that is what it was made up of we could probably do that, but I do not think that is what it is made up of. I think it is made of the very items I am calling your attention to. There is one item there of $43,398 million that is money we have to put in there for the expenses of the Department of Public Instruction which was in excess of the amount that was budgeted. It is the contingent reserve account, the annuity reserve account, and again we get down to the contingency reserve account and the interest deficiency in connection with the State Employes' Retirement Fund.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think it is quite important that the House know, on the eve of our voting on the tax bill, and could you possibly find out, whether they could furnish us with that information by tomorrow?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would not say that I will have this information by tomorrow, but I will say to the gentleman that I will have this information available for him before we vote on the tax bills.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Another question, Mr. Speaker. Does the gentleman know whether the state is again having to do with this deficit and arriving at the $178 million. Do you know whether we are on the cash or accrual basis in this state with this new accounting system?

Mr. POLEN. As I understand it, under our new accounting system the amount that is obligated, whether it is actually spent or paid or not is supposed to be taken into account and reflected by the accounts that we have here today.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That will be all, Mr. Polen.

Mr. Speaker, as we left the Governor's office last Monday, those of us who were invited in there, the Governor said, "I am sorry to say this is a skimpy budget. This budget does not do much for anybody. I apologize for it."

We have gone back and examined budgets from prior years, and I would like the indulgence of the House just to listen to these figures.

Back when Governor James was elected, his budget was $419 million; Governor Earle's budget was $414 million. James only raised Earle's budget by $5.5 million.

Getting down to a little more modern times, when Governor Duff was elected his budget was $616.9 million. Governor Martin's previous budget was $547.3 million, or a raise by Duff of $69.6 million.

When Governor Fine was elected Governor and came up with his budget, as those of you who were here know, and you newspapermen who listened in on one of our conferences one night know, we cut the budget of Governor Fine by 10 per cent, and made his life really miserable—our own Republican Governor. He ended up with $146.4 million greater than Duff's budget, but that was the first of the mandates coming through and the first provision made for the soldiers' bonus.

Now getting down to a little more modern times, Governor Leader's budget was $1.335 billion. Governor Fine's budget was $1.044 billion. Or Governor Leader's budget increased Fine's by $291 million.

Now this Lawrence budget of $1.729 billion, as compared with Governor Leader's last budget of $1.439 billion, is $290 million more money. In other words, it is only $1 million less than the budget of Governor Leader's first biennium.

I say, members, this is not a skimpy budget. This is not an austerity budget. I say that it is a pretty lavish budget. It has numerous new things in it. It has an expansion of many programs, and is one of the reasons for the $400 million tax program which is going to be on our desks.

The reason I asked Mr. Polen what he is going to do about auditing this budget, I think he should try and do a little different job on it. I think he should bring in the department heads, a lot of personnel directors and everyone and find out just what is going on. If we come back here in two years and Governor Lawrence says "I want $77 million more money," like he is now asking because of the Leader Administration, our Appropriation Committee might just as well save its breath, not waste its time auditing this budget. It might just as well get the appropriation bills out on this calendar and let us vote on them and go back home, because the work our committees do is absolutely meaningless.

On page 5 of this budget you find there are going to be deficiency appropriations in this biennium of $77 million. I know that figure has been glossed over. In the many meetings we had nobody has mentioned pages 4 and 5 of this budget. I would say it is probably the highest deficiency request in the history of Pennsylvania.

Now with respect to this budget of $290 million, as I say, I hope our Committee gives it a thorough scrutiny, a good audit, so the people of the state will know, and so we of this House will know, just exactly what the money is going for and if it is absolutely necessary.

Now I want to say something about the $178 million deficit. I think it is very important to us to know whether the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on May 31 will owe $178 million in accounts payable, whether that money has been so committed and so obligated that the state owes $178 million. If we do not owe the money, and if all you want to do is replenish bank accounts, I think it is asking a tremendous chore on the part of the people in this state in two years' time to replenish $'78 million.

I went back home over the week-end and every body I met on the streets said "Why, you are not going to let them have all that money, are you?" And that is the cry all over Pennsylvania today. This General Assembly is on the spot.

Tomorrow we have this huge sales tax bill in front of us. Those who have analyzed the bill know it is probably as broad a sales tax bill as was ever contrived by the mind of man. It is going to require great scrutiny. We certainly hope to have plenty of time to debate it. There probably will be amendments offered from this side to try to make it a better bill. But before we should be asked to vote for taxes, we ought to know where the money is going to go, whether Governor Lawrence needs $290 million, almost $1 million within what Leader wanted the first biennium. The people are saying "For goodness' sake stop this spiral of spending in Harrisburg."

I am calling on the Members of the House and the Appropriations Committee to do that very job. I think it is terrible that tonight Pennsylvania faces such a frightening financial dilemma as has been thrown in the lap of this General Assembly.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the hour is late and I do not want to go into a detailed statement on the budget. However, it has been my intention for several days to make a detailed report to this House, but due to the lateness of the hour each day I have not been able to do that.

The gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, has raised some very pertinent questions and I agree with him. I say this House has a right to know, and the Appropriations Committee has a right to determine, whether this money is needed and, further, whether the money that has been appropriated has been well spent to accomplish the purpose for which it was appropriated.

I want to extend an invitation to Mr. Johnson, and every Member of this House on either side, to give the Appropriations Committee all the help they can, and if they have any information that will give us an insight in any way to where money is being spent that should not be spent, or unwisely spent, I call upon them to cooperate with the Appropriations Committee and come in and see us.

Now, in going back over budgets, I think the gentleman went back to Governor James. If we want to go back, let us go back to the first budget which was under Gifford Pinchot. The first budget in Pennsylvania was the 1923-1925 biennium and that total budget, including the administrative's expenses of the Department of Highways, was for $89,446,115. As compared with the present budget of $1,907,012,354 we find an increase of $1,817,566,239. That is an increase of 2,032 percent. Certainly, it is a great increase, but I want to say this, this House and this General Asembly cannot place all of the blame upon any executive whether he be Democrat or Republican. Every appropriation which was given by the Legislature to the Governor and to the administration to spend, was passed by this General Assembly. I don't think either party can take any great credit for trying to keep expenses down. I think in many respects this present budget, while it is high, does not do many of the things we would like to do for education, for institutions of higher learning, for hospitals.

I want to say, of all the people who have been into the Appropriations Committee's office to see me, and that includes many Members of this House, they have not been in asking that the budget be reduced. They have been in asking that it be increased. We do have a responsibility to meet and I again say, if we want to be of a real service to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we will have a balanced budget. We will have it balanced by taxes realistically estimated so that we can keep our appropriations within the revenues. It is my policy, and this House can reverse me, that I am not going to report out the appropriation bills until we have a tax program on the books, and I am not going to put out any bills in excess of the amount of revenue that is realistically estimated to be produced.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. MAXWELL asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation to meet during the session of the House.

RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATING AMERICAN LEGION

Mr. OGILVIE offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 3, 1959.

On March 15, 1919 a group of American soldiers of World War I met in Paris, France and formed an organization based upon a comradeship born of war and dedicated to fostering the well being of veterans, particularly the disabled, the widows of veterans and the orphans. Today, the American Legion, with a membership of close to three million, is a moving force in the affairs of our Country and has done much to protect and preserve our American way of life.

Representing the veterans of two global conflicts and the Korean Campaign, the American Legion has fulfilled the inspirations of its founders and has proven itself worthy of the lofty principals upon which it was organized; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives congratulates the American Legion on the fortieth anniversary of its founding and extend its gratitude to the American Legion for the services it has rendered to our people and to our Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the National Commander of the American Legion, Indianapolis, 6, Indiana and to the Department of Pennsylvania, American Legion, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. MARKLEY, Messrs. STECKEL and FRANK offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1959.

Today is a day that all of us should remember well, but there is one member of the House who will remember it more so than the rest of us for he has passed another milestone. Today, March 9, marks the fifty-second birthday of the gentleman from Lehigh, Reginald Stimmel.

"Rags" as he is known to all of us was born in 1907 in Reading but he soon moved to Allentown where he has spent the rest of his life enjoying his association with the Pennsylvania Dutch. His good clean living and devotion to his ideals has made the first fifty-two years of his life the easiest and we are all sure that if he continues on this path, we will be again offering our congratulations to "Rags" on his ninety-second birthday.

The people of Lehigh County are proud of the work Mr. Stimmel has done for them here in the General Assembly, but there are at least three people who are proud of "Rags" for everything he does—they are his wife, Ada and his two children, Craig and Patty. Without their loving support and admiration, we're sure the first fifty-two years wouldn't have been as wonderful as they have been. The Stimmel family are all saying "Happy Birthday"; therefore be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives join in and wish "Rags" Stimmel a very happy birthday and may there be many more.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes that particular gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. "Rags" Stimmel.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, despite the fact that on this day I am reminded that time does fly, I do appreciate the well wishes of the ladies and gentlemen of this House, and particularly the thoughtfulness and the kindly wishes of my friends from Lehigh County.

I came here 12 years ago and I may say at this time those 12 years are now a bit of a memory; they have been all happy ones. All happy experience is a great memory and I did not think I would be here this long. I hope I am here, of course, a longer time in the future to enjoy such nice people as are here in the House. Thank you.

MAJORITY LEADER ADDRESSES HOUSE

Mr. McCAEN. Mr. Speaker, in the Hall of this House we observed the birthday of a wonderful Member and we paused momentarily in our busy day's schedule as one of our Members has passed on.

We also stop for a moment to advise the Members of the House that one of our Members is the proud father of a new son, the first. Mr. Marty Mullen of Philadelphia, is the father of a boy born on Monday, 7 pounds 12 ounces.

Both to the gentleman whose birthday we observed today and to this House Member who has an heir and a son we say, "Congratulations from all of us in this House."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, the brand-new papa, Mr. Mullen.

Mr. MULLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is always a pleasure, I would assume, and especially when you have a boy the first time out. I am sure that many of our fellow-Members here have many boys, but indeed it is a pleasure to have a boy. Thank you very much for your good wishes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to say that he, too, was blessed with a boy the first time, but the age was 47 on the father's part.

Mr. FILO. Regarding a statement the Speaker made, I just want to know whether he was apoligizing or bragging?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. He was happy.

Mr. GALLAGHER offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILLS PASSED OVER

SENATE

TUESDAY, MARCH 10, 1959

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The LIEUTENANT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. RAYMOND H. DAIHL, Pastor of the Camp Hill Church of God, Camp Hill, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Lord, our God, we thank Thee for Thy tender love and great forbearance. We are conscious of our failings, being haunted by memories of duties unperformed, promptings disobeyed and leadings ignored. Where we have failed Thee, wilt Thou forgive? Where we have tried to do Thy will, we are encouraged with the smile of Thine approval.

Many and great are the tensions which harass us, tempting us to do the easy wrong instead of the right which seems to be so very difficult. We know that Thou dost not intend prayer to be a substitute for work, and that we are expected to do our part, for Thou hast given us intelligence and will to use for the good of mankind.

Give, therefore, we pray, to each Senator the courage and strength to do the right. Help us all to pray as though everything depends on Thee, and to work as though everything depends on us, that together we may accomplish that which has Thine approval.

May Thy wisdom and grace be upon Thy servants, the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth, upon the President of the Senate and upon all elected and appointed officials, as they perform the duties of their several offices.

May Thy comforting Spirit be upon those who mourn, to sustain them in their hours of sorrow.

That we may be sensitive to Thy presence, wilt Thou draw close to us now, until all selfishness is burned out within us and our wills lose their weakness in union with Thine own.

We pray in the Name and for the Sake of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding sesion, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. PROPERT, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

CADET WILLIAM CARPENTER, MIDSHIPMAN JAMES DUNN AND SSISTANT ARMY COACH FRANK LAUTERBAUR PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate,, I have the extreme privilege and honor today of presenting two athletes, and the Assistant Army Coach, to the Senate of Pennsylvania and to our guests. I am just at a loss for words in my attempt to let you know how extremly proud I am of these great people.

We have with us, as you all know, the great "lonesome end" who plays football for the United States Army Football Team. Those of you who follow football have seen this poor fellow out there on the field by himself, with no one to talk to and nobody to flirt with. Whether he was receiving his signals from Mars or Jupiter, we do not know.

However, Mr. President, this young gentleman, Cadet William—"Bill"—Corpenter, just happens to be a Delaware Countian and is known to all of us.

The other young fellow—I have to be terribly careful because my family are all on me. We were never good sailors. However, believe it or not, it is something which rarely happens; it is something about which Ripley would talk. The other gentleman is Midshipman James—"Jim"—Dunn, who is also a Delaware Countian.

One of these boys played football with Springfield and the other one played with Ridley Township. It looks as though they were meant to be enemies at birth. They were born to compete against each other. Now what do we have with these two great gentlemen? Just imagine the predicament we Delaware Countians will be in next year. Midshipman Jimmy Dunn will be the Captain of the Navy Football Team; Cadet William—"Bill"—Carpenter, that poor lonesome fellow, will be the Captain of the Army Football Team. What side will we sit on? Will we sit with the President during one-half of the game and then go over to the other side during the other half? I am sure, Mr. President, I do not know. It is going to be a tough decision to make. Senator Taylor just suggested that this problem should be easy for me. He said, "You have played both sides all of your life." I thought that was good; I like that.

Mr. President, you must admit that we in Delaware County are honored to have such fine young men coming from our county. I know that everybody in Pennsylvania is honored to claim them. As all Pennsylvanians know, good stock always comes from Delaware County. You just cannot do anything about that. I have not asked them yet whether they are Republicans, but I shall do that before they leave. If they are not, I am going to send the ward leader around to talk to them in order to make sure that we get them.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, with the greatest of pride and enthusiasm, I want to introduce Cadet William—"Bill"—Carpenter, the "Lonesome End"; Midshipman James Dunn, and the Assistant Coach of the Army Football Team, Frank Lauterbaur. Incidentally, I asked Coach Lauterbaur about that signal when he sticks his foot out when the quarterback is out. He told me that this is still an Army secret.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I present these three distinguished people and, believe m, I just do not have the words to adequately express my enthusiasm by the honor of having them in the Senate of Pennsylvania today.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Watkins. We are glad to have them with us.

MEMBERS OF WOMEN'S CLUB OF PALMYRA PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I have a great honor today in introducing to the Members of this Senate nineteen very young and lovely ladies from Lebanon County. They are members of the Women's Club of Palmyra. I deem it a distinct honor that they are joining us here today.

The PRESIDENT. We are very glad to have you with us.

STUDENTS FROM SHADE TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL, SOMERSET COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I have the pleasure of introducing seventy-two members of the Shade Township High School Class, Somerset County. They are here under the supervision of Miss Maurer and Mr. Severn. They are now seated in the balcony.

The PRESIDENT. Would the class please rise? In that way, we can all see you. We are very glad to have you with us.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, on behalf of myself, Senator Silvert and Senator Donolow, I am about to present a bill dealing with a rather important and difficult situation which we, in the city of Philadelphia and some of the surrounding areas, have been facing. It is a problem which all of us are acutely aware of. Most of these problems have reached the newspaper headlines usually when it is too late for anything to be done.

Mr. President, this bill concerns itself with guns getting into the hands of the wrong people, into the hands of people who are mentally sick. All of us have read recently about one of these mentally ill persons who got his hands on a gun and went on to kill maybe ten or eleven innocent people for no reason at all. This bill is an attempt to reach that problem.

During the last few weeks, in Philadelphia, very young men, between the ages of fifteen and sixteen, have killed storekeepers and others between the ages of fifty and sixty. I show you this age difference in order to contrast that irresponsible young people have killed men of responsibility who have families, and men who have earned a livelihood and been the breadwinners of their families.

Mr. President, this bill has many implications. I am certain that after it is introduced, you will receive a great deal of mail from sportsmen who claim that this is an attack on their constitutional right. I would like to respectfully point out to the Senate that the constitutional right to bear arms does not address itself to this type of problem. It is not my purpose, nor the purpose of the sponsors of this bill, to abrogate that right or in any way impinge upon it. However, the problem which we have is a serious one. The right for a man to walk into a shop and promiscuously buy a gun in order to go out and do harm by hurting, maiming, immobilizing or, even worse, killing someone, and thereby depriving the victim of taking care of himself and his family, is a serious one and one which costs the State a great deal of money, as well as anguish.

Therefore, Mr. President, I respectfully ask that this bill be given proper consideration, which I know the Committee Chairman will do.

To show you that there are people who are in favor of this bill,—other than people who have no interest at all in guns and merely citizens who have suffered or whose families have been touched by this problem—I also have on my desk, on behalf of this bill, petitions bearing over 10,000 names, signed by people who are asking that this bill be given proper consideration.

The District Attorney of the city of Philadelphia and the District Attorneys throughout the State have written to me about this problem during the last Session of the Legislature and during this Session. Radio Station WPEN, in Philadelphia, has taken the lead in this matter. Mr. Gailmor, who is here today, sitting behind me, has been one of the persons editorializing this problem and pointing it out in order to show how many needless killings are taking place because these weapons are getting into the hands of people who are irresponsible and should never get their hands on them.

I know that the gentlemen in this Body are eminently fair and will give this bill the proper consideration.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. WEINER, SILVERT and DONOLOW read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 412, entitled:

An Act relating to the control, possession, ownership, acquisition and sale of firearms; prescribing powers and duties of certain law enforcement officers and providing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Messrs. BERGER and WEINER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 413, entitled:

An Act providing for group life insurance for State employes; establishing a schedule providing for payment and providing for reduction of insurance upon retirement.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 414, entitled:

An Act providing group insurance contracts and benefits for State employes, the cost thereof to be apportioned between the Commonwealth and such employes, and requiring the Executive Board to enter into the necessary contracts for such purpose.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE INTO THE AFFAIRS AND ACTIVITIES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, on behalf of myself and my colleague, Senator Kopriver, I offer the following resolution (Serial No. 18):

"In the Senate, March 10, 1959.

"During the 1957 Session of the General Assembly the Departments of Welfare and Public Assistance were merged into the Department of Public Welfare, creating an immense spending agency through which a great portion of the tax revenue is expended.

"The maintenance of welfare institutions and the care of the indigent, infirm and needy are certainly the most humane and perhaps the most important functions of the State Government. That they be adequate and executed in the fairest, most efficient, yet most economical manner possible is an end which every Pennsylvanian desires.

"The confidence which the General Assembly has in the past placed in the advice and counsel of the Departments of Welfare and Public Assistance is not now in question. But recent developments have made it clear that further action of the General Assembly must be taken pursuant to a thorough and complete knowledge of all the facts, factors and problems involved in public welfare and public assistance.

"We in the General Assembly have heard the advice of countless experts urging the increase the decrease the containment the expansion and the re-evaluation of welfare activities We have been told of the dangers of continuing our present policy and we have been told of the dangers of not continuing our present policy. We have seen the policies of the department change with the change of secretaries and with the change of administration We have learned that the employees of the department would be protected from politics and we have later learned that their right to be involved in politics would be protected We have seen responsible public officials claim that the problem of the birth of illegitimate children was aggrivated by the policies of the department.

"We are aware, as is the taxpayer that an ever increasing part of every tax dollar goes into welfare and assistance programs We are aware that the tax burden in many cases has become onerous enough to be prohibitive of the simplest of luxuries.

"We are aware that our people are such that they would not permit any human being to remain truly in need of the necessities of life But we must be equally aware of the dangers inherent in assisting persons who are not in actual need and in spending more money than our taxpayers can supply. We must also be aware that a hope of our enemy in the cold war is that we will spend ourselves into bankruptcy; a proposition so obvious that Russian citizens have expressed it freely to Americans, including at least one Pennsylvania Senator.

"The need for an exhaustive study of our public welfare and public assistance programs and the administration of them is imperative therefore be it

"RESOLVED, That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint five members of the Senate who shall constitute a committee to investigate into the affairs and activities of the Department of Public Welfare giving particular attention to the policies practices and objectives of the department the degree to which the spending of the department conforms to those policies and objectives the administrative costs involved in our public welfare and public assistance programs, the need for our present programs and the extent to which that need is supplied and all other matters relating to welfare institutions and public assistance, a knowledge of which would assist the General Assembly in enacting wise and adequate laws relating to public welfare and public assistance; and be it further

"RESOLVED, That the committee may hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations at such places as it shall deem necessary within this Commonwealth. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Any person who wilfully negelects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

"RESOLVED, That the committee so appointed shall report back to the Senate its findings and recommendations as soon as possible."

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE ALLENTOWN-BETHLEHEM CHAPTER OF THE SOCIETY FOR THE PRESERVATION AND ENCOURAGEMENT OF BARBERSHOP QUARTET SINGING IN AMERICA ON ITS TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. VAN SANT offered the following resolution, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 10, 1959.

On March 5, 1949, the Allentown-Bethlehem Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America received its charter. It was at this time that a capacity audience in Allentown High Auditorium heard 17 quartets in a program that gave "barbershopping" an unforgettable send-off in the Lehigh Valley.

For the past ten years, this organization has been outstanding in the area and their harmony has brought a great deal of happiness to the people, not only in the Lehigh Valley but wherever they have gathered together to fill the air with their joyous sounds. The tensions that accompany our ever complex way of life are always relieved when a quartet such as this starts to sing and brings pleasure to those who have the honor of listening.

The Allentown-Bethlehem Chapter of the SPEBSQSA should also be noted for their charitable work. Money that they have derived from their various efforts has resulted in much good being done to the cities of Allentown and Bethlehem as well as the towns nearby. The Allentown State Hospital was especially rewarded when the quartet held their annual concert at the Lyric Theatre in Allentown because the profits derived were used to purchase a complete public address system for the State Hospital's Auditorium.

There is need in our Commonwealth for more organizations such as this because they take an active interest in their community and make it and the State a better place for all people to live in; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate extend its heartiest congratulations to the Allentown-Bethlehem Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America on its 10th Anniversary which was celebrated on March 6 of this year with a dinner and program at the Lehigh Valley Club in Allentown; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Society.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the resolution, the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Van Sant.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Van Sant, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAN SANT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to inquire of the sponsor of the resolution whether he has made arrangements for the quartet to appear before the Senate.

Mr. VAN SANT. I would be happy to have several of the quartets appear before the Senate, even at one of the Monday night affairs. They do their best practicing at that type of an affair.

Mr. BERGER. Thank you, Senator Van Sant.

I would observe that it is unfortunate that one of the quartets is not here today, because I could think of a very appropriate song which they might render

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

CONDOLENCE OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE DAUGHTERS OF CHARLES WEINSTEIN

Messrs. DONOLOW, WEINER, BERGER, SILVERT, McCREESH, DiSILVESTRO, STIEFEL, MULLIN and CAMIEL offered the following resolution which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 10, 1959.

One of Philadelphia's leading citizens, Charles Weinstein, passed away on March 9, 1959, at the age of 61.

Mr. Weinstein was the manager of the Philadelphia Joint Council, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, and an active participant in city politics.

Born in Russia, the son of a wagon maker, Mr. Weinstein came to this country at the age of 15 with his mother and sister. The family settled in Chicago where he went to work as a sewing machine operator.

Following service with the Navy during the First World War, Mr. Weinstein made the acquaintance of Sidney Hillman, noted labor leader. In 1922, Mr. Weinstein was appointed organizer and business agent of the fledgling Clothing Workers Union.

He came to Philadelphia in 1929 as manager of the joint council, a post he held until his death. During that time, union membership increased from 6,000 to 25,000. In 1935, he was named vice president of the national union.

One of Mr. Weinstein's greatest achievements was the industrial peace which reigned in the garment industry during his long association with the union. Another was the establishment of the internationally famous Hillman Medical Center, at 2116 Chestnut Street.

The Center, which Mr. Weinstein served as president, was sponsored by the joint contributions of labor and management.

Due to his tremendous influence, the clothing union played an important part in the welfare, educational and social activities of the city. In politics, Mr. Weinstein often was consulted on the slating of various national and local candidates.

His many honors included the Philadelphia Men's Apparel Association citation as the 1950 "Man of the year."

The passing of this outstanding citizen of our Commonwealth is a great loss, but his contributions toward the betterment of his fellow-men will long be remembered; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby expres their individual bereavement upon the death of Charles Weinstein; and, be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to his two daughters, Ellyn Rogal and Mrs. Nessa Graub.

STUDENTS FROM WILLIAM TENNENT HIGH SCHOOL, JOHNSVILLE, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President, I have the pleasure of presenting to the Members of the Senate a group of students from the William Tennent High School, Johnsville. They are here under the guidance of their teacher, Mrs. Rhoades.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 250, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 343) entitled "The Fiscal Code" providing for additional reimbursement and procedures relative thereto in the auditing of disbursements affairs and accounts and clarifying the provisions relating to audits.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill because it is my conviction that this is administratively a bad step. I believe that the chief objection to this type of arrangement, as set forth in this bill, is the fact that it would conceal from the taxpaying and voting public the true nature of a rather large expenditure which is to be made.

What the bill does, Mr. President, is to change the procedure we have heretofore had, whereby the costs of administering the Department of the Auditor General, in the auditing of departmental accounts, would be charged to the respective departments. Previously, this has been done by budgeting this amount in the Auditor General's account. This bill would change that procedure by budgeting the amounts in the various departments to be audited and in charging to those accounts the costs of the audit made by the Auditor General.

It seems to me that this would have the effect of concealing, to a degree, or, at least, making obscure and difficult to follow the actual cost of the Auditor General's office. From the standpoint of public policy, I do not think this is good procedure or good governmental business. I think we should run our State budget in a manner which would make it possible for interested members of the general public, taxpayers and voters, to see what the cost of the operation of each department is.

For that reason, Mr. President, I think this bill would make that more difficult for the average citizen to follow. I think it is bad administrative procedure and, therefore, I intend to vote "no."

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—39

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 251, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" changing certain procedures and providing for audits and verification of rights to reimbursements.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, it is my intention to vote "no" on this bill. I would like to record a couple of reasons for so doing, for the benefit of my colleagues.

Mr. President, I have a feeling that this bill grows out very largely from a situation which occurred in, I think, Collingdale, in eastern Pennsylvania. This was a serious situation, I agree. However, I call your attention to the fact that there are 2,500 school districts, or more, in the State of Pennsylvania, and this present system of auditing has been going on for forty years or more. This would give us 100,000 audits and control of school districts because of only one—Collingdale. It seems to me that this is a pretty expensive and costly measure in order to sort out one case.

In addition, I think it is only fair to say that I doubt—I cannot say for sure—whether the State lost any money in this matter. The citizens of Collingdale, of course, are being taxed to make up for this negligence in that particular area.

I think our colleague from Lancaster, Senator Kessler, has a bill which would authorzie auditing to be done by local certified public accountants. This, I feel, would be a much better procedure and would keep this auditing back home. I do not think we should try to centralize everything here at the State Capitol.

I call your attention, also, to the fact that this bill, if I read it correctly, says that all school districts shall be audited. Under the present reorganization, which is now going on, there are hundreds of school districts in the State which transact very little business at all. They simply collect the taxes, and the expenditures are made by a joint school board or a merged school board. Therefore, we are going to have situations like the one that exists in Glen Hope Borough, in Clearfield County, where they collect only $1,300 in taxes for school purposes. That is all the money they have. It may cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania $50.00, $75.00 or $100.00 to audit this small account. It seems to me that the real audits, which may now be done by certified public accountants, lie with the joint and union school districts in most cases.

Therefore, Mr. President, I urge my colleagues to vote "no" on this measure. We talk many times about putting the taxpayers' money down the drain and this, to me, would seem like about a $1,300,000 dose of Drano. I urge you to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe that this bill is pursuant to a ruling of the Attorney General, whereby the Auditor General's Department is required to audit all the school districts, whether or no, for the purpose of determining whether the money reimbursed to the school districts by the State is being properly spent. Inasmuch as State money is involved, the former Attorney General, Mr. McBride, ruled that the Auditor General must make these audits. This, therefore, is more or less enabling and clarifying legislation.

Furthermore, Mr. President, this procedure which has been under discussion here has been approved by the Governor as good procedure and good governmental practice The fact remains that no matter how many certified public accountants or local auditors the local district may be authorized to hire and does hire, it is still the duty of the Auditor General of the Commonwealth to make these audits.

Mr. SEYLER. First of all, Mr. President, in answer to the Majority Leader, the Governor has in no way, to my knowledge, given any statement that he considers this as proper procedure. He has simply recognized that fact that under the law the Auditor General is to audit school district accounts. Therefore, he has provided in the budget an amount necessary to cover that expenditure. This, by no means, constitutes any statement from the Governor that he approves of this procedure.

Senator Berger is correct in saying that under present law, and under the ruling the Attorney General, it is now the duty of the Auditor General to make audits of school districts. However, that duty is given by the Legislature. What the Legislature has set up, the Legislature can, of course, alter.

I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate the three reasons why I think this is bad legislation.

In the first place, the present setup calls for a duplication of audits. At the present time, the law provides for three types of auditing of school district accounts: one by local auditors, one by the Department of Public Instruction and one now by the Auditor General. I do not believe that under present law the three of them, duplicating as they are and duplicating expense for the taxpayer,—as has been pointed out by my colleague, Senator Hays—will provide what is really needed in the way of an audit. However, we do have a duplication here which this Legislature should not perpetuate, in my opinion.

Secondly, this will not provide an audit which will assure the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, and the local districts and us, as Legislators, that the accounts of these districts are in order. The audit provided for in this bill applies simply to one part of the school districts' budgets; namely, that part which consists of reimbursement furnished by the State. That is not the total budget. This will not assure anyone that the school districts, having been audited, therefor have accounts in good order. To my mind, it should be our obligation, in view of the Collingdale incident, to see to it that a thoroughgoing audit is furnished, one which will assure us that all of the accounts of the school districts are in order. Whether this should be done on a local level or on a State level, is up to the wisdom of this Senate to determine. However, I want everyone to note that this bill will not give anyone that assurance. This bill does not go far enough. In my opinion, if we are going to say we need a State audit, we should have a thoroughgoing audit which will assure us that these accounts are in good order.

Thirdly, Mr. President, I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate that there is a curious dichotomy of philosophy between Senate Bill No. 250 and Senate Bill No. 251. If it is good administration to say in Senate Bill No. 250, which we have just passed, that the audits made by the Auditor General shall be chargeable to the agencies that are being audited,—namely, the departments—then why is it good philosophy in this bill to say we should pay the Auditor General directly for the audits? Why is it not equally good philosophy to say that the audits shall be chargeable to the agencies being audited; namely, the school districts?

For these three reasons, Mr. President, I think this is bad legislation and I intend to vote "no."

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, yesterday, when this bill was second reading, I said that for a freshman Senator to tell the Leaders on either side of the Senate what is good legislation seemed, at first, presumptive. However, there is one thing which a young Senator cannot help but notice when he comes into this Chamber and that is the fact that every time we have a fire or a man is dishonest, there is a bill put in to spend the taxpayers' money, which does not go to the root of the matter.

There is no question about the fact that in much of this legislation, where there is disagreement, the disagreement is not as to the substance, but as to the form. I agree with the two previous speakers and, particularly, I would like to emphasize what Senator Hays pointed out. I agree that there is a big discrepancy in the law. There is one place where you have not provided for any audit, even in this bill. I am speaking about the joint school districts or the union school districts, where the money is and where it is spent.

There is no question about the fact that when there is a fire and the fire gets out of control, you say, "what should we do?" However, that does not mean that you should go out and hire another fire company in addition to the two you already have. After all, the taxpayers, in a time when we have the largest budget in history, deserve some consideration. That consideration should be a sufficient, mature study, taking into consideration the total problem and not throwing a bucket of water on top of it. You will need to organize the fire department you have, consolidate it and place it in the situation where the people you are protecting—the taxpayers you are protecting—are the ones who pay for it and not someone else.

I respectfully submit to this Body that you should vote "no" on this bill.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I have in front of me a traffic summons from the State of New Jersey, whereby the driver of the car is charged with driving on a flat tire. I suppose after he receives this summons, a warning will be sent to the Pennsylvania Department of Highway Safety and the driver will be given notice, warning and so forth.

I bring this matter to your attention because I know there are a lot of investigations and much consideration being given to the laws regarding highway safety. There must be many stupid laws, such as this one, which require a man who has a flat tire, and who does not have his spare tire in good condition, to be declared a law violator because he drives with a flat tire. There must be a lot of stupidity in our own law.

I hope that those who are engaged in the process of improving our traffic safety laws will also give some consideration to the motorists' side of this law and inject some sense into the law itself and, also, into its enforcement and operation.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 419, entitled:

A Supplement to the act of September 3, 1955 (Act No. 18-A), entitled "An act providing for reconstruction and repair of roads, streets, highways and bridges, damaged or destroyed, by the hurricane, flood or high water of August, 1955; * * *," making unexpended funds available for payment to political subdivisions for extraordinary expense incurred in the removal of snow and ice during the winter of 1957-1958.

CONGRESSMAN JOHN H. DENT PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I deem it a pleasure and a privilege to call to the attention of my colleagues, the visitors in this Senate and to you, Mr. President, the presence today of a former great Democratic leader on that side of the Senate. I deem it greatly appropriate that these remarks should be made under the present order of business, known as Petitions and Remonstrances. I believe it could well go without saying that the gentleman to whom I refer very seldom petitioned, but, great heavens, how he could remonstrate.

It has been my privilege, and the privilege of many of us, to be intimately associated with Senator John H. Dent for many years in this Body. He is back here today as a visitor on the occasion of his, I believe, thirty-ninth birthday. In all those years that we have been associated, I came to know that, above all things, you could rely upon his word and that while he would give you hell on the floor, he would give you his hand at any time.

I know all of us are proud to have Congressman Dent with us and regret very much that he has taken his ringing oratory to the Halls of Congress and left us in the Senate of Pennsylvania the poorer for it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not know about the rest of the Members of the Senate, but I really miss Johnny Dent. There have been many times when I have wished that he would be sitting here so that I could bring him some of my problems. We all miss Johnny over here very much. He was a great help and inspiration to the Members on this side, as well as the Members on the other side. I do not think there has ever been a Member of the Senate, either before or since, who could get up and speak on any subject, at any time and at any length, with as much effect as Senator Dent. I think his greatness was due to the fact that he could talk on either side of the subject with equal vigor and with equal effect. That, I think, is a mark of a great leader and a great man because if we could possible whistle the same tune all the time, I think all of us would be in a very happy position.

This business of politics which we are engaged in,—and, mind you, it is a business—finds us many times in many directions. Sometimes, even though we think we are the leaders, we find ourselves being led. As Senator Taylor will tell you, very often when he thought that some of us felt we were being the leaders, he was actually doing the leading.

I think Senator Dent, in getting along so well with the Members from both sides of the Senate and doing as well as he did in carrying out some difficult programs, while in the minority position, was a great inspiration to all of us here in this Senate.

It is with great pleasure that I note his presence. I know that all of us are very happy to see him come back and visit with us once in awhile. We really miss him here in the day to day procedures that we have going on.

MRS. JOHN H. DENT PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, at this time I would also like to give credit to a person who is in this Chamber at this moment, who was one of the hard workers with Senator Dent and, I think, bore a great deal of the brunt of the burden of leadership, and whom many of us neither saw nor knew anything about. I am speaking about Senator Dent's lovely wife, who is sitting in the balcony. I wish she would rise in order for the Members to see her.

The PRESIDENT. Will Mrs. Dent please rise?

PRESENTATION OF GIFT TO CONGRESSMAN JOHN H. DENT

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just wanted to say further, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, that we would like to give to Congressman Dent a small token of our esteem for many pleasant days and moments he gave us.

I would also like for you gentlemen to note that the keynote and the hallmark of Congressman Dent is on this package; namely, a burned out cigar projecting from this package.

REMARKS BY CONGRESSMAN JOHN H. DENT

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and fellow Members of the Senate, I visited many cemeteries in my busy life as a politician and as a citizen, and I have read many epitaphs. It is very nice to be alive and hear them, rather than have those who remain after you read them. I do not know of any place I would rather be on this day, the fifty-first year of my life, than here in the Senate of Pennsylvania with so many friends whom I served with so long. My father told me many times that there were a great number of good people in the world. However, I am sure that he never guessed there were as many as are gathered here today in one place at one time.

I know that your problems here are no different than they have ever been. I can say to you, from the short experience I have had in Washington, that it is not much different down there. The merry-go-round is exactly the same. The only difference is that the horses and the parts of horses are a little bit larger.

I thought I knew something about budgets and I thought I knew something about spending money, Mr. President. However, I found out that what we let drop off of the table down in Washington would solve all your problems for many years to come. We give more money away every day than you fellows can spend. Of course, it is that way because we are a big Nation, made up of big people and big problems. However, no legislative body in these United States, not excepting the Congress of the United States, can ever have the deliberative, democratic processes that are inculcated in the system of procedure here in the Senate of Pennsylvania. I find that there is a lack, in both the Senate and the House of Representatives in Washington, of the fundamental setup which gives each man, who represents the people, the opportunity which this Senate gives to that man to really represent them in the manner and the fashion that his District demands and his conscience dictates. I do not believe that there can ever be a duplicate built that can ever come close to setting up, in this democratic Nation of ours, a democratic legislative body such as this that I was privileged to serve in so long and one which I miss very, very much.

Thank you.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you very much, Congressman Dent.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, as you know, everybody has been telling me that I have been looking better. The reason for that is because Johnny Dent has left town and I am getting to bed earlier. I heard he was coming into town today and, therefore, I stayed out late last night so I would look tired today.

I also want to pay tribute today to our Senate Librarian. Today is his birthday, along with Johnny's. We have been celebrating Charlie Lathero and Johnny Dent's birthdays for many, many years. It may be a bit premature, but I am inviting Johnny Dent and Charlie Lathero to Pittsburgh on March 10, 1960, in order to give them the key to the city.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, the resolution I am about to offer is one hour and twenty minutes late.

SENATE RESOLUTION

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. WATKINS and VAN SANT offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 10, 1959.

America's 1959 football season will see three Pennsylvanians serving in roles of distinction with the Army, Navy and Air Force football teams.

Cadet William Carpenter of Springfield Township, Delaware County, who attended Springfield High School, will captain the varsity football squad of the United States Military Academy. Cadet Carpenter proved himself an outstanding football player and gained the respect and admiration of the American people during 1958 and previous years.

Midshipman James Dunn of Rutledge, Delaware County, will captain the varsity football squad of the United States Naval Academy. Midshipman Dunn also gained the respect and admiration of the American people by his splendid playing during 1958 and previous years. Midshipman Dunn attended Ridley Township High School in Delaware County.

Coach Ben Martin of the varsity Air Force Academy football squad grew up in Prospect Park, Delaware County. He attended Prospect High School and the United States Naval Academy. Coach Martin's parents still live in Prospect Park. The outstanding performance of the 1958 football team of the Air Force Academy has distinguished Pennsylvania's Ben Martin in the eyes of the American public.

The 1959 Army-Navy game will bring distinction to Pennsylvania in the persons of the two distinguished Pennsylvanians, Cadet Carpenter and Midshipman Dunn, captaining their respective football teams.

The accomplishments and respect gained by these three great Pennsylvanians reflect outstanding credit to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and serve as an inspiration to the youth of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the congratulations of the Senate of Pennsylvania be extended to Cadet William Carpenter, Midshipman James Dunn, and Coach Ben Martin; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States, Cadet William Carpenter, Midshipman James Dunn and Coach Ben Martin, to the Commandants of the respective Service Academies, Springfield High School, Ridley Township High School and to Interboro High School (successor to Prospect Park High School).

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The House met at 12:00 o'clock noon.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O Thou great Eternal God and Father of us all, Thou whose providential care watches over and protects each one of us, we humbly bow in Thy presence in the beauty and glory of this day, we come to Thee in gratitude for the blessings of this hour, and we are ever conscious of Thy continued presence as we face the problems and difficulties of life. Make us to know Thee more fully, help us to cherish Thee more deeply, and guide us in sharing Thee more willingly. This we ask, in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord, whose life and sacrifice has merited for us the gift of that glorious life in the world which is to come. In His blessed name we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, March 9, 1959 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair is moved to observe that in his opinion it is incumbent upon the leadership and the Members of this House to observe the rules and regulations which they themselves promulgate.

It is unfair to the Chair for the respective caucuses to fix an hour that never met with the Chair's personal approval—having fixed 12:00 o'clock as the hour for convening—and then fail in the appointment they themselves have made.

It is within the power of the Chair when 12:00 o'clock, the hour of convening arrives, to note the absence of a quorum, ask for a roll call and adjourn the House until the next day. It is perfectly possible for the Members of either caucus briefly to come to this Chamber, permit the opening procedure and then caucus.

It is the opinion of the Chair that perhaps that would be the best course, because it would be repugnant to our ethics but in line with our official responsibility, if the Chair insisted that the leadership of the House observe its own rules and regulations.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request permission to address the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Greene, the Majority Leader, asks unanimous consent to address the House at this time.

The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I apologize because I, for one, and the Members on my side of the House did not expect nor do we approve of violating any of the rules that we ourselves have adopted.

In this particular case today I will humbly apologize, but we were considering a serious matter dealing with the interests of all the people of this Commonwealth. And we are most happy to announce that we found the conclusive answer to our problem.

Again I apologize, Mr. Speaker, and I assure you that we on this side of the House will not violate the rules that we ourselves have established.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Greene, and incidentially observes that had the Chair known that the proceedings were to be so protracted, he might have vacated the Chair temporarily and come down to the caucus to engage in the deliberations there.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to join in what Mr. McCann has said. When the hour of twelve arrived today we too were in our caucus engaged in what we thought was a very, very important discussion and I do not think anybody realized that it was 12:00 o'clock. In fact, we did not know what time it was.

I realized yesterday when we fixed our caucus for 11:30, with the idea we would come up here, organize the House and go back to caucus, that it was not too good an idea. I think hereafter we should plan our caucuses so that they will be over with by the time for convening, or else come back here and ask for additional time.

So we are sorry and we certainly will not do it again either.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Majority Leader a few questions?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from McKean ask unanimous consent to address the House?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. We would like at this time to pierce the caucus veil and find out what that great satisfactory conclusion was. Are you able to tell us that?

The SPEAKER. The Chair might reply in lieu of the Majority Leader, that he has no doubt in due season, in accordance with the protocol which this parliamentary body has established, that the decisions of the Majority Caucus will in orderly fashion be presented to the Minority Caucus and the cooperation of that caucus earnestly requested.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well now, Mr. Speaker, I asked that question of Mr. McCann. I did not want the Chair to get him off the hook.

The SPEAKER. The Chair might observe that it is impossible for the Chair to amend decorum; however, does the Majority Leader desire to answer the interrogation of the gentleman from McKean?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am most pleased today to answer any interrogation.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In other words, you have the votes, is that it?

Mr. McCANN. There are some days that you can smile and you know what it feels like after a hectic night.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on February 9th this House adopted a resolution of commendation for three outstanding Pennsylvanians. Two of those are present in the House today to receive from the Speaker the commendation of this House.

Those who are here today, sitting to my rear, are Cadet William Carpenter of Delaware County, Pennsylvania, who is 1959 Captain of the United States Military Academy football team. Sitting alongside of him is Midshipman James Dunn of Delaware County, Pennsylvania, who is the 1959 football Captain of the United States Naval Academy football team.

In other words, these two boys will captain the Army and Navy 1959 football teams. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, they are Pennsylvanians, and I am proud that they are here today.

These boys are the type of boys that we like to see; they are the type of boys we are proud of. All America will be proud of them. There is a third person who is absent. That is Coach Ben Martin, the Coach of the Air Force Academy team, who is also from Delaware County, Pennsylvania.

The very significant fact is that these two lads to my rear, live within a mile and a half of each other. Although in high school they did not play ball against each other because they were in different leagues, they did scrimmage against each other. We of Delaware County are going to be most proud next fall when they captain their respective teams. These two fellows really represent all that is fine and good in American youth.

I want to thank my colleagues of the House who approved this resolution because these boys, by their conduct, have reflected great credit to the citizens of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it certainly is a moment of great pleasure for all of us Pennsylvanians to have with us here in this famous Hall of the House of Representatives these two young citizens, who will be part of the leadership of our great forces of tomorrow; to know that from Pennsylvania we have two outstanding young men leading as captains of the football teams of the United States Military Academy and the United States Naval Academy; two men who will represent two of the three major service teams of this country.

It is certainly a pleasure on behalf of the Members of this House to extend to them a cordial invitation, and sincere thanks for their being able to be present with us here today and also to Coach Ben Martin who could not be present from the Air Force Academy. Mr. Speaker, I deem it a personal privilege, a privilege of high honor, that we of this House can honor these two great men of these two great Academies, in offering this resolution which was adopted on a prior date.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not know when this House of Representatives has been graced by the presence of two young men as fine as these two boys.

I am sure we all are proud of the fact that here in Pennsylvania we have two men whom their fellow-players on their respective teams have honored by electing them their captains. I am sure we will all watch their progress on the football field, and I am just wondering if they will see that the Members of this House have easy access to tickets to the Army-Navy football game.

I am sure that we wish them well in their chosen careers. I hope as they go through life, after they have graduated from their respective academies and go into the armed services of the United States, they will bring honor and glory not only upon themselves but also on the armed services and of their Nation.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Odorisio, to escort Cadet Carpenter and Midshipman Dunn to the rostrum. The gentleman will proceed in the performance of their duties.

Cadet Carpenter and Midshipman Dunn were escorted to the rostrum.

The SPEAKER. Cadet Carpenter and Midshipman Dunn, it is a great pleasure to welcome you and to present to you the commendation of the House of Representatives of your native State.

Your actions and achievements, gentlemen, have gained you the respect and admiration of your country.

You have reflected great credit to the Commonwealth of which you are citizens.

This Fall when you captain your respective football teams in the 1959 Army-Navy game the eyes of the nation will be upon you.

Pennsylvania, then as now, will watch you with pride.

This Legislative chamber represents the people of Pennsylvania. Our resolution is their voice.

Your splendid football records and achievements serve as inspiration to the young people of Pennsylvania and for this we thank you.

May your sterling qualities of leadership displayed on the gridiron follow you throughout your life, and may you always travel in the hollow of God's Hand.

It gives me great pleasure to present to you this resolution.

Certified copies of the Resolution adopted by the House were presented to Cadet Carpenter and Midshipman Dunn.

The SPEAKER. The Chair now recognizes the Midshipman.

MIDSHIPMAN DUNN. I feel it is an honor to be here today and I want to thank Pennsylvania, and in particular Mr. Bell for bringing up this resolution. I thank you very much.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Cadet.

CADET CARPENTER. I, too, would like to thank you all very much. It is a great honor to be here and in behalf of myself I would like to thank you very much.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GALLAGHER, HAMILTON and SHUPNIK.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 39.

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1959.

It is an accepted health fact that many urban towns are badly in need of sanitary sewer systems. The chief deterent at this time is the cost of construction.

The Federal program to help communities clean up their towns and the nation's waterways is not a give-away project. It offers one dollar in Federal funds for every five dollars spent by local and State governments. This Federal appropriation acts as a helpful stimulant.

Cooperation between Federal, State and local governments is the American way of getting things accomplished. Every urban town in our Commonwealth with residents strugging under unduly heavy local and Federal taxes will need help in establishing new sanitary sewer systems, therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact H. R. 3810 and Senate 805, to provide the necessary funds to assist the above mentioned towns, urban areas and communities in their need for sanitary sewer systems; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. PRICE. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1959.

Miss Judi Humphrey, Lewistown, Pennsylvania, has been selected America's Junior Miss.

Judi began by winning the Mifflin County Junior Miss Contest, and attained the State title at Reading in November, 1958. By winning Pennsylvania's number 1 teen-age charm title, Miss Humphrey earned the honor and privilege of representing our Commonwealth in the Junior Miss America Contest held in Mobile, Alabama, on March 4, 5, 6 and 7, 1959.

Judi, who is a senior at Lewistown High School, plans to enter nursing training at Johns Hopkins University this fall. Upon the completion of her training there, she will complete her education for her degree at the University of Pittsburgh on a scholarship awarded to her for attaining the State title. She has also been awarded a scholarship for winning the National title.

Contestants for the Junior Miss America contest were selected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce throughout the Nation on the basis of intelligence, beauty, personality, poise and talent. Miss Humphrey has been bountifully endowed with all of these attributes and has demonstrated her ability to utilize them in a most gracious manner.

Judi has proven herself to be worthy of the respect and admiration of us all. We feel confident that no one was better fitted to represent our Commonealth in National competition and Judi has evidenced this fact by winning the National title; therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives hereby extends to Miss Judi Humphrey its most hearty congratulations upon being crowned America's Junior Miss, and wishes her the very best of luck in all of her future endeavors; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Miss Judi Humphrey, 507 Lindbergh Way, Lewistown, Pennsylvania.

By Mr. VARNER. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1959.

The start of a new year brought to the end the life of the dean of Clarion County's practicing physicians, Dr. I. Dana Kahle of Knox. During his fifty-five years of practice, when ended on January 1, 1959, Dr. Kahle delivered more than six thousand babies. Throughout his eighty-three year life time he had an interest in politics and was a prominent and active member of the Democratic Party.

Dr. Kahle was born in Clarion County on August 8, 1875 and after graduating from Clarion State Teachers College he began teaching in the public schools at the age of eighteen. The doctor received his license to practice medicine in Pennsylvania in 1905 and did so until his death.

In 1926 the well-known physician was elected to the General Assembly as a Representative. He was reelected in 1928 and 1930. In 1934 he was elected to represent his area as a Senator. In 1939 he was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. Dr. Kahle continued his interest and activity in politics up to the itme of his death.

Clarion County and indeed the entire northwest section of the State deeply regrets the passing of Dr. Kahle, for he was a man who worked hard in his field and contributed much to the welfare and advancement of thousands of people; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its deepest sympathy and sincere condolences to his children who survive him; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to his son, Dr. Standish C. Kahle of Greenville and Mrs. L. T. Sheffer of Knox.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 203, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of June thirty one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1183) entitled "An act relating to strikes by public employes * * *" imposing certain duties on the Governor and state agency or political subdivision involved.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Taylor. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, what is the general purpose of this bill?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, our general purpose in this bill is an arbitration bill. What it is doing is changing the word from "may" to "shall."

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, if the arbitration board decides in a dispute between the employes of the city of Pittsburgh and the city itself that there should be an increase in wages, does this bill mean that the city council must enact the wage increase?

Mr. TAYLOR. Well, the bill itself, in case they should disagree, would have to go to the mayor or someone else in charge, the head of that department.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I call to your attention the language on page 5 of the bill that says that after the committee reports its findings, the Governor or the head of the state agency or political subdivision involved shall take the proper administrative measures to comply with the findings of the panel. Now, if that is the case does that not mean that if the panel states that the city employes are entitled to a wage increase the city council and the mayor must comply with the panel's recommendation?

Mr. TAYLOR. If the case should not be agreed on by the panel, then I would suggest it go back to the head of the department it came from, then probably to the council or whoever may be in charge of the legislative body in that district.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I wanted to get some enlightenment on this bill because I regard it as a very important bill. I think if the employes of the city, county or state are entitled to proper remedial action in the form of increased benefits in wages, they should get that, but to me it appears that a bill of this character if it reaches the Governor's desk must be vetoed. How can you compel the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to take action? How can you enforce it? Is it common sense that an arbitration panel should make a final decision which would place the city council or the proper department in a position of saying, "We must comply with the recommendations of the panel"?

The council of my city is elected by the people and presumably is responsible to the people. In an issue of this character it would be responsible to the panel. We feel the bill is not sound, it is not practical, and if it ever gets to the Governor's desk, we have confidence that he would veto it.

On the question, recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—4

Brown,	Cooper,	Petrosky,	Thompson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 306, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of June 21, 1939 (P. L. 626), entitled "An act providing for and regualting the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class * * *" requiring that tax exempt property be listed and valued.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Now Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Wheeler.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WHEELER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state whether this bill is part of a package of bills that would require a local municipality and local assessors to place a value on all tax exempt property?

Mr. WHEELER. That is right Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Will the gentleman state what the purpose of this package of bills is?

Mr. WHEELER. The purpose of this package of bills is to bring to the attention of the public of the Commonwealth and the different political subdivisions the great amount of properties that are going unassessed in the Commonwealth, that is estimated as better than $2 billion now.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Will the gentleman state whether this would require the local assessor to put a value on such things as schools, jails, courthouses, public parks, cemeteries, American Legion Homes, utilities and things of that nature?

Mr. WHEELER. Yes, the bill says all exempt properties.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Is it a fair statement to say, Mr. Speaker, that the ultimate purpose of this bill, the ultimate aim that is, so that taxes may be put on these properties that are now presently tax exempt?

Mr. WHEELER. I would say not on all properties, no, but we do have some that are exempt that possibly should not be exempt.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. In other words, it is a fair statement to say then that ultimately a number of these tax exempt properties it is hoped will be taxed?

Mr. WHEELER. Well, I would hope that all properties that ought to be taxed should be taxed, but it would be foolish to tax school districts and cemeteries and churches.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. And yet under this bill it is required for example that a local assessor come up with a figure or a value for a church, let us say?

Mr. WHEELER. That is right, it says all properties.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does the gentleman think that the local assessors as they presently are constituted have the expert ability to come up with values for courthouses, churches and things of that nature?

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say this to the gentleman, down through the history of our Commonwealth and political subdivisions they have been putting values on more than churches and cemeteries, they have been assessing buildings in the millions.

If the gentleman will recall, we have on the books now a new assessment act into which all counties are going, in those counties they have appointed assessors, and it is the hope of the people who are interested that the county commissioners will appoint assessors with more ability than the ones who have been elected by the people.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. So that another purpose in the bill is to change the present system and another aim, if this sort of legislation is passed, would be to change the local methods of assessment?

Mr. WHEELER. No. There is now an Act on the books that sets up a complete new assessment system. Many counties are in it and many are in the process of going into it. We have here in the Legislature extended the time, I think in the last session we extended it up to '59 or '60, giving them that length of time to get into this new system. Under the new system the assessor is appointed by the county commissioners to do this assessing, and the local assessor then just becomes the fact finder. In many counties, the county from which I come, Fayette, they do not use them at all. They have sub-assessors under the chief assessor, appointed by the county commissioners.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. But is it not true, Mr. Speaker, that House Bill No. 307, which is the next bill, covers third class counties which are not under the 4th to 8th class county assessment law?

Mr. WHEELER. That is right, but they have an assessment law too. I do not see any reason why we should exempt third class counties from doing the same thing.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that we should oppose these bills, House Bills 306 and 307 and I will discuss both of them, if I may, as one.

It seems to me that it puts an unreasonable burden on the local assessor to come up with a value for a church or for a legion or for a utility building or for a cemetery or for a large school that may have been built fifty years ago. I think that is an unreasonable burden.

Secondly I think we should oppose this legislation because as the sponsor has frankly admitted, the ultimate aim is to get these tax-exempt properties taxed. I think that is a bad policy. I think tax-exempt properties as they presently exist should remain tax exempt. I ask all the Members to vote against the bill.

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman pleads a case for the poor down-trodden assessors in this case.

I had not intended to divulge where this piece of legislation was recommended, but it came from a local government commission. As you can see it is sponsored by members from that commission. This was a request of the State Association of Assessors themselves. So if they want to do it, I do not see why Mr. Lippincott sits over there and says that it puts an undue burden on them.

Secondly I did not admit that they are going to assess. He puts me in a position of saying that tomorrow, or the next day, or the next day they are going to assess the churches and the cemeteries. I did not admit such a thing, but there are some properties, I said, where there is a possibility that they ought to be assessed in the Commonwealth. We now have better than $2 billion and it is growing. The public ought to be informed. This is one way to do it, by bringing it up, putting it on the assessment rolls and the public then knows that they have a certain number of dollars worth of assessment in their districts that are not being taxed.

Mr. STROUP. I rise to interrogate Mr. Wheeler further on this bill if he will submit to interrogation, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman consent to be interrogated?

Mr. WHEELER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, after the total value of tax-exempt property has been determined, what then will be the utilization of that value? How will that value be employed?

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I have said it before that these bills are bills that, if enacted into law, would bring to the attention of the people of the different political subdivisions the tax exempt properties in their political subdivisions. That is the sole purpose for it as these bills stand.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, will the tax-exempt property and the valuation of that property be added to the total market value of the property in a particular subdivision?

Mr. WHEELER. No.

Mr. STROUP. Then, Mr. Speaker, will this tax-exempt property valuation be included in the market valuation utilized by the Tax Equalization Board for reimbursing subsidy school districts, for example?

Mr. WHEELER. No.

Mr. STROUP. Is the gentleman sure that will not be so employed?

Mr. WHEELER. As sure as you could be about any piece of legislation I expect. I have been told in the discussion before the commission that it would not be included.

Mr. STROUP. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, it appears to me that this bill should have some limitation or restriction placed upon it insofar as the utilization of these values are concerned because very well could these tax-exempt values be included in market value, and as a consequence many of our school districts suffer in a reduction of the amount of subsidy which they receive.

I think the bill should at least have that circumscription placed in the language of the bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if I may have the permission we could talk about the two bills that are on the calendar.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCANN. As the gentleman from Delaware was interrogating Mr. Wheeler on House Bill 306, and really House Bill 307, there is actually one other bill that covers this package of bills dealing with this problem in the County Code, fourth to eighth class.

Actually all that this bill will do at the present time in the assessment books in every county, every political subdivision, is list the name of the property. Since he used "American Legion" we will use that. It appears in the books now. Where a county has gone through a reassessment program, a re-appraisement program, the property is recorded. It is placed in the proper map and it does appear in its name and title and the ownership of the property. All that this bill will do, and nothing else, is place a value on that property so that the people of the respective areas, political subdivisions, would have knowledge of the tax-exempt property listed in the political subdivision.

Mr. Lippincott's statement that taxes would be placed, or getting them in a position for taxes, is only an assumption. It could not be a fact. It has no bearing in the bill or the bills. If you will read the bills carefully you will see that is all these bills do, House Bills 306 and 307. Actually, I would say that in many areas it would certainly be advisable in political subdivisions to have knowledge of the non-taxable real estate in the political subdivision.

Perhaps it may be helpful at a later date in determining other laws dealing with what Mr. Stroup mentioned in market value of our school districts. This, of course, would be highly important if we were talking about that subject, but these bills do not do a single thing but list the properties and the value.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate either the Majority Leader or the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Wheeler.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will either of you gentlemen accept interrogation?

The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state what effect, if any, increasing the assessed valuation by including tax-exempt properties will have on the constitutional limitation of seven per cent for bond issue purposes?

Mr. McCANN. Absolutely none, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Is that spelled out in the bill?

Mr. McCANN. No. but follow through the law that this applies to, and all you are doing is making a just and perfect list of all the properties exempt by law from taxation with a just valuation of the same. If this was a law and were now in effect and you did this in these particular two classes, second class and third class, it would not affect or change the basic law dealing with that subject.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. What affect will this have on the compensation of the local assessor?

Mr. McCANN. I would say that it would have this effect on local assessors. I believe they are paid for their work and when they do this work they would be paid for it, therefore they would certainly receive a just compensation when they were preparing this if directed by law to do so.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would just like to reply briefly to one statement the gentleman made, to the effect that it was an assumption on my part that the ultimate aim would be to get this tax-exempt property taxed. I do not believe it is an assumption on my part since the sponsor of the bill admitted and stated he thought that was the ultimate aim.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—1

Capano,

NOT VOTING—4

Brown,	Cooper,	Petrosky,	Thompson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House preceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 445, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of May 6, 1887 (P. L. 86) entitled "An act to authorize the commissioners of the several counties of this Comonwealth to discharge from prison all persons confined in jail without proceedings under the insolvent laws" providing for the discharge of paroled prisoners without proceedings under the insolvency laws.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the lady permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. REIBMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the lady was sitting there so nicely I thought we would get her on her feet, disturb her equilibrium a little. Will the lady please explain this bill and tell the House what it does?

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, under the present law, the sentencing judges may discharge from prison without delay and expense of any proceeding under the insolvency law any convict who has served his imprisonment. All this bill does is include in that category all those prisoners who have been granted a parole, and gives them the same rights as prisoners who have completed their term inside a prison. Does that answer the gentleman?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In other words, as I understand it, a prisoner will be out on parole and he will owe a fine. He probably has been sentenced to a term as well as a fine, and as I undestand it the only time the prisoner takes the insolvency oath, the pauper's oath as they call it, is when there is a fine involved.

Mrs. REIBMAN. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. And you say the prison law is that if you are out on parole and owe a fine you cannot take a pauper's oath

Mrs. REIBMAN. That is right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. But if you are confined in a jail and want to get out without paying your fine, you can take a pauper's oath without going through the insolvency laws.

Mr. REIBMAN. That is right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. This will permit those on parole to get out of their fines by taking the pauper's oath.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, we must not confuse the fact that when a prisoner is on parole that means he is serving sentence. When a prisoner is paroled he is serving his sentence outside of prison walls, but he is still serving his sentence, but it is under a parole plan. Now, the Parole Board has jurisdiction of every prison case where the sentence is two years or more. When a prisoner has served two years he then comes automatically within the jurisdiction of the Parole Board. As a part of their parole plan they are found a sponsor and a job. In many cases where prisoners are paroled and are insolvent, they then have to come in and claim insolvency, and usually are sentenced for three months back in prison for not being able to pay their fines and costs. By that time the sponsor has lost interest, the job has gone to someone else perhaps, and the whole parole plan is defeated. All this does is give the paroled prisoners the same opportunity as those who have served their sentences inside, by being able to be discharged without pleading insolvency. It does not mean that they do not pay their fine; it is still within the discretion of the court.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you. After that fine explanation I will vote for the bill.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

FINEMAN, SCHWARTZ, MULLEN, DENNIS, HEAVEY, and J. P. O'DONNELL, offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1959.

On March 7, 1959 the Commonwealth lost one of its most abled legislators when Representative Granville E. Jones of the Fifth District in Philadelphia passed away after an extended illness. It was a sad day for all who knew him for he was loved and respected by all those who ever had the pleasure of his company. Mr. Jones was born on October 14, 1900 and the fifty-eight years he spent on this earth brought joy and comfort to many.

Granville was an embalmer by profession with over twenty-four years experience in this field. He was graduated from the public schools in Baltimore, Maryland and H. E. Dolan's College of Mortuary Science in Philadelphia. Mr. Jones stood high in his profession for he had the honor and privilege of being the President of the Philadelphia Undertakers' Association as well as a member of the Board of Governors of the Pennsylvania Undertakers' Association.

Beside his professional activities, Granville spent a great deal of time devoting his time to the activities of his community. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Quaker City Lodge No. 720, Improved, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Y. M. C. A. and the Tindley Temple Methodist Church.

Mr. Jones also devoted much of his talent and time to the people of his district. He was a Democratic Committeeman for many years and served as the Secretary of the Thirtieth Ward Democratic Executive Committees. Since June of 1952, Granville was the Democratic leader of the Thirtieth Ward in Philadelphia. In 1948, in appreciation of his work for his people, he was elected to the House of Representatives. His people respected the work he did for them and the way he conducted himself in Harrisburg and throughout the State for they reelected him in 1950, 1952, 1954, 1956 and again in 1958.

Not only the innumerable friends he made throughout the State will miss him but so will his family. Granville was married to the former Frances R. J. Jones and he had four step-children as well as step-grandchildren. Truly, Pennsylvania has lost a man who was known as a fighter for liberal legislation affecting all American citizens of every race, creed and color; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its sincere condolences to Granville E. Jones' wife and family on the passing of a great statesman and leader; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Jones at her residence, 2233 Christian Street, Philadelphia, 46 Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Cambria for presiding.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday in interrogation the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, raised a question. He said he was now thinking of Governor Leader when he said "I am installing an accounting system and will know every day just what the financial situation is." He asked me if I could go over there and get yesterday's trial balance and bring it in here so that we could see what the cash is and what the liabilities are on it.

I regret that I do not have yesterday's balance sheet. The explanation given to me was that they have been working on a special program to furnish Members of the Legislature with monthly reports of appropriation status and that Mr. Baldwin had asked the Bureau of Accounts to concentrate on that project, and for that reason he is one day late. I do, however, have the balance sheet for Friday, March 6, which was the last business day of last week, yesterday being Monday, the first day of this week.

I do not believe the gentleman would want me to discuss the balance sheet here. It is available for him to see. I will be glad to have a copy of it made for him. But I will answer him briefly, and say that on March 6 the total cash and temporary investments consisted of $62,860,970.91.

There was due to the Commonwealth from the State Stores Fund, for advances made for purchases, and which will be repaid by May 31, 1959, $15 million. Now that is the cash and that is the amount advanced to the State Stores Fund.

Of what we owed as of Friday, we have vouchers payable of $9,075,623.36, and we had a balance due on the tax anticipation notes of $73 million.

I am briefly going to run down as to where the figures that have been used of approximately $178 million come in. We have reserve for restricted receipts $14 million plus, reserve for prior biennium encumbrances—$2 million plus, reserve for encumbrances and requistions—$24 million plus. These, along with the tax anticipation notes of $73 million and the vouchers payable of $9 million, give approximately that figure.

The gentleman also raised the question of whether that was to replenish cash. Of course, when you are out of cash and are going to raise taxes it is naturally going to replenish cash. But the question was whether we owed this money, and I can state here definitely that for the deficit of $178 million, approximately, we do owe it and we do have to raise the money to pay it.

As to the questions the gentleman raised as to just what the specific amounts are, I told him that I did not think I would have the information available today but that I would have it ready and available to him by the time we vote on the tax bills. I will again state that we will have that information available for the House before we vote on the tax bills.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, on behalf of myself and my colleagues, Senator Kromer, Senator Whalley and Senator Shafer, I offer the following resolution:

"In the Senate, March 16, 1959.

"One day in each year, the second Sunday of May, is appointed for the honoring of motherhood and the loving remembrance of one's mother. Any attempt to express the feeling in our hearts for our mothers is bound to fall far short. "Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania respectfully requests the Governor to proclaim the week of May 4th to May 10th, 1959 as "Pennsylvania Mather's Week" in honor of all mothers, and to urge the people of the Commonwealth to observe that week by being especially kind to and thoughtful of our mothers."

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 18, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BERGER, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. PECHAN and KOPRIVER, JR., on March 10, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE AFFAIRS AND ACTIVITIES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

In the Senate, March 10, 1959.

During the 1957 session of the General Assembly the Departments of Welfare and Public Assistance were merged into the Department of Public Welfare, creating an immense spending agency through which a great portion of the tax revenue is expended.

The maintenance of welfare institutions and the care of the indigent, infirm and needy are certainly the most humane and perhaps the most important functions of the State Government. That they be adequate and executed in the fairest, most efficient, yet most economical manner possible is an end which every Pennsylvanian desires.

The confidence which the General Assembly has in the past placed in the advice and counsel of the Department of Welfare and Public Assistance is not now in question. But recent developments have made it clear that further action of the General Assembly must be taken pursuant to a thorough and complete knowledge of all the facts, factors and problems involved in public welfare and public assistance.

We in the General Assembly have heard the advice of countless experts urging the increase, the decrease, the containment, the expansion and the reevaluation of welfare activities. We have been told of the dangers of continuing our present policy and we have been told of the dangers of not continuing our present policy. We have seen the policies of the department change with the change of secretaries, and with the change of administrations. We have learned that the employes of the department would be protected from politics and we have later learned that their right to be involved in politics would be protected. We have seen responsible public officials claim that the problem of the birth of illegitimate children was aggravated by the policies of the department.

We are aware, as is the taxpayer, that an ever increasing part of every tax dollar goes into welfare and assistance programs. We are aware that the tax burden in many cases has become onerous enough to be prohibitive of the simplest of luxuries.

We are aware that our people are such that they would not permit any human being to remain truly in need of the necessities of life. But we must be equally aware of the dangers inherent in assisting persons who are not in actual need and in spending more money than our taxpayers can supply. We must also be aware that a hope of our enemy in the cold war is that we will spend ourselves into bankruptcy; a proposition so obvious that Russian citizens have expressed it freely to Americans, including at least one Pennsylvania Senator.

The need for an exhaustive study of our public welfare and public assistance programs and the administration of them is imperative; therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint five members of the Senate who shall constitute a committee to investigate into the affairs and activities of the Department of Public Welfare, giving particular attention to the policies, practices and objectives of the department, the degree to which the spending of the department conforms to those policies and objectives, the administrative costs involved in our public welfare and public assistance programs, the need for our present programs and the extent to which that need is supplied and all other matters relating to welfare institutions and public assistance a knowledge of which would assist the General Assembly in enacting wise and adequate laws relating public welfare and public assistance; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations at such places as it shall deem necessary within this Commonwealth. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas isued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee so appointed shall report back to the Senate its findings and recommendations as soon as possible.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will be laid on the table.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 18, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 18, which was reported from committee today.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 18, ADOPTED

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move the adoption of this resolution.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, last week we apparently passed a resolution to investigate the Department of Public Instruction. This week we apparently are about to pass a resolution to investigate the Department of Public Welfare. I would respectfully suggest, Mr. President, that we would save time and printing of bills in this Senate—if this is a pattern of our future procedure—by presenting an omnibus investigation bill in order to investigate all of the departments and other agencies of the government, rather than make investigations piecemeal.

I think this is a subject which is reaching ridiculous proportions. I well remember, Mr. President, that in the past we have voted for such investigations. I remember that we received reports which were full of sound and fury and signified nothing. I do not know of any useful purpose that has been served by any of these investigations since I have been a Member of this Senate. Yet, we have continued, on the basis of very flimsy reason, to go into the various departments, upset their routines and their efficient operations, and have required numbers of the staffs to come and attend hearings. The results, to the best of my knowledge and belief, as I have seen them, have been minimal.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to vote "no" on this resolution. Since there will not be a record vote, I presume, I wish to appear on the record as being opposed to this resolution.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, of course, some of us have considered a resolution which would investigate all of the departments. If Senator Seyler would have one prepared, I would be glad to join him in presenting it.

I do not believe that these investigations are without tangible benefit to the Commonwealth. They keep the people involved alerted. As far as upsetting their efficient routine, I am reasonably certain that they can stand it.

For that reason, Mr. President, I believe that the resolution and the consequent information to be developed will be of considerable benefit to the Commonwealth and, particularly, to the Legislators who are required to vote upon appropriations to the various departments involved.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, the only difficulty with the remarks made by the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, is that he assumes that the various departments are efficient.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in the past, I have listened to a great deal of cant from across the aisle on the subject of cutting out duplication, of saving needless expenditures for the taxpayers and so on. To the best of my knowledge, we are presently having hearings on the budget. Those hearings on the budget will cover the information about this department and all others. If this is not a case of duplication, I do not know what is. The same gentlemen who fulminate against alleged duplication and who are economy-minded, I find are the same gentlemen who are voting for what I consider unnecessary expenditures of time, of money and of the energy of the Members of this Senate.

I think, of course, the Majority Leader realized, in his kind invitation to me, that it seems to me rather absurd to have an omnibus bill to investigate all the departments. Apparently Senator Berger took it seriously and I find it rather appalling that anyone would seriously contemplate this action.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that we perhaps should have a season for investigating and a season for legislating, if that is to be the tenor of this. Unless there is some basis in evidence that can be offered to this Senate to indicate that there are some matters in a given department which need to be investigated, then I contend that it is ridiculous and wasteful of time and energy to hold such investigations.

I would be the first person, if presented with what would seem to me evidence of anything which appeared wrong, of any lack in the operation of the departments, to join and say, "Yes, this should be looked into." However, to my knowledge, nothing has been offered which justifies such procedure.

The point made about investigating the budget, the expenditures and so forth, it seems to me is being done. I do not see why we need to have two circuses going on at the same time. I do not see why we cannot confine it to the one.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I just received good tidings that the Minority Floor Leader, Senator Weiner, appointed me to serve on the committee which will investigate the Department of Public Welfare.

Last week, it was said that the presence of Senator Kessler on one of those committees would be indicative that everything would be conducted in the most economical way. I agree with this because Senator Kessler is "Mr. Economy."

However, I feel that the results of the investigation should be reduced to a printed pamphlet in order for it to be circularized throughout Pennsylvania. After all, it is very easy to make a statement on the floor of the Senate, cast a shadow and start investigations. Some people take it for granted that where there is smoke, there is fire and their notions are never dispelled. The only way to dispel it is to have a printed report circulated all over the Commonwealth. In that way, the findings of the committee will be known. That applies to any other department as well. It may be expensive, but it is only fair to once and for all acquaint the people with the pursuit of these committees.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on March 3rd, this Body passed Senate Resolution, Serial No. 11. Through the courtesy of our President pro tempore, he rather generously appointed two Democratic Senators to the committee. It was his prerogative to appoint all Republicans if he wished, but he extended the courtesy to the other side of appointing two Democrats. At that time, he selected my distinguished colleague from York, Senator Seyler, as one of the committee to look into the Department of Public Instruction and to investigate its fiscal policies and, as well, to determine whether any wrongdoing has been committed in the Department of Public Instruction.

Just a few minutes ago, Senator Seyler referred to these investigations and, in particular, to the investigation under Senate Resolution, Serial No. 11—of which committee he is now a member—as "ridiculous," "absurd" and, as he said, "served no useful purpose."

I submit to you, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, that when a member approaches a study or an investigation with that attitude, he already disqualifies himself. He has agreed to serve as a member of that investigating committee and he has agreed to go along with the rest of the members and look into the fiscal policies of the Department of Public Instruction, for which the Governor has asked an appropriation of $884,000,000. This is approximately one-half of the General Fund budget. I have said before on two other occasions, and I say now, that there are indications of wrongdoing and strong indications of wrongdoing.

When a Member stands on the floor of this Senate and says that any of these investigations are ridiculous, that we should never look into the expenditure of $884,000,000, that they are absurd and serve no useful purpose, then, Mr. President, in my judgment, he disqualifies himself from sitting on that investigating committee.

Investigations are not only for the purpose of looking into the expenditure of money. They are done with the purpose of seeing whether everything conducted in that department, during the biennium, is done in accordance with the law. When a gentleman takes a Cabinet position and takes the oath of office, then he agrees to carry out the duties in that office in accordance with the law, as we in the Legislature prescribe it.

I repeat, Mr. President, that when a gentleman takes the attitude taken by Senator Seyler, then he has disqualified himself from serving on a committee of that kind.

May I say further that I know the President pro tempore consulted with the Minority Leader in making those appointments? I also know that the Minority Leader selected these two gentlemen. They are both of the teaching profession. I question the propriety of appointing them. I am not casting any reflection on the President pro tempore, whose prerogative it was to appoint the committee. However, I am now questioning whether two schoolmen should sit on that committee. I do not think it is in proper order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, before I get to the gentleman from Cumberland, I would like to point out to the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Ehrgood, that I think at least we should afford our Cabinet Members the same type of cloak that we give to people who commit a crime or an alleged crime in this Commonwealth. We clothe them with the presumption that they are innocent until proven guilty. I think the gentleman from Lebanon, unless he has some information that we know nothing about, should not infer that the operations of the various Cabinet Members are inefficient. I think we should begin with the premise that they are efficient until our investigations, materials and facts prove otherwise.

Mr. President, I think our good friend from Cumberland, Senator Wade, was kind of casting a cloud on the President pro tempore of the Senate and I take issue with that. I think the President pro tempore of this Senate has been a fair man and has operated this Senate in a democratic manner. That may not appeal to the gentleman from Cumberland, but I would take issue with him if he continues on that vein. I think the fact that the President pro tempore saw fit to appoint two Democrats, two persons who are cognizant and who have some intelligence in regard to education in this Commonwealth, shows that he made good choices. These two gentlemen are persons who might well guide the gentleman from Cumberland in some of his findings. If they get too technical, they can lean toward other members of the committee to help get Senator Wade out of the miasma that he might find himself in from looking into this particular problem.

In any discussion on this floor, I did not ever hear Senator Seyler, or anyone else, say that we should not look into any department which spends half of the budget. I think Senator Wade has convinced himself—by this form of sophistry that he engages in from time to time—that in starting from one premise and by the time he finishes, he logically thinks he has arrived at a conclusion which follows from what he has said before. Senator Seyler, nor anyone else on this floor, has ever said that we should not investigate. I believe if you will look at the record, I said—and you can quote me publicly or otherwise—that if there is something wrong, we want a full investigation. I also said that we want to know about any wrongdoings because we do not want to vote for these things if they are wrong.

Following what Senator Seyler said and just to clear the atmosphere here. I want to say that we are not for any department that is doing wrong, regardless of who is involved. Let the chips fall where they may. If these people are wrong, we want to know about it. However, we do feel that it is wrong to go on a fishing expedition for purposes best known here.

If Senator Wade will look at the resolution, as it appears in the Legislative Journal,—if that is incorrect, I think we should correct it here today—he will find that this is based on rumor. I think neither he, nor I, nor anyone else sitting in this room would want to be investigated or looked into or be indicted on the basis of rumor. I think we should deal in facts as the board of directors of this corporation, known as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It behooves us to behave in the manner which anyone else would behave in their own business, and that is to get the facts and to operate on those facts. We should not operate on facts based on rumors, gossip or anything else anybody might say.

Mr. President, I think we should all concern ourselves with the fact that these are serious charges. These ladies and gentlemen, who are operating these departments, are going to go on for the next three years in Harrisburg. They have a tremendous responsibility. The least we can do is show our confidence in their responsibilities and in the jobs they are trying to do, and try, in some way, to guide them and be of aid to them if that is indicated. Of course, if it is indicative that they are not doing the proper thing and it is brought to our attention by facts, we should act thereon. However, we should not go on fishing expeditions and waste the taxpayers' money in doing so.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to state that these last remarks are entirely out of order inasmuch as the only question before the Senate is the adoption of the resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was adopted.)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The PRESIDENT. A voice vote has already been taken, Senator Lane, and the resolution has been adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I wish to make a statement in answer to what I consider rather personal remarks made by the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, suggested that I disqualify myself because, in his opinion, I would not be an objective person in conducting the Public Instruction investigation. He bases this suggestion on my remarks made prior to my vote on the matter, in which I considered it an unnecessary investigation because Senator Wade had not presented adequate evidence.

I would like to point out to Senator Wade that there may be people who consider that he has similarly disqualified himself because he is going into this investigation—and he has said so on the floor—with the conviction that the Department of Public Instruction is guilty of mismanagement. I would contend, Mr. President, that that is no more a fair and objective point of view than the one which he accuses me of. If Senator Wade says that I am convinced that they are innocent, he has certainly given direct evidence, which I have not, that in his opinion the department is guilty. He makes this charge without hearing one iota or scintilla of evidence. He gave his opinion today, after he was elected chairman of this committee. If there is any question of disqualification on the basis of not being qualified to conduct this investigation by reason of prejudice in the matter, I suggest that the chairman search his own conscience in the matter and perhaps he will feel that he, too, should be disqualified.

I would like to say that I have great confidence in the President pro tempore of the Senate. As far as I know, he has always been fair. I am complimented by the fact that he put me on this committee because I believe it was evidence on his part that having stated my opinion about the investigation, initially, I would be able to be objective and take the evidence, as presented, and draw whatever conclusions the evidence warranted.

If the Minority Leader or the President pro tempore see any reason to question my qualifications and ask me to withdraw, I will. I have great confidence in the fairness and judgment of both of those gentlemen. If either one of them feels that I am disqualified, I will cheerfully withdraw. I would not feel at the moment, however, that the statements made by the chairman of the committee, granted the prejudice that he has evinced in the matter, would be sufficient reason for me to disqualify myself.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to apologize to the Chair for not having raised the point of order which the Chair very correctly invoked sometime earlier in this discussion. We were on a subject entirely unrelated to that which was being debated.

INTERROGATION

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman whether or not the President pro tempore consulted with him before he appointed the two members on the Democratic side to this investigating committee? He implied that he did not awhile ago. The question is, did the President pro tempore consult with Senator Weiner before those two members were selected to this committee?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in any remarks made by me, I do not remember stating that there was any other way for these gentlemen to be appointed except by the President pro tempore.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think that clears the subject about which Senator Weiner was talking a few moments ago.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. TAYLOR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I would like to answer that last question by stating that I consult with the Minority Leader on all appointments. When I consulted with him about selecting members for this committee, he suggested two names and I immediately put them on the committee.

That procedure has been going on ever since I have been President pro tempore of the Senate. All Minority Members of any investigating committee, or any committee, are recommended to me by the Minority Leader.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think Senator Taylor's remarks clear the point very well.

I want to say to the Minority Leader, Senator Weiner, that we are approaching this problem with an open mind. I appreciated his remarks on the floor of this Senate when the resolution was passed. I am glad, too, that Senator Seyler has had somewhat of a change of heart, shown by his last statement.

We are going to treat Doctor Boehm with the utmost courtesy. I have in my possession—and I am sure that other members of the committee have as well—absolute evidence, and plenty of it, of things that can be questioned very much in the Department of Public Instruction. However, we are not going to convict Doctor Boehm until he has had a chance to be heard.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, because I now understand what an open mind is. I find that it consists of throwing off of the committee one of the members whom we have appointed, and also that we have enough evidence to give this man a fair trial and then hang him.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Most gracious God, our Creator, our Redeemer, and our Sanctifier, we come unto Thee in this hour of turbulent misunderstandings and violent eruptions throughout our world, asking Thee of Thy great mercy and ever-present love to calm the storms of life which beset our pathways as well. Give to us the peace and assurance which Christ possessed as He was able to calm the troubled waters of the sea. Grant to us Thy power and direction that the course we chart may be to Thy will and pleasing. And strengthen us in setting our faces steadfastly toward the accomplishment of that goal. In the name and for the sake of the Lord Jesus Christ, we pray. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. FRANK. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 40.

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1959.

Recent actions and activities of The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association have not been in the best interest of furtherance of sports within this Commonwealth.

The Pennsylvania Farm Show Arena has been made available for interscholastic athletic activities at an expense in the vicinity of $100,000, but the group which heretofore was ceaseless in its demands to make such facilities available is now reluctant to fully utilize them.

This seemingly inconsistent behavior on the part of the officials of the P.I.A.A. is difficult to understand, as are other recent actions of said officials; therefore be it

Resolved (The Senate concurring), That a committee of six members of the General Assembly be created, three from the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, and three from the Senate, to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore, whose duty it shall be to study and investigate the policies and operations of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, and take testimony. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations for appropriate legislation to this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. VARNER. RESOLUTION No. 41.

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1959.

It is with a feeling of great security that many motor vehicle owners became insured against injuries and damages occasioned in the operation and use of their vehicles.

Some insurance companies, authorized to do business in Pennsylvania, sell their so called "protection" at reduced rates and so long as the insured is not involved in an accident, he is free from worry. These "Cheap-skate" companies, as soon as a person becomes involved in an accident, without much, if any notice, cancel the insurance and refuse to honestly compromise and pay just claims. This ultimately results in higher insurance costs as well as litigation expenses, delays in payment of claims and embarrassment to the insured.

In spite of all this, these companies continue to flourish at the expense of the public.

This matter is of great concern to the General Assembly in view of the fact that persons doing business in this Commonwealth, with the approval of the Insurance Department, are victimizing our constituents; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint a committee of five members of the House of Representatives to investigate the advertising practices, pricing practices and claim paying practices of automobile liability insurance carriers doing business in this Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee makes a report of its findings to the House of Representatives as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DEVLIN from the Committee on Rules reported as committed House Resolution (not printed).

RESOLUTION

Mr. DEVLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the Resolution (not printed) just reported from the Committee on Rules.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1959.

Miss Judi Humphrey, Lewistown, Pennsylvania, has been selected America's Junior Miss.

Judi began by winning the Mifflin County Junior Miss Contest, and attained the State title at Reading in November, 1958. By winning Pennsylvania's number 1 teen-age charm title, Miss Humphrey earned the honor and privilege of representing our Commonwealth in the Junior Miss America Contest held in Mobile, Alabama, on March 4, 5, 6 and 7, 1959.

Judi, who is a senior at Lewistown High School, plans to enter nursing training at Johns Hopkins University this fall. Upon the completion of her training there, she will complete her education for her degree at the University of Pittsburgh on a scholarship awarded to her for attaining the State title. She has also been awarded a scholarship for winning the National title.

Contestants for the Junior Miss America contest were selected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce throughout the Nation on the basis of intelligence, beauty, personality, poise and talent. Miss Humhprey has been bountifully endowed with all of these attributes and has demonstrated her ability to utilize them in a most gracious manner.

Judi has proven herself to be worthy of the respect and admiration of us all. We feel confident that no one was better fitted to represent our Commonwealth in National competition and Judi has evidenced this fact by winning the National title; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends to Miss Judi Humphrey its most hearty congratulations upon being crowned America's Junior Miss, and wishes her the very best of luck in all of her future endeavors; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Miss Judi Humphrey, 507 Lindbergh Way, Lewistown, Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. PRICE. Mr. Speaker, the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Pennsylvania, in its Youth Activity Program sponsors, through the various Junior Chambers of Commerce, a contest or selection of a representative from a particular district, of a girl who possesses charm, personality, poise and intellect.

The representative from my home town, Lewistown, was a girl by the name of Judi Humphrey. She won the contest held in Mifflin County, and participated at Reading last fall for the state title of Junior Miss State of Pennsylvania. She won that title and the week before last participated in the national pageant sponsored by the Mobile, Alabama, Junior Chamber of Commerce for the title "America's Junior Miss."

We are proud that not only a local girl, but a state girl from Pennsylvania, has won that honor and brought pride and joy to many of us at home and in Pennsylvania.

I trust that the House will adopt this resolution in behalf of my home town girl, Judi.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT "AMERICA'S JUNIOR MISS"

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints the gentleman from Mifflin, Mr. Price, and the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman, to escort America's Junior Miss, Judi Humphrey of Lewistown, Pennsylvania, to the rostrum.

"AMERICA'S JUNIOR MISS" ESCORTED TO ROSTRUM

The SPEAKER. Young, lovely and most gracious queen. Oh, to be 70 again! Youth is wonderful, in and of itself and, when youth is adorned with beauty, grace and intelligence, is one of our rarest treasures.

As we grow older we appreciate more and more how lovely these young people that we are raising can be.

You know, Your Majesty, I was wiser than your sponsor. He said when you were adjudged "Junior Miss" of the State of Pennsylvania that we should accord to you a reception.

I said, "You are crazy, man. Wait until she is the National Champion." And it came about.

It gives me great pleasure for and on behalf of this House, and for and on behalf of the people of Pennsylvania to present to you this Resolution which we have just unanimously adopted, Your Majesty, Queen Judi.

Miss HUMPHREY. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and Honorable Members of the House of Representatives. It is indeed an honor and privilege for me to be here today. I thank you all from the very bottom of my heart for welcoming me the way you have. You can tell I am shaking. This is by far the biggest thing that has happened to me.

The crown, the trophy, the scepter, the mantle have all been wonderful. Being here is just a little better. For that I thank you.

I won the local, the county pageant, the state pageant and the national pageant with Kipling's wonderful poem "If," and I would like to do it for you now. I usually have a musical accompaniment, but we are lacking a piano, so I will see what I can do on my own. I hope you will enjoy it.

I have been in this world for only 17 short years, but I have learned in that time that most people live by a philosophy of some type. The Golden Rule is a standardized measure to which most people apply themselves. Besides the Golden Rule I have a measure produced by an English writer of the 19th century, to which I apply myself, or at least try.

For many years I have used the word "if," but I did not realize its importance until I was given a poem written by Rudyard Kipling, entitled, ironically enough, "If."

Kipling wrote this poem for his son when he was about to take his first step along life's path. This is my measure. I believe it to be very adaptable even today, not only to us who are about to take those same first steps, but to those of you who have been stepping for several years.

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs, and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too.
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet, don't look too good nor talk too wise.

If you can dream and not make dreams your master;
If you can think and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same.
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to broken,
And stoop and build them up with worn-out tools.

If you can make one heap of all your winnings,
And risk it on one turn of pitch and toss
And lose, and start again at your beginnings,
And never breathe a word about your loss.
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your twin long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the will which says to them, "Hold On."

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings—nor lose the common touch.
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you but none too much.
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—what is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

I thank you.

The SPEAKER. A delightful interlude—I would welcome one like that every day.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I rise for the purpose of asking the Members on this side of the House to support the motion to recommit.

The bill that is before us really was hastily drawn. There are many, many, many things in the bill that no one really contemplated would be in such a measure.

For instance in this Tax Policy Committee report it says that we shall tax anew or for the first time repair charges and service charges. When the bill was written instead of saying repair of personal property or servicing of personal property the language says repairs, installation and application of personal property.

That is a tremendously broad assertion. Installing of personal property could be interpreted to mean the erection of a home. Under present law the material in a home is taxable but if the labor were, say, $5 thousand it would be subject to the sales tax under this broad language in the bill. I am sure that Governor Lawrence and the Tax Policy Committee did not intend that to be true.

Likewise, that language would include putting a new roof on your home, or installing new appliances of all types, painting of your house, and things of that nature. In other words that language is so broad that it could cover practically all activity in the Commonwealth having to do with installing and applying personal property.

I am just pointing this out to the House so that you will realize that a careful reading of this bill from page to page will find new language, new innuendoes, new things that should not be in the bill. For the sake of the people of this state and for the sake of job opportunities the bill should go back to Committee and be rewritten in the form that was intended by the Tax Policy Committee.

I therefore ask the Members on this side of the House to support the motion.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the statements the gentleman has made here on the floor today are absolutely clear and correct as far as the bill on the calendar, Printer's No. 98 is concerned. There never was any question, there never was any intent, and there never was any desire to pass 665 in the form of the Printer's No. that is now on the calendar. Amendments had been prepared which were defined very clearly, that the predominant use feature shall exist as exists now in the Selective Sales Tax law.

Each of these items that are a part of the Hood-Kennedy Tax Study Commission report and the features as outlined in the sales tax bill should be absolutely clear. The amendments were prepared, the amendments were ready, and the amendments were given to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, so that he would have an opportunity to check these very carefully and examine the contents of each of the features that was being amended.

Therefore the bill as written was a general sales tax bill defining exemptions, which is exactly opposite of existing law which is the selective sales tax, defining the items that are taxable. In this case this bill is going back to Committee and the bill will be amended. In each instance it was never the intention, and never a thought of taxing those items which are a part of the bill known as Printer's No. 98.

The amendments were ready, but in a policy decision it has been established they are to be absolutely clear, so there will be no denial, that each of these will meet the wishes of the Hood-Kennedy Tax Study Commission as far as the Selective Sales Tax and Use Tax, is concerned.

I ask the Members on this side of the House to support the motion to recommit the bill to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, and in further statement with respect to the motion to recommit, I want to say that I was in Philadelphia last Thursday to the conference on Job Opportunity and a new business climate in Pennsylvania.

There were over a thousand people at this luncheon. The speakers were the Governor of Pennsylvania and Clifford Hood, a member of the Tax Policy Committee. I heard both of them speak glowingly of the great things that are going to happen in Pennsylvania for business. I thought to myself as I sat there and listened, I am wondering if the Governor of Pennsylvania has read the sales tax bill on the calendar; I am wondering if Mr. Clifford Hood has read the sales tax bill on the calendar.

The gentleman mentioned that they had amendments prepared and were going to correct some of the things that were contained in the bill, but my point is why was such a bill drafted in the first place. Somebody carefully, meticuously, advisably and slowly and with premeditation, section by section, put things in that bill to do something to everybody, I do not say that Mr. McCann was a part of it, or that the Governor was a part of it, or that Mr. Hood was a part of it. I just mentioned at random the broad words of "installing," "repairing," and doing those things to personal property.

I could tell you how the bill would destroy job opportunities in Pennsylvania. As far as the businessman was concerned, all of the safeguards that had been written into the bill during the last four years were ripped out of this particular bill. It not only hurt the average person, but it hurt the businessman also. Everybody was severely slapped with this bill, I grant that you have now drafted amendments which may or may not cure what is wrong with the bill, the things that are done in it.

As I say, I do not believe that on Thursday when Governor Lawrence said "What I am going to do to create new jobs in this state and bring business into Pennsylvania," he had read House Bill 665, because had he read that bill he could not have stood before those one thousand business leaders of this state and have said the things that he was going to do. There is no point here this afternoon to point out all of those things, because the bill is going back to Committee and we are given to understand they are going to be ripped out of the bill. But whoever drafted the bill did not have the welfare of business and the people of this state at heart. They were after somebody, and I am sure Mr. McCann, you and the rest of you were not part of it, but the bill should rightfully go back to Committee and come out the way the Hood-Kennedy report says that it should be. Follow the recommendations of that report as the framers of that report intended.

So again I am asking our side of the House to support the bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader—rather the gentleman from McKean.

The SPEAKER. Will the Minority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. They say you were right the first time.

Mr. McCORMACK. Did the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Speaker, mean to imply that if this bill is amended to conform exactly and specifically with the request of the Hood-Kennedy Commission that you would give us the votes to pass the bill?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. No, I did not say that.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, would you answer that now?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is entirely . . .

The SPEAKER. That is not a proper interrogation.

Mr. McCORMACK. I withdraw the question, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. It is not relevant to the motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 76, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 5, 1947 (P. L. 458) entitled as amended "Parking Authority Law" increasing the minimum amount for which an Authority may contract or purchase without bids.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 135

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 135, Printer's No. 48, entitled:

"An Act providing that in actions of trespass founded upon negligence the contributory negligence of a plaintiff shall not bar recovery unless such contributory negligence is a proximate cause of his injury."

was defeated on final passage Tuesday, March 3, 1959, be reconsidered.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Devlin vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 141, Printer's No. 123

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. BOIES.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 313, entitled:

An Act amending "The Dental Law" approved May 1, 1933 (P. L. 216) changing the definition of the "practice of dentistry" and changing penalties relating to dental technicians.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to Mr. Silverman to talk first against the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silverman.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, due to the late hour I am again going to make my remarks very brief.

I again reiterate my opposition to this bill in that it cures absolutely nothing. The bill would invoke a rather hard penalty, a severe penalty, on dental technicians who may suffer from negligence on the part of dentists who order dental work done and tell the technician, "I will send you a prescription a little later on."

The present penalty is $50 and can be disposed of before the magistrate. The bill, as it is presently written, would raise that penalty to $500 and would make it a criminal offense triable in the courts of record. I see no reason for giving these men who might be the innocent victims of a dentist's negligence—I see no reason to make them criminals and impose such a severe fine or a criminal sentence.

I therefore ask this body to vote "No" on this bill.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I had hopes that this bill would have been amended which would have given me no cause for speaking against the bill. There have been several people who have called me with reference to it, and I have spoken to both dentists and technicians, but what I have to say is based on actual practical experience regardless of the framing of the bill, and regardless of whether it may be a department bill or not.

There is no doubt that the bill can be passed here and in the Senate, and if any enforcement measure is taken on the bill it will be taken by the Department of Public Instruction and not by the Attorney General's office.

This bill makes some additions. Whereas this bill has a summary conviction action, it now makes it a misdemeanor (page 6 of the bill), and increases the fine and penalty from $50, in the way of a summary conviction, giving reason for any magistrate to impose that fine to a matter that can be both $500 fine and six months' in jail. That means both, either or both. I submit that, from practical experience, under no circumstances would the Department of Public Instruction appoint anyone who had wished to get as such, or anyone that makes a mere mistake in case you or I happen to call upon a dental technician to go ahead and order a plate or make any correction whatsoever, unless he does it on department forms and, if necessary, have specific diagrams to get around the thing, and that is all in the bill. Under no circumstances could there be any settlement before a magistrate's court or any settlement prior to the actual appearance in court and prior to that man's actual appearance before a judge.

The Department of Public Instruction has stated, from my own practical experience, to the effect that under no circumstances could there be any settlement under the maximum fine and punishment in this case. I have spoken to attorneys for the Attorney General's Office who have handled similar legislation and none of the Attorneys General are in favor of this bill or bills along this kind or line. I have spoken to investigators for the Attorney General's office who have cause or reason to investigate cases of this kind, and none of them are in favor of it because they realize that upon the first penalty, or the first fault of a dental technician or dentist that the maximum fine can be imposed, and not only that, but he can be dragged to court, whereas heretofore at least there was some discretion on the part of the magistrate or someone before it reached the court.

Therefore, I claim the bill goes pretty far in its amendments and I ask your support against the bill, because it does impose a powerful weapon in the Department of Public Instruction to overrule the Attorney General's office, and any investigators, and insist upon the extreme penalty regardless of how small the offense and regardless of the fact that it was committed for the first time.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, the only objection from any source that we have been able to find has come from the chiselers, the laboratory chiselers, who are out to make a fast buck. The Laboratory Association, the Dental Association are behind this bill.

The laboratories who are not ehtical, who do dental work on their own, contrary to the law, are the people who object to the amendment to this bill. The original Act calls for a fine of up to $500 maximum for violation of the Act. This amendment, called the Prescription Act, was added I believe in 1955, and for some reason the penalty was made $50. Now all the Dental Association is asking is that the penalty for violation in one instance should be the same as in all the rest of the instances, and that the maximum shall be the same as the rest of the Act up to $500.

There is no excuse for anybody violating the prescription part of the Act, because no laboratory has the right to deliver finished dental work to a dentist without getting a prescription for it, or without having the prescription before he does the work. There is no excuse for it except for the fact that they are trying to chisel.

Now I am no attorney, but I am under the impression that any act that has the maximum penalty, the maximum penalty can be put on for the first violation. Mr. Sherman objects to the possibility of a maximum penalty for a first violation, but I believe that is true in any law and I do not know of any court that gives out a maximum penalty for a first violation. I have never heard of the dental law being violated and anybody being fined $500 in all the years that I have been a dentist, and I ask the Members of the House to support the ethical practitioner and the ethical laboratory and vote for this amendment.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, as a legitimate practising dentist, if this were a bad bill, I would be the first one to get on this floor and scream to high heaven against it. There is no legitimate dentist or legitimate ethical technician in this Commonwealth opposed to this bill.

Therefore, I am asking the Members of this House to vote for the bill. It is a good bill.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the last speaker, if I may, Dr. Maxwell.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAXWELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, my request is a rather simple one. We have heard from time immemorial here in the House about a lawyers' bill. I merely want to ask the gentleman whether this is a dentists' bill.

Mr. MAXWELL. I would say it is, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Petrosky.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 252, entitled:

An act amending "The Borough Code" approved May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519) increasing the limitation on the salaries of burgesses.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, just a moment of explanation on this bill or proposal before us. Several days ago there was a bi-partisan committee of the House, and in deference to them we placed this bill on the final passage postponed calendar.

Now this is a permissive proposal of raising the ceiling of the salaries of the burgesses of boroughs.

In most instances, in many instances I should say, the burgesses do not accept a salary. However, we do have some small boroughs that have very good and capable administrative heads, possibly the heads of these boroughs or municipalities come under a category of retired personnel, having retired at a very small retirement annuity, and in allowing a slight maximum in the raise of the burgesses' salaries the authority remains in the hands of the Borough Council, as the raise is only permissive, providing the borough council passes its ordinance allowing the head of that municipality to receive a little more money.

Whether it is necessary? I say, yes. In many cases that I know of we have good administrative heads. There is a necessity for this and I would like to have the Members of the House vote for this proposal.

Shall the bill pass finally?

REPORT OF SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE PLIGHT OF PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION IN PENNSYLVANIA, PURSUANT TO SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 8

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on behalf of my colleagues, Senator Walker, Senator Mullin and Senator Kalman, I desire to make a brief report on behalf of the Committee Appointed to Investigate the plight of Public Transportation in Pennsylvania, pursuant to the provisions of Senate Resolution, Serial No. 8, adopted February 9, 1959. Senator Mallery was also a member of that committee, but he does not agree with the solution that is believed by the other members of the committee to be the correct one.

The committee has held a number of meetings and, within the time allowed, has considered all of the data presented by interested persons, including a study of the financial statements of representative companies presented to the committee by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission. The committee also attended public meetings in Altoona on February 27, 1959, and in Johnstown on February 28, 1959, and discussed the problems of these two communities at first hand with the city officials and transportation and civic groups.

As a result of its investigation, Mr. President, the committee is convinced that in Pennsylvania, companies providing public transportation are seriously distressed financially. This is a condition which materially hampers their effort to serve the public effectively. While detailed studies were not possible in the time prescribed by the Senate Resolution, statistics presented to the committee indicate that during the last two years, nearly forty per cent of the companies providing public transportation in the Commonwealth operated at a loss and many more barely broke even. In a number of instances, during this period of time, companies have actually been forced to stop providing public transportation and have gone out of business, resulting in the threatened loss of transportation for thousands of our workers, shoppers, housewives, school children and others. In at least two instances, it has been necessary for cities, through the creation of municipal authorities, to step into the gap and undertake the continuation of public transportation.

From its review of the problem, the committee is also convinced that public transportation is of vital importance to the Commonwealth and its urban and surban areas, no matter how large or small; to the merchant and shopper, to industry and its employees, to students and educators, as well as to the thousands of people who even at this time do not own cars, cannot drive cars or do not wish to drive cars constantly.

Mr. President, the problem is not limited to isolated instances of financial difficulty, but exists in numerous communities throughout the Commonwealth and, in fact, throughout the Nation.

While at this time this committee is not in a position to present an over-all solution for the crisis facing the public transportation industry, the committee recognizes that there is an immediate need for the Commonwealth to provide relief to mass transportation, while the ultimate solution to the problem is sought.

May I say, at this time, Mr. President, that Governor Leader, during the past Administration, appointed a commission, consisting of twenty-four members, I believe, which held various and sundry hearings throughout the Commonwealth. They finally agreed that they could not see a solution for the mass transportation industry. For this reason, the members of the committee are implementing this report by sponsoring four bills to relieve mass transportation systems from motor vehicle license fees, fuel taxes and the gross receipts tax. The cost of these exemptions, under the bills which I am about to introduce, is to be charged against the one-half cent allocation of fuel taxes paid by the Commonwealth to the counties. The recommended legislation is quite similar to that which has been provided in a number of other States throughout the Nation.

In sponsoring this legislation, Mr. President, the committee is fully aware of the requirements of the highway program, and its need for funds for building and rebuilding Pennsylvania's highways. However, it is of the firm belief that the crisis in mass transportation demands prompt and effective relief.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. WADE, WALKER, and MULLIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 446, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "The Vehicle Code," exempting motor vehicles operated by certain persons subject to the Public Utility Commission and certain Municipality Authorities from fees for certificates of title or registration.

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 694), entitled "An act imposing a tax on gross receipts as an excise on the use of the public highways by certain owners or operators of motor vehicles transporting passengers and property for hire," exempting from the tax the owners or operators of certain vehicles.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 448, entitled:

An Act amending the act of January 14, 1952 (P. L. 1965), entitled "Fuel Use Tax Act," exempting from taxation any fuel used or sold for use in vehicles operated by certain persons subject to the Public Utility Commission or by certain Municipality Authorities.

L. 149), entitled, as amended, "The Liquid Fuels Tax Act," exempting from taxation such liquid fuels as are used in vehicles operated by certain persons subject to the Public Utility Commission and by certain Municipality Authorities; providing for refunds and providing for deductions from the amount of moneys paid to counties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, Senate Bill No. 44 and Senate Bill No. 45, which were introduced by me and co-sponsored by Senator Stevenson, Senator McMenamin, Senator Miller, Senator Walker and Senator Barr, have been amended to apply to only those municipalities served by certain bus companies, which have gone out of business or which have petitioned the Public Utility Commission to be authorized to cease doing business.

The opposition to these two bills—which has been narrowed down so much that as of today only six municipalities in the State, to my knowledge, would be affected by Senate Bill No. 44 and Senate Bill No. 45—has come from not only the Motor Clubs, but from certificated carriers.

The bills which Senator Wade introduced, along with other Members of the Senate, would open wide the use of the Motor Fund by all of the certificated carriers in the State of Pennsylvania. This one-half of one per cent of the Motor Fund, which Senator Wade has referred to, is given to the counties for the use of county highways. In my Senatorial District, there are no county highways. The counties are using part of the money to build bridges and the rest of it is distributed among all the cities,—we have but one city, the city of Altoona—all of the boroughs and townships in my District. The city of Altoona is dependent upon and is looking forward to a big share of the money allocated to Blair County to improve and repair the city streets.

Mr. President, I predict that opposition to these bills, introduced by Senator Wade and others, will come from every county in the State of Pennsylvania. Opposition will come from all the municipalities and cities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I have done everything possible to procure much needed help for the city of Altoona and a few other cities in the Commonwealth, but I have met with overwhelming opposition.

Mr. President, I trust that the Members of this Senate will read the several bills which have been presented on this subject, and have the fortitude to do what is right and necessary.

I call that to your attention because of the influx of bills which do not bear the imprint of the Legislative Reference Bureau. All of them have been improperly backed and, therefore, I suggest that it be carefully brought to the attention of the people asking your sponsorship of bills.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE GOVERNOR TO APPOINT AN ADVISORY COMMITTEE TO STUDY THE PERILOUS CONDITION OF THE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION FUND

Mr. SCOTT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 19), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 17, 1959.

The Governor appears to have confidence in the use of a nonpartisan approach to major issues faced by our Commonwealth, as evidenced by his faith in the findings of his recent Tax Study Commission.

The rapid depletion of the Unemployment Compensation Fund is equally as important as the tax problems which we presently face.

The remaining balance in the Unemployment Compensation Fund has fallen far below the "peril point," and it is anticipated that withdrawals will continue to be heavy. This fund is in serious jeopardy, with the likelihood of becoming insolvent in the immediate future, especially if any unexpected unemployment or disaster occurs.

This fund provides the sole means of existence for thousands of unemployed Pennsylvanians, who now face the possibility of being completely without means of support; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of this Commonwealth, is hereby respectfully requested to immediately appoint an Advisory Committee composed of representatives of both employers and labor, to study the perilous condition of the Unemployment Compensation Fund and to recommend whatever changes in the law or other action which may be necessary so that necessary payments to the unemployed may be continued.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 19, ADOPTED

Mr. SCOTT asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to take this occasion to emphasize to the Members of the Senate the seriousness of the Unemployment Compensation Fund in Pennsylvania today.

I have some figures which I think might be surprising to you. On January 1, 1959, the balance in the fund was about $140,000,000. The receipts for the month of January were $16,000,000. The estimated total receipts for the first three quarters of 1959 are $184,000,000. That leaves a total of $340,000,000 of available funds for the payment of unemployment compensation benefits for the year of 1959. This is a pure guess, but it is estimated that the total unemployment benefit payments during 1959 may reach $350,000,000 or $360,000,000. This is more money than we have available or will have available in the fund.

We can look at this in a little different way. During last year, there were thirteen and one-half million unemployment compensation checks issued. There has been some improvement in unemployment, so that for 1959, if you estimate that 11,000,000 checks will be paid out at an average check amount of $29.00, you get a total payment out of the fund for this year of $319,000,000.

I just want to read from the State Treasurer's monthly report which came out for February. It reads as follows:

> "In the first month of 1949, this Fund had a balance of $636 million, an all-time high. In January 1958, the balance had fallen to $340 million, and as of January, 1959, it was only $121 million. On February 15, 1959, the Fund showed only $89 million."

It seems to me that it is imperative for us, as Legislators, to take some steps to prevent the unnecessary use of unemployment compensation funds by people who are not fully attached to the labor market. These so-called misuses of funds have been termed loopholes by many people. I would just like to cover some of them briefly.

First of all, there is the item that a person will receive unemployment compensation benefits if he cannot find suitable work. The term "suitable work" is given peculiar interpretations. For instance, during the year a man moves from the position, let us say, of a mechanic up to a supervisor and then happens to be laid off from his work. He goes to the Unemployment Compensation Office and files his claim. If he cannot find work as a supervisor, which is his classification, then he immediately becomes entitled to unemployment compensation payments. This is true even though there may be work for mechanics, which was his former position in that same preceding year.

Another of what I call a misuse of the fund is the matter of paying the members of the Garment Workers Union unemployment compensation while they also receive vacation pay supposedly from the Union. The employer makes a contribution into this Union fund for the purpose of giving employees pay while the plant might be shut down for a vacation period. However, these same employees can go to the Unemployment Compensation Office and have been entitled, and still are entitled, to receive unemployment compensation payments.

Another so-called misuse of these funds is that a person should be able and available for work. In other words, you go to the Unemployment Compensation Office, which is connected with the Employment Office, too. They have a list of jobs which certain people would like to have filled. However, many of these people who are drawing compensation are not available for work. I would just like to site a few of those cases. Students are one example; the matter of pregnant women is another one.

The third factor, and one which I think is important, is that the person receiving unemployment compensation benefits should diligently search for work. There are twenty-seven States in these United States which have a requirement that unemployed persons who are entitled to benefits must actively seek work.

Another waste of money, in my opinion at least, is the payment of unemployment compensation to seasonal workers. This is particularly true in the canning and construction industries. Many of these workers, particularly in the canning field, work only two or three months at the most in a year. As soon as their work period is finished, those people draw unemployment compensation benefits. In many cases, these are women who are wives of the farmers who grow the crops. They go into the canning factory to pick up a little extra cash, but as soon as the canning season is over they become eligible for unemployment benefits.

These are the things, Mr. President, that I think we should try to take care of. Unless we do, we are going to find Pennsylvania in just as serious a crisis as is the State of Michigan.

We have a bill, House Bill No. 43, which was reported from committee yesterday. This bill proposes to borrow $112,000,000 from the Administration Fund in Washington. In January of this year, there was only $95,000,000 available in that fund. Michigan has already borrowed twice from the fund and is going back for some more. There just will not be $112,000,000 for Pennsylvania, even though we would have passed that bill as soon as it came over from the House. The money just is not there.

Mr. President, I would like to cite an outstanding case, at least to me, of a women who was employed in Philadelphia. If you would like, I can give you the name of the company. However, she was on the payroll of this company for thirty-one weeks and five days. She was absent over miscellaneous periods for claimed illness, which amounted to twelve weeks and five days. Her actual time worked was nineteen weeks. Her wages, vacation and severance pay amounted to $2,069 and some odd cents. Her unemployment compensation payments totaled $1,980, almost as much as the actual wages she received for working. If you take the total payments which she received for being in the labor market, actually at work for nineteen weeks, she received $4,711.

Mr. President, unless we take some steps soon, the legitimate employees, those definitely entitled to receive unemployment compensation benefits, will find that there is no money left in the Fund with which to pay them.

I think this matter is so serious that, through this resolution, we are asking the Governor to appoint a special study committee to go into this whole problem.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have not had the opportunity, as Senator Kessler has had by dedicating himself to this area, to study these facts and figures. However, my information, which is fairly recent, is that Michigan has applied to the Administration Fund, but either has not received its allowance or has not decided yet whether it wants to take another crack at this Fund. The money is available in this Fund for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to borrow.

I would like to point out that under House Bill No. 43, even if we borrow the money, it does not mean that we are going to use this money. It is loaned on the basis that there is no interest paid on it and we can use it if we see fit to do so. If we do not see fit to do so, we can return it at no cost to the State whatsoever. I think all of us realize, as members serving on the board of directors of probably one of the largest corporations in this Country, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that this just makes good business sense to have a cushion in case you need it. If you never need it, then you are that far ahead.

I would like to add one addendum to the remarks made by Senator Kessler. I am sure that Senator Kessler is quite aware of the fact that this original Act was passed in 1936. In 1936, such things as fringe benefits were unheard of and it did not make much sense at that time to even speak about them. There is no question that probably some of these fringe benefits have now gotten into an area where we were trying to provide, as a State looking after the welfare of its people, for certain problems which came up, over which the workingman had no control and probably over which the employer had not control. It was concerted effort to try to find a common ground to take care of a problem which was nobody's fault. The purpose of this Act was to try to alleviate or relieve the situation which had occurred.

As long as we are living in an industrial State, we are always going to be beset by these problems, the same as we are beset by the problem of taxes. Regardless of which party is in power, we are going to have to face these problems and face them realistically. That is why I think that Senator Scott's resolution is well founded and well taken.

I certainly hope that Senator Kessler will present the information and other facts that he has to this committee. I know that Senator Kessler is fair-minded and is interested in solving this problem. If he gives his information to the committee, they will be able to come up with some rules or regulations which may solve this problem. At least, they may be able to extend some recommendations which would help guide us all. It is an issue which has become rather beclouded and which has become very complex in our society. I think all of us can use guidance as none of us are particular experts in this field.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I listened to the discourse made by Senator Kessler and, of course, there always is a possibility of abuses as far as unemployment compensation is concerned. However, I think we are operating here on two different and distinct premises. Number one, if the Federal Government has this money available, I believe we should bring the bill out of committee and pass it. It seems to me that unless we pass this legislation and do something about it, the employers of Pennsylvania are going to be assessed an additional rate which would penalize them.

In regard to the alleged abuses, I feel that Senator Kessler should endeavor to amend the Unemployment Compensation Act. Of course, if his arguments are justified, he will naturally receive the support of the Senate.

There may be isolated cases where abuses have taken place. I am quite sure there have been. However, on the whole, we must remember that the Unemployment Compensation Fund stabilized the economy of Pennsylvania during 1958. It stabilized the economy especially in western Pennsylvania.

In my experience here in the Senate and in the House, I have heard various business people more or less denounce the Fund. However, in the past six or eight years, most of them were very happy that we had an Unemployment Compensation Fund in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I say to the distinguished gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler, that if he has amendments which he feels are justified, he should present those amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Act.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not care to make any remarks, generally speaking, on the resolution. However, in case there is a misapprehension on the part of anyone in the room or anyone to whom these remarks might be communicated, there is no question, as far as we are concerned, on the passage of House Bill No. 43. It is on the Calendar and we are prepared to pass it tomorrow in a short Session.

As far as the resolution itself is concerned, it is simply intended to point out an area which we believe should be investigated and, as Senator Lane said, anything which should be corrected can be corrected.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would just like to clarify my position. I understood that Senator Kessler was going to endeavor to amend House Bill No. 43, which is now on the Calendar. I am very happy to know that the Majority Leader has made the statement that they are going to pass this bill. They have the votes over there.

I wish to repeat, and say that Senator Kessler should proceed in the orderly way by amending the present Unemployment Compensation Act.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, we are honored here today to have a delegation from Clinton County, which is the Clinton County Council of Republican Women. I would like for them to stand and take a bow.

The PRESIDENT. Will the ladies from Clinton County please stand?

We welcome all of you ladies to the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McCREESH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, before offering this resolution, I wish to state that it is certainly a pleasure to see so many green neckties in the Senate Chamber today, especially because of the fact, as we all know, it is St. Patrick's Day. However, I must confess that I was a little surprised when I saw our Senate Calendar printed in green. I did not think there were any Irishmen down in the printing room.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE IRISH, ON SAINT PATRICK'S DAY, FOR THEIR MANIFOLD CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE SETTLEMENT AND DEVELOPMENT OF THIS COMMONWEALTH

Messrs. McCREESH, FLEMING, WADE, WEINER and BERGER offered the following resolution, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 17, 1959.

Whenever the members of the Celtic race and their friends gather on this happy day of March 17th, it is a matter of historic record that their voices will be raised in song and their arms raised with a glass of spirits. For this day is one that is set apart for rejoicing by the descendants and friends of Ireland all over the world to pay honor and tribute to their patron saint, Saint Patrick.

Much of the greatness of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was made possible by the sons of Erin, who in the early days of our history helped pioneer our land and who took part in the conflicts and wars in which this State and America were engaged for the preservation of freedom.

In every county of the Commonwealth are to be found evidences of the brain and brawn and culture of those who trace their ancestry to the Emerald Isle; who helped to build our first railroads, mine our first coal, forge our first steel, drill our first oil wells, establish churches and institutions of learning and in other ways aided in the creation of Pennsylvania's proud reputation for its high place in the world's commerce, culture and industry; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania pause to congratulate the Irish, on this Saint Patrick's Day, for their manifold contributions to the settlement and development of this Commonwealth as no more fitting time could be selected for our tribute to the Sons of Erin.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have been here for twenty-two years and during the early years of my attendance in the Senate, I used to enjoy gems from the lips of Senator McGinnis. Recently, he has deprived us of his eloquence. I feel this is one occasion when he should deliver a speech. If he does not, I am not going to vote for this resolution.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there is no question that we all rejoice in this great day for the Irish. However, I want to account for my not wearing a green necktie today. I did put one in my pocket this morning with the idea that if Senator Weiner wore a green necktie, so could Senator Berger.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in order to limit the debate on this important resolution, I would like to add an addendum to the remarks already made. I think one way we can shut off debate, better than any cloture rule that we might adopt, is by calling on Senator McGinnis to sing one short chorus of "Galway Bay."

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, last night I was sitting in my room down at the Harrisburger Hotel, watching television. A program called "Name That Tune" came on. There were several contestants and the last contestant was a very beautiful woman. She was an airline hostess. The announcer said that today was going to be St. Patrick's Day and if she and her partner, a man, could name five tunes, he would give them a contribution of $10,000. They named the first four tunes and then the master of ceremonies said if they could name the last tune, they would receive their $10,000. He said that it was the most popular Irish song that was ever written. He said that it was written by an American only a few years ago. Well, they immediately guessed it. They answered that the tune was "Galway Bay," the most popular Irish song that was ever written.

I realize now how it happens that I have so many requests to sing this song. It is not because of my singing; it is because "Galway Bay" is the most popular Irish song that was ever written.

(Rendition of "Galway Bay" by Senator Bernard B. McGinnis.)

The PRESIDENT. After hearing Senator McGinnis' rendition, I cannot imagine there being anything less than a unanimous vote to adopt this resolution.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President and ladies and gentlemen, I can see now why this song is number one throughout the Country as far as the Irish are concerned. Through Barney's rendition of it and his ability, it has risen to number one.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 7, entitled:

An Act authorizing the recovery of damages from parents of children destroying property.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no" on this bill.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye" on this bill because I feel that while under the law at the present time parents are not responsible for the torts of their children, we have a situation today in juvenile delinquency which requires all kinds of measures.

We know that no one measure will cure juvenile delinquency in Philadelphia or anywhere else. This problem has engaged the thoughts of our Mayor, our Administration, our Police Force. There is no question that one of the causes of juvenile delinquency is the failure of parental control and parental discipline. Of course, that is not the only cause. If we make parents feel that they are responsible to the extent of $250.00 for any wanton or willful damage, committed by their children, I feel it is a step in the right direction.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am voting in favor of the bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, this very same bill was introduced last year and sponsored by me. It had a little rougher road to hoe. I do not know whether Senator Seyler has begun to like me all of a sudden or what it is, but all he does is say he will just vote "no" and does not say anything about it. I appreciate that.

Mr. President, I do want to go along with the remarks made by Senator Silvert. I believe if this bill does nothing else, it will have a psychological effect on children.

Edgar Hoover, the Chiefs of Police Association, the Fraternal Order of Police and many, many judges in the Commonwealth have written me supporting this type of legislation. Where this type of legislation has been enacted, in a great many of those counties and cities, you will find that juvenile delinquency has dropped as much as fifty per cent. It does not make good sense to me that if I own a dog, let us say, and he goes into my neighor's flower patch, my neighbor can sue me for property damage. Yet, if my child goes in and ruins that flower patch, the neighbor cannot make any recovery.

Another thing, from a psychological standpoint, is that I feel if a boy or girl knows that their parents are responsible to at least $250.00, they will think twice before they go into a church and break up a lot of statues or go into cemeteries and knock down a lot of tombstones.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—43

Barr,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Stiefel,

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "The Penal Code," prohibiting certain business activities on Sunday.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I have two important matters to bring before the Senate. The first was due to a little neglect of mine earlier in the afternoon when there were some lovely Republican ladies from Centre County here. I certainly want the Legislative Journal to show that they were present.

Another matter of considerable importance is that yesterday afternoon,—I am sorry that the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, is not here—when the verbal hassle was going on between the Senator from north of the Yellow Breeches Creek and the Senator from south of the Yellow Breeches Creek, I almost got involved. I almost found myself being a second class Senator; presumably due to the fact that I lived forty years in the shadow of a State University. However, because of the inherent fairness of the President pro tempore of the Senate, I was spared being put in the second class category.

I want to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate a recent editorial which appeared in the Bristol Daily Courier and The Levittown Times, the latter being described as "Delaware Valley's Great Home Newspaper." These are not small country newspapers; these are big newspapers. This editorial is in two parts. One part is commendatory of Superintendent Boehm and the other part rather condemns the Senator from Cumberland County. This, I think, perhaps contradicts the Biblical adage of a prophet without honor in his own country. I am going to read into the Legislative Journal the words of commendation for Superintendent Boehm and will omit the condemnation of Senator Wade.

This obviously comes from Bucks County, where Superintendent Boehm has lived most of his professional life. The following apparently is what the editor of these two newspapers has to say about Superintendent Boehm:

> "Pennsylvania has always had an ignoble reputation for being the most insidiously political state in the Union.
> "Nothing ever happens in Harrisburg that isn't measured primarily for its political advantage, political expediency, political profit.
> "This is why the Commonwealth is confronted with record-breaking debt and budget, why Governor Lawrence had to ask a group of business, industrial and labor people to help bail him out of the current fiscal mess.

"This is why, up until a year or so ago, the state welfare program and its welfare institutions were considered a half century behind the times.

"This is why, up until three years ago, the state's educational system was one of the most backward in the nation.

"We are not sure that an investigation of the spending policies of the Public Instruction Department will make much difference.

"Perhaps in order that the record be cleared such an investigation would be wise.

"Both public and educators of Pennsylvania have long since recognized Dr. Boehm's distinguished contribution to the state's educational processes since taking over the department early in the Leader administration.

"No one knowing about Public Instruction Department policies, needed office and conference room improvement, and amazing progress of the past three years toward bringing the state's educational system in cadence with the urgent requirements of the times could seriously question Dr. Boehm's judgment, his integrity, his complete dedication to the greatest job to be done in the state today—even better education than we've got.

"If it is true that policies is the art of government, it is exceedingly clear that in Pennsylvania government is merely a by-product of politics. This, we think, is tragic."

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Humbly, O, God, we bow in Thy presence as we are cognizant of Thy Holy Spirit within our midst. We are aware of the help which Thou hast given to Thine own in days gone by. And we likewise pray that as we stand in the heritage of the past, the courage and stamina which characterized those statesmen of old may be our possession too. Ever keep us mindful that in this hour of decision, we never need to stand alone; for, Thou art ever near to counsel and lead. And challenge us to look beyond the pitfalls of our own lives to the great future which Thou wouldst have us plan and carry to its ultimate conclusion, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. STIMMEL and PRENDERGAST.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 42.

In the House of Representatives, March 16, 1959.

The Journal of Commerce, dated March 5, 1959, reports that recent figures, released by Mr. Ned J. Parsekian, acting director of motor vehicles of the State of New Jersey, show a total of 1,728 non-resident drivers (of which 608 were Pennsylvania drivers) and 831 State drivers have been caught speeding in New Jersey so far this year.

Unfortunately, Mr. Parsekian did not also release the total ratio of non-resident drivers to New Jersey resident drivers, but the ratio of out-of-state drivers caught speeding in New Jersey, as compared to New Jersey resident drivers, is more than 2 to 1. This ratio is alarmingly disproportionate in view of ordinary experience that generally there are not twice as many non-resident drivers as compared to resident drivers on New Jersey roads, or, that if there are an equal number, twice as many non-resident drivers violate the speeding laws of New Jersey as do resident drivers.

Substantive complaints and evidence of the methods of arrest and inconvenience of hearings, indicate the possibility of an "out-of-state drivers" speed trap; therefore be it

Resolved (The Senate concurring), That a committee, composed of two members of the House of Representatives be appointed by the Speaker, and two members from the Senate be appointed by the President Pro Tempore, to investigate the complaint that unfair and discriminatory justice is being meted out to motorists of this Commonwealth and reviewing our reciprocal agreement with New Jersey providing for revocation and suspension of drivers' licenses; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. J. A. O'DONNELL, Mrs. REIDMAN, Messrs. VERONA and PRENDERGAST.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, March 16, 1959.

Harry Paul Kitchen, a former member of this House of Representatives, died on March 11, 1959 at the age of 65 in the Easton hospital.

A native of Easton, he was a professional entertainer on the team of the well known Jimmie Applegate for many years.

Mr. Kitchen, a Republican was elected as the representatives from Northampton County's Second district in 1940, serving in the 1941-42 session.

Later Mr. Kitchen was appointed court crier by the late Judge William A. Frack and upon the death of Judge Frack, was retained as court tipstaff by Judge Clinton B. Palmer.

Harry Paul Kitchen is survived by his wife Elizabeth F. Kitchen and a son, William; therefore be it Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to his wife, Elizabeth F. Kitchen, 131 Spring Garden Street, Easton, Pennsylvania, in remembrance of his public service and as a token of sympathy from the members of the House of Representatives.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

INTERROGATION

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I would like the privilege of interrogating the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what his name is?

Mr. McCANN. My name is Stephen McCann.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What is your father's name?

Mr. McCANN. Michael McCann.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What is your nationality?

Mr. McCANN. Why do you ask me?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, I want to know.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will make correct and honest answers to the inquiry.

Mr. McCANN. I am part Irish. Why?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, that is what I thought. I did not see a green tie on the gentleman this morning, so I have brought a tie for him. From a full-blooded Swede to a half-breed Irishman, I present to you this tie.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the gentleman from McKean for the lovely tie.

I am sorry that when I left home this week with my usual luggage I did not bring any green tie. I have not bought a bow tie in many years. I have a sufficient number of nieces and nephews so that when I get socks, I get a dozen; if I get bow ties, I get a dozen; if I get hankies, I get a dozen. But I would like to say that the ladies were kind enough to see that I got a shamrock early this morning.

I thank you very kindly, Mr. Johnson.

JUDGE CHAUNCEY M. DEPUY WELCOMED

MAJORITY LEADER ADDRESSES HOUSE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we have a situation that we have been working on for quite a few days. I believe by now it has probably spread all over the House as to proposed schedule that we face for the balance of the week.

As you recall, the notice was sent two weeks ago which stated there would be three working days this week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and the normal time of each of those Sessions.

I would like at this time to ask the indulgence of the House to inform you that we are changing some of the times and the schedule for this week.

Tomorrow, Wednesday, the Session which had been scheduled for 10:00 a.m., will be changed to 12:00 noon so that all of the Members will get an opportunity to get a few hours more sleep, since we will be in Session at 12:01 Wednesday night, or rather Thursday morning. That means that tomorrow, Wednesday, both during the day and at 12:01 midnight this House will be in Session.

One order of business will be taken under consideration at the 12:01 Session, and we will request a special order of business at that time and pass over all other items at the Thursday, 12:01 Session.

I hope because of this information all those who have made any plans, including myself, will make the necessary arrangements with their hotels and with their people back home. You realize that at this stage in the Legislative Session it is necessary at times to change the plans to try to find a given time and date to drive for a given vote on a particular bill.

So I ask all of our Members on the Democratic side of the House, and from each of the delegations from each of the counties, including those who are now home ill, will send telegrams and telephone calls for each of them to report to the House on Wednesday, tomorrow morning, for the 12:00 o'clock Session as well as the midnight Session.

Before we go any further with the calendar, I would like to have that great gentleman representing St. Patrick's Day participate in a program that we had actually discussed momentarily and have not had an opportunity to inform the Chair about.

I wonder if the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, is ready.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield for a moment, please?

For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, rise?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. For the purpose of interrogating the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. GOLSTEIN. So that we can get enlightenment, what is the special order of business at 12:01 on Thursday?

Mr. McCANN. A bill known as House Bill 665 when it comes out of the Committee this afternoon, sir.

Mr. GOLSTEIN. That is the only bill to be considered?

Mr. McCANN. We will ask for a special order of business when the bill is before us on the calendar. There are two bills, sir, one is on the calendar No. 666.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will Senate Bill 309 be considered?

Mr. McCANN. Since you mention it, I had not thought of considering it at that time. If you are doubtful of the situation it will not be included.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, is there any reason why House Bill 665 cannot be printed this afternoon, and be considered on second reading today and on third reading tomorrow?

Mr. McCANN. There is a reason.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does the gentleman care to state what that is?

Mr. McCANN. At the present time I would like to say to you that every moment of time, every minute of time, is extremely important dealing with the length of time involved before the final vote.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 27

Mrs. VARALLO. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 27 on page 12 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1959.

General Casimir Pulaski the Polish-American hero of the Revolutionary War gave his life that we in America might today be free.

So great was his desire of passing the rest of his life in a country truly free that he offered his services to the American cause for no other compensation than freedom and when he accepted his yearly pay he used the funds to equip his own soldiers.

General Casimir Pulaski "Father of American Cavalry" highly distinguished himself as a volunteer in the American Light-Horse during and immediately subsequent to the Battle of Brandywine on September 11, 1777.

The route of the retreat of the Continental Army from the Battle of the Brandywine closely parallels the general route occupied by the Conchester Road and the proposed Chester Expressway in the County of Delaware.

The proposed terminus of the Chester Expressway is located near Leiperville where Washington's Continental Army assembled after its retreat from the Battle of the Brandywine during the evening of September 11-September 12, 1777.

Naming of the Conchester Road Chester Expressway in honor of the great Polish-American patriot General Casimir Pulaski would serve as an inspiration for generations to come because of the fierce love of liberty which motivated this great Polish-American martyr therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania request the Governor of Pennsylvania to name the Conchester Road Chester Expressway (when constructed) as the "Pulaski Expressway."

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 77, entitled:

An Act amending "The Penal Code" approved June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), prohibiting the sale of chicks rabbits ducklings and other fowl under two months of age in any quantity less than six and prohibiting the sale certain colored or dyed chicks rabbits ducklings and other fowl and providing penalties.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 141, entitled:

An Act imposing liability upon parents for the wilful or malicious acts of children over seven and under eighteen years of age setting limitations and providing procedure for recovery.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker this is a bill for the imposing of financial responsibility upon the parents for the wilful and malicious conduct of their children.

Most parents today recognize a sense of responsibility for the conduct of their children and on that great majority of parents this bill will have no effect, nor will it impose any greater responsibility than we already have for our children. It will not impose any responsibility upon a parent for any tortious or negligent act or conduct of their children, but merely for the wilful and malicious damage that the children do.

The bill is a twofold bill; it will, we hope, deter some juvenile delinquency by bringing home to the family, and to the home of the delinquent, the realization of the damage that has been done, and too, it will recompense the injured parties for some damage done to them.

There are financial limits in this bill, a maximum of $300 for each person or property damaged and a maximum amount of $1,000 for each accident. The Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs, which is a non-partisan organization throughout the state, has urged us to pass this legislation. I sincerely urge the Members to consider this bill and vote in favor of the bill.

Mr. YATRON. Mr. Speaker, I as one of the sponsors of this bill would just like to point out that the intent of the bill is not to try to penalize the parents, but to serve as a protective measure, and to make the parents a bit more aware of their responsibilities for their children.

This law has been enacted into law in other states and has proven to be a successful deterrent to crime. Some of the states are Michigan, Florida, Connecticut, Georgia and even in the State of Delaware in the past session they passed a bill of this nature. So, I am appealing to both sides to vote in favor of this needed legislation.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is an attorney, is he not?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Yes, I am.

Mr. FINEMAN. Does the gentleman have a copy of this bill before him?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. No, I have not. I have read the bill but I do not have the copy before me.

Mr. FINEMAN. May I ask that he be good enough to get a copy of the bill before him.

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, will you give me the Printer's number.

Mr. FINEMAN. 123.

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Thank you. I now have the bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. I refer you to page 3 of the bill, lines 4 to 6. "The court shall have the power to take testimony to assist it in making proper distribution and may appoint a master to accomplish this purpose." Now, is it not a fact that that statement pre-supposes that the court need not necessarily take testimony to make proper distribution?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. You may attach that interpretation to the bill, yes.

Mr. FINEMAN. If it is true that a court need not take testimony, then it is also true that a person who has been injured or a person whose property has been damaged need not necessarily appear and testify.

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. I certainly cannot imagine an instance where a common pleas court in this Commonwealth would grant any damages or any award to any person based on nothing but extra-judicial or out-of-court statements. I certainly imagine that the judge of the court of competent jurisdiction would certainly require some testimony to determine the amount of damage.

Mr. FINEMAN. Well then, I refer you to lines 1 to 4 of the bill. It says, "The court shall cause all aggrieved parties to submit itemized statements of loss in writing and shall make distribution proportionately whether the claims be for injuries to the person or theft, destruction or loss of property." Isn't that statement a confirmation of the fact that there need not be testimony?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Yes, it would seem as though they are willing to take an itemized statement in lieu of testimony.

Mr. FINEMAN. Is it not a fact that every person is entitled to a trial by jury, and a right to cross examine the people who are presenting evidence against them?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. We are faced here, not with the normal procedures of the court, but we are faced with the circumstances of juvenile court which is not a court of record and wherein there is no testimony taken, but the mere appearance of the child and his parents, if they so desire.

Mr. FINEMAN. May I ask the gentleman where in this bill it refers to a juvenile court?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. It does not appear in the bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. Well then, the last statement was in error, was it not?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. No, my last statement was not in error. All children under the age of 16 are mandatorially taken into juvenile court under the laws of the Commonwealth, but this is a suit against the parents, * * *.

Mr. FINEMAN. It is a civil proceeding against the parents.

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. So, therefore, if there is a suit against the parents in a court of competent jurisdiction that parent does not have the right to cross examine, he does not have the right to a trial by jury.

Mr. FINEMAN. Is that not so under the provisions of this bill?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. I am not certain whether I would care to answer yes or no. The gentleman may take that interpretation.

Mr. FINEMAN. But that possibility then does exist, does it not, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. That possibility, I am afraid, could not exist under our Constitution, and that is why I say that is an interpretation reading this act by itself and not reading the other laws of the Commonwealth.

Mr. FINEMAN. Is the gentleman saying, in effect then, that this bill is unconstitutional?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. No, I am not. This bill is constitutional and when read into the laws of the Commonwealth, which as you know, the courts always read, one act in reference to all other acts, it is constitutional. And, of course, under other acts the parents do have recourse to the courts and to a trial by jury.

Mr. FINEMAN. Well then, I ask once again, if the defendant in this type of action would have the right to cross examine and the right to a trial by jury, why does this bill incorporate such language as appears in lines 1 to 6 on page 3?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. I would like the Speaker to remind the gentleman that I am not the author of this bill. I merely spoke in behalf of the principle that this bill establishes.

Mr. FINEMAN. I refer you to line 2 on page 3. It says "The court shall cause all aggrieved parties to submit itemized statements of loss in writing." Now you may not know the answer to this question since, as you state, you are not the author, but can you tell me what is meant by "statement of loss"? Are we concerned here with out-of-pocket expenses, or are we concerned with pain and suffering as well?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Statements of loss, of course, I am afraid must mean all loss or all damage to an injured party, so that would mean pain and suffering as well.

Mr. FINEMAN. The gentleman could attach that to it, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Yes.

Mr. FINEMAN. Now if that be so, since this bill does not limit the common law liability of parents for damages, how can we possibly determine that there will not be any double recovery in a suit brought—a, under this bill and, b, under a common law action, since a common law action will not define what portion of the verdict is for out-of-pocket expenses and what portion of it is for pain and suffering?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. I am afraid that I do not understand the gentleman when he mentions common law. Of course, under our laws at the present time the negligent conduct of children cannot be attributed to the parents, unless they serve as agents for the children.

Mr. FINEMAN. Is it not a fact that under our law today, if a parent knows a child has a propensity for doing wilful and malicious damage to the property or person of another that that parent can be sued for the damage?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. I would certainly like to read a recent case in Pennsylvania that would recite that doctrine. I know that we have the vicious animal doctrine, but certainly we cannot bring children within the vicious animal doctrine.

Mr. FINEMAN. Well, I would inform the gentleman that is the status of our law today. But, passing that question for a moment, I refer the gentleman to lines 9 to 12 on page 3 of the bill. It says "this section shall be applicable when two or more children of the same parent engage jointly in the commission of one wilful or malicious act or series of wilful or malicious acts." Now, what provision, if any does this bill make for pro-rating between parents of children who jointly commit a tortious act, the damages or liability?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Only at the discretion of the court.

Mr. FINEMAN. Where does the bill say that?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. well, that would be read into the bill, of course, by allowing the court to grant damages in the first instance, it would allow the court to designate who should pay the damages.

Mr. FINEMAN. In other words you say that there are provisions that are not set forth in print that would have to be read into the bill. Is that correct?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. I think every law in the Commonwealth has that by the time the Supreme Court gets hold of it.

Mr. FINEMAN. Is it not a fact that we have a joint tort feasor's liability statute on our books, under the terms of which if two or more persons commit a tort jointly that either one or both of them may be held liable for that act?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. For the entire amount, that is correct?

Mr. FINEMAN. That means that under the provisions of this bill, if two children commit a tort jointly, if they commit an act that is subject to the provisions of this act jointly, and the parent of one of those children is a person of no means and the parent of the other child is a person of means, the second parent can be held responsible not only for his own child's conduct, but also for the child of the other parent.

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. That is correct. However, we must realize that we are leaving this within the discretion of the judge of the court of common pleas, or as it says, the court of competent jurisdiction. We are leaving that decision up to him. We cannot decide every instance here and imagine every instance here on the floor in any one of these bills, or we would be bogged down eternally.

Mr. FINEMAN. Just one or two more questions. I refer the gentleman to lines 16 to 19 on page 3 where it says, "No liability shall be imposed upon a parent by this act if at the time of commission of the wilful or malicious act neither parent has custody of the child nor is entitled to custody of the child or if the child is institutionalized or emancipated." Now, what provision, if any, does this bill make if only one parent has custody of the child?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. I find no section in the bill to obligate the payment by one parent if the other is—in the act itself where it says liability of parents and so forth, that would mean both parents and then there being an exclusion of either parent, not having custody of the child, that would necessarily exclude only that one and still have the remaining parent responsible.

Mr. FINEMAN. There is no provision in this bill for the conclusion that the gentleman drew there, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Yes, I think there is.

Mr. FINEMAN. Will the gentleman point is out to me?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. On page 2, line 3, Section 2, "The parents or any parent whose child over the age of seevn and under the age of eighteen" and then it goes on to recite the act.

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, but that does not talk about custody of the child though. In other words, on the section the gentleman has just recited it eliminates "the parent or both parents, as the case may be, the parent that does not have custody.

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. It still, of course, remains under line 2 as I recited.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I realize that we have two very charming ladies sponsoring this bill among others, and were it not for the fact that this bill is so unsound and basically wrong I certainly would not get up to oppose any legislation that these two charming ladies would sponsor. But I am constrained to take the position I take today because this bill is so terribly onerous.

This bill would seem to hold responsible for the wilful or malicious act of a child the parent of that child without regard to whether or not the parent in any way contributed to the act of the child or made that act possible by his neglect of the child.

Admittedly it is the purpose of this bill to curb juvenile delinquency; and I realize that in this present day of ours there is much to be read in the newspapers about the subject of juvenile delinquency, but I do not think that we should be panicked into writing into law legislation that is as inherently bad as this bill is, simply because we have this problem on our hands.

I want to point out with a very graphic illustration exactly the fault I find with this bill. I am sure that every Member of this House read with great interest and concern at a recent date, of the case of David Campanella, the son of Roy Campanella, the one time great catching star of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and now with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Everyone knows that Roy Campanella has taken an abiding interest in the welfare of his children.

As a matter of fact, the person to person television program some two months ago visited the home of Roy Campanella, and the very obvious pride that Roy had in his children and in their welfare was the first thing that impressed anyone who saw the program.

Here was a situation where a man endeavored to discipline his child where the child was free of want, physical things, material things, where there was an abiding interest in the things that the child does, where there was love and devotion, where there was counsel and discipline, where there was a consciousness of social responsibility. Here were all of these things, and yet this fifteen year old boy took it upon himself to burglarize a store.

Admittedly the purpose of this bill is to curb juvenile delinquency. How does it help the problem of juvenile delinquency to assess Mr. Campanella with any damage that might have been committed by his son? If Mr. Campanella had neglected his children, if he had contributed to their delinquency, if he had condoned and taken part in what the child had done, then I would say certainly he should be responsible. As a matter of fact I would be for any bill that would come before us which would seek to hold the parents of a child responsible who in some measure contributed to the delinquency or the act of truancy that is committed by that child. But certainly the purpose of this bill is not being served by including a provision that takes into its scope all parents merely by virtue of the fact that they gave birth to a child without also giving consideration to whether or not that parent is in truth responsible.

Now if lineage, if blood, is going to be the acid test as to whether or not we can attach liability to some one, why do we pass a law now saying that no matter what the child does, be it tortious, wilful, negligence, whatever the situation, the parents have to answer for that thing.

Now basically the theory of the bill is bad. But aside from the theory of the bill being bad, the bill is chaotic in its procedural aspects, as was brought out in my interrogation of Mr. Murphy. The bill is far from a sound bill, and I ask the Members of this House to vote it down.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak very briefly in favor of this bill. My colleague, Mr. Fineman, has made a very splendid argument against its passage.

He has told you the story of the poor parent, the parent who has been hurt when his child committed wrong. I would like to take the other side of the fence. I would like to talk about the person who is hurt, the person who has suffered injuries or loss of property because of the action of this child. Is it fair that a person who has been injured by a child should be told there is no remedy? I think that is your problem here.

This bill holds the amount of recovery down. There is a total amount contained in the bill, but what it strikes at is something that many a judge has said publicly, and that is that there is no juvenile delinquency, it is usually parental delinquency. For every Campanella we have 50 that do not fit into his category.

I refer my good friend, Mr. Fineman, to his own District Attorney, Mr. Blank, if he wants cases, because I have seen many times in newspapers the public officials asking that something be done. I think this is a question today as to whether the parents should reimburse the person who is injured by the action the parents' child.

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, I think few people in the House will deny the need for such legislation as we have before us at the present time, because those who have been offended against have long enough had to assume the financial responsibility of paying for the wilful and malicious acts committed by those with whom the bill deals.

We feel we have drafted a bill that is not meant primarily to curb juvenile delinquency, not meant to be a parental punishment bill, but a bill meant to establish parental responsibility. I would say to Mr. Fineman that without regard to sponsorship, with or without charm, we are asking the Members of the House to support this needed bit of legislation today.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, argued my position even more eloquently than I argued it.

He spoke about judges of our municipal courts saying there is no juvenile delinquency, there is only parental delinquency. Well, I agree with him; where there is parental delinquency we should hold those people responsible. But I take issue with trying to hold responsible people who are innocent of any delinquency.

I want to bring out another illustration of what can happen under this bill. This bill says that any court of competent jurisdiction can handle cases under the provisions of this bill. That means that in Philadelphia county a magistrate can hear this case. That means in other counties where J. P.'s preside, they can hear this case. Now can you imagine the turmoil and confusion that is going to be brought about as a result of this bill?

Two eight-year old children become involved in a brawl. One slugs the other. The kid comes home crying and says, "Daddy, that Johnny up the street hit me in the eye." His father immediately takes the child before a magistrate. That is all that is involved. He has merely to go to a magistrate. There is no inconvenience involved in gaining the services of a lawyer. There is no formality about the procedure. He merely goes to a magistrate and a suit is started. This is the type of action you are going to have from this type of bill.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will one of the sponsors of the bill permit himself to be interrogated? Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Yatron, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. YATRON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman to say they had a similar law in the states of Florida, Michigan and some other states?

Mr. YATRON. The information I have on my desk points out that there is a law of this kind in Florida, Connecticut, Michigan, Delaware—a number of states.

Mr. LAMB. Has the gentleman read the statutes from those states?

Mr. YATRON. Pardon?

Mr. LAMB. Has the gentleman read the statutes from those states?

Mr. YATRON. No, I have not. I have one here from Delaware which states "wilful and malicious acts."

Mr. LAMB. Under this act who is to determine when a child between the ages of seven and eighteen commits a wilful or malicious act?

Mr. YATRON. I assume that the judge would be the one who would judge that.

Mr. LAMB. The judge who is hearing this damage matter?

Mr. YATRON. Yes.

Mr. LAMB. As I read this act, the jurisdiction is limited to determining the amount of damages, $300 or $1000.

Mr. YATRON. Is the gentleman talking about the amount?

Mr. LAMB. No, I am trying to determine who is to decide that any juvenile has committed a wilful and malicious act. Is that a separate action? Are there two actions, first, one to determine if a juvenile has committed a wilful and malicious act, and then the second action to determine the amount of damages?

Mr. YATRON. I guess, if you have proven that you have committed a wilful and malicious act, then you would be held responsible. The parent would be held responsible for the amount of $300 for one particular act and up to $1000 for a series of acts.

Mr. LAMB. Thank you, sir.

Mr. Speaker, my objection is this. As I read this bill, it may not be determined, or it does not say who is to determine that a wilful and malicious act has been committed. I think Mr. Fineman has very well put over what may happen as a result of this thing when they come before various magistrates and justices of the peace and et cetera. I would agree with him and would ask the House to defeat this bill.

Mr. GAILEY. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GAILEY. I would ask the gentleman to refer to page 3 of the bill, if he will, please. Specifically, lines 16 to 19. Will the gentleman explain what that sentence means?

Let me read it for the benefit of the Members of the House; it says

> "No liability shall be imposed upon a parent by this act if at the time of commission of the wilful or malicious act neither parent has custody of the child nor is entitled to custody of the child or if the child is institutionalized or emancipated."

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from York what part of that confuses him?

Mr. GAILEY. I will then break it down into separate questions, Mr. Speaker.

Will the gentleman advise me if one parent has custody, are both parents liable under this bill? Or does this language mean that if one parent has custody, only the parent who has custody is liable?

Mr. BELL. I will read the act, leaving portions of it out.

> "No liability shall be imposed upon a parent . . ." "neither parent had custody."

Mr. GAILEY. All right, Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me, does that mean that the parent who does not have custody is not liable?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I would say that would be up to a trial court whether it be a municipal court or a court of common pleas. In other words, the concept of this act is that liability would be imposed if a parent has custody.

Mr. GAILEY. Conceivably then, Mr. Speaker, liability might be imposed upon a parent who does not have custody under this act? Is that correct?

Mr. BELL. I would say so, and rightfully so.

Mr. GAILEY. I just want to speak very briefly on that particular point, if I may, Mr. Speaker.

It seems to me that this goes even one step further. It takes us one step further away from our general concept here in Pennsylvania that there shall be no liability without fault.

The gentleman from Delaware, one of the sponsors of the bill, has indicated that in some cases, even if the parents do not have custody, care or control of the child, the parents conceivably might be held responsible.

The whole basis of the bill is that the parents exercise restraint over their children. That is what this bill is intended to do. And yet here we have a liability constantly imposed upon some parents even though the parent has no care, custody or control over the child.

I think the debate—at least for those who are opposed to the bill—has continued long enough, and I hope that all the Members of the House will join with those of us who oppose it and vote this bill down.

Mr. FLOYD. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks County, Mr. Yatron.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Berks County, Mr. Yatron, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. YATRON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FLOYD. Mr. Speaker, since this a shall bill that would make all parents liable for any malicious act of their children over seven years of age and under eighteen years of age, I would like to know what will happen where there is a large family of six or eight kids and the parents were found guilty of a malicious act under this bill but they are not financially able to pay a $300 or a $1,000 fine.

Mr. YATRON. What do they do now when they are caught in a similar circumstance of another nature? What happens now if they do something that is wrong and they cannot afford it?

Mr. FLOYD. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the gentleman the questions in reference to the bill. He seems to be asking me.

Mr. YATRON. I guess they go to jail. I don't know, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FLOYD. What I am trying to find out, would they be in contempt of court or would they be jailed?

Mr. YATRON. I don't know. I can't answer that.

Mr. FLOYD. If that would happen, this bill would not be an asset to the Commonwealth because the Commonwealth would then have to take care of those eight kids.

Mr. YATRON. Would the gentleman mind repeating that question? I am sorry.

Mr. FLOYD. I say if this is true, then this bill would not be an asset to the Commonwealth because the Commonwealth would have to take care of these eight kids while the parents are in jail.

Mr. YATRON. Maybe the judge will give them the right to make restitution.

Mr. FLOYD. Could not a landlrod falsely accuse a tenant of maliciously destroying his property? Let us say, for instance you moved into an apartment and the tenant that was living in the unit before you moved into it had damaged the walls or some part of the interior. Now the landlord may or may not know that the tenant that moved out before you moved into the apartment caused the damage, so he filed a suit against you saying that you maliciously destroyed his property, so it is your word against the landlord's word. Now the Judge or the jury must decide who is telling the truth, and in many cases I believe the landlord will probably have more influence in the courts than the helpless tenant, so he convinces the judge and jury that the tenant is guilty of a malicious act. Would not you have to pay a $300 up to $1,000 fine in this case, if this should happen?

Mr. YATRON. Is the gentleman saying that our judges are not fair?

Mr. FLOYD. I did not say that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. YATRON. The gentleman said that the landlord would, the way he put it, I guess would have more power or more cause—

Mr. FLOYD. Mr. Speaker, I say it is a possibility that the landlord may have more influence in the courts than the helpless tenants would have, and if that is the case although he was not living in the apartment at that time there was a fine of $300 or a $1,000 fine.

Mr. YATRON. Well the landlord would have to prove that the tenant committed the act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Would the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Yatron, yield to the Majority Floor Leader?

Mr. YATRON. I will.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, please.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Fineman, I believe we were impressed by your scholarly analysis of this bill and in pointing out some of what might be defects in it. I was just wondering, if the sponsors of this bill would be willing to have this bill placed on the final passage postponed calendar, whether they would be willing to sit with a subcommittee to write a bill that would be workable and would help solve this problem.

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, that is perfectly agreeable to me.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the principal sponsor of the bill, Mrs. Henzel?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel, consent to be interrogated?

Mrs. HENZEL. I assume, Mr. Speaker, that the Minority Leader's question refers to the matter of putting this on the third reading postponed calendar?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Final passage postponed calendar?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, final passage postponed calendar, with a view of having a subcommittee of those learned in this type of legislation give us a constitutional bill.

I say this because after the last Session when a lot of us went home, the Session was over, they said what have you done about this juvenile delinquency problem and giving some reimbursement to unfortunate people who have had damage caused. Of course the bill was swamped between the House and the Senate. I think there is a feeling that something ought to be done in this particular matter, but we would not want to go out of here with a bill which is patently unconstitutional and full of possible loopholes. Therefore, would you consent to having it placed on the final passage postponed calendar?

Mrs. HENZEL. I would do so, Mr. Speaker, with a great deal of hesitancy for this reason. In listening to the arguments that have been presented this afternoon there seems to be a difference of philosophy which is opposing this bill in relation to the various members who have spoken. Rather than any meeting of minds that could be brought about in the formation of a better bill, it would seem to me we have reached an impasse if we are trying to formulate a bill which would deal only with parents who are responsible through negligence for the fact that these wilful or malicionus acts have been committed by their children.

I think that the feeling on the part of the sponsors, as I understand it, is that our aim was to place parental responsibility—and I might go as far as to say that by virtue of the fact that you are a parent, therefore when your children committed a wilful or malicious act, someone should be responsible for paying the bill to the people who had been offended against. That is why I said in my former remarks that I long felt that these people who have been offended against be called upon to pay their own bills, and that parents are the ones therefore, by virtue of this legislation, who should assume that responsibility. So personally, I would hesitate to see the bill wait any longer. I would rather see it stand or fall on its own merits according to the philosophy that is mine in helping to co-sponsor the bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, because of the thought that has been expressed by the Minority Leader, I would like to bring this to the sponsors' attention. Actually the people who debated the bill in opposition to it did not specify that a certain type of legislation is needed. I think we will all agree that is a serious problem that we would like to correct.

The offer has been made by Mr. Johnson that we return this bill to committee, appoint a subcommittee and then bring the bill back on the calendar where we can amend it, which will bring about a situation that will be helpful in doing some of the things that we are trying to do to help solve this problem.

I favor that procedure very much. I would like to say to you that as the bill is now written—and I favor this type of legislation—I personally will vote against it, as will many of us in the Hall of the House today who favor in principle such legislation.

Therefore I think an offer has been made which would guarantee that we would partially try to solve this solution and I believe you would be making a mistake today if you do not accept it.

Mrs. HENZEL. I have never been clobbered quite so politely before. However, because of the fact that I feel so sincerely and deeply that the time has come when we must have some kind of legislation of this sort on the books, I would not stand opposed to the offer that has been made, hoping that the assurance goes with it that before the end of a very few more weeks we will have gotten a piece of legislation to the Senate that they will be able to put on the Governor's desk to be signed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the moton?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I am among those who favor such legislation as this bill. I am also among those who have listened to the debate, saw it chewed apart and was therefore going to be forced to vote against it.

I wish to make this observation: the loss of time here today, due to the faulty manner in which the bill was drawn, as a Member of the House I resent it.

Mr. Speaker, I mean to say that the sponsors of this bill undoubtedly went to those who drew the bill, presented their problems, told what they wanted, and were presented with a mess of chalk.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there are two or three items that we need to do.

One statement I would like to make deals with the photographer who was here today and took the photograph of the membership of this House. Because of the fact that no official notice was given to many of our Members as to the date and the exact time the photographer was to be here, there were Members of this House who were not present in their seats when the photograph was taken. They were in various committees, in official meetings on business of this House, and as the record will indicate they were here and voted prior and after that period on this calendar day in this House.

I realize that to many this may be extremely important for the photograph would not carry their pictures. I think arrangements are being made to try to solve this regarding those Members who may have been absent who are in the same seats they were in in prior legislative sessions. I want the record to clearly indicate that these ladies and gentlemen were here, these ladies and gentlemen who were not a part of this photograph, were on official business of this House.

Mr. Speaker, I was not on the floor of the House when one particular bill on second reading was called up. It is the first bill, House Bill No. 91, Printer's No. 126, which was called up by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

It was agreed by the sponsors that this bill would be held over. I wonder if we could remove from the record that House Bill No. 91, Printer's No. 126 was agreed to and moved to third reading.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has been informed by the sponsor of the bill that that procedure is acceptable.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 91

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 91, Printer's No. 126 was agreed to on second reading and the title and the various sections were agreed to, be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we have been here for a good many hours today, and rightfully so in dealing with these various problems of prime importance to the Commonwealth.

I would like to say I realize that many people in this House are not too well pleased with the fact that we will have to meet on Wednesday at 12:01. Many of us must change our plans that we had scheduled in prior weeks for this given date. But as stated earlier in the day, I hope each of us will make the necessary arrangements for Wednesday session as agreed to at 12 o'clock, and the session at 12:01 on Thursday morning.

I hope we will have an opportunity on a special order of business to expedite matters, and assure the members that possibly in a matter of two hours or two and a half hours, between 12:00 midnight and no later than 2:30 in the morning, we will finish and leave the Hall of the House.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

House Bill No. 572, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 20, 1953 (P. L. 1212), entitled "An act providing for the study of the problems of alcoholism; * * *" making clinical and hospital facilities available to both sexes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 76

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 76, entitled:

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KESSLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the bill which I am about to introduce is one that I discussed yesterday and has to do with the plugging of the so-called loopholes in the Unemployment Compensation Law. I am sorry that we do not have many more sponsors to this bill than we have.

Mr. President, I would just like to point out one thing which I neglected to do yesterday, and that is that the Governor and all of us are very much interested in trying to develop a favorable climate for business and industry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In order to show you what is happening, I obtained some figures from a corporation which operates in Pennsylvania and also operates in a number of other States. I obtained these figures just to show the difference in their unemployment compensation contributions.

In Pennsylvania, as you know, this year all employers are going up to a 2.7 per cent contribution rate. Last year, for this employer, the contribution rate was 2.4 per cent. Just look at the difference between Pennsylvania and the contribution rate in other States: Ohio, one-tenth of one per cent; Indiana, one-half of one per cent; New Jersey, three-tenths of one per cent; Illinois, sixty-two hundredths of one per cent; New York, 1.4 per cent; Maryland, 1.2 per cent; West Virginia, 1.5 per cent.

It seems to me it is significant that if these surrounding States, which are industrial States, too, are able to keep their Unemployment Compensation Funds in line, Pennsylvania also has to take steps to do it.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. KESSLER and BERGER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 492, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 5, 1936 (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "Unemployment Compensation Law," further regulating eligibility, qualifications, payments, rate and amount of compensation and further regulating appeals.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Messrs. HAYS and KALMAN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 493, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," requiring State employes to be registered voters.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. BERGER offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 18, 1959.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Tuesday, March 31, 1959, at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., E. S. HOUSE MESSAGE
HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

In the Senate, March 18, 1959.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Tuesday, March 31, 1959, at three o'clock P. M., E.S.T., unless sooner recalled by the President pro tempore; and when the House of Representatives adjours this week, it reconvene Tuesday, March 31, 1959 at four-thirty o'clock P. M., E. S. T., unless sooner recalled by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

House Bill No. 43, Printer's No. 6; and Senate Bill No. 76, Printer's No. 76.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I thought that before we adjourned, I should make some remarks in regard to the Senator Pechan-Senator Kopriver Resolution on Investigating the Department of Public Welfare.

The thought came to my mind today that we in the Senate Appropriations Committee, who are holding these hearings, are acquiring a considerable amount of information pertaining to the operations of the various departments. As a matter of fact, I recommend that before this committee begins its investigation of the Department of Public Welfare, it should take the time to sit in on the hearings of the Select Committee on Appropriations. Probaly, they may obtain the information they desire in this way.

I realize that the House of Representatives and the Senate have the right to investigate any department of government. However, I cannot see that an investigation of this type, at this particular time, is going to give us any additional information.

I believe we have a very efficient Appropriations Committee and a very efficient chairman. We have men on the committee who know appropriations and who are quite familiar with all phases of government and the various operations of most departments.

I also believe that this investigating committee should take into consideration the fact that we are devoting a lot of time in trying to work out something whereby we can bring about a more efficient operation of government. It seems to me they should take the time and look in on this committee. Then, if they do not acquire the information they desire, they can, of course, proceed with their investigation, as authorized by the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the remarks of the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, I think are in good order. I do not think that the gentlemen who have sponsored this resolution have anything in mind except the good of the Commonwealth. Also, I noticed in their resolution that they bring the following to our attention:

> "But we must be equally aware of the dangers inherent in assisting persons who are not in actual need and in spending more money than our taxpayers can supply."

We all know the history of this relief or welfare problem. I think it started in early America with the churches. They did most of the relief or welfare work. Following that, we had a series of poor farms, as they were frequently termed. Now they are called something else. Each one gets an individual name and I think that is wholesome. Then, too, we had the usual run of Community Chests and, during the war years, we had the War Funds. Later, we turned them into United Funds. Here in Harrisburg, we have thirty-seven agencies which do a certain amount of welfare work in different areas and they are combined in a United Fund which covers all of Perry County, a large portion of Cumberland County, a small portion of York County and all of Dauphin County.

Back in 1931 and 1933, those of us who had the privilege of being Members of the General Assembly remember the first Talbot Act. From that we developed on into the present relief system. Like all other agencies of government, they have a tendency to grow. Our duty, as Members of the General Assembly, certainly must be first to be absolutely certain that those who apply for relief to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are in need.

Relief or welfare, as the Bible well tells us, is a bottomless pit. We will always have it. It is a difficult problem and these folks, whom we are so frequently prone to criticize, and those who visit these families, have a tremendous decision or problem to meet.

Mr. President, I am sure that this resolution is in good order, despite the fact that Senator Lane brings to our attention the fact that these men appointed under this resolution should, by all means,—and I certainly concur with that—carefully study the budget figures in the budget hearings which are now in process.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanious consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, first, I want to thank Senator Wade for agreeing with me for once. Ordinarily, he does not agree.

However, I would like to say that this is primarily a Senate Resolution; this is not a Concurrent Resolution. I notice that the majority on this committee is from the Republican Party and, naturally, there is a little politics tinged with this. Otherwise, they would have given the Administration the majority in this particular case. Therefore, in my mind, I cannot help but arrive at the conclusion that it is not a Concurrent Resolution. The reason it is not a Concurrent Resolution is because the Democratic Party has the majority in the House and, therefore, they have taken the advantage of placing the majority on the Republican side in making this investigation. Frankly, I think it is gilding the lily and, I am sorry to say, Mr. President, it looks like politics to me.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I certainly would not want to prolong this discussion, but I must take issue with the fact that the Senator implies that politics have been applied in this whole issue. For example, we all know that relief and unemployment go hand in hand. Unemployment is talked about a great deal these days. If they were to question either Senator Lane or me, we could point out about forty-four or forty-five vacancies to which appointments might be made. I want to emphasize "might be made."

I think, beyond a question of any doubt, this problem, together with other problems that have been mentioned in this Body in recent weeks, are matters which this General Assembly can properly look into. For example, we meet sometimes for a period of as short as four months. I do not think we have had any Sessions in recent years shorter than four months. However, in that time we have such a myriad of problems with which to deal that these very delicate situations are not often delved into to the extent that they should be.

I think, too, that a smaller committee, a committee from the Senate only, can do an excellent job in this whole area. I know that Senator Lane joins me in the hope that they can point out to the Senate and to the House of Representatives where substantial sums of the taxpayers' money might be saved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not wish to prolong this discussion either, because this is a poor time to debate this particular issue. However, it seems to me from the remarks made by Senator Wade that he does not have much confidence in this Select Committee which was appointed by the Senate to review the budgets of the various departments of government.

Of course, Senator Wade is not a co-sponsor of the resolution, but if he were, I would probably ask him this question: If you have the great interest of the Welfare Department at heart, why did you not have a balanced committee by offering a Concurrent Resolution? However, I cannot interrogate him on that basis because he is not a co-sponsor and the Majority Floor Leader is not here to be interrogated. Nevertheless, that is the question that is in the minds of the Members of the Minority Party and, I imagine, that is the question that is in the minds of the public as a whole.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, March 31, 1959, at 3:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. FLACK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 1:22 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, March 31, 1959, at 3:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Grant to this legislature, and to all in authority, wisdom and strength to do Thy will. Fill them with the love of truth and righteousness, and make them ever mindful of their calling to serve this people in Thy fear. SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 16, 1959.

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Tuesday, March 31, 1959, at three o'clock p. m., EST., unless sooner recalled by the President Pro Tempore; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene Tuesday, March 31, 1959 at four-thirty p.m., EST, unless sooner recalled by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question.

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. FLOYD. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FLOYD. If a Member of the House has possession of the floor and is interrogating another Member of the House, and a third Member of the House requests that the Member who is being interrogated yield to him, or her, whichever it may be, what is the status of the third Member at that point?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would advise the gentleman from Philadelphia, as he understands the question, if the gentleman who was being interrogated would yield his position on the floor to another member, to the third Member, does the third Member properly have the floor?

Mr. FLOYD. Mr. Speaker, but the person who is being interrogated does not have the floor. The first party is interrogating the second party, and the third party requests that the person being interrogated yield to him or her.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the Chair understand the gentleman's question to be, that the Member who is being interrogated agrees to yield his position to another member; is that the question?

Mr. FLOYD. That is correct.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. And further does the interrogator agree to yield his position?

Mr. FLOYD. That is the party that I was speaking of, if the interrogator agrees to yield to a third party.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would advise the gentleman that both the interrogator and the person being interrogated would have to agree to the yielding.

Mr. FLOYD. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. That was my opinion on that.

Number two, Mr. Speaker, after the third party has gained possession, after the second party has yielded to the third party, and he is now the person to be interrogated, would it be in order, or would it not be in order, for him to ask permission to interrogate another Member of the House who does not have possession of the floor at that time?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would advise the gentleman that any Member who consents to interrogation may properly be subject to interrogation. Interrogation cannot be had without the consent of the Member of whom it is requested that he be interrogated.

Mr. FLOYD. Mr. Speaker, I have not read the Rules of the House on it, and I have not asked any of the astute parliamentarians in the House anything about it, but—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair might suggest that that would be very much in order.

Mr. FLOYD. But, Mr. Speaker, I think I know a little something about parliamentary procedure.

I am referring to an incident that happened on the floor of the House yesterday. I was interrogating Mr. Yatron and Mr. Johnson, the Minority Leader, requested that Mr. Yatron yield to him. After Mr. Yatron had yielded to Mr. Johnson, Mr. Johnson in turn requested that he interrogate another Member of the House. While all this was going on I was still in possession of the floor. I am trying to find out whether Mr. Johnson was in order at this particular point.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would inform the gentleman that if his point of order had been raised seasonably at that point it would have been well taken, and the point of order would have been sustained.

Mr. FLOYD. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FLOYD. Mr. Speaker, I took it that was the situation, but it occurred to me that courtesy has always been extended to the Minority and Majority Floor Leaders. We always overlook a few things to give them courtesy. But I would like to inform the gentleman that I knew that actually he was out of order, and I hope that Mr. Johnson's point was in good faith. I am sorry to make such a point, and hope his parliamentary maneuver was in good faith, because actually it was not a technical parliamentary maneuver but an elementary one. I think my little daughter would know that actually he was out of order.

For the benefit of Mr. Johnson, I would like to say that I have been an owner of apartment houses in Pennsylvania for the past ten years, and that I understand 70 per cent of the people of the Commonwealth do not own their own homes and are renting in one form or another. Therefore their interests, to me,—that 70 per cent of the people of the Commonwealth—are more important than Mr. Johnson's interest, or my interest as a landlord.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND COMMITTED

By Mrs. VARALLO and Mr. BELL. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 43.

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1959.

The public press has repeatedly called attention to the heavy incidence of juvenile crime and many murders and crimes of great violence being committed by juvenile criminals.

The public press carries repeated stories of an attitude prevalent among certain juvenile criminals of complete disregard for punitive provisions of the criminal laws of this Commonwealth.

A continued disregard for the peace and safety of the citizens of the Commonwealth by such juvenile criminals creates a criminal cancer threatening the peace and good order of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It is imperative that remedial steps be taken of a positive nature to stamp out this philosophy of juvenile criminals and the causes thereof; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized and directed to make an immediate study of all factors causing the attitude in juvenile criminals of disregard for law and order, a study of the corrective and remedial action of any nature whatsoever required to correct such juvenile criminal philosophy and a further study of the steps necessary to rehabilitate those addicted to such a moral juvenile criminal thinking and acting; and be it further

Resolved, That the commission be charged with inviting to testify before it persons such as educators, clergymen, penal authorities, members of the judiciary, law enforcement officials, newspaper reporters, social workers, and other citizens who are in contact with such juvenile criminals in order to ascertain the causes for such thinking and the possible remedies therefor; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized, in its discretion, to transcribe such part or parts of the testimony and statements taken before it; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the commission may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the Courts of this Commonwealth. The commission shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the commission or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly prior to the adjournment of the present session.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. TOMPKINS, GIBSON, POLASKI, SCHAAF, O'DELL, MAGEE, BLAIR and DOWN.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 44.

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1959.

The Government of the United States, acting in cooperation with the Government of Canada, will soon complete the St. Lawrence Seaway, a project intended to provide a water route for ocean-going vessels from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Ocean.

The State of Pennsylvania necessarily has a great interest in the St. Lawrence Seaway. A very large portion of the funds used in its construction was raised through Federal taxation in Pennsylvania. The Port of Erie, Pennsylvania's only Great Lakes' port is our only direct connection with the seaway. If the taxpayers of Pennsylvania are to receive the greatest benefit from their tax dollars already expended by the Federal Government, the Port of Erie must be turned into a seaport capable of accommodating ocean-going traffic. In addition it must be an effective transfer point, possessing land and air transportation facilities adequate to make a routing through Erie logical and desirable.

If the Port of Erie becomes such a seaport, then the benefits to the economy of not only northwestern Pennsylvania, but to the entire Commonwealth and to states bordering Pennsylvania on the south, will be tremendous.

In recognition of this, the Federal Government has already appropriated the money necessary to dredge the Erie harbor to the depth essential for the accommodation of ocean-going vessels.

In addition to sums previously expended, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania proposes to expend further sums in the development of the Port of Erie. The present budget contains recommendations for the expenditure of approximately six hundred thousand dollars for that purpose during the 1959-1960 biennium.

The Commonwealth has also constructed new highways and proposes to construct even more highways leading to Erie for the purpose of facilitating transportation to and from Erie.

Now the success of the entire program is in jeopardy. By a vote of 238 to 142, the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States voted to permit the City of Chicago to divert great quantities of water from Lake Michigan. If that diversion is permitted to occur, the result will be to so lower the level of Lake Erie that proper development of the Port of Erie will be seriously affected, and the economy of our State seriously injured; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the Senate of the United States be memorialized to defeat this high-handed attempt to benefit a single city at the expense of the people of the third largest state; and be it further

Resolved, That each member of Congress and each United States Senator from Pennsylvania be informed of this matter and that they each be urged to take whatever steps they can to prevent Senate concurrence in the House action; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be dispatched immediately to the presiding officer of the Senate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and to each member of Congress and United States Senator from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence Nos. 107 and 338.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Speaker, I want to be recorded as being present for today's session and tonight. I had requested a leave for the entire week, but I was called out of a sick bed and I am here today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman. The gentleman will be recorded, as being present for today's and tomorrow's sessions.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WEIDNER. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WEIDNER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to ask for leave of absence for the 12:01 session tomorrow for various reasons.

As most Members know, I have been absent from this House for a period of two months because of having undergone a serious eye operation. I am still under the doctor's care. Only two weeks ago was I given permission to attend the Sessions of this legislature providing that I would follow certain instructions. In order to comply with the request of the doctor and to avoid any physical reaction, I find it impossible to attend the Session scheduled for 12:01 tomorrow morning. If the session had been held or scheduled during the usual daytime, I could attend. I regret that I am compelled to take this action and I hope the Members will understand my position.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Berks County, Mr. Weidner, requests leave of absence for tomorrow's session. Without objection, leave will be granted. The Chair hears none.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, in behalf of Mr. Weidner who has made his statement a part of the record, we certainly are quite aware of his situation and we appreciate the remarks he has made to this House.

We had no other choice than to schedule the session as we did, and we certainly understand fully the situation of the serious operation and the doctor's care that he has been under. All we can say is that we are very glad that he is back here with us in the House and able to be present during the daytime regularly scheduled hourly sessions.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mrs. VARALLO. Mr. Speaker, I have not requested any leaves of absence for today. Mr. Kornick, from Fayette County, who was ill, we got him out of a sick bed to be here today, and also the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Holt. We have 107 members on our side of the House here today.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 458, Printer's No. 135,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 479 entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of July 1, 1937 (P. L. 2681) entitled "An act relating to and regulating the manufacture storing and possession of explosives requiring permits for magazines and prescribing permit fees and providing penalties" prohibiting the sale or delivery of explosives to persons not complying with this act and imposing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Which sponsor?

Mr. FARABAUGH. Any one.

The SPEAKER. Will either of the sponsors of this bill consent to be interrogated?

Mr. SAKULSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman tell me what the purpose of this bill is.

Mr. SAKULSKY. The purpose of this bill, Mr. Speaker, is to prevent property damage and to save lives.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, what effect would this have if this became a law on the seller of the dynamite to the farmer who might want to use dynamite to blow up stumps?

Mr. SAKULSKY. This law would be applied to the farmer as well as any other person selling dynamite. It would be necessary for him to obtain a license or permit and to place the dynamite in a magazine that was approved in accordance with the act.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Then, if I understand the gentleman rightly, there would be imposed a possible fine of up to $5,000 on the seller and the purchaser, if they did not have that magazine?

Mr. SAKULSKY. There is already, Mr. Speaker, a measure in effect on the statute books regulating the sale of dynamite or explosives. This would also affect the seller. It would make it necessary for the seller to obtain a licnse and to have the approved magazine to store such explosives.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, another question is, if I understand the gentleman rightly, it is his intention in this bill to make every user of dynamite employ a licensed handler to do his dynamiting?

Mr. SAKULSKY. Mr. Speaker, it would not be necessary to employ a person who is an expert in the use of dynamite. It would just make the person purchasing the dynamite use the dynamite carefully and also store the dynamite in a safe magazine so that other people would not be endangered, maimed or killed, or property destroyed.

Mr. FARABAUGH. I thank the gentleman.
Mr. Speaker, I believe the intent of this bill may be good. However, I believe there is a lot of dynamite right in the bill. I do not believe the Members of this House who realie what this bill will actually do will be in favor of it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Blair,	Murray, P. G.,	Thompson,	Weidner,
Knecht,	Petrosky,	Varner,	Willard,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 521, entitled as follows:

An Act authorizing the use of certified mail in lieu of registered mail.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Which sponsor?

Mr. McCORMACK. One of the sponsors.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman name the sponsor or the gentleman that he desires to interrogate. He can pick any one of them as his victim.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Lutty.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lutty, yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Devlin?

Mr. LUTTY. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, will proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a bill of general application throughout the Commonwealth, is that correct?

Mr. DEVLIN. That is correct.

Mr. McCORMACK. Now, if this were passed, how would it affect the rules of court, such as the rule providing in a divorce action for a registered mail notice to be sent to the defendant where the defendant lives in another state?

Mr. DEVLIN. This would not be applicable to rules of court. The rules of court, to coincide with this bill, would have to be changed by the board of judges who make the rules.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, which takes precedence—an Act of Assembly or a rule of court.

Mr. DEVLIN. An Act of Assembly, I would say.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, then where you have a rule of court that requires registered mail notice, and this bill says that in any case where registered mail notice is required, certified mail notice in lieu thereof is all right, would that not, in effect, change the rule of court?

Mr. DEVLIN. No, this act says that in any instance where registered mail is required, certified mail may be used.

Mr. McCORMACK. That is right. That is my point. I am asking whether or not a rule of court that requires registered mail can now be interpreted to read, "Certified mail" also or in lieu thereof?

Mr. DEVLIN. I would direct the gentleman's attention to the phraseology, Section 1, "Whenever in any law registered mail is required." It does not pertain to whenever, in any rule of court, registered mail is required.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, the courts under law are authorized to prescribe rules for the court. Is that correct?

Mr. DEVLIN. They have that authority by virtue of acts of the legislature. Is that correct?

Mr. McCORMACK. They have, under the Constitution, I think, the right to prescribe their rules.

Mr. DEVLIN. I was under the impression, correct me if I am wrong, that the Legislature has given the courts the right to prescribe rules. You say that is not correct?

Mr. McCORMACK. I am not certain.

Mr. Speaker, if Mr. Fineman has information, I would appreciate it if he would permit himself to be interrogated in lieu of Mr. Devlin.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, for that purpose I will yield to Mr. Fineman.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Devlin, yields to Mr. Fineman.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, my specific inquiry is, and I want this on the record, where a rule of court provides that in a certain particular case registered mail notice be given to the parties in interest, whether by virtue of this bill certified mail can be given in lieu thereof, despite the fact that the rule of court provides for registered mail notice?

Mr. FINEMAN. I would say not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. On what do you base that answer?

Mr. FINEMAN. Because this bill specifically says that whenever in any law registered mail is required, certified mail may be used in lieu thereof.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, is not a rule of court the law?

Mr. FINEMAN. No. A law, as intended by this bill means either a case-made law, statutory law, or law that is derived from the Constitution, and not rules of court.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, you are reading into that . . .

The SPEAKER. Perhaps the gentleman from Philadelphia will consent to place this bill on the Final Passage Postponed Calendar, or does he want to decide it now?

Mr. McCORMACK. I am perfectly willing, Mr. Speaker. I would like to get this clarified because it is such an important bill.

The SPEAKER. The bill is before the House. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. FINEMAN. The gentleman has asked me for my opinion, and my opinion is that this bill, this proposed bill, in no way effects any local rule of court that might be propounded concerning the form of notice, be it either by registered mail or certified mail. I reiterate, the intention of this bill when it says law refers to statutory law or case-made-law and not rules of court.

Mr. McCORMACK. You are reading that into the word "law." Nowhere in this bill does it say, or define, what "law" means. Is that correct?

Mr. FINEMAN. I am giving you what I understand—my interpretation of the word "law."

Mr. McCORMACK. You have to read into it that intention, have you not?

Mr. FINEMAN. No, you do not have to read it into it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Does the bill that is before this House now mention statutory law or case-law or Constitution?

Mr. FINEMAN. I am sorry. Would the gentleman repeat that question?

Mr. McCORMACK. Does the bill before us now mention statutory or case law or Constitution?

Mr. FINEMAN. No.

Mr. McCORMACK. It just mentions law.

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes

Mr McCORMACK. And you say it is the intention that it would only apply in the case of statutory law or case-law or the Constitution.

Mr. FINEMAN. Yes, I would say that is a reasonable interpretation.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, could you not also interpret it to mean rules of court.

Mr. FINEMAN. No, I do not think so, because the bill would have specifically said rules of court if that was the intention of the bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. I want to ask you a question about certified mail now.

I will interrogate Mr. Devlin if that is all right, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Devlin, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. DEVLIN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that there is an important difference between the handling of registered mail and the handling of certified mail?

Mr DEVLIN. I am not familiar with the mechanics of the post office. I do not know whether it is handled differently from the standpoint of postal administration.

Mr. McCORMACK. Thank you, Mr. Devlin, that is all.

Mr. Speaker, in reference to the last question put to one of the sponsors, I want to say to the House that there is a substantial difference between registered mail and certified mail.

I just now called the postmaster over here in Harrisburg and asked him precisely what the difference was, and he said that in both types of notices you can obtain return receipts, but he said that the similarity between the two ends there. He said that in registered mail the letter or parcel is handled from person to person and from station to station. It gets particular handling, whereas, a certified mail letter when it goes out, it goes out in the regular first-class mail. There is no distinction between certified mail and first class mail. The only similarity is that you can obtain receipts in both types of delivery.

Now inasmuch as that is true, it seems to me that a bill like this which applies generally throughout this Commonwealth has vast far-reaching significance and consequences. I think that to pass a bill like this at the present time is fraught with peril and there should be more study made before we should attempt to pass such a bill.

We do have laws now that provide in certain instances, such as, the service of traffic summons by magistrates and the minor judiciary, that certified mail can be used in lieu thereof. But to suggest that the law throughout the Commonwealth in every instance be changed is another matter, and I ask that you give serious consideration to this and do whatever you think is best.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, my young colleague from Philadelphia told you some of the things the postmaster told him, but I do not think he revealed the entire story to you. I think he should have told you that the person who sends his mail by certified mail rather than registered mail will save himself some twenty cents or twenty-one cents. That is the main reason for the change between registered mail and certified mail. It will save a great deal of money for the Commonwealth and for the citizenry thereof.

There is no ogre lurking in this bill. Certified mail is just as good as registered mail for the simple reason that you get a receipt. That is the important part of it. I urge the Members on both sides of the aisle not to be scared by hearsay from the post office. Vote for this bill.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, there is some question on the construction of this bill. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, questioned what the word "law" meant. I would like to clear up that matter.

I would like to read from the Constitution of Pennsylvania, Article III, Section I, which says "no law shall be passed." And if the word "law" as contained in the Constitution of Pennsylvania means statutory law, likewise in House bill 521, when we say "in any law," it means statutory law.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to tell me whether or not certified mail can be delivered to an addressee only, and a receipt obtained from the addressee of the letter, or whether it may be delivered to a particular residence and stop there?

Mr. McCORMACK. May I answer that question after I make just one brief statement.

Mr. Schwartz has said I did not reveal all the conversation. I am sure he did not mean that because that is the only thing the postmaster told me.

In answer to the gentleman's question, Mr. Speaker, I will say it is my impression, and I am not sure that a certified mail letter can be delivered to the place without the necessity of getting a personal signature of the addressee. I am not sure though. He did not say that in his conversation to me. It is my understanding that that can be done. I stand corrected.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Well I am still not clear on the answer. Can you send a certified mail letter to be delivered to the addressee only?

Mr. McCORMACK. I believe you can, Mr. Speaker. I am not positive. I believe that you can, yes.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker, before voting on this bill I would like to be definitely assured, and I confess I do not know, that such a letter could be mailed and delivered to addressee only, and a receipt returned acknowledging the fact that the addressee actually received the letter. If such is possible I could probably vote for this bill, but if that can not be done I would hesitate to vote for this bill because there are occasions when personal notice to the addressee is very important. So if there is any one in the House who can answer that, I would like to have that information.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, I have been advised that you can handle the certified mail in the same manner as you do registered mail, namely, delivered to addressee only, and the difference is, the post office does it for a cheaper rate because they do not have to maintain permanent records in the post office department.

I would like to add a point further. Our common pleas court rules have been revised to permit certified mail in lieu of registered mail in divorce cases where service is delivered to addressee only. I would ask Members on both sides of the House to support this bill as an economy measure for the various municipalities in the Commonwealth, as well as the Commonwealth itself, at a cheaper mailing rate that can be authenticated.

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the debate on this matter and two weeks ago a certified letter was mailed to me, "House of Representatives, Harrisburg" I received a notice in the House post office to call personally at the Harrisburg post office. I signed for the letter and received it. It was not delivered to the House of Representatives. I had to call personally at the Harrisburg post office for certified mail.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PRINTED CALENDAR DISPENSED WITH

The SPEAKER. The Chair would be pleased if there could be an agreement that it would not be necessary to print a new calendar in view of the fact that there are only two bills to be considered. If there were a way that the Majority and the Minority Leaders could agree on that, we will save considerable money.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we certainly can agree any time, and I have alreday agreed they do not have to print a thing if no one objects.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is now ready to hear from the Minority Leader as to the necessity of printing a separate calendar for the business of this evening, or tomorrow.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, it will be all right to dispense with having the bills on a printed calendar for this evening. I suppose when we convene some type of motion will have to be made, or a request for unanimous consent.

The SPEAKER. Does the Chair understand that if we have unanimous consent that it will not be necessary to print a new calendar for the purpose of presenting the two bills that will be considered tomorrow?

Mr. McCANN. Four, Mr. Speaker. Four bills and a resolution.

The SPEAKER. Four bills. The Chair considers you all bound in honor to raise no objection to that procedure.

The SPEAKER. The Secretary of the House has an announcement he desires to make.

If we do not have the stickers prepared before you leave tomorrow morning at an early hour, they will be mailed to you so that you have it prior to returning here for the next Legislative day.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mrs. VARALLO and
Mr. JUMP. RESOLUTION No. 45.

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1959.

There are many Americans who have filed petitions with the immigration authorities of the United States for the entry of their sons, daughters, brothers and sisters, which petitions are classified in the fourth preference quota of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

Of the four preference quotas established by the Federal Immigration and Nationality Act, the first, second and third quotas are allotted one hundred per centum of the total annual entry quota.

As a result, those persons who fall within the fourth preference section must depend for entry into this country upon deficiencies in the first three quotas.

There is frustration and despair resulting from the law that gives hope to Americans by permitting them to file petitions, getting them approved, and then compelling them to wait for their kin who may never come.

Thousands of discontented people abroad, whose hopes are first raised and then dashed, certainly cannot believe in the good will we try to engender through our foreign policy, and thus become easy prey to the propaganda of unfriendly nations.

Congress has recognized and alleviated a similar problem through Public Law 85-316, which includes a provision for reuniting spouses and minor children of aliens legally residing in this country whose petitions were approved prior to July 1, 1957; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States to amend the provisions of Public Law 85-316 to include cases which fall within the fourth preference quota, in order to provide for entry of the many thousands, petitions for whom have piled up in a backlog in prior years; that in order not to create another problem of separated families, those applicants who are married and have families be permitted to bring them; and that a copy of this resolution be sent to each Congressman and United States Senator from the State of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. GAILEY and T. H. W. JONES.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 46.

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1959.

Several measures have been proposed in the 1959 General Assembly which would extend the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Instruction to include the education and training of emotionally and socially disturbed children and authorize the establishment of guidance centers for such children. The exercise of this additional power by the Department of Public Instruction would appear to be in conflict with and constitute an overlapping of programs presently being administered by the Department of Public Welfare.

It is a recognized fact that children who are mentally retarded and children who are emotionally and mentally disturbed are creating an increasingly difficult problem.

It is imperative that an efficient program be established to cope with this problem, but it should be so administered as to prevent the waste and confusion which inevitably arises when there is an overlapping of the powers of several departments of our State government; therefore, be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That there is hereby created a commission to make a thorough study of the problem of providing an efficient and uniform program for the care and education of children with any mental retardation, emotional or mental disturbance, with a view toward cooperation between the departments concerned. Such commission shall be composed of nine members. Three members of the commission shall be appointed by the Governor, one of whom shall be from the Department of Public Instruction, and one of whom shall be from the Department of Public Welfare. The remaining six members of the commission shall be members of the General Assembly, three of whom shall be from the House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker thereof, and three of whom shall be from the Senate, appointed by the President Pro Tempore; and be it further

Resolved, That the commission may meet, hold hearings, and take testimnoy. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the commission and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the commission deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before this commission or produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the commission shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the commission; and be it furthrer

Resolved, That the commission shall make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation and a determination of the proper State departments to operate in this sphere of activity, to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Whereas, Tourists visiting various sections of the Commonwealth may wish to visit the sites of these forts because of some connection with their own family history; and

Whereas, The sites of the frontier forts should be made accessible to the citizens and to visitors to the Commonwealth; therefore be it

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Gibson for Mr. WILLARD for today for important business reasons.

HOUSE BILL No. 665 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 665, Printer's No. 180, bills on third reading, be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, House Bill No. 665, Printer's No. 180.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 665, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" approved March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228), defining or redefining certain words terms and phrases increasing the rate of tax imposing tax on certain additional services changing the bracket schedule and basis to reflect tax increases * * *.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 665, Printer's No. 180, is an amended bill to the Selective Sales and Use Tax now in existence in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Briefly and precisely, the bill changes the rate of collection percentage-wise from 3 percent to 3.5 percent on all the items that are taxable and collectible in the Sales Tax Law now in operation in this Commonwealth.

In addition, this bill includes in the retail level at 3.5 percent the following items which are not now taxable under the existing Sales Tax Law: Alcoholic beverages, both malt and liquor; trade-ins dealing with automobiles, trucks, vehicles, furniture and other items; electric power, domestic and commercial; telephone service intra-state; reducing the rate on restaurant meals from the existing figure of 50 cents to the 10 cent level, and placing a sales tax upon utility maintenance equipment and tools, and a sales and use tax upon repairs and service charges.

This bill has been checked very carefully by tax consultants, tax lawyers, and it can be stated as a matter of record that the items now existing and being covered by the Sales and Use Tax Law are covered in the same report, and only those items mentioned in this report as being taxable are the new items subject to being taxed by this proposed legislation.

The increased rate of .5 percent over the existing law it is estimated will produce $76 million; each of the other items mentioned earlier will make a total increase of $264 million by the proposed legislation.

There would be no question that a definition which would be applicable to this bill is that when you are talking about industry, if they were not taxable in the existing law they are not now taxable in the proposed change to the law; if you are talking about utilities, if they were not taxed in the existing law, they are not taxed in the proposed legislation except upon the maintenance equipment and tools; if you are talking about real estate, if they were taxed and are taxed in the existing law they are taxed in the proposed legislation. Very clearly then, and very briefly, this is an amendment to the existing Sales and Use Tax Law in House bill 665 which covers these items that have been outlined carefully and clearly as submitted by the Governor in the Hood-Kennedy Tax Study Commission Report to this General Assembly, and the estimated revenue of this change in the proposed legislation covering this field, along with the other bill, is $264 million.

Each of these items has been clearly and carefully defined. Each of the items subject to the use tax in the proposed legislation has been defined clearly and carefully as to the intent of the taxing body.

Mr. Speaker, House bill 665, Printer's No. 180, is the amended Sales and Use Tax Law legislation which we proposed to act upon here tonight.

Mr. STROUP. The Lawrence sales tax levy which we have before us tonight increases, expands and extends the 1957 Selective Sales Tax. It seeks to raise an estimated $264 million during the next biennium. Many of us, inept as we are at hasty analysis suspect, first, that this levy is based on erroneous information, estimates and calculations; second, that there may well be plenty of fact beyond the estimated receipts; third, that economy in government would materially reduce the need for an extension and expansion of the levy to the degree which House bill 665 demands.

It was not until March 1, 1959, Mr. Speaker, that the people of Pennsylvania were shocked into a realization that the Leader Administration had a deficit of almost $178 million. It was on that date that Governor Lawrence informed us he would need general fund revenues of $1,907,012,345 which sum includes the deficit of $178 million. He informed us, as a consequence, that scheduled reductions in corporate net income tax, gross receipts, realty transfer and cigarette taxes could not be granted, and that to the contrary despite a moderately—and notice I say moderately—projected higher yield due to recovery from the 1958 recession we must find new tax sources to the extent of $400 million. We were advised that part of that need for $400 million arose as a result of revenue shortages below estimated receipts in the amount of $118 million.

Now the estimated receipts for the biennium 1957-1959 were 1.501 billion odd dollars. The estimated actual receipts would be, in accordance with the information which we then received, $1.383 billion, or the actual shortage of $118 million at the end of the biennium. This was on March 1, 1959, Mr. Speaker.

That shortage is one of the reasons we are now considering the Lawrence sales tax measure, House Bill 665 so hastily here tonight. For that shortage, if indeed such does exist, must be made up. Now the question that bothers many of us is: Will the actual receipts for this biennium be $118 million short of the estimate? If not, then we do not need all the increase and the expansion which the Lawrence levy before us tonight requires.

Now the best, apparently the best at least, information available from the Department of Revenue and the Budget Bureau during the past 21 months has told the people of Pennsylvania a very much different story. But, if there is such an actual shortage at the end of this biennium, then we and the people whom we represent in this House have been either negligently or purposely misled.

On March 6, 1959, five days after Governor Lawrence appeared before us in joint session, the Secretary of Revenue and the Budget Secretary issued a joint newspaper release informing the public that cumulative revenues from June 1957 through February 1959 were 4.2 percent short of estimates for the period or, mathematicwise, $63 million in arrears. Now receipts in March and April therefore would have to fall below estimates in those months by $55 million in order to reach a shortage of $118 million, and that does not make much sense.

Now as a matter of record, Mr. Speaker, the people of Pennsylvania have been misled on this matter since September 1958. On September 11, 1958, the then acting Secretary of Administration and the Secretary of Revenue reported in the Harrisburg Patriot as follows, and I quote: "General Fund revenues were 2.8 percent below the estimates" and blamed the adverse effect of the national recession for the shortage. Two points eight percent shortage is $42 million, yet six months later we have an estimate of $118 million.

I have in hand, Mr. Speaker, the official statement of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania issued August 28, 1958, setting forth certain financial information and the estimates of the Commonwealth of its revenues and expenses for the biennium in order to borrow $75 million and issue tax anticipation notes series of 1958 in that amount. On page 9 of that official statement I would like permission, Mr. Speaker, to read, and I quote:

> "If revenues and expenditures"

—and remember the date of this is August 1958—

> "remain as unofficially estimated by the Budget Secretary, all cash balances will have been exhausted by the middle of March 1959. And notwithstanding receipts in March, April and May, there will be a cash deficit at the end of the biennium. Therefore it will be necessary—either that additional moneys be made available through taxation or borrowing from the Motor License Fund, or that expenditures be reduced, or a combination of these measures adopted."

Now, Mr. Speaker, why were the people of Pennsylvania not given the information at that time? The answer seems to me obvious. On February 24, 1959 the Secretary of the Budget Bureau is quoted in the Harrisburg Evening News as follows:

> "The Leader Administration had a pretty good idea early last fall that the succeeding administration would pick up a deficit of $170 million."

Yet I learn on March 6, 1959, the last release we have in which probably we can place any reliance, if any reliance can be placed upon these releases, the revenue loss is $63 million.

What is the revenue situation tonight in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? We ought to know before we act on the bill. Will we be $63 million short on our receipts for the biennium, $118 million or $170 million by May 1st? We meet tonight in hasty, urgent session. Yes, it appeals to the dramatic, but where is the care, the caution, and the thorough analysis with which we should consider such an all-important matter before we vote? Why all the rush to levy a tax on our people? Yes, I know, we have been told that the levy must be in effect by April 1 in order to obtain an estimated additional $22 million.

Well, let's look at that for a moment. Here again something is wrong. Page 69 of the bill, and I ask you to look at it if you care to, sets April 1961 as the last month of the levy. The return date is set forth as May 20, 1961. Since the estimated yield under House bill 665 is $264 million for 24 months, the average is $11 million a month. And from April 1, 1959 to May 1, 1961, according to my mathematics, is but 25 months. The extra yield available therefore, if the bill is enacted by April 1, could only be $11 million. Actual estimated yield is $264 million over 24 months. Under that estimate this bill, if it is to produce $264 million on this levy, would not have to be enacted until May 1, 1959. Who's kidding whom, Mr. Speaker? Why all the rush? If there is a $22 million figure somewhere, where is it? And then, if that is true, add it to the $264 million of estimated yield, and admit that you have a yield with this levy, if on April 1 it becomes effective, of $286 million.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I have had but a few hours to study this bill and I have tried to digest it. I find it difficult in such a brief time to comprehend the bill, and I find it somewhat unpalatable. I am sure many of my constituents, though, find it much more so. That it is legally faulty in some respects, from the hasty inspection that I could make of it, seems apparent. For example, and I ask you please to turn to page 43 of the bill, line 3, and I think we find this language there and I quote, I believe correctly,

> "There is hereby imposed upon the use within this Commonwealth of anything acquired or obtained by purchase at retail as defined herein on or after April 1, 1959 a tax of three and one-half percent."

What does that word "anything" mean? Does the bill levy a tax of 3.5 percent on the use of anything? Certainly I think that section needs some clarification. And I would like to know, Mr. Speaker, how was the tax bracket in Section 202 developed? How do we know what it will yield? Will it yield 3.5 percent and not 4 percent at the low purchase levels? That is where the great spread of purchase is. How many of our Members are familiar with the tax bracket of this bill tonight? Moreover, Mr. Speaker, we have been told that the estimated yield at the level of 3.5 percent on services is $11 million. What is the basis of that estimation? I would like to know. Responsible people in the garage and automobile business insist that the yield could very well be $20 million for automobile repairs alone.

We have been very summarily ordered here tonight to vote on this measure. In my humble opinion to do so in such a precipitous, headlong, hasty manner is tantamount to the application of our prerogatives as the revenue raising body of the General Assembly. Must we do the bidding of others or shall we, in good conscience, demand time to study, question, seek answers, facts and information before imposing this Lawrence tax program upon our people.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to talk very long about the tax program that is before us tonight. Admittedly it is a piecemeal tax program; it is a segment of more taxes, more things yet to come.

Languishing in Committee of course are some other cookies that we will have to worry about later on. But tonight you just have one or two measures, this is sort of a warm-up, sort of a trial run.

In one of our neighboring states they have a turnpike which only went about fifty miles and it was dubbed the "Bobtail Turnpike." I am dubbing this tax program tonight "Pennsylvania's bobtail tax program." It is just like cutting a dog's tail off inch by inch because we figure it will not hurt as much when you do it that way.

I might say this, the Majority Leader will probably regret not having run his entire tax program at one time rather than doing it piecemeal. Of course I am not here to plan the great strategy of the other side; however this piecemeal situation has prevailed this entire session, we arrived here the first week and I believe it was the second week we were told that we had to pass a bill to borrow money from the highway funds because by March 15th the state would be entirely out of money, the state would be broke, in other words, as far as the general fund is concerned. That job has been done and I trust that the money has been borrowed so that the salaries of the various people in the state can be paid.

Then we went further along in the session to February and we were startled to hear about a deficit, and as you know I believe it was the 15th of February the Governor's tax policy report was issued and the outstanding deficit of $170 million was disclosed by that report unknown to anybody. Later on in the week a message from the Governor's office said, "No, the deficit is indeed one hundred and seventy-eight million dollars."

Then along March 1st came the budget, a budget of $1.729 million, one of the largest budgets, of course, in the history of Pennsylvania, and I suppose we can now dub Governor Lawrence as Pennsylvania's first $2 billion Governor as far as the general fund is concerned. It was of course a surprise to us how the cost of running our state government reportedly is increasing. In that budget there was disclosed for the first time that we would be asked this session to pass $78 million worth of deficiency appropriations to harken back to the 1957-59 bi-ennium, overspending by that much money, hopefully however to be cut by contemplated lapses of $26 million, but that indeed is a huge deficiency appropriation request.

Then, of course, we had the other item in the budget which increased things on every hand. We are tonight just as much in the dark about these things as we were at the opening of the Session. We have asked questions about the $178 million deficits. Is it a true deficit? Can it be reduced between now and the end of the biennium? Is that the right figure? Is it represented by money spent, as I have asked from this microphone, or is it represented by the accounts payable, money committed, money that we owe for, that we must pass a tax program in order to cover it? How about this budget of $1.729 million; is it a just budget; is it a sound budget? Is there fat in the budget? Must the people of this state dig down for $400 million more? We do not know.

We had a tax bill before us earlier in the week which was hastily drawn, poorly drawn, with a lot of gimmicks and a lot of sleepers in it. Is that true of our budget? Are there a lot of gimmicks and a lot of sleepers in it? Everybody has asked me and they want to know before we pass a huge tax program whether that budget can be trimmed some, whether the deficit can be trimmed, what are we going to do about the $78 million in so-called deficiency appropriations, must we provide for those before we end this bi-ennium? Those are some of the things that we would like to know about the financial situation of the Commonwealth before we vote on taxes.

Now here is the picture then tonight. We have a segment of a tax program before us, hastily drawn, considered by the Ways and Means Committee about five minutes. It came out in print today and the ink is hardly dry on the measure. The 3.5 percent bill with the additions to it will bring in supposedly over $800 million. That is a huge tax bill for the people to pay. You say we are in haste because we do not want to lose $365,000 a day. Folks, who is losing this money? It is not the state; it will be the people of Pennsylvania that will be losing this money. They are the ones who will be asked tomorrow and the next day to dig down for $365,000. Don't you think the people of this state have the right to know whether that money is absolutely necessary, whether this deficit is real, whether this budget is a real and true budget. I think they do have a right to know.

I would say on this side of the House we want to carry on responsible government. We feel that the people want a balanced budget. They want us to provide adequately and well for all the services that are reasonably needed, but they want to do it within the realm of conservatism after we have carefully scrutinized everything and have come to the conclusion that, yes, we must have this money. That is not the case tonight and I say we are rushing through a program here and not one of us knows where we are going or why we are going.

I know that Governor Lawrence wants it to pass. He wants to get us out of town, naturally. He has been dubbed "The Old Pro." There is a great article about him in the Saturday Evening Post. He wants to show the people of this state that he is that "Old Pro," that he can do the job and can do it quickly and get the Legislature out of town, but folks, we are not in any hurry about getting out of town. We are here to do a job for the people of Pennsylvania. That is what we are sent here for, and you can bet your boots we are going to scrutinize this budget and, as I said, the services necessary should be provided for adequately and well, but it should be a sound budget, well considered and well audited by every committee in this House that has anything to do with the budget.

Usually this time of night people are watching the late television show. Usually it is an old movie that we have seen before. Well here we are at the late, late show, seeing an old movie, the old story, taxes, taxes, taxes.

I can relate to you some of the things that the now Speaker of the House said to us in 1953 of how he would not do this and how he would not do that. Remember the joke he told just as we were about to vote. He said, "You on the other side of the House are about to get drunk tonight and, oh, how you hate to do it." Well I think the shoe is now on the other foot. I say you are going too fast, too fast, and I am afraid we will all be sorry.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, this Lawrence tax bill is a special privilege bill. It exempts ship building above 50 tons and services on ships, and that exemption means that it is exempting the big-money men. That is not right. That is not justice, when you turn around in the same bill and tax the services on the poor man's automobile as well as its trade-in value. Yes, this Lawrence tax exempts services on the big ship building interests but not on your automobile services. Is that just and right?

Taxing meals at 10 cents and up is another soak-the-poor item in this tax because many poor people are eating for 50 cents in boarding houses and restaurants without sales tax under the present law.

This Lawrence tax then hits the average man on his telephone and electric bills, and it is terrible to wipe out such exemptions in the present law and then turn around and retain the exemption for the big money men on ship building.

If the Lawrence administration is determined to have this poor man's tax, this tax to soak the poor, this unfair tax, then let us put it on a wholesale level and cut out a lot of job holders from running around and trying to make out that the stores and merchants are dishonest, when the stores and merchants are trying to do their best to comply with the Sales Tax Law.

Then this Lawrence tax says that manufacturing of products shall be exempt, but this bill discriminates against canning of fruits and vegetables. This is placing a discriminatory tax against the great agriculture interests in this Commonwealth.

Let us vote this Lawrence tax down and do something for the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, we have before us tonight House Bills 665 and 666, which are part of a tax package which is expected to raise approximately $400 million in new revenue.

I think all taxes are very unpleasant, but sometimes there are things worse than taxes and that is credit from the financial stability of the Commonwealth.

The gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, has raised some questions which we intend to answer, and it is very proper for him to raise those questions.

First, he wants to know if the deficit is real. I can assure the gentleman and all the Members of this House that the deficit is real. I am not going into the quetsion of the different financial statements which may have been issued in the past. I do not know whether they are correct or not, but I do have before me the figures as of March 13, which is about the best available information we have at this time. I am going to give the House the information as to what this deficit consists of.

Mr. Johnson asked me a couple of weeks ago whether or not this tax was needed to pay the deficit or to replenish cash. Of course, we have to have cash to meet obligations, but it is not to replenish bank balances as he stated. We do owe money, money that is past due, money that this Commonwealth will have to pay, obligations that were created by this General Assembly. I am going to read them to you.

We owe for payments due, or past due, or at least chargeable to this biennium and which must be paid to the Retirement Funds of $60.4 million. We owe payments to State-aided schools and colleges of $8 million; payments to State-aided hospitals of $4 million, payments to the Teaching Unit Subsidy of $3.4 million, School Authority rentals of $8.6 million, subsidies for the education of the deaf, blind and cerebral palsied $700,000; to State Teachers Colleges, $1.4 million; mental health services, including the support of State Mental Hospitals $16 million; operation of the State General Hospitals $1.5 million; legislative salaries, etc., including the recess $1.75 million; payments due the State Insurance Fund of $800,000; anthracite mine drainage, $5.5 million; institutional construction —Health Department, $500,000; the Erie Harbor development $500,000; the continuing appropriation for the Governor's Mansion $250,000, other continuing appropriations, including the Armory $1 million; and the Aeronautics Commission $500,000. That makes a total of $114.8 million, which is either due or past due, but is chargeable to this biennium and which we have to raise the money to pay.

By referring to the budget, and I am not going to read the items, you will find that we have deficiency appropriations of $77,609,550. In addition to the $114.8 million which I read item by item, it is estimated that we will have approximately $4 million additional small bills due by the end of the beinnium, making that approximately $118.8 million. That is an enormous sum of money. It is money for which this new administration at least is not responsible. I believe that what we need in Pennsylvania is a balanced budget. We can not continue deficit financing. That is one reason we have to raise additional revenue at this time.

The financial situation of the Commonwealth is serious, if not desperate. We have borrowed $35 million from the Motor License Fund to enable us to pay the school subsidies due the fourth class districts during the month of March. That money must be paid according to statute on or before the 30th day of June 1959.

We also have due on or before May 31, 1959, $73 million of tax anticipation notes which must be paid. I say that there is a great need for haste. There is a need for haste to get this state on a sound financial basis. I do not believe that any of us want to see a default. I might say that as far as the subsidies for the other school districts are concerned, they can not be paid in full. It is estimated that it may be possible to pay approximately 80 percent of the next payment due. That is our hope.

We are going to take the question of the $400 million new revenue. I heard that program referred to as the Lawrence Program. I believe it is officially known as the Hood-Kennedy Committee Program.

I am not going to say that it is the best tax program in the world or the best tax program for Pennsylvania, but it is the program that has been decided upon and presented to the Governor and to this Legislature by a very competent body who made a serious study of the situation. They estimate it will bring in $400 million in additional revenue and I want to call your attention to the fact that of that $400 million we are going to need approximately $178 million for the deficit. We are going to need $101 million for mandated increases. That is a total of $279 million, which out of the $400 million would leave $121 million additional new revenue.

Much has been said about the estimates being wrong on the proposed tax bills. Perhaps they are. I do not think anyone can definitely say, but if we are going to be governed by experience, the estimates have been wrong in reverse, because they have not produced the revenue which was anticipated they would. As a matter of fact there is $118 million deficiency, and I checked that again today. It is estimated that the deficiency from tax collections will be $118 million.

We must take into further consideration that in that budget in the amount that is estimated to be received from taxes that it has been upped $124 million. The Hood-Kennedy report assumes that the revenue from present taxes will yield $124 million more in the next biennium than in the last. This is based upon expectations that the economy reverts to the 1957 level. I do not know whether it is going to do that or not. I hope it does, and I hope that we have that $124 million because it is necessary to balance this budget. So if we have the sad experience that we had in the past, and we get the taxes that are estimated, we would have a balanced budget.

Now I am going to go back and talk briefly on the budget. I believe that there has never been a budget made that could not be cut some, but I have examined this very carefully. We have informally talked to several of the departments, particularly the larger departments, and I am now having prepared the amount of anticipated increases, the mandated amounts in this budget so that I can lay this before the House and so they can see that the large share of this budget is something that is not controlled by the Executive. There certainly are areas in this budget which are controlled by the Executive. We intend to examine them very carefully and I want to assure this House that if there is any area where we can make reductions that will not affect the services of the Commonwealth we certainly will be willing to make them.

Two weeks ago I asked this House for help. I told you that if any Member here on either side of the House had any information as to where cuts could be made, or any information where employes were employed, referring to the 20,000 drones, to let me have that information. So far, only one gentleman, the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, has given me any suggestions whatever.

At the same time I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that every day we have requests for additional appropriations for increasing hospital appropriations, for instance, for increasing the appropriations to the different institutions, to increase the appropriations for the institutions of higher learning.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I believe this is a fairly tight budget. I believe this also, that there are many things we would like to do for education, for our colleges and universities, for our hospitals that we simply do not have the money to do in this present budget.

So in order to keep a sound financial administration it is going to be our policy that we are first going to place the revenue bills on the books and know with reasonable, realistic estimates the amount of revenue we are going to have. Then we are going to take our appropriations and tailor them to the revenues we will have. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that if that is the case, and if we do not have the taxes to pay these bills, it is going to fall upon the institutions of higher learning, upon the hospitals and all of the items that are non-preferred. I think we are faced with a serious situation.

I think, as I said the other day, that certainly appropriations should not be a partisan matter. I had hoped that taxes would not be a partisan matter. However, we are faced with this situation today. We simply have to get tax bills rolling. We simply have to make the effort, and I believe it is our duty in this House, which has the constitutional duty to originate tax legislaton. The Senate can not do it. I believe it is our duty to pass tax bills today though we may not agree that they are the best. But I do not know of any tax bills that we can ever bring in here that will be satisfactory to all the people of Pennsylvania.

Now, Mr. Speaker, in closing, we must realize that we have a large amount of obligations coming due that we must pay.

I hope that before it is too late we will arrive at a tax program; that we tailor our appropriations to that program and we will have a balanced budget.

I think there is not anything that we could do in this General Assembly here, in this House tonight and in the days to come that will do more for Pennsylvania than to bring financial stability to this Commonwealth.

For that reason, I ask the Members of this House to vote for these tax measures.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, as the hour moves on we, of course, listen with great intent to this bill that is before us dealing with the tax measure, part of the Hood-Kennedy Commission Report.

Yes, some of the gentlemen have said tonight that this is a "cookie," but, my friends, it is the cookie you dreamed up. It is exactly what you wanted and how you wanted it in every ine, word for word.

There is no question of doubt that we have placed in print and brought before this House a general Sales Tax bill, a bill tht everyone agrees in every State in the Union that has a sales tax act that is easiest to administer, better to handle, costs less of the tax dollar that you collect.

But we were willing to offer to amend the bill to meet every provision of the Hood-Kennedy Commission Report. You made that decision and we have before us House Bill 665 with a new Printer's number. Yes, my friends, only we can vote on this tax bill. It must originate in this House and no place else. So, my friends, if it is the "cookie" as you want to call it, it is the cookie that you dreamed up and that we are going to vote on here tonight.

You can call this bill or any other bill by any name. It is a tax measure. You can state that there are erroneous calculations on revenue estimates and you can state a fact that past calculations have been erroneous. You can only ask the help of those who are considered experts in each of their respective fields, organization by organization, and then you have to come back to the law of Pennsylvania which says that the Secretary of Revenue must give to the Governor the amount that the tax bill will produce when he is dealing with the budget.

Perhaps there may be slight calculations of adjustments; perhaps there may be errors of a small nature. Can you pinpoint precisely the amount that you are sure two years from now each of these sections will produce? No surer than you were two years ago in the figures you used. I am sure they were honest calculations of estimates of what it would produce at that time.

Perhaps the argument goes back to budget first, or taxes first. We outlined the policy in this House in which we said taxes first, and the budget to be tailored to fit the total tax revenue.

There is no question that you and I, we together, have been pleading day after day individually as Members, asking for more money for schools, for hospitals, for mentally defective children, for the things that touch your hearts. You each know where every dollar of this money will be spent in the budget after you have approved it.

You know quite well that the budget at this point will be the budget that you will act upon and pass in this House after you have passed the tax measures.

I know that political parties may differ on tax proposals; political parties may differ on approaches to a tax problem, but on this we agree that 76 percent of the proposed budget goes back to the communities, to the hospitals, to the scools in your town, in my town, in your city, in your neighbor's city.

You cannot deny the fact that you want this money, and so do we, for mental health, for education, for the services that only the Commonwealth can give to the people which the people themselves cannot provide.

The Governor formed the Commission of distinguished men of industry and labor, bi-partisan in every respect, known as the Hood-Kennedy Tax Study Commission. This commission presented a report to the Governor and a portion of this report is before us tonight in legislative form.

It is very easy to be a statesman and ask for appropriations for your school, for your hospital, and never provide any votes for a tax measure. I do not think that that type of statesman is a part of this House, or ever will be, for each of us will accept our responsibilities and one of the responsibilities that we will accept here in this Session will be that we will act with an honest budget in every respect; act with an estimate of revenues that the taxes will produce; a budget that I think has been classified in other statements of other speakers in this House

For each of those who are asking for more and none of you is happy as to the amount in the budget. I believe other men have said in this House that whenever no one is happy, perhaps it is pretty fair. Perhaps this budget that you talk about here tonight, which is a part of this tax program, is the budget that finally will place Pennsylvania on the stability that it actually should have been on for years, and we owe the obligation to see that we try to do that very thing as nearly as possible when estimating revenue two years in advance.

Perhaps when you talk about estimated revenue, it is well to think of a question that was raised by a prior speaker here tonight, that the revenue collected in one month is estimated at $11 million. That I think we pretty well agree on in this proposal, and I think we are pretty well agreed that if a law was in effect in the month of April the reports would arrive in the month of May, with the taxes collected in the month of April. I think that would be pretty simple. And the taxes collected in the month of May level would be reported in June and received in the Department. I do not think anyone denies that. So $11 million would be the figure that would appear in that particular amount for that month.

Perhaps I should clear another question that was raised here tonight. How hastily was this tax bill drawn? Perhaps it was drawn hastily if what you talk about is whether there was a series of hearings on the bill. But let us say that those who worked with this proposed legislation, the tax consultants, the men who drew these bills, have worked very hard and carefully in trying to make this bill, House Bill 665, Printer's No. 180, conform to the basic policy as outlined in the Hood-Kennedy Tax Commission Report. If on page 43, as the error in the item was brought up, would you not agree that on page 43 there would still have to be an amendment because it does read "Effective April 1, 1959" as well as at the end of the bill? Would there be any question that it would have to be amended to provide for the change from the effective date that this law would become effective?

Perhaps on some other pages there is an occasional word that needs to be corrected, but the basic outline of the bill provides just what was stated as far as revenue is concerned.

There is no question that it taxes those things that are outlined in the report, and there is no question that it excludes from taxation anything that is not mentioned in the bill of the proposed legislation.

Mr. Speaker, perhaps tonight we are making our first test of just how sincere we are in providing the money for education and mental health, how sincere we are that we want the things for our communities. Perhaps we are stating into the record where we stand on many issues. Perhaps we have come to the point that we will resolve the situation by providing bi-patrisan tax measures, bipartisan in every respect, in addition to votes on the tax measures.

I hope that we have come to that point which was mentioned before that in 1953, time and time again, a statement of policy was injected on the floor of this House and statements in the newspapers and on television have continued to state that the tax votes were lacking. Yes, my friends, the record is right for '53, but would the same record be right for '55? would the same record be right for '57? As I stand here before you, I say that I voted, as did many Members on this side of the aisle, in support of a tax program in '55, it was really 1956 at that point. And did we not vote together, both on the right and on the left, in the passage of the Selective Sales and Use Tax Act in '57? I know I did. I know others did in the Hall of this House.

So perhaps we have grown up enough to have quit slapping each other in the face over prior positions on taxes which was the position of all of us who are responsible for the state government which we represent and were obligated to carry out when we took the oath of office.

Yes, Mr. Speaker, there is no question that we can appeal, we can ask and we can try and hope that tonight is not a hurried hour, it is not a dramatic show, when we are voting on taxes, for each of us agree, and unless we provide the revenue for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to operate this state of ours, that we are responsible for the revenue lost by not enacting the legislation which we will eventually have to meet face-on, either in reduction in a general appropriation bill—and you know what items face the tax. Mr. Speaker, the Governor of this great Commonwealth, I think has proposed to us and given to us the opportunity to discuss and examine a fair and honest budget, a budget that is fair and honest because no one is satisfied, every one who contacts him or contacts us on this side have only one request, that they want their section of the budget increased, and I am sure you want it increased for your hospital, for your schools. You want it for your communities but first you will provide the taxes—we will in this House—to pay for that which we are going to help each of those with in this battle of financial stability of this Commonwealth. This is a fair and honest appraisal of the situation that has taken place in this House tonight, in which two major political parties have debated the issue of a proposed tax legislation. They have stated their positions they have disagreed at times, but each have agreed that Pennsylvania needs to be placed on a financially stable ground, which will cut out this financial chaos in operating state government. I only hope, I can only ask that the tax proposals that we propose, the tax proposals that were voted on, may be in the cross opinions of each of us the best program that we know how to present, for, my friends, as I said earlier, we accept it as a tax program we will vote on. The Governor has accepted financial responsibility and rightly so, and, Mr. Speaker, we can do no more than vote on this measure which affects every Pennsylvanian in every community in Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—4

Knecht, Thompson, Weidner, Willard,

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

STATEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Cair suggests that at their earliest convenience the Majority and the Minority Leaders in this House arrange for a bi-partisan conference at the Legislative level, conferences designed to make possible a bi-partisan solution of the pressing tax problems which confronts you and the people of our Commonwealth.

The situation calls for bi-partisan endeavor because we are dealing with bi-partisan proposals, bi-partisan action, not in substance, not in shadow.

We cannot finance the essential needs and services by righteous intent, nor can we resolve them by bitter controversy.

At the request of the respective floor leaders, but only if they so request, the Chair will appoint a bi-partisan conference committee which will be expected to prepare, for the consideration of the Ways and Means Committee that serves this House, a tax program which will not only finance the Commonwealth's essential financial needs but also command the Legislative and Executive support necessary in securing the approval of Pennsylvania's General Assembly.

In this matter the House must necessarily act or proclaim to the world its impotence. We should welcome the suggestions of committees, official and unofficial.

Pennsylvanians are not overtaxed. Our state has vast resources. If we tap them wisely and adequately with the wand of the law, adequate streams of revenue will flow forth.

In this matter the Chair, we repeat, awaits the decision of the respective floor leaders, and also craves the cooperation of our Chief Executive to the end that tax legislation in obedience to constitutional mandate may originate in this House.

If there are suggestions from any source more relevant to the needs of the hour than those advanced by the Chair, let us have them forthwith, and, if so, the Chair's suggestions will be considered as something that have never been said.

Let whosoever runs be he who travels the fastest pace. Perhaps the program that fell tonight might shine with brighter hue when we endeavor to replace it with one that is all our own. We cannot replace something that is real with something that we simply dream about.

And let us be mindful of this fact as we consider our financial endeavors and as we consider the mission of a bi-partisan conference committee trying to bring together the parties in this House. Let us remember this, that every time we pull a dollar out of the bill that fell this evening, if it remains fallen, we must needs find another dollar somewhere to take its place.

The Chair thanks you for your indulgence in listening.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe the Chair is very, very sincere in his request at this time that we have a bi-partisan committee to make a searching study of the tax problem. I think it is laudatory and will certainly deserve a lot of study on this side of the House.

Bi-partisonship here, of course, is something new. Maybe it is something new in Pennsylvania now that we have such a closely divided House. I have always believed in the two-party system. I think America has become great, as I said here before, because of the two-party system. I think we must have it in order to have an intelligent and informed public opinion. I believe that we must debate the issues on this flor so that we have a crystallized public opinion and after the Session is over we will all stand before the bar of public opinion.

Bi-partisonship, however, should be a two-way street, not a one-way street. The Governor was asked, about a month ago, are you going to reappoint a certain person in this Commonwealth to a very high job. He said, "Why no, I have somebody else for that job—a Democrat."

If we lend our aid, put our shoulders to the wheel, help raise $1,907 billion, is the Governor once in a while going to appoint, say, a Republican to a judgeship throughout the county, or is he going to appoint somebody to a subcabinet head or position on the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board, a member of the Game Commission, a member of the Fish Commission, a good job in the Department of Revenue. I say it should be a two-way street, not a one-way street.

Already in this Capitol we understand that even people on Civil Service are being importuned to change their affiliation from Republican to Democrat or they will be sorry. People are losing their jobs all over Capitol Hill. I think bi-partisanship is great as long as it is a two-way street. If that is the spirit in which we will address this problem, and that we will get a square deal when we have left the halls of this Legislature when we finally adjourn, we will sit down with good humility, with honesty and integrity and try and come up with a decent program.

The SPEAKER. The Chair endeavored to hand the Minority Leader a rose and he returns to me a nettle.

RECESS REQUESTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask at this time for the House to be in recess while we have a short conference. We will be right back.

The SPEAKER. For how long would we recess; to what time?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the membership on this side of the House that we will vote tonight on the Korean Bonus Cigarette Tax bill and the bond bill which are known as House Bills 619 and 620.

There will be a request from the other side regarding a caucus. I would like to inform all of our Members that whatever time they designate as the return time, that all of our Members be on the dot in the House so that we can get out of here that much sooner this morning.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we would like to hold a 20-minute caucus. We will be back here at ten minutes after, if you please.

The SPEAKER. The Minority Leader has requested permission to hold a Republican caucus not to exceed a 20-minute period. The Chair hears no objection.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. The Chair declares a recess for twenty minutes for the purpose of a Republican Caucus.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AGNEW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

The Speaker made a statement from the rostrum wherein he asked for a bipartisan approach to the solution to the tax problems before the House. The Speaker concluded his statement by asking the membership of this House for their suggestions, if any they had, and he asked for those suggestions forthwith.

I, forthwith, have such a suggestion.

In the days of Ancinet Rome, Mr. Speaker, after the death of Julius Caesar, Rome was governed by a triumvirate. In modern Pennsylvania, apparently, we are governed by such a triumvirate consisting of Lawrence, Hood and Kennedy.

Mr. Speaker, my suggestion, basically, is this: Let us go back one step. The Governor appointed a committee to recommend taxes for this Legislature's consideration, thereby taking the Governor off the hook. The Governor, as we all know is an old political pro. Perhaps it is an act of political astuteness that the Governor should present such a program to this Legislature and have it referred to as the Hood-Kennedy Tax proposal.

My suggestion is that the Governor accept the responsibility of presenting the Lawrence program to this House and that the majority membership of this House take that program and enact it. In other words, Mr. Speaker, my suggestion is that the Goveronor lead, not push.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WHEELER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

There has been a lot of conversation as to whose responsibility it is to get ready a tax program for this House. As Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, I assume it must be ours.

If this House wants a tax program that will pass the 107 Democrats I have one in mind that will do it and I shall present it forthwith—within the next week.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, before we close, I think it entirely in order that we express to the officials responsible for the refreshments in the ante room our deep thanks for the same. It made a little more tolerable this late midnight session. I will make a motion to that effect.

The SPEAKER. The motion is unanimously adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am not interested in patronage for myself, for my wife, for my thirteen-year-old daughter, for anybody from my legislative district and I am quite certain that is the uuanimous opinion of the Republicans on this side of the House. That is my opinion.

This is not a funny matter. We are facing a tax crisis in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania somewhat similar to the crisis that Franklin D. Roosevelt faced in the pre-war days of World War II. At that time, Mr. Roosevelt named a Stimson and Knox.

If the Governor wants to make such an appointment without any consideration of votes and so forth, that is his responsibility. If he wants to build up a political machine, that is his responsibility. Time will tell.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCORMACK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Inasmuch, Mr. Speaker, as it probably is the intention of this Legislature to go on all night, I feel as though I ought to make a statement with respect—

The SPEAKER. It is not necessary.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I have been sitting in this House since 12 midnight tonight, listening with great interest to the debate that accompanied House Bill 665. It seemed to me that the statements made tonight were either intellectually dishonest on the part of some of the Members—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order. Such imputations are entirely improper on the floor of this House.

Mr. McCORMACK. —or were not based upon a knowledge of facts. Be that as it may—

The SPEAKER. You can call them ignorant, but you cannot call them dishonest.

Mr. McCORMACK. Be that as it may, Mr. Speaker, when I read the pronouncements of the Governor, both his inaugural address and his message accompanying the budget, I was of the impression that the tax program was conceived in a spirit of bi-partisanship, and I say bi-partisanship because as a result of the Hood-Kennedy Tax Commission there evolved recommendations to amend the Sales Tax Act.

Now the Sales Tax was a tax that was always obnoxious to the Democratic Party, and in 1953 we, to a man, were opposed to it on principle. But inasmuch as we recognized that it was impossible in this Commonwealth to enact a tax program that was based upon the Democratic party's ideals and principles we submitted thereafter to the will of the majority of this House and went along as the Majority Leader previously stated with the Sales Tax.

Governor Lawrence, and I say this in all sincerity is the greatest Governor that has ever graced the Chair in this Commonwealth, and I am well-aware of the fact that the Minority in this House know that to be true. For that reason they are fighting to stop him from making a record.

The gentleman from Allegheny, apparently unaware of the facts, stated that Governor Lawrence did not accept the personal responsibility for the Hood-Kennedy Tax Commission report. Nothing could be further from the truth and if the gentleman and the Members of this House will only refer to the Governor's budget message, and I have it in front of me, on page 5 and I will quote,

> "As Governor, I now urge you to adopt the recommendations of the Hood-Kennedy report with a complete willingness on my part to accept personal and party responsibility in the matter."

That is on the record and nobody can deny it or dispute it. It is a party and personal responsibility that we on the Democratic side are willing to accept along with the Governor.

I have introduced a bill to amend the Constitution to provide for a graduated income tax. That has always been bitterly opposed by the other side. We have had manufacturer's excise taxes and they, too, have been bitterly opposed.

If it is the mark of a statesman to want to increase appropriations and at the same time not to vote for tax legislation, then I am thankful that I am not a statesman, but, Mr. Speaker, I too feel with the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Wheeler, that maybe we should have a manufacturer's excise tax, and if he is not thinking of that tax then I am certainly going to prepare a bill and ask that it come before the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this, of course, could go on for quite some time. I would like to get to the special order of business on the next two bills as soon as possible.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognized the Majority Leader for that purpose.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have to yield to Mr. Bonner from Carbon County, who asked for the floor before the other two speakers. He was standing and waiting.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader yields to the gentleman from Carbon, Mr. Bonner.

Mr. BONNER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Majority Leader. Tonight was a hard and bitter pill for us who thought differently on this tax proposal. This so-called bi-partisan tax proposal shows no bi-partisan support, so I want to propose to the Democratic leadership in this House that we return to Democratic principles, that we go back to a fair, just and equal tax with ability to pay, and the Democratic party will still remain the party of the people.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader has the floor but he yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, he asks for one minute. I will have to yield to him one minute. I would like to get to the special order of business as soon as possible.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Thank you, Mr. Speaker and Mr. McCann.

At least we have discovered one thing here this evening, if nothing more, that there isn't such unanimity on the other side, as they would lead us to believe. We notice that the shock troops at least disagreed with the leadership on two important points this evening.

First of all, about the statement as to jobs, and, secondly, as to whose tax program this was. The higher echelon of the party on the other side stated that it was Mr. Lawrence's program. The shock troops, however, disagreed. I think that is important for the record.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Majority Leader who has the floor.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have been very patient. I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, and then I am making the motion.

Mr. AGNEW. Thank you, I ask only for 30 seconds. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, commented upon my remarks and I would like to comment briey upon his.

He talked about facts. These are some facts we know. The Governor appointed the so-called Hood-Kennedy Committee. It was composed solely of big business, big labor and big government. Who on that committee repsented the people of Pennsylvania? I say that the Governor has been hiding behind the skirts of this committee that he hand-picked. I say that the Governor may be politically astute, but in this instance, at least, he has no political guts.

The SPEAKER. The Members of the House will pardon the Chair for observing that at this time bitter partisan speeches simply dig a pit into which progress and common sense must inevitably fall. You can be as bitterly partisan as you like, but you cannot solve the problems that face us in view of the alignment, unless we can cultivate a spirit of cooperation—we may not like 'em but we have got to learn to love 'em.

The Chair, having made his speech, recognizes the Majority Leader.

HOUSE BILL No. 619 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. McCann. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 619, Printer's No. 116, bills on third reading, be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, House Bill No. 619, Printer's No. 116.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 619, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Pennsylvania Cigarette Tax Act of 1957" approved July 8, 1957 (P. L. 594) imposing an additional state excise tax to provide funds to repay principal interest and costs incurred by the sale of bonds issued to create the Korean Conflict Veterans' Compensation Fund.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House bill No. 619, Printer's No. 116, simply amends the law of 1957 in which one-half cent per ten cigarettes is added in the cost of cigarettes, for the Korean Veterans' Compensation Fund. Very briefly, one cent per pack. I do not think we need to debate tonight regarding this particular bill. It simply provides the funds for the bonds, and the tax is specifically earmarked for this particular operation of the Korean Conflict Veterans' Compensation Sinking Fund.

The effective date of the act is May 1, 1959, and, Mr. Speaker, I hope we will vote on the bill as soon as possible. I ask that all the Members of this House support the House bill No. 619 dealing with the cigarette tax of one-half cent for ten cigarettes.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I do not consider this measure a tax measure but rather a bonus for the Korean veterans. This is merely the culmination of something that started back in 1957 and which was on the ballot in the state of Pennsylvania in November of 1957. It was an amendment to the Constitution which went before the people of Pennsylvania and which passed by a vote of 1,117,376 to 495,850 over 2 to 1.

In addition, beside the fact that the people of Pennsylvania have said they want this Korean bonus paid, of course a tax had to be enacted to pay it, the Republican party in its platform of 1958 said in eight brief words what we thought should be done. Those words were "We pledge prompt payment of the Korean bonus." I ask those on this side of the House who feel as I do to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Vol. 36. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 31, 1959. No. 27.

SENATE

TUESDAY, MARCH 31, 1959.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PAUL S. MONTGOMERY, Pastor of the United Church of Aspinwall, Presbyterian, Aspinwall, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O God of light and the life eternal, of Whose righteous will all things were created and are sustained, we thank Thee that Thou hast gathered our people into a great Nation and the people of this Commonwealth into a great State. Deepen the root of the life of our citizens in everlasting righteousness. Make us equal to our trusts, reverent in the use of our freedoms, just in the exercise of power and generous in the protection of weakness.

In Thine infinite wisdom and goodness, direct the hearts and minds of these Thy servants assembled in this Senate Chamber. Enable them, with the power of Thy Holy Spirit, to make into law only that which is in accordance with Thy will and for the advancement of right and righteousness. Protect them from the deceits of this world and let no selfish pride or work of unseemly power betray them into the rejection of Thy Commandments.

Now may the love of God, which is broader than the measure of man's mind, the grace of our living Lord Jesus, which is sufficient for all our needs, and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit, Who shall lead us into all truth, be with us all this day and throughout life. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CONFAIR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, the bill I am about to present is to eliminate something which we do not use much any more and that is the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission. We have three offices; one in Philadelphia, one in Scranton and one in Pittsburgh.

At one time, the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission took in more money than the State expended. However, recently, we have not had many boxing bouts in the State of Pennsylvania. I just want to state that the way it looks to me, we have had about thirty-six boxing exhibitions in 1958; twenty-eight in 1957; and thirty-seven in 1956.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am introducing this bill in order to eliminate the Commission and put it into the Department of State where a deputy will take over this work.

I also suggest that we eliminate from our budget $100,000 which we can save. We need the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission like we need a horse and buggy. I think we should save the $100,000. That would leave about $47,000 for the deputy to take care of the Commission's work in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the bill I am about to present may be a visionary bill, but I believe eventually it will be adopted. It may not happen during this Session, but who knows; anything is bound to happen.

After the converge on the highways of Pennsylvania, which resluted during the week end in many fatalities, I feel that this bill will be most helpful during the crucial moments after an accident to help to save lives. This bill provides that on each Operator's License, there should be printed the type of blood the operator has. When his life has to be saved and it is a question of only a few split moments, instead of stopping to ascertain what type blood he has, help could immediately be rushed to him.

I am, therefore, Mr. President, introducing this bill.

MEMBERS OF THE CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP SEMINAR, PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF CHURCHES, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I wish to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate the fact that there is a special group here in the Chamber this afternon. They are from the Christian Citizenship Seminar of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches, under the leadership of Mrs. John Mahaley, of Wellsboro.

I offer no apology for saying that my favorite member of this group is Mrs. Helen Hays, of State College. I wonder if these people will please rise and be greeted by the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. I certainly hope they will. We are very glad to welcome you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, it has been reported to me from time to time that there are many interstate truckers using the Pennsylvania Turnpike who are exceeding the weight limits authorized by the Act of Assembly in the 1955-1956 Session, which increased the weights from 50,000 pounds to 60,000 pounds for tractors and semi-trailers. According to the best information available, there have been no arrests on the Pennsylvania Turnpike for overweights, although the Turnpike Commission has spent thousands of dollars installing scales. As you know, the turnpike rates for trucks are based on weights. It thus appears that the money expended for scales is merely for the purpose of determining the fees rather than the rates. This is unfair to local truckers who are restricted to the 60,000 pound maximum limitation.

Certainly to condone weight violations on the Pennsylvania Turnpike merely to increase the revenues is unfair not only to the traveling public as a whole, but to the local truckers. The roads are damaged to an immeasurable extent by overweighted trucks, and the illegal operation by interstate truckers should not be winked at. It is my hope that by requesting the Attorney General to render on Opinion to the Governor of this Commonwealth and to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, regarding the legality of such action, if true, that such practices will stop and that the citizens of this Commonwealth, whether they be ordinary traveling motorists or local truckers, will be placed on an equal footing with the out-of-State truckers.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE ATTORNEY GENERAL TO RENDER AN OPINION ON THE LEGALITY OF ALLOWING VEHICLES WHICH EXCEED MAXIMUM WEIGHT AND SIZE LIMITATIONS TO OPERATE OVER THE TURNPIKE AND EXTENSIONS

Mr. EHRGOOD offered the following resolution (Serial No. 20), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 31, 1959.

Effective January 1, 1956, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission established toll schedules providing rates for the movement over the Turnpike and the extensions thereto of vehicles which exceed the maximum weight and size limitations which the Legislature has made applicable to the highways of this Commonwealth. At the present time, and for a considerable period, the Commission, upon the collection of the tolls provided for by such schedules, has permitted vehicles having weights or size, or both, exceeding the maximum limitations to operate over the Turnpike and extensions thereto.

There appears to be a serious question as to whether this action by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission is lawful and consistent with the legislation of this Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Attorney General, after study of this matter, render an opinion to His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, regarding the legality of the above described action of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Attorney General.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I request the immediate consideration of this resolution?

The President. Is there objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to the immediate consideration of this resolution at this time.

I believe Senator Ehrgood has the information which he states he has. Knowing him to be a man of great veracity and great integrity, I do not doubt his word. However, I think this matter should be made known to the members of the appropriate committee in order for them to consider it. I also believe that we should have the opportunity to take this matter up with the State Police, who patrol this highway and who would have more pertinent statistics on it. I think this would be better than any rather hurried consideration given by this Body.

Therefore, Mr. President, I respectfully ask that the resolution be referred to committee for further study and for such action as the committee may take. The Chairman of the State Government Committee said he would be very interested in helping to look into this matter.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution, in view of the objection, is referred to the Committee on Highways.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair wishes to state that he is presiding at the direction of the President pro tempore, M. Harvey Taylor.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, we have been reading a great deal about the Governor's tax program. I would like to read, for the record, a radio speech made by the Speaker of the House of Representatives in Johnstown, regarding the proposal which has been given to the Legislature; especially to the House, at the present time. I think it is worth putting into the record, and I would like to read it at this time.

The following is a radio talk given by Hiram Andrews, Speaker of the House of Representatives, a few days ago. The headlines are:

"Andrews Blasts Executive Dictates

"SHOULD GEN. ASSEMBLY BE A RUBBER STAMP?

"Only 15 of 90 Democrats who Voted for Sales Tax Bill Believed in it.

"There is a bigger issue pending in Harrisburg than who is to be taxed and how much. The big issue is this: Do we have a Legislature that is geared to legislate on it's own? Is the Legislature a coordinate branch of our state government? Is it the business, the duty of legislators to do what they are told to do? Should they, at the word of command, support measures they had no part in framing? Measures that were not considered on their merits by Legislative committees? Measures framed by commissions or committees not responsible to the people? Measures so sacrosanct that the Legislature is not to be privileged to change them in any way.

"Members of the High Command in Harrisburg are quoted as saying that the tax measure that fell was defeated by the lobbyists.

"Well, there are all kinds of lobbyists. For example someone in Harrisburg calls up the Democratic County Chairman and tells him to get busy and line up his county Legislators for the Governor's tax bill.

"The tax bill that was defeated is objectionable by reason of the manner and method of its inception. It is objectionable by reason of its content. But in view of the existing situation it must be admitted that it is better than no bill at all. The State needs the money now. But the overshadowing issue, when all is said and done, is not whether the Governor's tax bill stands or falls but whether our Legislature stands or falls as a Legislature.

"And I hold that the Governor's tax bill is not now and never can become, a party measure.

"With all of its faults and virtues, if any, it is a non-partisan measure. And unless it develops nonpartisan support, it will have, and continue to have, hard sledding in the House."

Mr. President, I would like to interject at this point to say that it is going to have awful tough sledding in the House if they ever expect it to be a nonpartisan measure.

"Democracies do not perish over night. They fall because of changes so gradual that they are not even noted as we come and go.

"If I asked, 'Should we have a Legislature?' the answer, undoubtedly would be, 'Why, certainly.' If I asked, 'Should we have a Legislature that functions as a coordinate branch of our government?" you would probably answer, "Why, yes, certainly.' And you might be wrong.

"Does a controlled Legislature actually legislate? An editorial published this week in the Philadelphia Bulletin talks about Governor Lawrence's failure to 'control the Legislature.' How complete should Executive control be in legislative matters that do not involve party policy? Should Executive control be so complete that negotiation by party leaders in the House must all clear through the Executive funnel? The answer to that is most emphatically no!

"This comment is occasioned by the fact that at Harrisburg Legislative action is stymied by much disagreement.

"Many people are talking about taxes. About the situation that is developing at the State Capitol. Some of those who discuss the tax situation talk sense. Some, there are—who talk nonsense.

"The pending drive against the bill seems to be designed—not to determine what interests should be included in the tax program but to determine what interests should be included out.

"When only self interest speaks, the public interest never is well served.

"However, the controversy is serving as a smoke screen .Controversies regarding taxes is a matter of transient concern. There is a far more important issue pending. That issue embodies the essence of Democratic discontent upon many members of the House—and many members of the Senate behind the scenes. It is likewise the cause of increasing concern among sober-minded Republicans. The pending issue is whether the Pennsylvania House of Representatives should become and remain a shadow, a fiction, an agency through which the Executive branch of our government rubber stamps its increasing regal powers.

"Should we have a General Assembly that is properly vested with the powers of self determination? The answer from the Executive chamber, in the past, and at the present time, seems to be an emphatic No!

"The attitude which the press, the public and the Executive branch of our government, seem to share in equal measure is—that the House of Representatives comprises a leaderless mob, which would, in increasing measure, excite public contempt if there were any Executive Branch of the government ready and willing to curb its revoluties.

"The issue is whether or not to retain representative government as a going concern, or as a mere fiction. The cold hard, distressing fact is that the General Assembly, perhaps, deserve part of the contempt in which it is being held in Executive and scholastic circles.

"Pennsylvania's General Assembly, as of this hour, is endeavoring to serve the Legislative needs of 1959 with Legislative machinery deemed adequate a quarter of a century ago. Our committees have lacked not only a home, they've lacked a permanent committee room in which to meet.

"Our Legislative committees have lacked secretarial assistance, and have been denied the right to fertilize their thinking with technical advice.

"In Administrative circles it is the practice to seek the advice of the wise men of the world. And the net result has been an epidemic of Charlesworths and Fergusons. Perhaps, only those familiar with the Harrisburg scene can appreciate the pertinence of this reference. It was the man Charlesworth, who when Secretary of the Budget, and the man upon whom the former Governor relied, publicly proclaimed his view that the Legislators should all be required to take a literary test. The theories in which Charlesworth's sucessor adheres, or adhered—he's gone, thank heavens) was apparently embodied in the formula that as far as Legislators were concerned, that the thing to do was to catch them young, treat them rough and tell them nothing.

"At various times Pennsylvania's General Assembly has endeavored to equip itself for efficient action—but at the first sign of editorial or Executive disapproval the Legislators in the past, just scampered to their respective Legislative warrens like so many white rabbits.

"All of this brings us up to the present situation. Or at any rate, we hope it does.

"During the past Gubernatorial campaign, candidates at all governmental levels were all inclined to admit that the Commonwealth needed quite a lot of new money in addition to the income from existing taxes. This need for more new money—obviously called for some sort of a tax program. David Lawrence, as soon as his election and calling became assured, decided to appoint a tax study commission. A bi-partisan commission of six Republicans and six Democrats. Members of the commission were all eminent persons, each in his own line. But there wasn't a recognized tax specialist in the lot. Every member of the commission was a very important person in a particular field. He knew something about taxes, at least how taxes would affect his particular sector of Pennsylvania's economy. And if a member of the commission didn't know how a particular tax would affect his particular economy he could always summon a battery of tax lawyers to inform him. There were no experienced Legislators who were members of the commission. No experienced Legislators would have framed a tax structure with a framework so rigid that it could not even be bent at any point. Or a tax structure that did not carry, at least, one compromise feature: something that could be traded.

"The members of the commission, quite properly, did not pretend that they were sucking a tax program out of their economic thumbs. They relied on tax writing specialists. Pennsylvania Economy League personnel wrote the Tax Commission's tax program. The Tax Commission did exactly the thing, in one respect, that a properly organized Legislative committee would be expected to do. The commission retained the services of recognized tax technicians. There is no evidence that the commission outlined a tax policy and then instructed its technicians to tailor a tax structure in line with that policy. The technicians outlined policy—just as they outlined procedure.

"The commission's report was, in due season, handed to the Governor. It was fashioned after the law of the Medes and Persians: statutes imutable, not subject to change. It was a bi-partisan tax proposal that carried with it no obligation as to bi-partisan support.

"And that was major mistake number one.

"In due season the bi-partisan effort was submitted to the General Assembly. It was submitted as a party measure. The Tax Commission report was framed without any member of the House having been consulted as to content or as to policy. The Democratic floor leader was not consulted. The Democratic Caucus chairman was not consulted. The Democratic chairman of the Appropriations Committee was not consulted. The Democratic chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee in which tax programs are supposed to originate, was not consulted. Perhaps Senators were consulted. We wouldn't know.

"In an effort to secure bi-partisan support for the Tax Commission's report there were conferences at the Executive level. There were no conferences at the Legislative level, however. If, when it had been introduced five Republican members of the House, secured as a result of conferences, were willing to vote for the Tax Commission's report the bill could have been referred to committee, reported the same day, passed on first reading, second reading, third reading and sent to the Senate in three days. The Executive branch of the government would have been in complete control of the situation—if it had followed such a course.

"So here was a situation. The tax bill was written by a commission which was not in any way responsible to the public. The Tax Commission report did not in any sense embody the Legislature's will. It was not submitted to the Democratic House caucus as something to be discussed and perchance, revised. It was submitted as something that must need be swallowed whole, without amendment, no i's were to be dotted and no t's were to be crossed.

"If that is the way legislation is to be enacted, there is no need for a Legislature. The Governor is the commander of his party—we agree. Perhaps the Generals in the Army are expendable. Perhaps the party army is expendable from the commander's point of view. But suppose the privates refuse to be expended?

"The tax bill that fell in the House actually had only 90 votes. Of those 90 votes there were probably 15 votes that were actually cast for the bill because the persons who cast them liked the bill. Votes cast by members who liked the bill—I repeat. And there were at least 75 votes for the Governor's bill cast for that bill out of personal regard for the Governor and not cast because of the merits of the bill.

"But we supported it, as we say, because it was the measure the Governor wanted passed. If we are to have legislation there must need be conferences at the Legislative level. If all of the conferences are held at the Executive level, then Legislative responsibility becomes a fantom.

"Now let's face the bitter truth. Pennsylvania's General Assembly was not equipped, not trained for the job a Legislature faces when a tax program must be devised. The House Ways and Means Committee, armed with a technical staff, should have begun work on a tax program the day the House was organized. We say it wouldn't have had the facts at its disposal. Exactly. And that's the rub. A properly organized Legislative machine would have the facts at its disposal. The Constitution says that tax bills should originate in the House of Representatives. We have a great respect for civilian commissions; although some commissions have a livelier sense of the desirable than they have of the possible.

"We can change our form of government, if that it what the people want. If we want it that way we can have the Governor refer legislative problems to commissions and then decree the commission's report as the law of the land. That's the procedure that the Pennsylvania people can have, if that is what the people of Pennsylvania want. It is not the sort of program that appeals to me.

"Hiram G. Andrews
"In Dispelling the Fog
"Radio Talk—3/21/59"

Mr. President, I want to make just one brief statement about Hiram Andrews' speech. He continues to talk about a bipartisan measure. As far as I am concerned, I do not see anything bipartisan about it. I had no part in naming any of those members of the commission, as they are called. They are not responsible to the people of Pennsylvania as this Legislature is. In my opinion, I think it is a screen behind which Dave Lawrence is hiding by going to the people of Pennsylvania and saying that it is a bipartisan measure.

I would like to bring out one more thing. If you will recall, back in 1955, when we had a very scant margin in the House,—I believe we had 107 Republicans at that time and we only needed 105 votes to pass the bill—Members of the House of Representatives, in two cases, were brought in on stretchers in order for them to vote for the bill. Incidentally, those two men have died since then as a result of heart attacks. Hi Andrews said, "We will not give you one single vote. It is your responsibility. The people voted you into office and it is your responsibility to pass that tax measure. We are not going to give you one single vote." He did not do it, and I hope that the Members of the House stick to their guns and give not one vote for the measure as it has been proposed to the Legislature by Governor Lawrence.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am happy to see that the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, has gotten himself a new speech writer. He may have a little difficulty reading some of those words, but we get the general trend and the general pitch.

I remember—and I believe Senator Pechan would want me to bring it to the attention of this Body—when the gentleman from Armstrong sat next to me at the Governor's Mansion at the time the work of the commission was presented to all of us. At that time, I did not hear him voice any objection to that commission's report. I have not heard him since that day, until this very moment, say that he was against the report.

I do not think there is anything wrong with the commission looking into these different matters. As a matter of fact, I think this Legislature has a Joint State Government Commission itself. I think if the truth were known, and I am sure that none of us object to it being known, many people who are experts in the field usually sit with the Members of the Legislature, as well as the staff of the Joint State Government Commission, and prepare and do a lot of work for the Members of the Legislature who serve on the committees of that Commission. Their report is then sent over to the Legislature and we then act on it as we see fit.

I believe Senator Pechan is also aware of the fact that we in this Senate tried to sit down and enact a program made up by this Body. We got absolutely nowhere. As a matter of fact, we spent seventeen months in Session trying to work out that type of problem.

I would very respectfully say to Senator Pechan that if he feels the commission is a bad commission or that the people on it are dishonest or in any way intellectually not the type of people we should listen to, I would suggest that he introduce his own bill and perhaps we will be able to get a bipartisan measure here. I also would suggest to Senator Pechan that he read the report of the commission very thoroughly. They are merely recommendations. They do not say that we must take this matter, do anything with it or in any way handle it.

I think Senator Pechan, himself, has claimed he has been a victim of having been misquoted in the newspapers several times. This article he just read from a newspaper might not be a direct quote of Mr. Andrews. It may very well be, althought, that it is a direct quote. It is Mr. Andrews' personal feeling about this matter and all of us are entitled to our own personal feelings.

However, when we are dealing with people who are mentally ill, when we are dealing with distressed areas, when we are dealing with highways, and when we are dealing with all the problems which face us in this Commonwealth, I do not think we can stand up here and blithely just go on our way and take undue credit or even take pride in authorship. If we have a problem presented to us and we have somebody else return to us, or in some way give us an answer to that problem which fits in with what we are trying to do, I think it ill behooves us to stand up and throw dirt or mud at the people who are trying to help out in this situation.

I would think that Senator Pechan would also tell this Body that the members serving on this commission are bipartisan. I believe the commission was evenly divided between Republicans and Democrats, and also between labor and industry. I would like to know from Senator Pechan the particular person, serving on this commission, whom he finds objectionable from the point of view of taking his advice.

I also believe that Senator Pechan has sat in on many, many conferences in this matter. At every conference, he was told, and it was stated publicly I believe, that the Democratic Party will take full responsibility for this tax program. I think that until the bill comes before us and we have an opportunity to look at it and study it and decide what we are going to do, I do not think Senator Pechan should give out gratuitously this advice and these comments as he has been doing. This is especially true, when they are read out of a newspaper and are actually comments attributed to someone else.

If Senator Pechan is against this bill and against this philosophy of taxing, I would like to call to his attention that he has voted for a sales tax, to my knowledge, in three separate Sessions of the Legislature. Just because the makeup of the Body has changed or the front office has changed, I cannot understand how Senator Pechan can now turn a back flip and go in a different direction than he went before. If he feels that the sales tax is an ill conceived and illogical tax in this situation, I would be very happy if he would tell me and tell this Body what he thinks is the best method to get us out of the present dilemma we are in. Until Senator Pechan does that, I think all the rest of this is merely political talk, and not the type of discussion to be taking up the time of this Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, Senator Weiner asked me to introduce a bill in the Senate. He knows very well that no tax raising measures can be initiated in the Senate.

Yes, I voted for the sales tax bill and I will vote for it again. However, I know I am not sure whether I am going to vote for a three and one-half per cent sales tax, which is as inclusive as the one that came over to us. I am not sure that we need $400,000,000 more. Why did the Governor not appoint a commission to study where we could cut the budget; where we could save some money; where we could take some fat out of the budget? If I am convinced that we need the $400,000,000, I promise you that I will be one of the first to vote for it. You are going to need four Republican votes and if I am convinced that Governor Lawrence needs this money, I will vote for it.

I also want to say to Senator Weiner that I was reading exactly what the Speaker of the House of Representatives said over the radio. He has not denied it. I know that many people have talked to him about it. I am not slinging any mud. I merely read what the Democratic Speaker of the House said over the radio on the 21st of March, the first day of Spring.

I want to say that none of those people who are on that commission are objectionable to me. However, they do not have any responsibility as far as raising the money is concerned. It is a responsibility of mine and I am going to have to be convinced that that is the amount of money needed. Until I am convinced, I am not going to think about voting for that measure. When the Governor appointed a nonpartisan commission to come up with a tax measure, he also should have apopinted a nonpartisan commission to study how to cut the budget.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not know that the tax bill is before us. I do not think it is even over here. My last report was that it was in the House and had been defeated. That is the position it is in today and, therefore, we do not have that problem here. It may very well be that when the bill comes over here in its final form, I may have to agree with Senator Pechan. The reverse might be true, and he might have to agree with me and supply one of the four votes needed to pass the bill.

The budget is a separate problem, separate and apart from the tax bill. One problem is the ways and means by which you raise the needed revenue and the other is the purposes for which you are going to spend the revenue. I have been attending the meetings of the Appropriations Committee, which has been looking into these departments. I believe many of those members are intelligently asking questions of people who are coming over from different departments, trying to ascertain from them what their needs are and what it covers. I think if Senator Pechan were to attend some of those meetings and ask some questions, he might be of great help to this Senate in helping to ascertain where the fat is in the budget, if there is, in fact, fat.

I would also like to respectfully say to Senator Pechan that if the Commission Report did not appeal to him, I think his time to speak out is now. I think he should tell us where they erred and that we should not accept their report. He should tell us whose report we should accept, or what other method we can take to get into this matter. We are now going into the month of April. After being here all this time, I think it is a little bit late in the game to say that we have been doing this thing all wrong and that we should run a different way now with the ball. If that is his suggestion, I would be very happy to hear from him, as would other Democratic Members. Knowing Senator Pechan to be a man of great influence and affluence, I think he is well aware of the fact that he could talk to some of the House Members, who have some regard for him, and designate to them a method by which he would feel we could raise this money. I think his wise words would have great affect on the House Members and would cause them to introduce a bill that would lead to a proper conclusion, which he could follow later on when it came to the Senate.

I would also like to point out to Senator Pechan that during the last Session of the Legislature, there were forty-two Democratic Members who went along with the Republican Members and helped to pass a sales tax. I think if Senator Pechan is sincere in his desire to arrive at a proper result and not be bound by any commission or by anything anyone may tell him, I think he should get together with a number of his own Members and some of the Democratic Members,—I would be most happy to join them—and let us hear some of the proposals he would make in order to raise the needed revenue, even with the fat cut out of the budget.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, Senator Pechan was here in 1955, during that struggle which lasted some seventeen months, when we were fighting for a tax program. He knows very well that the Leader Administration presented a classified income tax which was killed by the Republican Party. The Leader Administration presented a manufacturers' tax, which was killed by the Republican Party. The only tax which the Republican Party would go for was a sales tax. The sales tax is the only tax the Republicans will favor.

I think it is hypocrisy to say, "Let the Members of the House pass the bill and the vote must be of Democrats only." The Republicans say, "We do not want any responsibility for this sales tax." Yet, it is the only tax the Republicans have for solving the problems of this Commonwealth. I say it is hypocrisy to say, "We hope that the Republicans give no votes to this tax bill in the House." It is hypocrisy because, assuming that the unexpected happens and the Democrats are able to muster 106 votes and the bill finally comes over here, if every Democrat in the Senate votes for this bill we will have twenty-two votes. It must be passed with Republican votes. If it must go through with Republican votes in the Senate, it is no disgrace to the Republicans if they furnish some votes in the House.

In the meantime, Mr. President, I want to call Senator Pechan's attention to the fact that beginning with April 1, we will be losing $367,000 per day.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I agree with my Floor Leader. I do not think the bill is over here and, therefore, I do not think we should take too much of our time in discussing it. However, I just want to say, as I remember it, what the Governor had to say in his Budget Message. He said, "Here is the budget. Take it as it is; trim it or do with it what you might." I presume that is what is going to be done.

Secondly, I remember so well the Governor saying that the Democratic Party would take the responsibility of this tax program and he, as Governor, would take the responsibility. I do not think he could be any more plain than that.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would like to remind the Members of the Senate that the tax bill is not in the hands of the Senate. Certainly, a lot of this discussion is out of order. I would hope that the Members would confine their remarks to that which is proper to be presented to the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I believe we are under Petitions and Remonstrances and I promise you that this is the last time I will get up to speak. I do not care whether they call me a hypocrite or what they call me.

I just want to answer Senator Silvert by saying that if we will be losing $367,000 a day, it is not the Republicans' fault. You have 108 Democratic votes in the House. If you get that bill over here, you will not be losing $367,000 a day. We are going to give you four votes eventually.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, while sitting here and listening to the discourses, it brought to my mind a saying of Senator Walker's: "We are now at the point where we point with pride and view with alarm."

After listening to Senator Pechan's speech, or the reading of Hi Andrews' speech, I would like to quote to Senator Pechan the words of wisdom by old Ben Forbes. He said: "To make headway in the world, first consecrate yourself to your calling, then concentrate." I might say to Senator Pechan that reading Hi Andrews' radio speech is not to his calling. Senator Pechan is a very good dentist.

Mr. WEINER. I hope, Mr. President, that we are now through with taxes until next week, at least. I want to thank Senator Pechan for giving us one vote. We now only need three more.

Mr. President, I now want to take up a very serious problem which is affecting all of us. I know that all of us have been receiving a lot of mail concerning Senate Bill No. 412. As one of the sponsors, I think, in effect, that you owe me a vote of thanks because most of the people who live in your Districts now know who you are and what your address it. I understand that there is supposed to be some real money behind this bill.

I want to publicly say that the real money behind it is the Post Office Department. I think they receive a percentage of every stamp you put on the letters you mail back to the numerous constituents who have written to you.

I think if the lobbyists, who have been writing to all the people living in your areas, would read the bill and also read the remarks that I made when I introduced it, they would be fully aware of what the purpose of this bill is, what the purport of it is, and what is attempting to be done. When I introduced this bill, I cited to you an instance down in Philadelphia where a young boy of about fifteen or sixteen years old, with a gun in his hand, killed a man who was about fifty or fifty-two. The victim was a storekeeper and he left a widow and four children. You and I, as taxpayers in this Commonwealth, will have to take care of these people for the rest of their natural lives or until they are able to make some adjustments for themselves.

The District Attorneys in the State of Pennsylvania, and also the police in the State of Pennsylvania, have asked for this measure. It was with that view in mind that I introduced this bill. I stated publicly that this was an opportunity to give a look-see at this problem of guns being put into the hands of the wrong type of persons. This is not a measure to limit hunters. This is not a desire to prevent people from hunting for recreation, to cause them difficulty, to cost them any more money or to cause them any more problems. This bill has not passed yet, as some of the literature you have received would have you believe. It is merely in committee, which committee is headed by a very eminent gentleman of this Body, Senator Elliott. I am sure he will handle it intelligently. They may decide that it needs amendment or that this may not be the answer to the problem, or they may further decide to hold some hearings on it or may decide to do nothing on it. Whatever Senator Elliott's decision, that is his as the Chairman of the Committee. I am not here to influence him either way.

However, I wish you would write to your constituents and tell them that I am really not as bad a so-and-so as they think I am. Do not tell them the truth. In that way, I think you will be able to cut down on your letter writing and, perhaps, cut down on the people writing to you.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I do not want to presume upon the duties of the Secretary of the Senate, Senator Watson, who carries them out so well, but because of the generous attitude of one of the co-sponsors of Senate Bill No. 412,—and I do appreciate his remarks—and also because of requests of many of the Members of the Senate, I would like to announce for Senator Weiner's benefit, and for the benefit of those Members of the Committee on Law and Order, that there will be a meeting of the committee tomorrow morning, at 10:30 a.m., in the Committee Office, Room 535, on E Floor, for the express purpose of examining and taking another look at Senate Bill No. 412.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am very happy to hear the remarks made by the Chairman of the Committee on Law and Order. To the Members of that committee, I would make the suggestion that when the bill comes up before you, I think someone should make a motion to postpone action until about 1989.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I would just like to say, briefly, that although I am not a member of the committee, but I hope that Senate Bill No. 412 is properly torpedoed and given a decent burial at that meeting.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, April 1, 1959, at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:31 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Wednesday, April 1, 1959, at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, MARCH 31, 1959

The House met at 4:30 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the privilege which is ours of pausing at the beginning of this solemn assembly to call upon Thy Name and give Thee thanks for all the blessings of life. We thank Thee for this day and the part we are privileged to play in it. Even though the Day of Resurrection is past, help us never to forget the glorious message of that day; and enable us to make that message live in the lives of our fellowmen. Keep within our hearts those great eternal truths of faith, hope, and love; and use us as well as our talents to make that truth a reality in the lives of all Thy children. Through Jesus Christ, Thy dear Son, our Lord, Who rose triumphant over death and the grave, and now abides at Thy right hand to make intercession for each one of us, we humbly pray. Amen.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 458, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Public Assistance Law," approved June 24, 1937 (P. L. 2051) prescribing penalties for persons who defraud or attempt to defraud the Commonwealth in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Welfare.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 501, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of May 11, 1911 (P. L. 275) entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures * * *" requiring that inspectors appearing for the Commonwealth in prosecutions be furnished with a certified copy of the transcript or record.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Frank, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FRANK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, some of the Members on this side of the House have had some questions as to exactly what is intended by this bill. I wonder if the gentleman would be good enough to explain what the bill does.

Mr. FRANK. The intent of the bill is that heretofore whenever there was a violation the department had no actual record of it. That is the purpose of this bill.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does the transcript that is required to be furnished under the bill include notes of testimony taken at a hearing?

Mr. FRANK. Will you repeat the question?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I would like to know if the transcript which is required to be furnished, and which is classed as part of the costs in the case, includes notes of testimony taken at a hearing?

Mr. FRANK. I believe not.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Would the gentleman look at the bill and state whether he believes the word "complaint" appearing on line 11 on page 2 of the bill should not be "complainant"?

Mr. FRANK. What was the question?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. On page 2, line 11, of the bill the word "complaint" appears. Is that word correct, or—?

Mr. FRANK. If it is printed, it must be correct.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Will the gentleman look at the bill and state whether he thinks that word is correct or if it should not be "complainant"?

Mr. FRANK. Well, you got me.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Would the gentleman have any objection to having this bill passed over so that it could be studied a little more closely?

Mr. McCANN. I believe we can answer the gentleman's question regarding the word if he will permit us to do so.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Lehigh yield to the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann?

Mr. FRANK. I sure will.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, desire to interrogate the Majority Leader?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I do.

Mr. McCANN. Will the gentleman restate the question?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I asked at this point if the word "complaint" which appears on line 11, page 2, of the bill should not be "complainant" since there is no such animal as "complaint" as being a person in the criminal law.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the same word was discussed when we first checked the bill and in checking the wording of the bill. It is the address of the complaint and the word, according to the Legislative Reference Bureau, is correct as inserted on line 11, page 2. My source of authority lies with them.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Can the gentleman state whether the transcript is intended to include notes of testimony?

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker, I do not—I believe the answer to be, "no".

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. What court would this hearing be held before?

Mr. McCANN. To whatever court would have jurisdiction of the complaint in the Commonwealth when it was filed. For example, I assume, let us say, the Dauphin County Court.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Would the gentleman have any objections to this bill's going over until tomorrow so that we have a chance to check it a little further?

Mr. McCANN. I have no objection to its going over until tomorrow, if the gentleman thinks he can get the answers to his questions and then act on the bill tomorrow. Or does he want it passed over for the balance of the week so we can plan our calendar?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would inform the gentlemen that the bill is beyond the point of passing it over. The Chair would advise the gentlemen to place the bill on the final passage postponed calendar.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I would make such a motion if the Majority Leader would not oppose it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 24, 1959.

During the month of May, 1959, the Society for the Promotion of Kalmyk Culture will celebrate their fifth anniversary as a non-profit organization devoted to the study of the history and culture of the Kalmyk people and of the kindred Oirats. This is an organization of Russian-Mongolians of the Buddhist faith who came to the United States in 1952 and 1953, under the Displaced Persons Act and the majority of which located in Philadelphia where they quickly adjusted themselves to their new homeland.

The main functions of the society are the maintenance of a library, publication of scholarly and literary materials and the organization of activities in the field of Kalmyk studies, the promotion of Kalmyk language and religious schools for children and the sponsorship of a scholarship fund for Kalmyk students in institutions of higher learning.

The Kalmyks originally inhabited the present province of Sinkiang in western China, north of Tibet, and are one of the few remaining representatives of the western branch of the Mongolian race. After the Russian Revolution, they became victims of the totalitarian regime and they were expelled from their native land after resisting attempts to collectivize their entire existence.

The society and its members should be congratulated for their dedication to the principles of liberty, truth and justice in social relations and their nobleness and consciousness in personal conduct and unrestricted mercy in the treatment of all living creatures. Praise should also ring out for their ideals of moral self perfection and their steady aspiration toward the affirmation of spiritual and moral values; the idea of brotherhood among people and the peaceful cooperation of nations and states.

Congratulations should also be given for a job well done to the Friends Neighborhood Guild, the Immigration Service of the Church World Guild and the many other organizations who supplied generous help and moral support and who worked so untiringly and selflessly to bring these people to the United States where they are free to enjoy their religious and intellectual freedom; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly extend their heartfelt congratulations to the Society for the Promotion of Kalmyk Culture on their fifth anniversary; and be it further

Resolved, that copies of this resolution be sent to the society and its chairman, George Zagadinov at 1539 N. Sixth Street, Philadelphia, to Elizabeth Campbell, Executive Director, International Institute, 645 N. Fifteenth Street, Philadelphia, to Francis Bosworth, Director, Friends Neighborhood Guild, 703 N. Eighth Street, Philadelphia and Pearl Buck, Bucks County, Pennsylvania.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1959. 143rd of the General Assembly.

Vol. 36. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1, 1959. No. 28.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, April 1, 1959.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PAUL S. MONTGOMERY, Pastor of the United Church of Aspinwall, Presbyterian, Aspinwall, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, our Father, we thank Thee for this day and the beauty of it; for work to do and the desire to accomplish it. We thank Thee that as our wisdom increases, our sense of dependence upon Thee increasse.

We beseech Thee, our God, for Thy blessing upon all in positions of delegated authority and leadership, the President of our Land and all those associated with him; our Governor and all Legislators assembled here this day. May Thy courageous Spirit be their source of wisdom and guidance in all their deliberations. May the solutions of their varied problems grow clearer as they are held up before Thee.

Displace, we pray Thee, any dismay with encouragement, and any fears with faith.

We confess we do not always know the way we ought to choose; guide us. We do not always know how we ought to behave; show us. We do not always do what we should do; admonish and then forgive us.

Sprinkle the minds and hearts of all with the breath of Thy wisdom and Thy goodness, and so establish the fruits of their actions here today, that their sum total may prove a blessing to the people of this Commonwealth and, above all, redound to Thy Name's honor and glory.

We beseech Thee, O God of all comfort, to draw especially near this day to Mrs. Keller in the sudden passing of her son, Gary. Cause them, and us all, to know that Thy thoughts are not always our thoughts, nor Thy ways our ways, because they are higher than ours. In the midst of their deep sorrow, may they feel the undergirding of Thine everlasting arms of love. Grant us always the grace to trust where we cannot trace the wisdom of Thy providence.

Hear us then, our God, as we commend all before Thee, knowing that Thou art able to do for us exceeding abundance, above all which we ask or think, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KALMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KALMAN. Mr. President and Members of the Legis-Senate, in the late twenties, the Members of the Legislature saw fit to pass the Public Utility Law which, in 1937, was amended and is now the basis of our present Public Utility Law. In 1945, the Members of the Legislature passed the Municipality Authorities Act, and the regulation of rates were the exclusive confines of the Common Pleas Courts in the respective counties.

We now have situations throughout the Commonwealth where many of the water authorities have grown in leaps and bounds. The people who have been aggrieved through the rate structure set up by the members of these authorities or by their consulting engineers, have only had recourse through the Courts of Common Pleas. Unfortunately, many of these authorities cross county lines and the recourse for these aggrieved people has not been too satisfactory. As a matter of fact, we can say that justice has not triumphed as far as they are concerned.

Mr. President, I believe it is my duty and obligation, at this time, to introduce two bills, the first of which amends the Municipality Authorities Act to include the water authorities under the Public Utility Commission for rate structure purposes. In amending the Municipality Authorities Act, it is also necessary to amend the Public Utility Law of 1937 to include these water authorities under the Public Utility Commission.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. KALMAN, MULLIN and KESSLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 550, entitled:

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Sensate Bill No. 551, entitled:

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING THE TAMAQUA HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TEAM, SCHOOL OFFICIALS AND RESIDENTS OF TAMAQUA UPON THEIR HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL BASKETBALL SEASON

Mr. WAGNER offered the following resolution which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 1, 1959.

During the recently completed basketball season, the "finest basketball team in the history of Tamaqua High School" brought to that community new honors by winning the Black Diamond League Championship for the third successive season and by competing in and winning its way to the Eastern finals of the P.I.A.A. play-offs.

Tamaqua High School's basketball team set new school records for most consecutive victories, fifteen, and most victories in one season, twenty-four.

Coach Eli Purnell's team, with the unprecedented support and enthusiasm of the Tamaqua High student body and the citizens of that fine community, battled their way to the P.I.A.A. District 11 Championship. The school spirit displayed and the community's pride in their basketball team was most commendable; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Members of the State Senate congratulate the Tamaqua High School Basketball Team, Coach Eli Purnell, Principal H. Roaden Walker, Superintendent of Schools, Alfred C. Stine and the Tamaqua High School Students, upon their most highly successful basketball season and on their great victories and grand record; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the residents and citizens of the fine community of Tamaqua, who showed their tremendous approval by unprecedented encouragement and attendance at the home games of Tamaqua High School and during the four P.I.A.A. play-off games, also are to be congratulated by the Members of the Senate; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Chief Clerk of this Senate send a copy of this resolution to Coach Eli Purnell of Tamaqua High School.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I would like to say that we, in Berks County, are very happy to congratulate Tamaqua.

I would also like to say that in Berks County we have two basketball teams. One of them won the State Championship in the "B" Class and the other team won the State Championship in the "C" Class. I would just like to have the record show that we also play basketball in Berks County.

The PRESIDENT. We are also very proud of those Berks County teams.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO INCREASE THE FEDERAL MINIMUM WAGE TO $1.25

Mr. SEYLER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 108), which was read and referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry:

In the Senate, April 1, 1959.

The economic well being of the people of this Commonwealth depends upon the retention and increase of its industrial strength and the provision of adequate employment for its citizens.

In recent years certain industries, especially the "soft-goods" industries, have been enticed to move to other States by the prospect of cheap labor, with a resulting loss in employment for Pennsylvania workers in these industries.

It is in the interest of this Commonwealth to sustain the standard of living of its citizens, protect its industries and workers, and combat unemployment in every possible manner.

An increased Federal minimum wage is the only means by which the unfair competition of cheap labor can be equalized; therefore be it

RESOLVED (the House concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorializes the Congress of the United States and calls upon it to increase the Federal minimum wage to $1.25; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President of the Senate of the Congress of the United States of America, and to the President of the United States.

House Bill No. 764, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the joint committee appointed by the House of Represeneatives and the Senate to study and investigate the recent mine disaster.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

RECESS

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I request a five minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a five minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

DELEGATES FROM SOUTHEASTERN REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S COUNCIL, LANCASTER, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD. Incidentally, Mr. President, in your absence I was in the Chair, presiding. I have been quickly demoted.

Mr. President, it is a great pleasure today, as we look around the halls of the Senate, to see the large number of attractive ladies. I know they are all Republican ladies because, obviously, no one else could be that pretty. I have been receiving asides that I am only supposed to take care of my own group, and that is what I propose to do. I know Senator Watkins can do the job for his group very well.

Mr. President, from Lancaster County, there are four young ladies representing the Southeastern Republican Women's Council with us today. I know they are very happy to see all the Members of the Senate in their seats, this being April Fool's Day.

The PRESIDENT. Would the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Ehrgood, permit a question from the Chair?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Yes sir.

The PRESIDENT. I was wondering whether your statement that they were all Republicans was the reason why they were sort of blocking my passage as I came in.

Mr. EHRGOOD. That could be, sir. Probably they wanted me to remain in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. Would the ladies please rise in order for the Members of the Senate to greet you?

REPUBLICAN WOMEN FROM DELAWARE COUNTY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, before our young, good looking Senator from Lebanon introduced his four ladies from Lancaster, I heard Senator Diehm say to Senator Ehrgood, "You better not miss these girls today." Senator Ehrgood did a very good job.

Mr. President, I have the great pleasure and distinction of introducing what are supposed to be 108 ladies from Delaware County. However, I do not think they are all in the Senate. I can say, this, without any reservation whatsoever, that they are all Republicans. They are all regular Republicans. They have all voted for me and I would like to tell them that I am on the ticket again. I hope they will look me over real good. I will try to be good and do a worthy job. I am not campaigning, Mr. President.

I certainly consider it a great pleasure because in our county, our Republican women are the backbone of the Republican Party. I also like the men, but there are no men here, and I am sure the ladies will not say anything about it when they go home. Really, if it were not for the ladies in Delaware County, our Republican Party would never be voted in with a 60,000 or 70,000 majority. They are wonderful ladies and it is a great pleasure to introduce them to you.

I hope, Mr. President, you will give them one of your beautiful speeches and welcome them to the Senate of Pennsylvania. I ask that they all rise and stand for two minutes.

The PRESIDENT. Will the ladies from Delaware County rise?

We are very glad that you came today. You come from a beautiful county, one very close to my home in Philadelphia.

We also are very happy that you have the very good sense to vote for Senator Watkins.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I learned something today. I never knew until today that there were so many good looking Republican women in Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. That was a tribute from a Democrat from Allegheny County, ladies.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN FROM BERKS COUNTY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I rose awhile ago and told about the fine basketball teams we have in Berks County. We also have some good looking Republican women in Berks County. They are here with us today, and I would like for them to stand.

The PRESIDENT. I would like them to stand, too.

I have a special interest in the ladies from Berks County, having lived there a great portion of my life. You are, indeed, welcome.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there is really nothing that I can add to what has already been said. However, I think I should state, as an observation here, that it just proves that the gentlemen in this august Body are not that august that when spring comes, their fancies do not turn.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WORLEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 48.

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1959.

Toll collectors on the Pennsylvania Turnpike are, in many instances, the first citizens of Pennsylvania with whom persons entering or touring through our Commonwealth come in contact. These toll collectors are thus in a position to either create a good impression of our citizenry by being courteous, neat and efficient, or to create an unfavorable impression by improper conduct and appearance.

Recent occurrences would seem to indicate that impressions created by certain toll collectors have been far from favorable.

It is disgraceful to think that a uniformed employe of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission would unleash a brutal attack upon a patron of the turnpike for no just cause, yet such an episode was personally witnessed by a member of the Legislature. The conduct of this particular toll collector, which was witnessed by numerous travelers, was so violent, both verbally and physically, that it is difficult to understand why a person of such demeanor would be permitted to represent our Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That a special committee be appointed, composed of three members of the House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker thereof, and three members of the Senate, appointed by the President Pro Tempore, to investigate the personnel administration policies of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and to determine whether the uniformed employes of the Commission are being properly selected, instructed and supervised, and whether or not the type of persons being employed are a credit to our Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall report its findings to the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WORLEY and MORAN.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 49.

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1959.

The lack of a uniform standard of time throughout the United States leads to a great deal of confusion and inconvenience.

Furthermore, the adoption of any time other than Standard Time is deterimental to the economy of numerous endeavors; therefore be it

Resolved (The Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation providing that the Standard Time, established under the Standard Time Act of March 19, 1918, shall be the measure of time for all purposes in the respective time zones of this nation; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Presiding Officer of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WILLARD, DOWN and P. J. MURPHY.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1959.

Saturday, March 21, 1959 was another great day for Farrell High School Steelers Basketball team, and coach Eddie McCluskey when the Farrell team won another class PIAA championship for the State of Pennsylvania, by defeating Chester, the winner of the Eastern crown, 76-66 for their fourth state title out of five attempts. This is a great tribute to coach Eddie McCluskey who has compiled a record of 248 victories against 50 defeats during the period of 1948 to 1959, while head basketball coach at Farrell High School.

The people of Farrell were full of admiration for their team as more than one thousand fans gave the team a resounding hero's welcome at the airport when the boys arrived back home. Hundreds more joined the students of the school when the five trophies which were won by the Steelers in their march to the championship were presented to the school.

The spectacular teamwork, excellent sportsmanship and fine spirit which the team displayed throughout the season culminated in this hard earned victory. Such teamwork, spirit and sportsmanship reflects credit on the team, the administration under John Hetra, superintendent of Farrell Schools, Edward McCluskey, coach and his able staff, and Ralph Dresch, Athletic Director, whose help and able assistance made this victory possible, the students and the faculty.

In earning this honor Farrell had to compete against and defeat some of the strongest high school teams in the State. Chester High was certainly one of those as they displayed their high quality and fine ability in losing to a team which justly deserves the highest honor a high school basketball team can achieve, that is, winning the State championship; therefor be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend to the coaches and players of Farrell High School basketball team its sincere and hearty congratulations on their magnificent victory in the PIAA class A basketball championship playoff game, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Farrell High School and Chester High School.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WALL RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1959

General Lyman L. Lemnitzer will become Army Chief of Staff on July first of this year when he succeeds General Maxwell D. Taylor.

This very wise choice of President Eisenhower is applauded throughout the nation, and here in Pennsylvania we are particularly happy for General Lemnitzer is one of our own. He was born at Honesdale, Pennsylvania and is married to a hometown girl, the former Katherine Tryon. He is the father of Captain William L. Lemnitzer, a West Point instructor and of Mrs. Henry B. Simpson, Jr. who lives at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

General Lemnitzer has had a long and distinguished career in the Army serving in command, staff and diplomatic posts. In World War II he joined with General Mark Clark in the secret submarine mission which led to the African landings in 1942. During the remainder of the war he performed outstanding service in command and staff duties and in surrender negotiations with the Italian and German high commands. At the age of 51 he completed the airborne course and became a paratrooper, winning command of the 11th Airborne Division. In 1951 he commanded the 7th Infantry Division in Korea.

After tours of duty as Deputy Chief of Staff and U. S. Far East Commander, he was named Vice Chief of Staff in April of 1957. His new post will be difficult and demanding, but he has many times demonstrated the tremendous ability required to fill it.

Recognition of his service has come in the form of the Distinguished Service Medal, the European-African-Middle East Ribbon with six battle stars, the Silver Star for gallantry in action in Korea and several awards from foreign countries; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives extend our congratulations to General Lyman L. Lemnitzer on his new promotion, and express our gratitude to him for his years of outstanding service to our nation. We wish him the greatest measure of success in his new duties and we are confident he will achieve it; and be it further Resolved, That the chief clerk be instructed to forward a copy of this Resolution to General Lyman L. Lemnitzer.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 338, entitled:

An Act amending "The Second Class Township Code" approved May 1 1933 (P L 103) changing provisions relating to compensation of special school police

On the question,

Shall the biss pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on House Bill No. 338 could we momentarily ask the sponsor to answer a few questions regarding the bill?

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the gentleman may ask his questions. However, there would be nothing in order but the calling of the roll.

The gentleman from Greene will proceed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Lawrence County, Mr. Fox, tell us exactly what the proposed change in the Second Class Township Code will do regarding the school police, very briefly, as the bill is now amended?

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, as the bill is now amended the cost of hiring special school police to patrol the busy crossings where school children must cross the highway will be taken from the school boards and placed upon the townships.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman tell us who pays the bill now for school police under the present law?

Mr. FOX. Under the present law, the township supervisors, upon request from the school board, hire the police. However, the cost is placed upon the school district according to the present law. The need for this bill, however, arose when there appeared to be some dispute in my area, and in other areas, as to whether the school directors could legally pay this, and the need for clarification was felt.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman inform us whether the school police have not been in operation in Pennsylvania for quite a period of time according to the needs as the school district felt they should be in their respective area?

Mr. FOX. There have been school police employed for a considerable length of time in townships, boroughs, cities and all other areas and they are hired and paid in different manners. Only the Second Class Township Code provides that the school board shall pay them; everywhere else the township, borough or city pays them.

Mr. McCANN. Would the gentleman also inform us that if we pass this into law could we not get into a reverse hassle regarding school police, in which the school district who now has the right to employ them and does employ the school police, the township would be the one that would be employing the school police and would be paying the school police as this law provides?

Mr. FOX. There is no change, Mr. Speaker, in who would employ the police. The township presently employs them when the school district requests it. The school district would still request it; the township would still employ them. The only change is that the payment of their salaries would come from the township fund rather than the school district fund.

Mr. McCANN. Could I ask the gentleman this: if I were a township supervisor and was in dispute with the school board, under your proposed law, and you as a school district said, we would like to have X number of school policemen to handle our grade crossings in our township and I said to you," That is fine, but we do not believe that we will hire them." Is there anything that would require us to do so under your proposed bill?

Mr. FOX. There is nothing either in the present law or the proposed law that would require them to be hired.

Mr. McCANN. I believe that you will find in the present law that the school district does the hiring of the school or special police for crossings and the township then has the right and they do pay. In this case you are saying that the school board shall ask the township, or they shall tell the township supervisors that they will hire these school police as needed. Which are you saying in this bill?

Mr. FOX. Well, actually, Mr. Speaker, that part of the bill is not changed at all under the present law. When the school board sees the need for it they request the township supervisors to hire the people, and the township supervisors then may hire them. That much is not changed. The only change is where the bill goes, whether the township supervisors pay the bill or whether the school board pays the bill. That is the change.

Mr. McCANN. Well, the change, of course, is that the school district now pays the bill and your bill says that the township may hire and shall pay the bill?

Mr. FOX. My bill does not change the fact that the township may hire them. That "may" provision is in the present law. The only change, as I said, is that the township people who hire the police would pay the people that they hire, rather than the cost going upon the school districts.

Mr. McCANN. Well, could I ask the gentleman this then: we have covered the points very carefully, as the law exists at the present time in our Second Class Township Code. In relation to the school district problem of special police, has it not operated extremely well, or are we getting into another hassle of township supervisors versus school district officials or, rather, school directors, shall I say, by making this change? Will this improve the situation, in your opinion, where it has operated well in all of our other areas?

Mr. FOX. It will improve the situation, in my opinion, in my district, because there it has not operated well.

The need for this legislation came about when there was a need for police to be hired. The township was willing to hire them, but the solicitor for the school board told the school board members they might be surcharged if they paid them, so there was a conflict as to who would pay the bill. A committee was set up to study the problem and they found that this condition existed not only in their township, but in numerous townships in the western part of the state, and not only did the condition exist but there were various means being employed, such as, putting janitors out there, in some cases, and in one case the P.T.A. was underwriting the expense. It was just a sort of hit-and-miss arrangement, because of this apparent conflict as to who was going to pay the bill.

I am attempting to resolve that conflict and to place the cost of hiring police upon the people who have the to hire police as part of their police powers.

Mr. McCANN. Well, in your opinion then you are stating that you believe this will improve the situation.

We question very much whether it will improve it. We question sincerely if this will not result in more hassle of these school police, who, we feel, are very important. The school district determines what they need; the township pays. Now you are saying that the school district are not the people who should make this decision and, by your solicitor's opinion, in your case, they could be subject to surcharge. Could not a validity act solve the situation, rather than this type of bill?

Mr. FOX. I do not know about that, but I do feel that hiring police is a part of the police power of the township supervisors. I also know that the Supervisors' Association is not opposed to this bill. I talked to the men when they met in county convention in our county and told them of the problem. The report of that talk was in the paper, and an individual school board down in Allegheny County read it, wrote to me. They have the same problem down there.

As I say, the township supervisors are not opposed to it. They feel that while it is perhaps going to add a little cost to their budget, that is where the duty and responsibility for police power logically is. Therefore, it is an obligation they should accept.

The school directors also favor it because as Mr. Van Ness said in a letter that I received, "We have many problems without policing the streets as well. So, I feel that if the township supervisors and the school boards, both of whom are affected here, both being in favor of it, that we are approaching the problem in the right manner. Furthermore, when you have all the other areas, first clas stownships, boroughs and cities, where the cost is not put on the school district, you have a mix-up here sometimes, and you have joint districts that have perhaps a couple of boroughs and a first-class township and a second-class township all in one jointure. In the case of a second-class township, the school board would have to pay for the police, and in all the other cases, they would not. And you have conflict there.

I believe by placing the cost of police power where the responsibility should lie that we will improve the situation. The only chance I see for the situation to deteriorate would be where certain members of individual township boards might be inclined not to go along with something like this and we certainly cannot legislate against that. We have to assume that they are public-spirited citizens who are going to be interested in protecting the children of their township. If there are some who are not, we certainly cannot, by this or any other legislation, eliminate that.

Mr. McCANN. I thank the gentleman very kindly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, would the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I gladly shall.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, is the Majority Leader able to tell in the case of first-class townships who pays the school police?

Mr. McCANN. That is right, Mr. Bell, but this is a Second-Class Township Code of which we are speaking, pertaining only to the second-class townships of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, would the Majority Leader be able to tell us who pays the school police in third-class cities?

Mr. McCANN. I think I can answer your question—all the others do. If you start with the city first-, second-class, second-class A, third-class cities and first-class townships, period, it is paid by them.

Mr. BELL. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, what is good for these other municipalities should be good for the second-class townships.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the bill, and I want to preface my remarks by saying that my first consideration in this particular type of legislation is the safety of the children involved. In other words, our legislation should be written in such a manner as to insure police at all places where they are needed. Therefore, I think it is perfectly proper that the school board should request the police, because they are in a position to know perhaps better than the township supervisors as to whether or not police protection is needed.

Since we have the school requesting the police and they make their request to the township supervisors, in many instances the second-class township supervisors many times find themselves short of money, especially when they have experienced a hard winter removing snow and one thing and another. They are hard-pressed for money and do not actually have the cash, and I believe there would be a temptation in many instances on the part of the supervisors to say, there is one place where we can cut a little bit of expense since we do not have the money. Then we would be placing our children in jeopardy.

Now then, look at it from a second angle. What difference does it make to the taxpayer of a particular township whether his dollar is being paid to a policeman from the township funds or from school funds? They are coming out of the same pocket. The thing we want to do is to put it some place where we are more sure, or more certain, to have the police protection. I say to you that as long as the school board is paying for the cost of the police, and if there is any question about their ability to pay or their liability therefor, let us amend the law and make it definite that they are able and allowed to pay without surcharge. Let us make it so that the township supervisors will in no case be able to say, "We will not appoint policemen because we do not have the money." That should be our first consideration, the welfare of these children, I say to you there is a greater chance of police being appointed by township supervisors if the bill is going to be paid by the school officials.

We have another problem which has not been given consideration, and that is, with our consolidation movement, we may have schools in one particular township but the pupils may be coming from three or four townships. Therefore the school board having access to the funds of all of those townships would be the proper one to pay for the expense of policing the school, and not the township in which the building happens to be erected.

I believe this particular bill is a step in the wrong direction, and that if we are to have any legislation at all it should be legislation to the effect that when the school board requests township policemen they must be appointed by the supervisors and paid for by the school board without question. I think this is a step in the wrong direction. We should be going the other way and providing that protection where it is needed.

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, my main interest in this bill is just as the gentleman from Cambria said his was, to provide safety for school children. We know now, and I have pointed out, that in many cases adequate protection is not being provided because the present law is not adequate.

Mr. Lopresti made an eloquent plea in behalf of provisions to require that these police be hired. That is not a part of this bill at all. If he desires to introduce such legislation we can consider that later. We are not debating at all whether they would be required to hire these police or not.

The consideration is whether the cost shall go upon the township or the school district. If township supervisors in any particular township will not hire police when requested by the school board for the safety of the children in that township, either because they are unwilling, indifferent or do not have the money, it is the duty of the citizens, the parents, in that township to rise up in arms and see that same appropriate action is taken.

We cannot legislate here to meet every circumstance where there might be public officials on the township level who will not meet their obligations to their people. I believe that township budgets will not run short of money any oftener or even as often as school district budgets do. I do not believe that is a valid argument against this bill.

As I said before and as Mr. Lopresti pointed out, the money is going to come from these taxpayers regardless of whose hands it goes through, but it is a logical police function of the township supervisors. The township supervisors themselves are in favor of assuming that obligation. The school boards are in favor of having them assume it, and I feel that every Member in this House interested in improving the safety of children who must cross any highway should vote for this bill.

Furthermore, as was pointed out, there are many districts that have combinations of townships, combinations of township and boroughs, but most of these cases where these pupils are hauled in to one building they come in by bus and do not have to cross busy highways. The buses unload at the building. At least, in my district that is the way they do. The crossing problem is involved where the children are walking to school and in that case, in nearly all cases at least, it is in the township in which they live where they are crossing the streets.

I also have a joint district in my area which has one large borough in it. They are hiring a number of school police; that is, the borough is. The same joint district has a small borough. They are hiring one. The same joint district has two second-class townships in it. If it is necessary for crossing guards, then the joint school district would have to pay for the guards in these townships, but not in the boroughs where the large numbers are hired. It is a confused situation at present. It should be clarified and I think it can be by passing this bill and making provision for paying the special school police uniform in second-class townships, as it is in the other townships, boroughs and cities.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 43

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 14 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 43.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1959.

The public press has repeatedly called attention to the heavy incidence of juvenile crime and many murders and crimes of great violence being committed by juvenile criminals.

The public press carries repeated stories of an attitude prevalent among certain juvenile criminals of complete disregard for punitive provisions of the criminal laws of this Commonwealth.

A continued disregard for the peace and safety of the citizens of the Commonwealth by such juvenile criminals creates a criminal cancer threatening the peace and good order of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It is imperative that remedial steps be taken of a positive nature to stamp out this philosophy of juvenile criminals and the causes thereof, therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized and directed to make an immediate study of all factors causing the attitude in juvenile criminals of disregard for law and order, a study of the corrective and remedial action of any nature, whatsoever, required to correct such juvenile criminal philosophy and a further study of the steps necessary to rehabilitate those addicted to such moral juvenile criminal thinking and acting, and be it further

Resolved, That the commission be charged with inviting to testify before it persons such as educators, clergymen, penal authorities, members of the judiciary law enforcement, officials, newspaper reporters, social workers, and other citizens who are in contact with such juvenile criminals in order to ascretain the causes for such thinking and the possible remedies, therefor, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized in its discretion to transcribe such part or parts of the testimony and statements taken before it, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the commission may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the Courts of this Commonwealth. The commission shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the commission or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. KOOKER offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 1, 1959.

Old Father Time can't be fooled on April Fool's Day because another year has passed in the life of one of our esteemed members of the House even though we're sure she would like to deny it. Today marks the birthday of Beatrice Z. Miller. The number of the birthday is a secret but we're sure it's not more than thirty-six.

It seems that Mrs. Miller is noted for her many achievements in the world of politics and government but one achievement she is noted for above all is her ability to wear those large hats with the grace only a woman such as Beatrice can possess. We're sure that if she didn't come into our presence wearing a large and beautiful hat we wouldn't recognize the lady from Philadelphia.

Mrs. Miller was elected to the House in 1956 and again this past year. She is the proud mother of two boys, Harry and John, and the wife of Harry B. Miller, the man who "foots" the bills for the hats; therefore be it Resolved, That all of us join in wishing Beatrice Z. Miller a happy birthday and may she enjoy as many more in the years to come.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. Where is the Melody Man from Delaware County? There should be a choral tribute to this Resolution. We should sing Happy Birthday at least.

Mr. DENGLER. Mr. Speaker, I think we should sing Happy Birthday in a very special key.

The SPEAKER. The Resolution is unanimously and harmoniously adopted.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stewart, rise?

Mr. STEWART. I rise on this Resolution, Mr. Speaker. As Mrs. Miller's running mate I have only known her for the last year, but in this year I have come to know Bea I think better than any other man in her life, politically.

The SPEAKER. The Chair claims priority.

Mr. STEWART. During this past year, Mr. Speaker, I have observed Mrs. Miller, and noted her devotion to her constituents, her loyalty and her faithfulness, and I must confess that I have grown to love Bea.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the lady of the hour, Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. B. Z. MILLER. I would like to answer these perfectly wonderful tributes; I know I do not deserve them.

I thank the girls from the bottom of my heart. I want to say that the most wonderful experience in my life is serving with all you wonderful people. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. I trust the Chair has not lost his place in the lady's affection.

Mrs. MILLER. You are number one in my affection.

PHILADELPHIA CONGRESS OF REPUBLICAN COUNCILS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been informed there are representatives here from the Philadelphia Congress of Republican Councils, Mrs. Virginia Knauer, president. They are the guest of Mrs. Miller.

RESOLUTION

Mr. WELSH offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY JUVENILE CRIME

In the House of Representatives, March 18, 1959.

The public press has repeatedly called attention to the heavy incidence of juvenile crime and many murders and crimes of great violence being committed by juvenile criminals.

The public press carries repeated stories of an attitude prevalent among certain juvenile criminals of complete disregard for punitive provisions of the criminal laws of this Commonwealth.

A continued disregard for the peace and safety of the citizens of the Commonwealth by such juvenile criminals creates a criminal cancer threatening the peace and good order of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It is imperative that remedial steps be taken of a positive nature to stamp out this philosophy of juvenile criminals and the causes thereof; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized and directed to make an immediate study of all factors causing the attitude in juvenile criminals of disregard for law and order, a study of the corrective and remedial action of any nature whatsoever required to correct such juvenile criminal philosophy and a further study of the steps necessary to rehabilitate those addicted to such amoral juvenile criminal thinking and acting; and be it further

Resolved, That the commission be charged with inviting to testify before it persons such as educators, clergymen, penal authorities, members of the judiciary, law enforcement officials, newspaper reporters, social workers, and other citizens who are in contact with such juvenile criminals in order to ascertain the causes for such thinking and the possible remedies therefor; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized, in its discretion, to transcribe such part or parts of the testimony and statements taken before it; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the commission may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the Courts of this Commonwealth. The commission shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall willfully neglect or refuse to testify before the commission or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly prior to the adjournment of the present session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, ever since Andrew Hamilton won a resounding victory in the famous Zenger Case, in Colonial times, the term "Philadelphia Lawyer" became known throughout the Country. Apparently, in Pennsylvania, outside of Philadelphia, they are afraid of Philadelphia lawyers. Therefore, we have a rule in Pennsylvania whereby the entire State is divided into compartments and a lawyer from one county cannot practice law in another county, unless he gets permission from the courts or gets co-counsel.

Mr. President, it is about time we remove the division and compartments in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, this bill which I am about to introduce, and one which will no doubt bring upon me the curses of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, aims to remove that limitation.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO ARTHUR J. WALL, JR. FOR HIS GREAT VICTORY IN THE MASTERS TOURNAMENT AND TO HIS FATHER, HON. ARTHUR J. WALL, SR.

Mr. SCOTT offered the following resolution which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 6, 1959.

One of the members of the General Assembly is extremely proud today and, indeed, the entire Commonwealth should be as proud because the newly crowned Masters Golf Tournament Champion, Art Wall, Jr., is the son of a distinguished Member of the House of Representatives from Wayne County, Arthur J. Wall.

Art, who is the pro at the Pocono Manor Country Club and a resident of Honesdale, won the Masters on Sunday, April 5, with probably the strongest finishing round in the history of the notable event. He shot a 66 in the last round, which included no less than eight birdies, five of which came in the last six holes.

The pros from Pennsylvania now hold a two year monopoly on the Masters because the title was merely transferred from the hands of one Pennsylvanian to another. The defending Champion, Arnold Palmer, was a Latrobe native and the pro at the Ligonier Country Club. What other State can boast of two Masters Champions in succession?

Arthur Wall, Jr., who is a quiet, unassuming and immensely personable pro golfer and the father of four children is 35 years old. He won the Azalea Open a week before the Masters and came into the Augusta event the leading money winner among the professionals. Art almost quit the circuit a month ago but because of the sound medical advice he received from his uncle, Dr. Russell Wall, a Scranton surgeon, he continued on to win one of the top golf events.

Art Wall, Jr., has certainly brought glory and honor to his parents and family and to the people of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate extend its heartiest congratulations to Arthur J. Wall, Jr., for his great victory in the Masters Tournament; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Senate also extend its sincere congratulations to Arthur J. Wall, Sr., the Champion's father and a member of the House of Representatives; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resulation ben sent to Art Wall, Jr., at his home and to the Pocono Manor Country Club, Pocono Manor, Pennsylvania, and that a copy be presented to our distinguished colleague Art Wall, Sr.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO MEMBERS OF THE MT. LEBANON HIGH SCHOOL BAND UPON THEIR EXCELLENT PERFORMANCE IN THE 1959 TOURNAMENT OF ROSES PARADE

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. offered the following resolution wich was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 6, 1959.

That splended organization known as the Mt. Lebanon High School Band has again brought honor to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The Mt Lebanon High School Band, which has consistently been one of the outstanding bands in this State, marched in the 1954 Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, California. Now again, in 1959, the band was honored with an invitation to return to the Tournament of Roses Parade.

Those of us who observed this magnificent spectacle on television will recall for many years to come the feeling of pride which surged within us when the Mt. Lebanon High School Band marched into view, and, amid the cheers of the throng, we heard the announcement that this outstanding group of musicians and performers came all the way from Pennsylvania. We will remember with admiration the beautiful renditions and precision marching which followed, as the Mt. Lebanon High School Band preceded the float commemorating Pittsburgh's Bi-Centennial. The many long hours of ardent practice which must have been spent in preparation for this event were certainly evidenced by the flawless performance given; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby extends to each member of the Mt. Lebanon High School Band its sincere congratulations for their excellent performance in the 1959 Tournament of Roses Parade which so well exemplified the character and ability of Pennsylvania's youth; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Dr. Ralph D. Horsman, Superintendent of Mt. Lebanon Schools, to Dr. Nelson Mills, Principal of Mt. Lebanon High School, and to Mr. Philip Prutzman, Band Director of Mt. Lebanon High School, Mt. Lebanon, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

FELICITATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO JEFFERSON MEDICAL COLLEGE UPON ITS COMMENDABLE SELECTION OF DOCTOR WILLIAM A SODEMAN AS DEAN

Messrs LANE and RUTH offered the following resolu- which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 6, 1959.

The people of Washington County are signally honored that another one of our native sons rose to the stature of leadership, about whom it can be figuratively stated that he is a towering luminary fit "to match our mountains." Dr. William A. Sodeman, who was appointed on April 21, 1958, as the Dean of the Jefferson Medical College, was born in Charleroi, Washington County, Pennsylvania, and now, after years of dynamic leadership, at several seats of medical learning, as a renowned educator par excellence and a leading authority in many branches of medical endeavor, returned to Pennsylvania to continue his services as a man of many medical abilities—physician, teacher, research worker, writer, speaker and counsellor.

An indefatigable worker, in addition to his duties as an educator, Dean Sodeman has been Senior Visiting Physician at Charity Hospital of Louisiana in New Orleans; Visiting Physician, Touro Infirmary; Medical Consultant, United States Public Health Service Hospital at New Orleans; Medical Consultant, United States Public Health Service Hospital Leprosarium, Carville, Louisiana; Consultant in Medicine, Fourth Army, Camp Polk, Louisiana; Consultant, Bureau of Special Services, United States Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.; Consultant National Institutes of Health, NMI, Bethesda, Maryland, and Consultant to the Surgeon General, U. S. A. F., Washington, D. C.

Recognized as an outstanding internist, Dr. Sodeman has made significant contributions to medical literature. He is the author of more than 150 scientific articles which have been published in leading medical journals and his monograph "Pathologic Physiology: Mechanisms of Disease," has been translated into Portuguese, Italian, the Spanish languages, Serbo-Croat and Japanese. He has conducted extensive experimental work in electrocardiography, venous pressure measurements and in other clinical fields of Internal Medicine.

Dr. Sodeman is a member of many professional societies, among them the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine, for which he was Chairman, Southern Section, 1942-1943; American Society for Clinical Investigation; American Society of Tropical Medicine, of which he has been President since 1953; a Founding member of the Southern Society for Clinical Research and of the New Orleans Academy of Internal Medicine; the Royal Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene and the American Federation of Clinical Research. He is a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine, certified in the subspecialty of cardiovascular diseases, and a Fellow of the American College of Physicians and of the American Public Health Association.

The rejoicing of the people of Washington County is further enhanced by the fact that Dean Sodeman became the helmsmen of a great Pennsylvania medical school, the geneology whereof dates back to the year 1794, when a group of Presbyterian Ministers established in Canonsburg, Washington County. The Jefferson College, which later begot The Medical Department of said college in Philadelphia in 1825, that finally led to the granting of an independent charter in 1838, establishing the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia with broad university powers.

The Jefferson Medical College, the seventh in age of the Country's medical schools, has been a fountain of medical education that not only enriched our own State but spread medical leadership throughout the United States and even in many countries abroad.

The people of Pennsylvania owe a debt of gratitude to the Jefferson Medical College for its leadership in all fields of medical endeavor and superb research that brought many blessings upon mankind. The people of Washington County are now most gratified that one of its illustrious sons is leading and will lead this great seat of medical learning to even higher pinnacles of attainment and success.

Now Be It Therefore Resolved, That the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania extends its felicitations to the Jefferson Medical College upon its commedable selection of Dr. William A Sodeman, a great medical luminary, as the Dean of the institution, and to Dr. Sodeman, its fervent wishes that he will successfully continue his indefatigable services as one of the healers for the benefit of humanity.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education for the purpose of further study.

Mr. President, I think that this bill, Senate Bill No. 212, is perfectly fine legislation. However, we also have House Bill No. 491, Printer's No. 115, on the Calendar which covers everything that is proposed in Senate Bill No. 212 and can be taken care of in House Bill No. 491. That is the reason I have moved for the recommittal of this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I think it best for me to say at this time that our proposed action on Senate Bill No. 212 was to place it on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar. Senator Hays has stated that the subject matter is the same as in House Bill No. 491. In order for there not to be any mistake whatever, I am going to move that House Bill No. 491 be recommitted.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I heard some statements last week that beginning with April 1, it would cost the State $367,000 every day that the tax bill is delayed. This is the sixth day, and I added that amount up on the cash register and it totaled $2,202,000 which has been denied to the State of Pennsylvania. I also noticed that the Republican Party is treating the present sales tax as though it were an Administration measure and attributing it to all the members of the Democratic Party.

The members of the Democratic Party, since there was no alternative offered by the opposition, may in the end vote for this bill. However, I want it known that I have never yet voted for a sales tax. I much prefer a graduated income tax. Rather than see the wards of the Commonwealth go hungry and starve, I would probably vote for a sales tax. However, I would be very happy if Senator Pechan would find another vote to take my place. I would gladly vote against this tax should it ever come up in the Senate.

I know that this apple sauce, which is being fed to the public, about the Democrats favoring the sales tax, certainly is not the ordinary type of apple sauce, because I think they got the core and the seeds all mixed up in it. I think the public, those who like apple sauce, will probably not digest the apple sauce they are being fed, as to who wants the sales tax. It is my opinion that if the Republicans did not want a sales tax, they would have offered an alternative tax program and probably would have had it on the way toward passage by this time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, due to a very salutary provision in the Constitution of Pennsylvania, tax bills must be passed in the House before they can come over to the Senate. I would suggest that the gentlemen from both sides of the Senate reserve their ammunition until the time when such a bill might be before us, at which time it can be debated.

We do not know whether we will get a sales tax bill over here or not. We do not know what kind of a bill we are going to get. We are going to take a position on taxes and when that time comes, we will be very happy to express our opinions.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

BILL SIGNED

The President pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bill:

In the beauty and glory of this day, O God, we pause to give Thee thanks. We are deeply grateful for the continued knowledge which reminds us day by day and week by week of Thy care and concern for the needs of mankind. May we catch the deep significance of these gifts of Thy love. And challenge us with the task of showing that love in return as we accept the responsibilities which come to ue to share Thy will and Thy way with others. May we ever keep the example of the Master before us, and keep our feet shod with the preparations of the gospel of peace, and cause us to work toward that end: Through Jesus Christ, Thy dear Son, Our Lord,, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, World without end, Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. ROVANSEK, WHEELER, KORNICK, WARGO, NEEDHAM, BONNER, PRENDERGAST and McDONALD RESOLUTION No. 50.

In the House of Representatives, April 1, 1959.

The coal industry has been one of the greatest factors contributing to the rapid growth of this Commonwealth.

We pause on this day, the first day of April, to honor and pay homage to a person who elevated the "Coal Miner" who worked in the pits as a slave to a man of dignity and self respect.

John Mitchell, fondly referred to as the father of the eight hour day in the mines was a courageous labor leader, who worked without faltering, always for the betterment of the working conditions of his fellow miners.

It is fitting and proper that the House of Representatives acknowledge and pays tribute to John Mitchell, humanitarian and leader among great leaders; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives reflects upon the accomplishments of John Mitchell with the hope that he may continue to be an inspiration to all leaders in all phases of labor-management relations.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WORLEY RESOLUTION No. 51.

In the House of Representatives, April 1, 1959.

Resolved, That in order to make conflicts among nations less probable and to enable the use of funds for the happiness and advancement of mankind and not for its destruction, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania advocates total disarmament of all nations of the world down to police level with free and unrestricted inspection by the United Nations to insure compliance therewith; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to each member of the General Assembly of United Nations and to each member of the Security Council of United Nations.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WELSH, GAILEY, TAYLOR, SULLIVAN, GALLAGHER, LUIGARD, LIMPER, McKEEVER and P. E. PERRY (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 52.

In the House of Representatives, April 1, 1959.

The economic well being of the people of this Commonwealth depends upon the retention and increase of its industrial strength and the provision of adequate employment for its citizens.

In recent years certain industries, especially the "soft-goods" industries, have been enticed to move to other states by the prospect of cheap labor, with a resulting loss in employment for Pennsylvania workers in these industries.

It is in the interest of this Commonwealth to sustain the standard of living of its citizens, protect its industries and workers and combat unemployment in every possible manner.

An increased Federal minimum wage is the only means by which the unfair competition of cheap labor can be equalized; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorializes the Congress of the United States and calls upon it to increase the Federal minimum wage to $1.25; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President of the Senate of the Congress of the United States of America, and to the President of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. FOERSTER and MIHM RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, April 1, 1959.

On April 1, 1909 George Boxheimer reported for work as a stenographer in the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh.

Today as City Clerk he begins his fifty-first year of employment with the City of Pittsburgh.

During the intervening years, he has displayed such a dedication to duty, and given of his tremendous ability in such measure that he has earned the respect, admiration and gratitude of the entire city. He is known as a tireless worker, arriving at the office between seven and seven-thirty in the morning and frequently working until seven in the evening. It is common to find him working on Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and during his vacation. He is ever striving to improve his near perfect work. Although using shorthand every day, he has practiced it every evening since 1909. He is satisfied with his work only when he knows that he has done the best job he could possibly do.

George Boxheimer was born on June 21, 1891 in uptown Pittsburgh. He was educated at Holy Trinity Grade School, Epiphany High School and the Pittsburgh Business College. To obtain his education he sold newspapers and worked in a grocery store.

On June 25, 1913 he married Julia Riley at St. Brigid's Roman Catholic Church. They were blessed with three fine children, George Jr., William and Mary Frances. Now they are enjoying their two grandchildren, Mary Anne and Neil.

The Boxheimers belong to St. Marys of the Mount Catholic Church in Pittsburgh, and are active in its affairs.

Forty-nine of George's fifty years with the city have been in the City Clerk's office and on September 10, 1951 he became the head of that office, a reward for service which he richly deserved; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate George Boxheimer on this fiftieth anniversary of his employment with the City of Pittsburgh; and congratulate the City of Pittsburgh on finding and keeping so valuable an employe; and wish for both of them that his service will extent into many more years; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to George Boxheimer at 202 Olympia Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

He shall post a copy of the list in his office for a period of thirty days after the date of publication.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, the amendments to Senate Bill 309 are in line with the salutary policy adopted by the 1957 General Assembly which enacted a series of right-to-know or open-record bills.

I recall at that time the Republican Legislature Majority took credit for the passing of those bills, as did the Democratic Governor, and rightly so, because they were good government.

They are particularly timely now in view of recent disclosures concerning the payroll of the Legislative Branch of the federal government.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, I want to emphasize that I personally know of no nepotism on the payroll of either the Senate or the House of Representatives in this Commonwealth, but I do feel the people have a right to know and to be reassured. These amendments will accomplish that, and I trust that all Members of the House will join in adopting these amendments.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we accept the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny very graciously, and certainly want them to be a part of this bill.

There has never been a time when the Democrats have been in control of the House of Representatives that any public organization, newspaper or individual Member of this House could not secure the names and addresses of every individual employed on that payroll, their titles, their salaries and their functions and duties. If this will make it any better, we hope that it will, we accept this amendment and want it to be a part of Senate bill 309.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.
The title was read.

Messrs. WYND, OGILVIE, ESHBACK, K. B. LEE, WESCOTT, MIHM, FOERSTER, HAMILTON, STONE and TAYLOR offered a concurrent resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1959.

Art Wall, Jr., of Honesdale, Pennsylvania, representing Pocono Manor, and son of Art Wall, Sr., esteemed member of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, blasted out five birdies on the final six holes yesterday at Sunny Augusta National Golf Club, Augusta, Georgia, to bring new glory both to himself and his native State by winning his first "big" tournament, the Twenty-Third Masters Golf Tournament.

Art has long been one of golf's finest and has made Pennsylvania proud of him by playing such consistently good golf to earn for himself a position on the coveted Ryder Cup Team of 1957. Although he has won two other major tournaments this year, and finished well toward the top in numerous others, none of these are comparable to the "Masters" in prestige. Yesterday he trailed denfending champion, Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pennsylvania, and Stan Leonard, by six strokes when the final round started and was resting in a four-way tie for thirteenth place. With half of the final round over, Art was still five strokes behind, but his fabulous whirlwind finish beginning on the thirteenth hole will never be forgotten.

Art's final score of 284 for the 72-hole tournament was four under theoretical perfection. His last round 66 was six under par.

Art has been quoted as saying to Arnold Palmer, his fellow Pennsylvanian who was leading the tournament going into the final round, "Keep this Masters championship in Pennsylvania." Palmer was trying for an unprecedented second straight Masters Title. Certainly Art's pride in his native State can be no greater than the pride all Pennsylvanians today feel for him; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the members of the House of Representatives and the Senate of Pennsylvania offer their warmest congratulations to Art Wall, Jr., for his brilliant and inspiring play that brought great honor to him and retained the Masters Championship in Pennsylvania; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Arthur J. Wall, Jr., at Pocono Manor, Pennsylvania.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Wall.

Mr. WALL. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, all I can say is, thank you for this wonderful resolution. I know it will be appreciated by his wife and his children.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title were publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 29.

An Act amending the act of May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), entitled "The Borough Code," authorizing each civil service commission to designate the time when applicants for positions and promotions in the police force and as paid operators of fire apparatus shall take physical examinations.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

INTERROGATION

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have permission to interrogate the Minority Leader, Mr. Johnson.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Minority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am reading today's Harrisburg Evening News under date of Monday, April 6th, in which the headline is "GOP in the Senate backs the House lineup against the tax," and in the story it lists that a meeting was held last night, and it names the people who were at this meeting regarding the tax decision

First, I would like to ask if the story is correct and if you, Mr. Johnson, were a part of the meeting?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I was present at the meeting, yes.

Mr. McCANN. The story is then correct that you were a part of the meeting? Mr. Johnson, is the story correct that there are no votes for the Sales Tax Bill on the Republican side of this House, today, tomorrow, next week or next month?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, you are taking in a lot of time and a lot of territory. In answer to your question, in addition to the meeting with the Senators last evening, we have also caucused today and discussed the bill on the calendar quite thoroughly, and I would say at this point there are not any votes on the Republican side of the House for House bills 665 or 666.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform me if there are any votes for 665, that is, the Sales Tax bill, as it is now printed on the House calendar?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. There are no votes on this side, so far as I know. We have caucused today and there were no defections noted.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform us if the statement is applicable to today, this week or next week?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I would say that the rather firm way in which our caucus has approached the problem, I doubt there will be any votes next week for the bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader yield to the Minority Leader?

Mr. McCANN. I would first like to have the privilege of making a statement and then I shall be most pleased to have him interrogate me.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Majority Leader declines to yield at this time. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is a known fact than on the Democratic side of the House there are 107 Members of this House at the present time. It is a known fact that we do not have 106 votes required for the passage of the Sales Tax bill that is on the House calendar. There is no question of that determination, but many times it has been stated that in 1953 when the Sales Tax bill was enacted in this House, under a former administration, all of the Democratic Members opposed the passage of that bill. That is true. Then many times it has been stated after that that no Democrats voted for a Sales Tax bill.

In 1953, our party, the Democratic party, fought the philosophy of a Sales Tax Act and did not provide any votes. I believe there were either 96 or 98 Members of the House on the Democratic side in 1953 and no votes were provided. I believe the record will show that in the 1955-1956 Session of the General Assembly, following the passage fo two other tax measures which were defeated in the Senate, this House then sent to the Senate a combination income tax and sales tax package. I think that the record will show that approximately 40, perhaps 42—I am not sure without checking—Democrats, of which I was one, voted for the sales tax measure which is now the Selective Sales and Use Tax law of this Commonwealth.

Time and time again it has been brought up that one party has not provided any votes for the other party. Perhaps rightfully so, but I want the record to show clearly that in 1956, or rather it was the 1955 Session but it was in 1956 when the vote took place, in the 17-month session, a great number of Democrats on this side voted for a sales tax measure. Since then, we, as the Democratic party, have accepted, the Governor of this Commonwealth has accepted, that the sales tax is the broad-base tax with which we are trying to find a solution for the revenue that we need for this Commonwealth, one of the tax bills on the calendar now; the balance of the tax bills of the Hood-Kennedy Commission Report are still in the committee.

Mr. Speaker, the Minority Leader has clearly indicated here today that there are no votes on the Republican side of the House for House bill 665 as it is now printed and on the calendar; that there are no votes for that bill today and evidently no votes for the passage of that bill next week, I do not believe that he answered to a later date than that. There is no question that no votes can be secured from the Republican leadership or the Republican side of this House to insure the passage of House bill 665, which is written very cleary as a part of the Hood-Kennedy Tax Commission Report, being one of the twelve bills as it is now written and a part of that package.

That package has not been broken, and very clearly it is written to stay in the selective and use tax field since we did revise it after presenting it first as a general sales tax bill. I am glad to note that the record will clearly indicate at this point, on this date, that the record will show, that no votes can be provided as indicated by the Minority Leader here today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Green, Mr. McCANN, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has answered the question that I was going to propound to him.

Mr. McCANN. Would the gentleman care to ask it again?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. No, I do not care to ask the question, Mr. Speaker.

INTERROGATION

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Green refers to this as the Hood-Kennedy bill, is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the bills of the Hood-Kennedy Tax Study Commission accepted by the Governor. This is one of the twelve.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Was a gentleman by the name of Mr. James Symes, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a member of this Commission?

Mr. McCANN. I believe everyone in this House by now should know the names of those men, and I say, yes, he was.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will the gentleman explain to the Members of the House, if the bill is so sound, why the Pennsylvania Railroad is transferring the Pennsylvania Company to Delaware and taking $800,000 away from the taxpayers of this Commonwealth?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is not in this bill, but I thank the gentleman very kindly for bringing into the record that they are transferring from Pennsylvania to another State that installation.

I wish that I, or someone, could ask them to explain it to the membership of this House as well as to all Pennsylvanians.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am very glad that the Majority Leader made that statement concerning an explanation from a member of the Bi-partisan Tax Commission. I believe that the Members of this House are entitled to an explanation.

We are presented a bill which is selective in character. Because of its selective character is one of the reasons why I do not intend to vote for the bill. I want to know why a man who has fought to legislate for the construction of this bill and its presentation to the House, and to the Senate eventually, as they hope, and to the taxpayers of the Commonwealth, will go ahead and make a move which is detrimental to the taxpayers, when we are in such a great financial state of affairs.

And likewise, as the Majority Leader indicated, I think both the Republicans and the Democrats are entitled to know the reason why this large corporation is taking nearly $1 million out of the state.

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 7, 1959.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. J. B. WILLIAMS, Pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Eternal God, our Father, Who has made us for fellowship that reaches to the ends of the earth, we thank Thee for every gift which becomes richer as we share it and most secure as we guard it one for another. We praise Thee for the spirit of liberty which Thou hast entrusted to us through our fathers. Grant that we, their children, may prove ourselves mindful of Thy favor and ready to do Thy will.

We thank Thee for this great Commonwealth. Grant unto us the humility and wisdom to acknowledge that we cannot build enduringly unless we build in honoring Thee.

Give unto each of us an awareness of the many people, in all walks of life, who rely upon us to serve the common welfare and who trust us where they do not see. Help us to be true to the highest hopes of the past and equal to the challenge and opportunities of today. Let not the still, small voice of conscience be stifled by the loud demands of selfishness, nor by the harsh utterances of the heartless.

Save us from violence, discord and confusion, from pride and arrogance, and from all that is not within Thy will. Defend our liberties and let our strength become a blessing to the weak. Let our resources be at the command of all who are worthy, regardless of creed or national origin.

Let Thy light lead us and Thy spirit inspire us for the task which is ours to accomplish. Amen.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL NO. 20 REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WADE, from the Committee on Highways, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. EHRGOOD, on March 31, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

REQUESTING THE ATTORNEY GENERAL TO RENDER AN OPINION AS TO THE LEGALITY OF ALLOWING VEHICLES WHICH EXCEED THE MAXIMUM WEIGHT AND SIZE TO OPERATE ON THE TURNPIKE AND EXTENSION.

In the Senate, March 31, 1959.

Effective January 1, 1956, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission established toll schedules providing rates for the movement over the Turnpike and the extensions thereto of vehicles which exceed the maximum weight and size limitations which the Legislature has made applicable to the highways of this Commonwealth. At the present time and for a considerable period the Commission, upon the collection of the tolls provided for by such schedules, has permitted vehicles having weights or size, or both, exceeding the maximum limitations to operate over the Turnpike and extensions thereto.

There appears to be a serious question as to whether this action by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission is lawful and consistent with the legislation of this Commonwealth; therefor be it

Resolved, That the Attorney General, after study of this matter, render an opinion to His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, regarding the legality of the above described action of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Attorney General.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, there is something going on in Washington which is of great concern to us. We have a committee—and some of the Members of the Senate are on the committee—which is making preparations for the celebration of the centennial of the Gettysburg Battle, which is not too far away. It is only about four more years. Yet, none of us can visualize such a celebration in an atmosphere that will be permeated by commercial establishments which will no doubt come into being, or even become augmented, preparatory to the millions of Americans who will be coming, in the year 1962, on a pilgrimage to the Battlefield of Gettysburg. All these hot dog vendors, promoters of different hotels and all kinds of merchandise interests will no doubt disturb the serene atmosphere of this sacred spot in America.

There was an appropriation made by the National Park Service in Washington of $1,250,000 to purchase land in order to create a cordon sanitaire to preclude the intrusion of undesirables. Unfortunately, that provision was stricken from the budget.

For this reason, Mr. President, I feel duty bound to offer the following resolution. I am sure this resolution will reflect the feelings and the sentiments of each Pennsylvanian.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

MEMORIALIZING THE PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATION IN CONGRESS TO MAKE EVERY POSSIBLE EFFORT TO RESTORE THE AMOUNT OF $1,250,000 CUT FROM THE APPROPRIATION FOR THE NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following resolution (Serial No. 21), which was read and referred to the Committee on State Government:

In the Senate, April 7, 1959.

The Battlefield of Gettysburg is of prime importance to Pennsylvania and to the United States of America as the scene of the great battle on July 1 to 3, 1863 which was the turning point of the Civil War.

The area of the Battlefield ought to be preserved as one of the Nation's most sacred historic shrines, but its continuing development and protection is now threatened by the encroachment of commercial enterprises and private dwellings which are not in keeping with its important historic character.

This year the National Park Service asked Congress for an appropriation which would provide for the purchase of sufficient land to provide adequate protection for the Battlefield, but this was eliminated in a cut of $1,250,000 which was made by the House of Representatives; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress to make every possible effort to restore the amount of $1,250,000 cut from the appropriation for the National Park Service so that additional land can be acquired to protect the Battlefield of Gettysburg.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE BASKETBALL TEAM, STUDENTS, TEACHERS AND COACH SALACK OF THE WILKES-BARRE TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL UPON THEIR VICTORIOUS SEASON

Mr. MURRAY offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 7, 1959.

The Wilkes-Barre Township High School basketball team has completed its strenuous season with success and achievement. Under the guidance of coach Edward Salack the team is now the District 2, Class C, Northeastern Champion, and traveled as far as the eastern finals at Hazleton in Luzerne County.

In victory and in defeat the team and the entire student body have consistently shown those qualities we so admire; courage, a will to win, indomitable spirit, good sportsmanship and fair play. They have been good winners but more important they have been good losers in the very best sense of the word; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania congratulate the basketball team, the students and teachers of Wilkes-Barre Township High School and coach Salack, on their victorious season, and wish them even greater success next year; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to coach Edward Salack.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. RIPP. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. RIPP and FLEMING read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 583, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1333), entitled "Pennsylvania Election Code," further regulating the procedures governing assistance to voters.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, several weeks ago, there was presented to both the House of Representatives and to the Senate of Pennsylvania the Report of the Commission on Constitutional Revision. In that report, there were some twenty Class 1 recommendations for possible amendment to the Constitution. Practically none of these Class 1 recommendations have been introduced.

I have had prepared, and will have ready by next Monday, bills to be introduced which will take care of those Class 1 recommendations. I do that on behalf of the Commisison, of which I had the honor to be secretary. I have no pride in authorship of those bills. Any Member of the Senate, from either side, who wishes to introduce any of those bills, if they will see me sometime on Monday, I will gladly give them the bills, which will have been drafted by the Legislative Reference Bureau for introduction. My only purpose in doing this is in order that the work of this Commission, which worked so diligently and well over a period of a year, can be brought before the General Assembly. Then, of course, it becomes the province of the General Assembly to do what it will with the bills.

However, I certainly think we owe it to that Commission to see that those bills are prepared, are introduced, and are put into printed form. Again, any of you Members, from either side of the Senate, who wish to sponsor any of these bills, if you will see me, I will certainly be happy to turn them over to you next Monday.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, my remarks hardly come under either petitions or remonstrances, but are simply a comment that earlier in the afternoon this Body acted favorably upon the nomination by the Governor of Mrs. Harriet Thompson, to the State Hospital Board of Philipsburg, Pennsylvania.

Particularly, for the older Members, I think I should report that Mrs. Harriet Thompson is the wife of the Honorable E. J.—"Jack"—Thompson, who served with distinction in this Senate some years ago. Since he is one of my constituents, I think he would like me to say to you, "Thanks for confirming my wife to this important Board."

Incidentally, to the older Members, also, of course, Jack Thompson has not been in good health for ten or fifteen years. If any of you get within ten or fifteen miles of Philipsburg, you should drop in and see him.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Hays.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, last week I introduced Senate Bill No. 498, the purpose of which was to save $100,000 for the State of Pennsylvania. I realize that $100,000 today does not sound like much, while we are spending millions and up into the billions, but it is one-tenth of a million dollars.

Something unusual has happened since this bill was introduced last week. The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission held a meeting, something which is very unusual. They had their meeting last Thursday, in Pittsburgh, at which time certain statements were made. Now I accuse the State Athletic Commission of shadowboxing with the truth and being as loose with irresponsible statements as it is with the taxpayers' money.

The bill which I proposed would transfer the duties to the Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth. It drew the ire of the three boxing commissioners and resulted in a series of statements by Chairman Jim Crowley and associates, Alf Kline and Paul Sullivan.

One would gather that a great crime had been committed because I suggested that a good start towards practicing the economy which Governor Lawrence has pledged be made by disposing of the dead wood gathered under the guise of regulating Pennsylvania boxing. As every fair-minded Pennsylvanian knows, and many of the ablest newspapermen have said, there has not been any boxing to regulate in our State for the past four years. However, from the way the Commissioners have been shadowboxing with the truth, one might be led to believe these fistic freeloaders, as they have been called by the press, were an imperative part of our life, rather than inglorious examples of waste and extravagance.

There is not enough work for one man, let alone three, and Mr. Kline must be conscious of the fact. He is quoted as saying, "No one man could supervise amateur and professional boxing and wrestling in Pennsylvania." Since he has brought up the one man commission idea, Mr. Kline might care to know that such major States as New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts, among many, have a single commissioner. I never heard any of these men say they were overworked.

Mr. Kline and his associates, who are as loose with irresponsible statements as they are with the taxpayers' money, are quoted as saying, "Boxing never was intended to be self-supporting." Mr. Kline had better familiarize himself with the history of the McBride Act, which was created in 1923, to earn the money necessary to place markers on the graves of American soldiers from World War I, buried on French soil. The then efficiently regulated Pennsylvania boxing not only accomplished this mission, but for three decades thereafter contributed tens of thousands of dollars to the State Treasury. In not one of these years, before the Leader Administration, did the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission operate at a deficit.

Mr. Crowley, who seems to be more realistic, says, "Boxing is in the doldrums." If "doldrums" means dead and buried, I will concede Mr. Crowley is the only one who approached the facts. For the past four years, amateur boxing has been the lone activity of consequence, and then on a part time basis.

We do not need a commission to supervise the amateurs, Mr. President. The Amateur Atheltic Union, which licenses each club and contestant, can handle this detail as it does now with a great saving to the taxpayers. The mention of wrestling, in conjunction with the Commission activity, is in keeping with the asinine endeavor to keep these professional clowns and loafers on the job. The rules of the Commission and the McBride Act list wrestling as an exhibition, something akin to a burlesque show. If this nonsense requires regulation, an entertainment committee should do the job.

Again, Mr. President, I ask what, if anything, the three so-called "do nothing" commissioners have done since 1955 to justify the huge cost involved. I would welcome an answer, but anticipate none. Since there is no cause or defense for the continuation of a supervisory force which has nothing to supervise, I shall continue my efforts to abolish this useless commission and save the taxpayers $100,000.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I hope that the fight which Senator Confair is having with the Boxing Commission is being staged under its auspices and that he has its full approval.

I think one of the points which the gentleman misses is that the purpose of the boxing commissions—the one that has been functioning most effectively is the one in New York, where they probably have more problems with that kind of activity than we do—is to keep an undesirable element out of boxing. As a matter of fact, the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission, not too long ago, did undertake such investigations and I think even suspended some licenses at that time of some of the undesirable elements which were creeping into this sport.

I would suggest to Senator Confair that if he feels this Commission is not necessary and if he has facts and figures to sustain his position, other than ridiculing these people, I think one of the things we should do is engage in a constructive type of criticism and not a destructive type.

Rather than take out his ill feelings on the Commissioners,—all of whom I think are fine gentlemen and none of whom has ever had any kind of aspersions cast on their character or their good names—I think Senator Confair should present his facts to us in a quiet manner so that we can take them up with the proper authorities and alleviate the situation. If, of course, Senator Confair's purpose is not to draw attention to this matter and not to obtain the added publicity which goes with it, I am sure he will heed to my suggestion and try to take care of this situation.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I agree with Senator Weiner to a certain extent. I think I have a lot of facts and information which I would like to present. I have nothing against any of these Commissioners, personally. If I were to pick a czar out of this group, it naturally would be a tough job. The man at the head of the Boxing Commission would be a czar. I could not choose Mr. Crowley because he has only had about ten boxing bouts during the last three years. He has no experience. I could not choose Mr. Kline, because I understand he is overenthusiastic about this boxing business. It has been said that he owns quite a few boxers. However, that is just hearsay.

I think Mr. Sullivan would be a wonderful man as the head of the Boxing Commission. I think he is capable, if he gives up his job with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

However, Mr. President, I would like for the Chairman of the Committee to bring this bill out of committee, and then I think we could have a thorough discussion on it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, apparently, the gentleman was not listening when I was speaking to him. Not to take thet time of this Senate, but to point out again to Senator Confair that by casting aspersions on these gentlemen—I happen to know Mr. Kline quite well and I happen to know that he is a respected member of the Philadelphia Bar Association. I also happen to know that he does not own any fighters. If he does, I would like to know about it. I would not like to find out about it on the floor of this Senate or for the purpose of these newspapermen or anybody else who happens to be here. I think, however, that it should be brought to our attention and to the Governor's attention, in order for him to take appropriate action.

If it is his purpose to cast doubt on these men, whom the gentleman professes to have great respect and regard for and then proceeds to blacken their names, but I do not think this is the purpose of his bill. I think we should quietly talk this matter over.

Maybe Senator Confair's bill is not the right step in that direction. I think some of the senior Members of the Senate can direct Senator Confair in the right path so that we can accomplish a useful purpose rather than try to wipe out a commission. That will not save money. If he is talking about czars, czars usually bring on revolutions which only cost more money in the end to the taxpayers and everyone else concerned.

If Senator Confair is genuinely interested in this problem and wants to do something about it, I think the leadership on both sides would be very happy to look at his facts and figures. If they are just not rumors or hearsay, thereby hurting reputations, we will be most happy to cooperate with him or anyone else here to bring this matter to task and save the Commonwealth the money about which Senator Confair is talking.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, Thou Who existed before the beginning of time, Thou Who are time itself, and Thou Who dost extend beyond the fartherest concept of time, we approach Thy throne of mercy aware of the fact that time is of the utmost essence to man in the finite involvements which plague us day by day. We sense the compulsions which continually bring anxiety and concern to the speed with which we live. Help us in this hour to search deeply into the truths of Thy Word, and bring us face to face with the words of the Psalmist: "A thousand years in Thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past." And, O most merciful Father, inspire us to move cautiously with the understanding that by Thy guidance and direction we may in Thy just time accomplish Thy goals for us and for our world. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord, we pray. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. POLLASKI, SCHAAF, O'DELL and BLAIR. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 53.

In the House of Representatives, April 6th, 1959.

Whereas, Good business climate is hereby defined as follows:

1. Fair and equitable treatment in legislation and administrative regulation for all segments of Pennsylvania's economy.

2. A framework of government, the support of which adds no greater cost to doing business than the cost of government imposed by other industrial states.

3. Equitable tax policies, and restriction of the cost of government to reasonable levels.

4. Fair treatment for all in legislation and administration of labor-management relations affairs.

5. Fostering, in the public interest, an economic atmosphere which will enable Pennsylvania's agriculture and industry to compete for out-of-state markets, remembering that wide marketing of Pennsylvania products brings wealth into the State, thereby raising the standard of living of all of our people; and

Whereas, For reasons hereinafter set forth, it will be critically important for Pennsylvania to create and maintain a good business climate; and

Whereas, Pennsylvania's population is increasing at the rate of about 60,000 persons per year; and

Whereas, The capital investment necessary to provide jobs for the expected 20,000 new workers each year will be in excess of three hundred million dollars ($300,000,-00) annually; and

Whereas, Industry and agriculture are the prime movers of the rest of the business economy; and

Whereas, Healthy industry broadens the tax base, thereby providing much-needed revenues for community facilities and government services for all our people; and

Whereas, In this era of rapid industrial expansion and relocation throughout the United States, industries, selecting locations, are vitally concerned about the comparative business climates among the states; and

Whereas, A good business climate attracts needed industrial payrolls, while a bad business climate tends to deter new payrolls from coming to a state and to drive established payrolls away; now, therefore, be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania henceforth shall examine all proposed legislation relating to business, industry and agriculture in terms of its effect upon the business climate of the State, and shall determine whether such legislation may have any future discriminating or deterring effect upon the investment of capital and the creation of needed payrolls in Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the General Assembly hereby request the Governor, and the head of each department, board and commission in the State government to examine their own discretionary actions and orders in any way relating to business, industry and agriculture in terms of the effect of such governmental action upon the business climate in Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives and Secretary of the Senate are hereby directed to transmit suitable copies of this resolution to the Governor, and to the head of each department, board and commission in the government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1959.

That splendid organization known as the Mt. Lebanon High School Band has again brought honor to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The Mt. Lebanon High School Band, which has consistently been one of the outstanding bands in this State, marched in the 1954 Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, California. Now again, in 1959, the band was honored with an invitation to return to the Tournament of Roses Parade.

Those of us who observed this magnificent spectacle on television will recall for many years to come the feeling of pride which surged within us when the Mt. Lebanon High School Band marched into view, and, amid the cheers of the throng, we heard the announcement that this outstanding group of musicians and performers came all the way from Pennsylvania. We will remember with admiration the beautiful renditions and precision marching which followed, as the Mt. Lebanon High School Band preceded the float commemorating Pittsburgh's Bi-Centennial. The many long hours of ardent practice which must have been spent in preparation for this event were certainly evidenced by the flawless performance given; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby extends to each member of the Mt. Lebanon High School Band its sincere congratulations for their excellent performance in the 1959 Tournament of Roses Parade which so well exemplified the character and ability of Pennsylvania's youth; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Dr. Ralph D. Horsman, Superintendent of Mt. Lebanon Schools, to Dr. Nelson Mills, Principal of Mt. Lebanon High School, and to Mr. Philip Prutzman, Band Director of Mt. Lebanon High School, Mt. Lebanon, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Resolved, That each member of this House of Representatives extend his personal sympathy to the surviving members of Mr. Newman's family upon their recent loss and bereavement; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Orville Newman at his home in Littlestown, R. D. No. 2, Pennsylvania.

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1959.

Scranton and the entire Commonwealth have lost a genuine friend in the passing of Miss Elizabeth Lynett, the copublisher of the Scranton Times and coowner of Radio Station WEJL. For thirty-five years of her life, she devoted her time to her newspaper, her community, her church and her Nation.

Miss Lynett was one of the most widely known women in northeastern Pennsylvania. Outside of the newspaper, her personal kindness over the years and willingness to lend a "helping hand" to strangers as well as friends in distress were regarded as among Miss Lynett's most outstanding traits. Much of her help was extended either anonymously or at least without fanfare.

As a militant, crusading journalist whose single-handed efforts did much to eliminate the evil of Scranton area sweatshops in the mid-thirties, Miss Lynett was fitting herself to a pattern of family precedent.

Elizageth R. Lynett was a native of Scranton, having been born there on July 23, 1902. She attended the local schools and was graduated from Trinity College in Washington, D. C. in 1923. For the next twenty years she remained a member of the news staff of the Times but she always found time to make constributions of time, effort and money to welfare, cultural, church and civic projects. Her last contribution was made only a few days ago when she and her brother, Edward J. Lynett, as copublisher of the paper, pledged $50,000 to the Lackawanna Industrial Fund Enterprises, better known as LIFE.

Pennsylvania and the world can surely use more people like Miss Lynett—people who think of others and try to help those who need help. If all of us were to follow the "Golden Rule" as Elizabeth Lynett did throughout her all too short life, this world of ours would be a much better place to live in; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its deepest sympathy to the people of the Scranton Area who have indeed lost to the Great Beyond one of their best friends; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its profound regret to Mr Edward J Lynett on the passing of his co-publisher and sister; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Mr. Edward J. Lynett, 1636 N. Washington Avenue, Scranton and the Scranton Times, Pennsylvania Avenue and Spruce Street, Scranton.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1959.

The people of Berks County and especially those residing in West Reading are basking in glory today because, for the first time in P.I.A.A. history, two State basketball champions are from the same conference. On Friday night, March 20, 1959, Kutztown won the class B championship and West Reading won the class C title.

Albright College's fieldhouse was the scene of the victory for the Cowboys from West Reading High, as they defeated a fine Lilly Washington High team by a score of 74 to 55. This was the first State championship for the school, and they richly deserve all the honors being bestowed upon them. Their record of 27 victories and one defeat in the march to the crown is outstanding and it is fitting to note that their one loss was to their neighbor Kutztown who also went on to earn the title of State High School Basketball Champion in their class.

The hard play and clean sportsmanship displayed by the team were two of the factors responsible for the championship, but praise must also be showered upon the coach of the West Reading Cowboys. If it wasn't for the fine work and guiding hand of Roy Bilger, the team would never have made it to the top as they did.

With the spirit of individual responsibility and team cooperation that typifies America the team, students, coaches and members of the faculty of West Reading

High School have established sports as one of our best citizen builders and they have firmly implanted in the minds of our young men the desire to be a generous winner and a good loser.

Every member of the winning team deserves credit for the victory but if one boy must be singled out for stardom, it certainly would be Ron Krick who broke two records when he threw in 35 points on 15 field goals in the final game.

The victory is well deserved and the honor well placed, for during the season and in the play-offs the team has established an enviable reputation for skill and determination, but even more for clean playing, fairness and good sportsmanship; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives congratulate the West Reading High School basketball team on their glorious victories, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be presented to the team through the coach, Mr. Roy Bilger who is here with us today and who will accept our congratulations on behalf of the West Reading High School championship basketball team; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the team, Dennis Becker, Michael Formicone, Edward Goodwin, Hans Hass, Jack Ruesman, Ronald Krick, Grant Krow, Edward Kuhn, Jack Moyer, Ricardo Scalese, James Walker, and Robert Wheeler stand at this time and be recognized; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the high school principal, Authur B. Hummelberger and the athletic director, John Shaner in West Reading.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. MACHMER, LUIGARD, YATRON, BALTHASER and WEIDNER.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1959.

Kutztown High School and West Reading High School helped the Berks County Scholastic Basketball Conference make P.I.A.A. history on March 20, 1959 when they both won the State basketball championship for their respective class. This was the first time in the long history of the P.I.A.A. that two State champions in the same season were from the same circuit. We're sure that the residents of Berks county are proud of their teams and they certainly have the right to be.

To the people of Kutztown the honor and glory is even more significant because it was the third time the school has emerged victorious in their quest for the class B crown. To add to this we must also praise the team for its wonderful season record as they finished unbeaten in the 29 games they played. They are the only team in the Commonwealth that can boast of an undefeated season.

The Cougars from Kutztown climaxed their perfect season with a smashing 51 to 34 victory over the District 10 representative West Middlesex to bring home the laurels. The game was played at Westminster College in New Wilmington, Pennsylvania. The coach John Silan has put this team a notch or two ahead of his other State champions by saying that they were the best overall team he ever had. The Kutztown mentor has always instructed his teams to fight hard but in a clean sportsmanlike manner and the team at the championship game displayed the fact that his instructions were followed to the letter.

Our congratulations for this great victory are certainly in order and we will extend them. However, this team, the student body of the Kutztown Area High School, Coach John Silan and the supervising principal Paul C. Dunkelberger deserve congratulations for something far more important, that is the inspiring display of good sportsmanship and good citizenship they have shown during the entire season. The members of the staff and faculty have worked earnestly and hard to supply our State with that which it needs most—good citizens. They have been successful. The students have responded to their teaching and good examples and have in turn shown an example of right living which everyone may well emulate; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its heartiest congratulations to the team and coach of Kutztown High which is a true champion in every sense of that word, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be presented to the coach Mr. Silan who is here in the House today, and be it further

Resolved, That the team consisting of Milton L. Borrell, Terry Christman, Dennis J. DeTurk, Lee D. DeTurk, Richard W. Houck, Harry H. Kline, Edwin F. Kutz, Stanley R. Saul, Philip Scheidt, Gene R. Stump, Kraig A. Wagaman, and Glenroy Wiltrout stand at this time and be recognized and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the school.

Miss Marlene Brazinski, a senior at St. Catherine's High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Brazinski, of 406 South Avenue, DuBois, gained the highest oratorical honors in Pennsylvania on Friday evening, March 20, 1959, when she won first place in the American Legion's 1959 finals in state competition held at Pennsylvania State University.

Miss Brazinski, in her prepared address spoke on "The Living Constitution," and in her extemporaneous talk on Article 1 of the United States Constitution.

Miss Brazinski transferred to St. Catherine's High School after receiving her elementary education at St. Joseph's School. She has reflected a great measure of honor on her high school in capably demonstrating the results of the fine training she has received there in oratory as well as in other subjects. As she goes on to represent the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the sectional and national competition of the American Legion Oratorical Contest to be held in Baltimore, and later in San Francisco, the citizenry of Pennsylvania can take just pride in this fine young woman as the representative of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends its hearty congratulations to Miss Marlene Brazinski on her outstanding attainment when she won first prize in the state competition, and extends its every wish that her successes continue to mount in her future fields of endeavor, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Miss Brazinski at her home, 406 South St., DuBois, Pennsylvania.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 542, entitled:

An Act to regulate and establish the fees to be received by the clerk of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace and the municipal court of Philadelphia in counties of the first class.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will one of the sponsors, or one of their representatives, consent to be interrogated concerning this bill?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

Mr. SHERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. In a criminal case do the costs follow the verdict?

Mr. SHERMAN. No, not in every case.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Do you mean to say that if a man is found guilty of an offense the cost does not follow the verdict in the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. SHERMAN. It is discretionary with the judge, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, in the city of Philadelphia where a man has been found guilty and the costs total $500, do they allow the defendant to go scott free of the costs at the discretion of the judge?

Mr. SHERMAN. Well, I have had about twenty-five years' practice and I have heard of hardly any case in which there is $500 costs, Mr. Speaker, but that is still discretionary with the court.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, where a case has been appealed from the criminal court of Philadelphia and there are paper books involved, and the paper books and the printing will aggregate perhaps a thousand dollars, does not the law provide that the losing party, if it be the defendant, shall pay the cost of those paper books?

Mr SHERMAN. I shall be happy to listen to any law that my opponent has looked up on that subject, but I have never been able to find any in criminal cases.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Who pays the cost of the witness fees in the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. SHERMAN. It would depend on who subpoenaed the witnesses, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, where twenty witnesses have been subpoenaed in a criminal case the defendant is found guilty, and the case has been in session for, say, twenty days and the witness bill would be three or four hundred dollars, who would pay the cost when the defendant is found guilty?

Mr. SHERMAN. It is unusual to have such cases Mr. Speaker, but that will still be discretionary with the court.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Now, Mr. Speaker, I call attention of the gentleman from Philadelphia to page 3, lines 9 to 11, inclusive, which read as follows: "Cost per one indictment in each criminal case, in lieu of all fees chargeable, $50." Does this not mean, where the costs in the case would aggregate $5,000, that under this statute all the defendant would be required to pay is $50?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the practice of my friend is greatly different in his county than in the county of Philadelphia, apparently. Now in Philadelphia heretofore, it was only $25.13 per bill. At the present time we have made it $50 per bill. That has been the only change in those lines.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman point out any act in the State of Pennsylvania applying to any other district which has language of this character making a maximum cost bill for a guilty defendant only the sum of $50?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I did not say the maximum. The cost itself on the bill of indictment may be $50, but I am sure my friend knows of fines and such things in the terms of prisoners, which may be imposed in a particular case.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Sherman.

The Speaker has noted the presence in the Hall of the House of Mr. Louis Amarando, one of our good members of former years. I want the gentleman to know that I have absolutely no objections . . .

The SPEAKER. I would say the gentleman is out of order in addressing his remarks to any casual visitor.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. You can get at it in a different way but not directly. Being a lawyer, you should know when and how to do that.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall. On behalf of the taxpayers of the city of Philadelphia, I have no objection to having the fee bill increased, but, on the behalf of the taxpayers of the city of Philadelphia, I have vigorous objection to having racketeers and criminals get a free ride.

Mr. Sherman, apparently, is not familiar with the process of the criminal law in the other sixty-six counties of this state. Where a man has been found guilty of a crime in the county of Allegheny, the costs are as follows: the district attorney's fee bill, the clerk of courts fee bill, the witnesses' fee bill, the cost of appeal, any other item in connection with the process of the prosecution. In my meager knowledge of the district attorney's administration, I know of cases where the cost in one indictment ran up to $1,000 or more.

Now, if this be the practice in the city of Philadelphia and if this practice is condoned by the judges of that city, then I say that it is time to make a change. Why should any defendant pay $50 if the fee bill is only $25.13? He should not be mulcted, and why should the citizens of the city of Philadelphia be mulcted if the costs of prosecution run into the hundreds of dollars?

I repeat, the taxpayers of the city of Philadelphia should be protected, and I think this law, which applies to the other sixty-six counties of the state, should apply to Philadelphia likewise.

I ask for a slow roll call in the interest of the worthy administration of justice and seeing the taxpayer get his square break. I hope that both sides of the aisle vote against this bill in its present shape.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Do you have a police department in the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I believe we do, and sometimes in the paper the question has been raised as to its availability and to its power.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Is the gentleman familiar with whether or not policemen in the city of Pittsburgh, when called upon to testify in a criminal case, receive witness fees in addition to their regular salaries?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. This has been a matter of much concern in the city of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. Policemen do receive witness fees in the city of Pittsburgh. However, let me continue.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Just answer my questions please. Then the gentleman can make a statement.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I will.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Is the gentleman familiar with the fact that in the city of Brotherly Love the police who are witnesses do not receive witness fees?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not know that, and that would not change my position on this bill.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Is the gentleman familiar with what the policy is throughout the rest of the sixty-six counties of Pennsylvania with respect to the payment of witness fees to police officers who are already being compensated on the payroll?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I am not.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. In the case of a trial of a man charged with embezzlement and where there are probably 50 or 75 witnesses, all non-public officials, are not these people paid witness fees in the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Well, if there were a case of embezzlement with 50 or 75 witnesses,—first of all, I have never heard of such a case—they necessarily would not have to be paid.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Does the district attorney get a docket fee in the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I am not familiar with that.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is the gentleman not familiar with the fee bill of the district attorney of the City of Philadelphia?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I am not.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is the gentleman familiar with the case of Commonwealth vs. Trunk, which said that when there is an appeal by a defendant to the Superior Court, if he wins the case he does not have to pay the cost of the appeal or paper book but if he is unsuccessful he must pay the costs?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. What is the citation, Mr. Goldstein?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Commonwealth vs. Trunk, which happens to be a case where the decision was reversed.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. No, I said the citation, not the title of the case.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not have the citation, but I assure you that is the law.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has had an Appellate Court practice, has he not?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I am sorry, I thought you were finished with me, Mr. Goldstein.

Yes, I have had an Appellate Court practice.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Now, where you have a paper book involving a murder trial, and say the paper book consists of 1500 pages, what would the cost of that paper book be?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. It would depend upon how much the printer is entitled to per page. I am not familiar with that at this moment.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, it would be approximately $1.50 to $2 a page, would it not?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I will take your word for it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, then, if the defendant loses that case, and the paper book cost the district attorney's office $2,000 to print, who will pay for that paper book if the judgement is against the defendant criminal in your county?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. That I do not believe would have anything to do with a county. That is an appeal before the Superior Court, I believe, that you are speaking of. I think the rules of the Superior or Supreme Court would guide who would pay the costs.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Schwartz.

If I am wrong in my statement, I stand to be corrected, but the law of Pennsylvania regarding costs is strictly statutory. Insofar as appeals are concerned, if the defendant is unsuccessful and there are paper books involved, the defendant is responsible for the payment of the paper books to the county from which he took the appeal. These in many cases have run into hundreds and thousands of dollars.

I am amazed that the administration of the system of costs in Philadelphia is so unusual and I would suggest that this particular bill be amended and take 9, 10, and 11 out. Then the clerk of courts in Philadelphia will get the just fee to which it is entitled. I want the clerk of courts to get everything he is entitled to to maintain his office on a high standard. I do not want any defendant to get a free ride.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I was not being critical in my previous questioning of Mr. Goldstein about the system used in Allegheny County. I believe Allegheny County should have a perfect right to administer its costs and its law as it sees fit, and I feel the same thing is true of Philadelphia County, unless there is some state law that applies uniformly throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I do not believe there is because of the one instance which I pointed out having to do with the payment of witnesses in criminal cases.

This is a simple matter that is before the House at the present time. The attempt here is to increase the fees. They have not been increased; I think it goes back to 1879, since then there has been an increase in the fee bills for the Clerk of Quarter Sessions in Philadelphia County. This is merely an effort to put the fees where they actually and correctly compensate for the costs that are involved. This has not to do just with the one item of payment of costs upon conviction. If you will read this bill you will see that it covers the entire field of those fees which are charged by the Clerk of Quarter Sessions in the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, to be interrogated on one item only.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, consent to be interrogated on one item only?

Mr. SHERMAN. Any time.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is it not a fact that the item of $50 is new and never was contained in the fee bill of the clerk of courts prior to this time?

Mr. SHERMAN. I did not get the question.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is the item of $50 a new feature of the clerk of courts bill?

Mr. SHERMAN. I think not.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. It was in the old statute?

Mr. SHERMAN. It has always been $25.13.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Can you show me a statutory statement to that effect?

Mr. SHERMAN. Not at the moment, but I presumed the gentleman looked over on the calendar for the past few weeks and I have taken for granted that if he were to interrogate, he would have looked it up by this time.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you.

I will make this statement. I suggest that the gentleman from Philadelphia go over to the Attorney General's office and look up the fee bill for the clerk of courts for the city of Philadelphia and show me any item of $25.13. If he does, I will reverse my position.

Mr. SHERMAN. May I interrogate, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Goldstein?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny consent to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall.

Mr. SHERMAN. Have you handled any appellate practice, Mr. Goldstein?

Mr. Goldstein. I have.

Mr. SHERMAN. Have you handled any appellate practice in which the appellate courts have stated that either party may pay the costs, whether defendant or plaintiff in the case, or whether there is no cost to be assessed?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. The appellate courts of this state have jurisdiction, in determining the appeal, of either affirming the judgment, reversing the judgment or modifying the judgment, and have full power to decide who shall pay the costs. I know of cases where the defendant has been found guilty in the lower courts, the judgment has been affirmed, and he is compelled to pay costs aggregating hundreds of dollars.

Mr. SHERMAN. In other cases the other party has paid the costs under similar circumstances, is that not so?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not understand what the gentleman means by "the other party".

Mr. SHERMAN. Otherwise in some cases the appellant has been obliged to pay the costs, in some cases the appellee, so you would agree, in accordance with my statement, it is discretionary with the court upon whom costs should be imposed, am I not right?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not agree with the gentleman at all. If the Supreme Court or Superior Court handles the case it decides who shall pay the costs in considering the appeal. You are talking about the lower court. The lower court in our jurisdiction—and I know that applies to a great number of other jurisdictions in this state—will set aside the costs upon proper petition. This is a matter of grace by the court. But what you are trying to do is make legal a dubious practice in the courts of Philadelphia.

Mr. SHERMAN. I had not intended to debate this bill. I figured it did not require any debate. I figured that the particular items Mr. Goldstein mentioned he would be well aware of. But one particular statement did upset me, and I believe he owes an apology not only to the city of Philadelphia but his own county of Allegheny.

If he meant that racketeers and criminals in Allegheny County may go scott free in certain cases where they should not, certainly he should apoligize to that county. As far as Philadelphia, if he happened to say that, which if my hearing serves me I thought he did, certainly his apology is deserved to the city of Philadelphia.

We deal with our criminals quite strictly, and the matter of fees is only an incidental item to the punishment that should be meted out and is meted out to our racketeers if they do exist.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I have served as an Assistant District Attorney in Philadelphia, and I listened very carefully to the remarks of my colleague, Mr. Goldstein.

His remarks seem to be concentrated in the area of the costs of appellate decisions. I would say to Mr. Goldstein that there are approximately 10,000 criminal cases tried in Philadelphia each year. This figure is just approximate. Of that number only a very small percentage are appealed, probably not more than two percent. So that I do not think appellate costs should concern us too much at this time.

On the other hand, of cases tried in Philadelphia where a defendant is found guilty and a fine is imposed and costs, the great bulk involve cases where the defendants are indigent and are unable to raise the fine or the costs. I have personally tried many cases where the defendants were unable to pay the costs or the fine, and we invariably asked the court for time to pay the fine and the costs.

We do not say we should coddle criminals in Philadelphia. We do not do that. But at the same time we feel something should be done to raise the costs so that they come close to paying the essential costs of the Clerk of Quarter Sessions, and this is a step in the right direction.

Philadelphia no doubt is paying and will continue to pay some of the actual costs of the office of the Clerk of Quarter Sessions recently remodeled by Mr. Amarando, but we do feel that $50 is a fair, round figure, something that we can pay. If we go into hundreds of dollars we will crowd our prisons which are already overcrowded. We in Philadelphia need this bill and we ask you to vote for it.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, during this debate some question was raised about the city of Pittsburgh police. Mr. Goldstein made the reference that he doubted whether there were police in the city of Pnttsburgh. I feel that this statement should be either elaborated on, or stricken from the record, because I deal with them and some of them are the finest police in the state.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be included in the record.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 114, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12 1951 (P. L. 90), authorizing issuance of special temporary permits for the retail sale of malt or brewed beverages at baseball parks under certain circumstances in cities of the first class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, so that there will not be any misconception about this bill, I believe there are certain facts which should be given to the House for its edification.

First of all, this bill has nothing to do with beer sales on a Sunday, so, that should be clearly understood by the Members of the House. There is no such request in this particular bill.

Secondly, this is for the sale of beer in paper containers as set forth in the bill. It is not a sale of bottled or canned goods.

We in Philadelphia feel that we need the revenue down there in our ball park in order to make it a successful operation and in order to continue it in existence, so that the citizens of the city of Philadelphia and in and around the city of Philadelphia can have the comfort and the same rights in the ball park as they have outside of the ball park throughout the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I do not want to belabor the issue, but I have here telegrams from each and every ball park and ball club in the entire United States. Everyone of them, with the exception of Pennsylvania, permits the sale of beer in their ball parks and in each case I have a telegram signed by the manager, or by the owner, of the particular ball team in which he sets forth the fact that the operation has been successful in their particular ball park, that they think it is good, that they have not had any adverse effect. In fact in many instances they bring to our attention the fact that beer permitted in the ball park alleviates a drinking condition to a great extent. In other words, it prevents the use of hard liquor in the ball park because of the fact that beer is available to the patrons if they so desire. It also prevents the cans and cartons and bottles being strewn over the entire ball park.

By the way, this bill as drawn applies only to the city of Philadelphia and not to any other part of the state. We therefore request the consideration of the membership to aid us in Philadelphia in keeping the Phillies in the ball Park.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I want to make a very brief statement in favor of this bill and I do not know whether I can appeal to anyone who has already decided to vote against it.

What the Representative from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz said was certainly true, this is a bill designed primarily to keep the major league ball club not only in the first class city of Philadelphia, but in the state of Pennsylvania. It was not so long ago that most of us, when we first heard that the Philadelphia Athletics were contemplating moving to another state, many of us said, "Well, that could not happen." Well, just in the past six weeks we have seen where the necessary implementing legislation to lure the Phillies to New Jersey and the Delaware Township area was defeated, but had it gone through.

Certainly, I think, the Phillies would have seriously considered going over there. But this bill if it passes, will enable the Phillies to realize, and very frankly, this is a revenue-producing measure on behalf of the management of the ball park, some $150,000 to $200,000.

If you are opposed to drinking in the ball park, you can still vote for this bill because there is nothing to prevent beer from being brought into the ball park by the spectators. It is a safety measure in addition to a revenue raising measure, because it provides that the beer must be dispensed in paper cups, and it also limits the sale, I believe, to one-half hour before the game and one-half hour after the game. Nobody is going to get rich on this measure, but it will enable us to compete as favorably as possible with other large cities throughout the United States. I would ask those Members who are not firmly opposed to a measure like this on principle to give us a few votes so that we can ask the Phillies to stay in Philadelphia.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think if this House fails to pass this legislation it can be said of us that we indeed "struck out". We will have struck out without even taking the bat off our shoulders.

This is a baseball bill and I do not want this Assembly to become suckers for a curve that is being thrown at us in the form of certain communications which have been directed to each Member's desk. I am constrained to make some reply on the floor of this House to the communication dated April 3, 1959 that has been received by each Member of this House.

This letter, which fairly drips with venom and vindictiveness, contains a great amount of inaccuracy and misstatement of facts, and I want to bring these inaccuracies and these misstatements to the attention of the Members of this House.

In one of the opening paragraphs of the letter the author states that this bill is part of a concerted plan to get New Jersey to bid high for the Phillies in order to stir up sentiment among Philadelphians to make a strong enthusiastic effort to hold their last place team, and the author underlines the words "last place".

Now, first of all I resent the ridicule which he uses, and the light in which he discloses the plight of the Philadelphia Phillies in the 1958 campaign. The author would have you believe that simply because a last place team is a last place team, we should not have any active interest in keeping that particular club in the city. He would have you believe that no other team in the National League was, at one time or another, in last place. I refer to the situation with the other major league baseball team in this state, the Pittsburgh Pirates, who today are challenging for the top rung in the league, but who not too many years ago were themselves fighting to keep out of the cellar.

To state that this is part of a concerted effort and that the activity of the New Jersey authorities in considering legislation to induce and entice the Philadelphia Phillies to come to Jersey is a gross inaccuracy because that was a bonafide effort, and, as a matter of fact, the bubble has not burst, as this gentleman who wrote this letter would have us believe and the effort is still being made. Philadelphia is still confronted with the threat of losing the Philadelphia Phillies. I trust we will not stand by and watch that happen, as we stood by and watched the Philadelphia A's leave our environs.

The next thing he says in this letter, "By leagalizing beer for the Philadelphia ball park, the Phillies' management hopes to profit to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars a year and thus help to pay the freight and this is the real purpose behind this bill. Advocates of this measure have not featured any actual demand for beer among the fans."

We are not advocating the passage of this bill because we have been flooded with demands by the fans who come to watch our ball games that they want beer—beer is available to them now, and as a matter of fact fans do bring their own cases and quantities of beer to the ball park now.

The purpose of this bill is twofold, one, it provides a safety measure, a measure of control within the power of the management of the park to control the consumption of beer, to control and possibly eliminate the dangerous conditions that exist when beer is dispensed in bottles and cans; and secondly, and most important, it is a revenue-raising feature.

Why is this revenue needed? Let me close on this point, there was some discussion about an $8 million municipal loan being floated for the purpose of constructing a stadium on South Broad Street in the city of Philadelphia. That plan never came to fruition for the reason that the Philadelphia Phillies management was unable to financially afford a rental to the city of Philadelphia which would enable the city to, in due time, redeem the bonds that were floated for this money. It is this sort of measure which will put additional revenues into the pocket of the ownership and management of the club that will enable them to pay the kind of rental and thus enhance the possibility of the Phillies getting a decent municipal ball park. The city of Philadelphia seriously needs this bill and we earnestly solicit your cooperation in its passage.

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I rise to support this bill and ask my friends on both sides of the aisle to do so.

This is not a Republican or Democratic measure. It is not a measure to put beer in the ball park. If you can, picture the carrying in of a dozen cans or a dozen bottles into the ball park by numerous spectators, the puncturing of the cans and the spraying of the beer, the opening of bottles and the spraying of beer, and then the throwing of the cans and the bottles, in place of an orderly manner of paper cups. I say that this is not a Republican or Democratic measure; it's a measure strictly for Philadelphia. I don't know how anyone from other parts of the state could really vote against it, a measure that is so badly needed in the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, no one likes baseball any better than I do. I played it for a good many years and I enjoyed it. I watched the Phillies play in many engagements, I watched the old Philadelphia Athletics when they were in Philadelphia, and I want to call the attention of the proponents of this bill that the lack of beer isn't what is ailing the Phillies in Philadelphia.

The Pittsburgh Pirates don't have it in Pittsburgh. How about the Brooklyn Dodgers moving out of Brooklyn. They had plenty of beer in the Brooklyn Dodger Park. How about the New York Giants in New York? They moved out of New York.

One of the solutions to the Phillies' problem is to get a good winning team and get public support behind it. That will help to make the Phillies a winning team.

So far as the rest of us being concerned with this bill, we are concerned for several reasons. If this is granted to Philadelphia, what will happen to Pittsburgh and all the other minor league teams and smaller teams throughout the State? In other words, you have to look far ahead. Therefore, I think you should vote down this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?
